SCENE II.]

THE TEMPEST.

13

Where thou mayst knock a nail into his head.

Ari. Thou liest; thou canst not. 70

Cal. What a pied ninny's this! Thou scurvy patch!

I do beseech thy greatness, give him blows
And take his bottle from him: when that's gone
He shall drink nought but brine; for I'll not show him

Where the quick freshes are.

Ste. Trinculo, run into no further danger: interrupt the monster one word further, and, by this hand, I'll turn my mercy out o' doors and make a stock-fish of thee.

Trin. Why, what did I? I did nothing. I'll go farther off. 81

Ste. Didst thou not say he lied?

Ari. Thou liest.

Ste. Do I so? take thou that. [Beats Trin.]

As you like this, give me the lie another time.

Trin. I did not give the lie. Out o' your wits and hearing too? A pox o' your bottle! this can sack and drinking do. A murrain on your monster, and the devil take your fingers!

Cal. Ha, ha, ha! 90

Ste. Now, forward with your tale. Prithce, stand farther off.

Cal. Beat him enough: after a little time
I'll beat him too.

Ste. Stand farther. Come, proceed.

Cal. Why, as I told thee, 'tis a custom with him,

I' th' afternoon to sleep: there thou mayst brain
him,

Having first seized his books, or with a log
Batter his skull, or paunch him with a stake,
Or cut his vezand with thy knife. Remember
First to possess his books; for without them 100

He's but a sot, as I am, nor hath not

One spirit to command: they all do hate him

As rootedly as I. Burn but his books.

He has brave utensils,—for so he calls them,—

Which, when he has a house, he'll deck withal.

And that most deeply to consider is

The beauty of his daughter; he himself

Calls her a nonpareil: I never saw a woman,

But only Sycorax my dam and she; 110

But she as far surpasses Sycorax

As great'st does least.

Ste. Is it so brave a lass?

Cal. Ay, lord; she will become thy bed, I warrant.
And bring thee forth brave brood.

Ste. Monster, I will kill this man: his daughter and I will be king and queen,—save our graces!—
and Trinculo and thyself shall be viceroys. Dost thou like the plot, Trinculo?

Trin. Excellent.

Ste. Give me thy hand: I am sorry I beat thee; but, while thou livest, keep a good tongue
in thy head. 121

Cal. Within this half hour will he be asleep:
Will thou destroy him then?

Ste. Ay, on mine honour.

Ari. This will I tell my master.

Cal. Thou makest me merry; I am full of pleasure:

Let us be jocund: will you trolly the catch

You taught me but while-ere?

Ste. At thy request, monster, I will do reason, any reason. Come on, Trinculo, let us sing. [Sings.]

Flout 'em and scout 'em 130

And scout 'em and flout 'em;

Thought is free.

Cal. That's not the tune.

[Ariel plays the tune on a tabor and pipe.]

Ste. What is this same?

Trin. This is the tune of our catch, played by the picture of Nobody.

Ste. If thou beest a man, show thyself in thy likeness: if thou beest a devil, take't as thou list.

Trin. O, forgive me my sins!

Ste. He that dies pays all debts: I defy thee.

Mercy upon us! 141

Cal. Art thou afraid?

Ste. No, monster, not I.

Cal. Be not afraid; the isle is full of noises, Sounds and sweet airs, that give delight and hurt
not.

Sometimes a thousand twangling instruments

Will hum about mine ears, and sometime voices

That, if I then had waked after long sleep,

Will make me sleep again: and then, in dreaming,

The clouds methought would open and show 150

riches

Ready to drop upon me, that, when I waked,

I cried to dream again.

Ste. This will prove a brave kingdom to me,
where I shall have my music for nothing.

Cal. When Prospero is destroyed.

Ste. That shall be by and by: I remember the story.

Trin. The sound is going away; let's follow
it, and after do our work.

Ste. Lead, monster; we'll follow. I would I could see this taborer; he lays it on. 160

Trin. Wilt come? I'll follow, Stephano.

[Exeunt.]

SCENE III. Another part of the island.

Enter ALONSO, SEBASTIAN, ANTONIO, GONZALO, ADRIAN, FRANCISCO, and others.

Gon. By'r lakin, I can go no further, sir;
My old bones ache: here's a maze trod indeed

Through forth-rights and meanders! By your patience,

I needs must rest me.

Alon. Old lord, I cannot blame thee,

Who am myself attach'd with weariness,

To the dulling of my spirits: sit down, and rest.

Even here I will put off my hope and keep it

No longer for my flatterer: he is drown'd

Whom thus we stray to find, and the sea mocks

Our frustrate search on land. Well, let him go. 10

Ant. [Aside to Seb.] I am right glad that he's so out of hope.

Do not, for one repulse, forego the purpose
That you resolved to effect.

Seb. [Aside to Ant.] The next advantage

Will we take thoroughly.

Ant. [Aside to Seb.] Let it be to-night;

For, now they are oppress'd with travel, they

Will not, nor cannot, use such vigilance

As when they are fresh.

Seb. [Aside to Ant.] I say, to-night: no more.

[Solemn and strange music.]

Alon. What harmony is this? My good friends, hark!

Gon. Marvellous sweet music!

THE WORKS OF WILLIAM SHAKESPEARE

EDITED BY

WILLIAM GEORGE CLARK, M.A.

Fellow and Tutor of Trinity College, and Public Orator in the University of Cambridge,

AND

WILLIAM ALDIS WRIGHT, M.A.

Librarian of Trinity College, Cambridge.

“An edition on a plan which differs altogether from that adopted by any—a plan so excellent in itself, and so well carried out, that we have no hesitation in saying that it is likely to be, when completed, the most useful one to the scholar and intelligent reader which has yet appeared.”—Athenæum.

“We regard the appearance of the Cambridge Shakespeare as an epoch in editing the works of the foremost man in the dramatic world. Besides many positive virtues in this edition, the hitherto prevailing errors are avoided. The gross blunders and unauthorised fancies of generations of editors are banished from the text; the more tolerable or the less noxious conjectures are removed to the notes; space is allowed and justice is rendered to all former labourers in the editorial field. He who is indifferent to verbal criticism may read in peace an orthodox text; and he who is curious in such matters will find various readings supplied to him in full measure.”—Saturday Review.

“The very edition so long needed, and the most perfect that has ever been produced. . . . The Shakespearean collection given by Capell to Trinity Library, Cambridge, supplies, say the Editors, a mass of materials almost unrivalled in amount and value, and in some points unique; and they have thus enjoyed facilities for the execution of their task which few besides could have possessed. . . . Not only will this Cambridge Shakespeare be the choice of numbers who must be content with a single copy for the shelf and fireside, but all lovers of the dramatist will be compelled and will be eager to add it to the collection of best editions they may already have acquired.”—Nonconformist.

“A work which, when complete, will deserve to take its place as the Library Edition of Shakespeare. While the greater part of the contents can never grow old, it will have a value far superior to that of a conjecturally amended text, or a simple reprint of the first folio. It shows us, with singular conciseness and clearness, how much, or how little, previous editors have been able to do for the text, and thus gives us the results of many men's labours. . . . We have the result of the latest investigations without the pain of seeing critic or commentator struggling over the text of Shakespeare.”—Guardian.

PREFACE.

THE First Part of King Henry the Sixth was printed for the first time, so far as we know, in the Folio of 1623. The same edition contained also for the first time in their present form, 'The second Part of King Henry the Sixt, with the death of the Good Duke Humfrey,' and 'The third Part of King Henry the Sixt, with the death of the Duke of Yorke.'

The play upon which the Second part of Henry the Sixth was founded was first printed in quarto (Q<sub>1</sub>), in 1594, with the following title:

The | First part of the Con-|tention betwixt the two famous houses of Yorke | and Lancaster, with the death of the good |
Duke Humphrey: | And the banishment and death of the Duke of | Suffolke, and the Tragicall end of the proud Cardinall | of
Winchester, with the notable Rebellion | of Iacke Cade: | And the
Duke of Yorkes first claime vnto the | Crowne. | LONDON | Printed by Thomas Creed, for Thomas Millington, | and are to be sold
at his shop vnder Saint Peters | Church in Cornwall. | 1594. |

The only copy known of this edition is in the Bodleian Library (Malone, Add. 870), and is probably the same which was once in Malone's possession, and which he collated with the second Quarto printed in 1600. Mr Halliwell, in the preface to 'The first sketches of the second and third parts of King Henry the Sixth,' edited by him for the Shakespeare Society, is inclined to doubt this, on the ground that Malone quotes, from the copy in his possession, a reading which does not exist in that now in the Bodleian. The passage in question is in Scene IX. line 12, p. 370 of the present volume, 'Honouring him as if he were their king:' on which Mr Halliwell in his note observes, 'Malone, who has collated his copy of the edition of 1600, "printed by W. W.," with a copy of the 1594 edition formerly in his possession, distinctly writes—

"Thinking him as if he were their king,"

as the reading of his copy of the first edition. If so, it must have been a different copy from that now in the Bodleian, from which the present text is reprinted, and another instance of the curious variations in different copies of the same editions, which were first discovered by Steevens (Boswell's Malone, Vol. x. p. 73), and recently applied to good use by Mr Collier.' Mr Halliwell has here inadvertently fallen into error. Malone's collation is made in a copy of the edition of 1600, in which the line stands thus:

'Honouring him as if he were a king.'

At the foot of the page he wrote 'their king,' which is the reading of the edition of 1594 for the two last words, but which Mr Halliwell misread 'thinking' and regarded as a various reading for 'Honouring.' It is still possible, therefore, that Malone's copy and that at present in the Bodleian may be identical.

The second edition (Q<sub>2</sub>) of the First Part of the Contention appeared in quarto in 1600, with the following title:

The | First part of the Con-|tention betwixt the two famous
hou-|ses of Yorke and Lancaster, with the | death of the good Duke |
Humphrey: | And the banishment and death of the Duke of |
Suffolke, and the Tragical end of the prowde Cardinall | of
Winchester, with the notable Rebellion of | Iacke Cade: | And the
Duke of Yorkes first clayme to the | Crowne. | LONDON | Printed by Valentine Simmes for Thomas Millington, and | are to be sold at his shop vnder S. Peters church | in Cornewall. | 1600. |

Copies with this title are in the Library of the Duke of Devonshire, and in the Bodleian (Malone, 867). An imperfect copy, wanting the last seven leaves, is in the Capell collection. Another impression bearing the same date, 'Printed by W. W. for Thomas Millington,' is said to exist, but we have been unable to find it. The MS. title quoted by Mr Halliwell from a copy in the Bodleian (Malone, 36) is prefixed to what appears to us unquestionably the same edition as the above. The minute correspondence of misplaced and defective letters between this copy and Capell's, with which, as well as with the other copy in the Bodleian, we have compared it, proves beyond question that all three must have been printed from the same form, and that the MS. title inserted in Malone's copy is out of place. So far therefore from Capell's imperfect copy of this edition being unique, as Mr Halliwell states, there are at least two other perfect copies in existence, besides one which only wants the title-page. In Lowndes's Bibliographer's Manual (ed. Bohn, p. 2281), another is said to be in the possession of Mr Tite. The late Mr George Daniel is stated, on the same authority, to have had the editions printed by Valentine Simmes and by W. W. in one volume, but they were not sold at his sale, and we have been unable to trace them.

In 1619, a third edition (Q<sub>3</sub>) without date, printed by Isaac Jaggard, and including also 'The True Tragedy of Richard Duke of York,' appeared with the following title:

The | Whole Contention | betweene the two Famous | Houses,
LANCASTER and | YORKE. | With the Tragicall ends of the good
Duke | Humfrey, Richard Duke of Yorke, | and King Henrie
the | sixt. | Diuided into two Parts: And newly corrected and | enlarged. Written by William Shake-speare, Gent. | Printed at
LONDON, for T. P. |

On the title-page of his copy of this edition, Capell has added in MS. the date '1619.—at the same time with the Pericles that follows; as appears by the continuation of the signatures.' The signatures of 'The whole Contention' are from A to Q in fours, while in Pericles, 'Printed for T. P. 1619,' the first page has signature R, which shows that the two must have formed part of the same volume.

'The True Tragedy of Richard Duke of York,' which formed the ground-work of The Third part of King Henry the Sixth, was first printed in small 8vo. in 1595, with the following title :

The | true Tragedie of Richard | Duke of Yorke, and the death of | good King Henrie the Sixt, | with the whole contention be-
tweene | the two Houses Lancaster | and Yorke, as it was sundrie times | acted by the Right Honoura-|ble the Earle of Pem-|brooke his seruants. | Printed at London by P. S. for Thomas Milling-|
ton, and are to be sold at his shoppe vnder | Saint Peters Church
in | Cornwal, 1595. |

A unique copy of this edition is in the Bodleian Library (Malone, 876). Although printed in 8vo. we have quoted it as Q<sub>1</sub>, in order to avoid introducing a new notation.

The second edition (Q<sub>2</sub>) was printed in 1600, with the following title :

The | True Tragedie of | Richarde Duke of | Yorke, and the death of good | King Henrie the sixt: | With the whole conten- tion betweene the two | Houses, Lancaster and Yorke; as it was | sundry times acted by the Right | Honourable the Earle | of Pembrooke his | seruantes. | Printed at London by W. W. for
Thomas Millington, | and are to be sold at his shoppe vnder
Saint | Peters Church in Cornewall. | 1600. |

Copies of this edition are in the Duke of Devonshire's Library, the Bodleian (Malone, 36), and the British Museum. In Malone's Shakespeare (ed. 1790, Vol. I. Pt. I. p. 235), among the 'Dramatick Pieces on which plays were formed by Shakespeare,' an edition of The True Tragedy is mentioned, bearing date '1600, V. S. for Thomas Millington,' but in a note to the 'Third Part of King Henry VI.' (Vol. vi. p. 261) he confesses, 'I have never seen the quarto copy of the Second part of The whole Contention, &c. printed by Valentine Simmes for Thomas Millington, 1600;' and it is extremely doubtful whether such a one exists. A copy of The True Tragedy, and not, as stated in Bohn's Lowndes, of The First Part of the Contention, printed by W. W. 1600, was sold at Rhodes's sale in 1825 (No. 2113). The only authority therefore for the existence of an edition of The First Part of the Contention, printed by W. W. in 1600, is the MS. title-page of Malone's copy in the Bodleian Library. Capell merely quotes it on the authority of Pope, and all that Pope says in the Table at the end of his first edition, after giving the title of The Whole Contention printed in 1619, is, 'Since Printed under the same Title by W. W. for Tho. Millington, with the true Tragedy of Richard D. of York, and the Death of good King Henry the 6th, acted by the Earl of Pembroke his servants 1600.' This clearly refers to the second Quarto of The True Tragedy, not to that of The First Part of the Contention, and appears to us to be the origin of the error<sup>1</sup>.

The third edition (Q<sub>3</sub>) of The True Tragedy formed the second part of The Whole Contention described above. It has no separate title-page, but merely the heading :

The Second Part. | Containing the Tragedie of | Richard
Duke of Yorke, and the | good King Henrie the | Sixt. |

We have reprinted the text of The First Part of the Contention and of The True Tragedy from the first edition of each, giving in notes at the foot of the page the various readings of the second and third editions. For this purpose

we collated Mr Halliwell's reprint for the Shakespeare Society with the originals in the Bodleian Library. The accuracy of Mr Halliwell's work materially facilitated our labours, and we can only hope that the errors of our own reprint may be as few and as unimportant as those we have discovered in his. For the readings of the second Quartos of The First Part of the Contention and The True Tragedy we collated the copies in the Bodleian and the Duke of Devonshire's Library, using also for the former the imperfect copy in the Capell collection. The readings of The Whole Contention (Q<sub>3</sub>) have been given from Capell's copy verified by reference to that in the Devonshire Library.

With regard to the authorship of The First Part of the Contention and The True Tragedy, while we cannot agree with Malone on the one hand that they contain nothing of Shakespeare's, nor with Mr Knight on the other that they are entirely his work, there are so many internal proofs of his having had a considerable share in their composition, that, in accordance with our principle, we have reprinted them in a smaller type.

The first edition of KING RICHARD is a Quarto printed in 1597, with the following title-page:

The Tragedy of | King Richard the third. | Containing, | His treacherous Plots against his brother Clarence: | the pittiefull murder of his innocent nephewes: | his tyrannicall vsurpation: with the whole course | of his detested life, and most deserued death. | As it hath beene lately Acted by the | Right honourable the Lord Chamber-|laine his seruants. | AT LONDON | Printed by Valentine Sims, for Andrew Wise, | dwelling in Paules Church-yard, at the | Sign of the Angell. | 1597. |

This edition is referred to, in our notes, as Q<sub>1</sub>.

We have collated a complete copy belonging to the Duke of Devonshire and also an imperfect copy formerly belonging to Malone and now in the Bodleian. Malone had supplied the missing leaves by the insertion of some from the second Quarto<sup>2</sup>. There is no copy in the Capell collection.

The second edition, also in Quarto, which we call Q<sub>2</sub>, was published in the following year, with the name of the author. It is in other respects a reprint of the first. The title-page is as follows :

THE | TRAGEDIE | of King Richard | the third. | Con-
teining his treacherous Plots against his | brother Clarence: the pitifull murder of his innocent | Nephewes: his tyrannicall vsurpation: with | the whole course of his detested life, and most | deserued death. | As it hath bene lately Acted by the Right honourable | the Lord Chamberlaine his seruants. | By William Shakespeare. | LONDON | Printed by Thomas Creede, for Andrew
Wise, | dwelling in Paules Church-yard, at the signe | of the
Angell. 1598. |

The third Quarto, our Q<sub>3</sub>, has the following title-page :

THE | TRAGEDIE | of King Richard | the third. | *Con-
teining his treacherous Plots against his brother | Clarence:* the pittifull murder of his innocent Ne-|phewes: his tyrannicall
vsurpation: with the | whole course of his detested life, and |
most deserued death. | *As it hath bene lately Acted by the Right
Honourable | the Lord Chamberlaine his seruants.* | Newly augmented, | By William Shakespeare. | LONDON | Printed by
Thomas Creede, for Andrew Wise, dwelling | in Paules Church-
yard, at the signe of the | Angell. 1602. |

<sup>2</sup> He says in a MS. note: 'This copy of the original edition of King Richard III. was imperfect, when I purchased it, wanting signat. C 1 and 2, D 4, L 4, and M 1, 2, and 3. These seven leaves I have supplied from a later copy (that of 1598), and have collated with the edition of 1597. The variations are set down in the margin.' He adds: 'Mr Penn Ashton Curzon and Mr Kemble are possessed of copies of this original edition of this play: I know of no other, except that in this volume.' Mr Kemble's copy is now in the Devonshire Library, and Mr Curzon's is probably the same which was sold at Mr Daniel's sale and is now in the possession of Mr Huth. Besides the leaves of Malone's copy which are missing, signatures C 3 and C 4 are imperfect, the upper half of each being supplied from the edition of 1598.

Notwithstanding the words 'newly augmented,' this edition contains nothing that is not found in the second Quarto, from which it is reprinted, except some additional errors of the press.

The fourth Quarto, our Q<sub>4</sub>, was printed from the third, by the same printer for a different bookseller, as appears by the title-page :

THE | TRAGEDIE | of King Richard | the third. | *Contein-
ing his treacherous Plots against his brother | Clarence: the pittifull murther of his innocent Ne-phewes: his tyrannicall vsurpation:
with the | whole course of his detested life, and | most deserued
death. | As it hath bin lately Acted by the Right Honourable | the

There is no copy of Q<sub>4</sub> in the Capell collection. We have collated one in the Bodleian which formerly belonged to Malone. It is numbered 880.

The fifth Quarto, Q<sub>5</sub>, was printed in 1612, not from its immediate predecessor, but from the Quarto of 1602, although it was printed by the same printer and for the same bookseller as that of 1605. The title-page of Q<sub>5</sub> is as follows :

THE | TRAGEDIE | of King Richard | the third. | *Containing his treacherous Plots against his brother | Clarence: the pittifull murther of his innocent Ne-phewes: his tyrannicall
vsurpation: with the | whole course of his detested life, and |

The edition of 1622 is so rare that its very existence has been called in question<sup>3</sup>. There is however a copy in the Capell collection, of which the title-page is as follows:

THE | TRAGEDIE | OF | KING | RICHARD | THE
THIRD. | Contayning his treacherous Plots against | his brother
Clarence: The pittifull murder of his innocent | Nephewes: his to be sold by Mathew Law, dwelling | in Pauls Church-yard, at the Signe of the Foxxe, neere | S. Austines gate, 1622.

This edition we call Q<sub>6</sub>. It is printed from Q<sub>5</sub>.

Another edition in Quarto was printed in 1629, not from the first Folio, but from the sixth Quarto. It was printed by Iohn Norton for Matthew Law. Except in the name of the printer and the substitution of the word 'tiranous' for 'tyrannicall' the title-page does not differ from that of Q<sub>6</sub>. We call it Q<sub>7</sub>.

The eighth and last Quarto, our Q<sub>8</sub>, copied from the seventh, was printed by Iohn Norton in 1634. There is no bookseller's name on the title-page, if we may trust that which Capell has supplied in MS. 'from a copy in the possession of Messrs Tonsons and Draper.'

In quoting the readings of the Quartos and Folios, we have, in all cases where the spelling is unimportant, given that of the earliest copy.

In 1766 Steevens published a reprint of the Quarto of 1612, 'collated'—to use his own words—'with the following editions.'

1598. Thomas Creede, for Andrew Wise.

1602. Ditto.

<sup>3</sup> 'An impression of 1622 is mentioned in some lists, but the existence of a copy of that date is more than doubtful.' Collier, Ed. 2, Vol. IV. p. 217.

1634. John Norton, &c. and another imperfect Copy, differing from the rest, but without a Title Page.

The date 1624 is probably a mistake for 1622. At the foot of each page he gives various readings, but without specifying the editions to which they respectively belong. Several of these are not found in any of the Quartos with which we are acquainted. We have therefore recorded them as 'quoted in Steevens's reprint.' So many of the other readings which he gives are found only in the first Quarto that we have no doubt that the imperfect copy which he mentions was of that edition.

We have made, and, as we believe, for the first time, a complete collation of all the extant Quartos. Those of 1597 and 1605 were unknown to Capell when he collated the other six.

The respective origin and authority of the first Quarto and first Folio texts of Richard III. is perhaps the most difficult question which presents itself to an editor of Shakespeare. In the case of most of the plays a brief survey leads him to form a definite judgement; in this, the most attentive examination scarcely enables him to propose with confidence a hypothetical conclusion.

The Quarto, Q<sub>v</sub>, contains passages not found in the Folio, F<sub>v</sub>, which are essential to the understanding of the context: the Folio, on the other hand, contains passages equally essential, which are not found in the Quarto.

Again, passages which in the Quarto are complete and consecutive, are amplified in the Folio, the expanded text being quite in the manner of Shakespeare. The Folio, too, contains passages not in the Quartos, which though not necessary to the sense yet harmonize so well, in sense and tone, with the context that we can have no hesitation in attributing them to the author himself.

On the other hand, we find in the Folio some insertions and many alterations which we may with equal certainty affirm not to be due to Shakespeare. Sometimes the alterations seem merely arbitrary, but more frequently they appear to have been made in order to avoid the recurrence of the same word, even where the recurrence adds to the force of the passage, or to correct a supposed defect of metre, although the metre cannot be amended except by spoiling the sense.

Occasionally we seem to find indications that certain turns of phrase, uses of words or metrical licences, familiar enough to Shakespeare and his earlier contemporaries, had become obsolete in the time of the corrector, and the passages modified accordingly. In short, Richard III. seems even before the publication of the Folio to have been tampered with by a nameless transcriber who worked in the spirit, though not with the audacity, of Colley Cibber.

The following scheme will best explain the theory which we submit as a not impossible way of accounting for the phenomena of the text:

A<sub>1</sub> is the Author's original MS.

B<sub>1</sub> is a transcript by another hand with some accidental omissions and, of course, slips of the pen. From this transcript was printed the Quarto of 1597, Q<sub>1</sub>.

$B_2$  is a copy of this revised MS., made by another hand, probably after the death of the Author and perhaps a very short time before 1623. As the stage directions of the Folio, which was printed from  $B_2$ , are more precise and ample as a rule than those of the Quarto, we may infer that the transcript,  $B_2$ , was made for the library of the theatre, perhaps to take the place of the original which had become worn by use, for Richard III. continued to be a popular acting play. Some curious, though not frequent, coincidences between the text of the Folio and that of the Quarto of 1602,  $Q_3$ , lead us to suppose that the writer of  $B_2$ , had occasionally recourse to that Quarto to supplement passages which, by its being frayed or stained, had become illegible in  $A_2$ .

Assuming the truth of this hypothesis, the object of an Editor must be to give in the text as near an approximation as possible to  $A_1$ , rejecting from  $F_1$  all that is due to the unknown writer of  $B_2$  and supplying its place from  $Q_3$ , which, errors of pen and press apart, certainly came from the hand of Shakespeare. In the construction of our text we have steadily borne this principle in mind, only deviating from it in a few instances where we have retained the expanded version of the Folio in preference to the briefer version of the Quarto, even when we incline to think that the earlier form is more terse and therefore not likely to have been altered by its Author. Our reason is this: as the Folio version contains substantially that of the Quarto and as the question does not admit of a positive decision we prefer the risk of putting in something which Shakespeare did not to that of leaving out something which he did write. Cæteris paribus, we have adopted the reading of the Quarto.

In conclusion we commend a study of the text of Richard III. to those, if such there be, who imagine that it is possible by the exercise of critical skill to restore with certainty what Shakespeare actually wrote.

We have great pleasure in repeating our thanks to the curators of the British Museum and of the Bodleian Library and in adding to the number of those who have laid us under obligation the names of the Rev. Joseph Power, Fellow of Clare College, Mr Huth, and Mr Lilly.

It is only right to add that it is the constant kindness of the Duke of Devonshire which enables us to publish this volume without further delay and with such an approach to completeness as it may be found to possess.

THE FIRST PART OF
 KING HENRY VI.

ACT I.

SCENE I. Westminster Abbey.

Dead March. Enter the Funeral of KING HENRY the Fifth, attended on by the DUKE of BEDFORD, Regent of France; the DUKE of GLOUCESTER, Protector; the DUKE of EXETER, the EARL of WARWICK, the BISHOP of WINCHESTER, Heralds, &c.

Bed. Hung be the heavens with black, yield day to night!

Comets, importing change of times and states,
 Brandish your crystal tresses in the sky,
 And with them scourge the bad revolting stars
 That have consented unto Henry's death! 5
 King Henry the Fifth, too famous to live long!
 England ne'er lost a king of so much worth.

Glou. England ne'er had a king until his time.
 Virtue he had, deserving to command:
 His brandish'd sword did blind men with his beams: 10

His arms spread wider than a dragon's wings ;
 His sparkling eyes, replete with wrathful fire,
 More dazzled and drove back his enemies
 Than mid-day sun fierce bent against their faces.
 What should I say ? his deeds exceed all speech : 15
 He ne'er lift up his hand but conquered.

Exe. We mourn in black : why mourn we not in blood ?
 Henry is dead and never shall revive :
 Upon a wooden coffin we attend,
 And death's dishonourable victory 20
 We with our stately presence glorify,
 Like captives bound to a triumphant car.
 What! shall we curse the planets of mishap
 That plotted thus our glory's overthrow ?
 Or shall we think the subtle-witted French 25
 Conjurers and sorcerers, that afraid of him
 By magic verses have contrived his end ?

Win. He was a king bless'd of the King of kings.
 Unto the French the dreadful judgement-day
 So dreadful will not be as was his sight. 30
 The battles of the Lord of hosts he fought :
 The church's prayers made him so prosperous.

Glou. The church! where is it? Had not churchmen pray'd,
 His thread of life had not so soon decay'd :
 None do you like but an effeminate prince, 35
 Whom, like a school-boy, you may over-awe.

Win. Gloucester, whate'er we like, thou art Protector
 And lookest to command the prince and realm.
 Thy wife is proud ; she holdeth thee in awe,
 More than God or religious churchmen may. 40

Glou. Name not religion, for thou lovest the flesh,
 And ne'er throughout the year to church thou go'st
 Except it to be to pray against thy foes.

peace :

Let's to the altar: heralds, wait on us : 45
Instead of gold, we'll offer up our arms ;
Since arms avail not now that Henry's dead.
Posterity, await for wretched years,
When at their mothers' moist eyes babes shall suck,
Our isle be made a nourish of salt tears, 50
And none but women left to wail the dead.
Henry the Fifth, thy ghost I invoke :
Prosper this realm, keep it from civil broils,
Combat with adverse planets in the heavens !
A far more glorious star thy soul will make 55

Enter a Messenger.

Mess. My honourable lords, health to you all !
Sad tidings bring I to you out of France,
Of loss, of slaughter and discomfiture :
Guienne, Champagne, Rheims, Orleans, 60
Paris, Guysors, Poictiers, are all quite lost.

Bed. What say'st thou, man, before dead Henry's corse ?
Speak softly; or the loss of those great towns
Will make him burst his lead and rise from death.

Glou. Is Paris lost? is Rouen yielded up? 65
If Henry were recall'd to life again,
These news would cause him once more yield the ghost.

Mess. No treachery; but want of men and money.

Amongst the soldiers this is muttered, 70

That here you maintain several factions,

And whilst a field should be dispatch'd and fought,

You are disputing of your generals:

One would have lingering wars with little cost;

Another would fly swift, but wanteth wings; 75

A third thinks, without expense at all,

By guileful fair words peace may be obtain'd.

Awake, awake, English nobility!

Let not sloth dim your honours new-begot:

Cropp'd are the flower-de-luces in your arms; 80

Of England's coat one half is cut away.

Exe. Were our tears wanting to this funeral,
These tidings would call forth their flowing tides.

Bed. Me they concern; Regent I am of France.
Give me my steeled coat. I'll fight for France. 85

Away with these disgraceful wailing robes!

Wounds will I lend the French instead of eyes,

To weep their intermissive miseries.

Enter to them another Messenger.

Mess. Lords, view these letters full of bad mischance.
France is revolted from the English quite, 90

Except some petty towns of no import:

The Dauphin Charles is crowned king in Rheims;

The Bastard of Orleans with him is join'd;

Glou. We will not fly, but to our enemies' throats.
Bedford, if thou be slack, I'll fight it out.

Bed. Gloucester, why doubt'st thou of my forwardness? 100
An army have I muster'd in my thoughts,
Wherewith already France is overrun.

Enter another Messenger.

Mess. My gracious lords, to add to your laments,
Wherewith you now bedew King Henry's hearse,
I must inform you of a dismal fight 105
Betwixt the stout Lord Talbot and the French.

Win. What! wherein Talbot overcame? is't so?

Mess. O, no; wherein Lord Talbot was o'erthrown:
The circumstance I'll tell you more at large.
The tenth of August last this dreadful lord, 110
Retiring from the siege of Orleans,
Having full scarce six thousand in his troop,
By three and twenty thousand of the French
Was round encompassed and set upon.

No leisure had he to enrank his men; 115
He wanted pikes to set before his archers;
Instead whereof sharp stakes pluck'd out of hedges
They pitched in the ground confusedly,
To keep the horsemen off from breaking in.

More than three hours the fight continued; 120
Where valiant Talbot above human thought
Enacted wonders with his sword and lance:

Hundreds he sent to hell, and none durst stand him;
Here, there, and every where, enraged he flew:
The French exclaim'd, the devil was in arms; 125
All the whole army stood agazed on him:

His soldiers spying his undaunted spirit
 A Talbot! a Talbot! cried out amain
 And rush'd into the bowels of the battle.
 Here had the conquest fully been seal'd up, 130
 If Sir John Fastolfe had not play'd the coward:
 He, being in the vaward, placed behind
 With purpose to relieve and follow them,
 Cowardly fled, not having struck one stroke.
 Hence grew the general wreck and massacre; 135
 Enclosed were they with their enemies:
 A base Walloon, to win the Dauphin's grace,
 Thrust Talbot with a spear into the back,
 Whom all France with their chief assembled strength
 Durst not presume to look once in the face. 140

Bed. Is Talbot slain? then I will slay myself,
 For living idly here in pomp and ease,
 Whilst such a worthy leader, wanting aid,
 Unto his dastard foemen is betray'd.

Mess. O no, he lives; but is took prisoner, 145
 And Lord Scales with him and Lord Hungerford:
 Most of the rest slaughter'd or took likewise.

Bed. His ransom there is none but I shall pay:
 I'll hale the Dauphin headlong from his throne:
 His crown shall be the ransom of my friend; 150
 Four of their lords I'll change for one of ours.
 Farewell, my masters; to my task will I;
 Bonfires in France forthwith I am to make,
 To keep our great Saint George's feast withal:
 Ten thousand soldiers with me I will take, 155
 Whose bloody deeds shall make all Europe quake.

Reig. Let's raise the siege: why live we idly here?

Talbot is taken, whom we wont to fear:

Remaineth none but mad-brain'd Salisbury; 15

And he may well in fretting spend his gall,

Nor men nor money hath he to make war.

Char. Sound, sound alarum! we will rush on them.

Now for the honour of the forlorn French!

Him I forgive my death that killeth me 20

When he sees me go back one foot or fly.

[Exeunt.]

Here Alarum; they are beaten back by the English with great loss.

Re-enter CHARLES, ALENÇON, and REIGNIER.

Char. Who ever saw the like? what men have I!

Dogs! cowards! dastards! I would ne'er have fled,

But that they left me 'midst my enemies.

Reig. Salisbury is a desperate homicide; 25

He fighteth as one weary of his life.

The other lords, like lions wanting food,

Do rush upon us as their hungry prey.

 During the time Edward the Third did reign.
 More truly now may this be verified;
 For none but Samsons and Goliases
 It sendeth forth to skirmish. One to ten!
 Lean raw-boned rascals! who would e'er suppose 35
 They had such courage and audacity?

Char. Let's leave this town; for they are hare-brain'd slaves,

And hunger will enforce them to be more eager:
 Of old I know them; rather with their teeth
 The walls they'll tear down than forsake the siege. 40

Reig. I think, by some odd gimmors or device
 Their arms are set like clocks, still to strike on;
 Else ne'er could they hold out so as they do.
 By my consent, we'll even let them alone.

Alen. Be it so. 45

Enter the BASTARD of Orleans.

Bast. Where's the Prince Dauphin? I have news for him.

Char. Bastard of Orleans, thrice welcome to us.

Bast. Methinks your looks are sad, your cheer appall'd:
 Hath the late overthrow wrought this offence?
 Be not dismay'd, for succour is at hand: 50
 A holy maid hither with me I bring,
 Which by a vision sent to her from heaven
 Ordained is to raise this tedious siege
 And drive the English forth the bounds of France.
 The spirit of deep prophecy she hath, 55
 Exceeding the nine sibyls of old Rome:
 What's past and what's to come she can descry.

Question her proudly; let thy looks be stern:

By this means shall we sound what skill she hath.

Re-enter the BASTARD of Orleans, with JOAN LA PUCELLE.

Reig. Fair maid, is't thou wilt do these wondrous feats?

Puc. Reignier, is't thou that thinkest to beguile me? 65

Where is the Dauphin? Come, come from behind;

I know thee well, though never seen before.

Be not amazed, there's nothing hid from me:

In private will I talk with thee apart.

Stand back, you lords, and give us leave awhile. 70

Reig. She takes upon her bravely at first dash.

Puc. Dauphin, I am by birth a shepherd's daughter,
My wit untrain'd in any kind of art.

Heaven and our Lady gracious hath it pleased

To shine on my contemptible estate: 75

Lo, whilst I waited on my tender lambs,

And to sun's parching heat display'd my cheeks,

God's mother deigned to appear to me

And in a vision full of majesty

Will'd me to leave my base vocation 80

And free my country from calamity:

Her aid she promised and assured success:

In complete glory she reveal'd herself;

And, whereas I was black and swart before,

With those clear rays which she infused on me 85

That beauty am I bless'd with which you see.

My courage try by combat, if thou darest,
And thou shalt find that I exceed my sex.

Resolve on this, thou shalt be fortunate,
If thou receive me for thy warlike mate.

Char. Thou hast astonish'd me with thy high terms:
Only this proof I'll of thy valour make,
In single combat thou shalt buckle with me,
And if thou vanquishest, thy words are true;
Otherwise I renounce all confidence.

Puc. I am prepared: here is my keen-edged sword,
Deck'd with five flower-de-luces on each side;
The which at Touraine, in Saint Katharine's churchyard,
Out of a great deal of old iron I chose forth.

Char. Then come, o' God's name; I fear no woman.

Puc. And while I live, I'll ne'er fly from a man.

[Here they fight, and Joan La Pucelle overcomes.]

Char. Stay, stay thy hands! thou art an Amazon,
And fightest with the sword of Deborah.

Puc. Christ's mother helps me, else I were too weak.

Char. Whoe'er helps thee, 'tis thou that must help me:
Impatiently I burn with thy desire;
My heart and hands thou hast at once subdued.
Excellent Pucelle, if thy name be so,
Let me thy servant and not sovereign be:

So great fear of my name 'mongst them was spread 50
 That they supposed I could rend bars of steel
 And spurn in pieces posts of adamant:
 Wherefore a guard of chosen shot I had
 That walked about me every minute while;
 And if I did but stir out of my bed, 55
 Ready they were to shoot me to the heart.

Enter the Boy with a linstock.

Sal. I grieve to hear what torments you endured,
 But we will be revenged sufficiently.
 Now it is supper-time in Orleans:
 Here, through this grate, I count each one 60
 And view the Frenchmen how they fortify:
 Let us look in; the sight will much delight thee.
 Sir Thomas Gargrave, and Sir William Glansdale,
 Let me have your express opinions
 Where is best place to make our battery next. 65

Gar. I think, at the north gate; for there stand lords.

Glan. And I, here, at the bulwark of the bridge.

Tal. For aught I see, this city must be famish'd,
 Or with light skirmishes enfeebled.

[Here they shoot. Salisbury and Gargrave fall.]

Sal. O Lord, have mercy on us, wretched sinners! 70

Gar. O Lord, have mercy on me, woful man!

Tal. What chance is this that suddenly hath cross'd us?
 Speak, Salisbury; at least, if thou canst speak:
 How farest thou, mirror of all martial men?

One of thy eyes and thy cheek's side struck off! 75
 Accursed tower! accursed fatal hand
 That hath contrived this woful tragedy!
 In thirteen battles Salisbury o'ercame;
 Henry the Fifth he first train'd to the wars;
 Whilst any trump did sound, or drum struck up, 80
 His sword did ne'er leave striking in the field.
 Yet livest thou, Salisbury? though thy speech doth fail,
 One eye thou hast, to look to heaven for grace:
 The sun with one eye vieweth all the world.
 Heaven, be thou gracious to none alive, 85
 If Salisbury wants mercy at thy hands!
 Bear hence his body; I will help to bury it.
 Sir Thomas Gargrave, hast thou any life?
 Speak unto Talbot; nay, look up to him.
 Salisbury, cheer thy spirit with this comfort; 90
 Thou shalt not die whiles—
 He beckons with his hand and smiles on me,
 As who should say 'When I am dead and gone,
 Remember to avenge me on the French.'
 Plantagenet, I will; and like thee, Nero, 95
 Play on the lute, beholding the towns burn:
 Wretched shall France be only in my name.
 [Here an alarum, and it thunders and lightens.
 What stir is this? what tumult's in the heavens?
 Whence cometh this alarum, and the noise?

It irks his heart he cannot be revenged. 105

Frenchmen, I'll be a Salisbury to you:
Pucelle or puzzel, dolphin or dogfish,
Your hearts I'll stamp out with my horse's heels,
And make a quagmire of your mingled brains.

Convey me Salisbury into his tent, 110

Tal. Heavens, can you suffer hell so to prevail?

My breast I'll burst with straining of my courage
And from my shoulders crack my arms asunder,
But I will chastise this high-minded strumpet.

[They fight again.]

Puc. Talbot, farewell; thy hour is not yet come:

I must go victual Orleans forthwith.

[A short alarum: then enter the town with soldiers.]

O'ertake me, if thou canst; I scorn thy strength.

Go, go, cheer up thy hungry-starved men;

Help Salisbury to make his testament:

This day is ours, as many more shall be.

[Exit.]

Tal. My thoughts are whirled like a potter's wheel;

I know not where I am, nor what I do:

A witch, by fear, not force, like Hannibal,

Drives back our troops and conquers as she lists:

So bees with smoke and doves with noisome stench

Are from their hives and houses driven away.

They call'd us for our fierceness English dogs;

25

Now, like to whelps, we crying run away. [A short alarum.]

Hark, countrymen! either renew the fight,

Or tear the lions out of England's coat;

Renounce your soil, give sheep in lions' stead:

Sheep run not half so treacherous from the wolf,

As you fly from your oft-subdued slaves.

Puc. Advance our waving colours on the walls;
 Rescued is Orleans from the English:
 Thus Joan la Pucelle hath perform'd her word.

Char. Divinest creature, Astræa's daughter,
 How shall I honour thee for this success? 5
 Thy promises are like Adonis' gardens
 That one day bloom'd and fruitful were the next.
 France, triumph in thy glorious prophets!
 Recover'd is the town of Orleans:
 More blessed hap did ne'er befall our state. 10

Reig. Why ring not out the bells aloud throughout the town?

Dauphin, command the citizens make bonfires
 And feast and banquet in the open streets,
 To celebrate the joy that God hath given us.

Tal. Lord Regent, and redoubted Burgundy,
 By whose approach the regions of Artois,
 Wallon and Picardy are friends to us, 10
 This happy night the Frenchmen are secure,
 Having all day caroused and banqueted :
 Embrace we then this opportunity
 As fitting best to quittance their deceit
 Contrived by art and baleful sorcery. 15

Bed. Coward of France ! how much he wrongs his fame,
 Despairing of his own arm's fortitude,
 To join with witches and the help of hell !

Bur. Traitors have never other company.
 But what's that Pucelle whom they term so pure ? 20

Tal. A maid, they say.

Bed. A maid ! and be so martial !

Bur. Pray God she prove not masculine ere long,
 If underneath the standard of the French
 She carry armour as she hath begun.

Tal. Well, let them practise and converse with spirits : 25
 God is our fortress, in whose conquering name
 Let us resolve to scale their flinty bulwarks.

Bed. Ascend, brave Talbot ; we will follow thee.

Tal. Not all together : better far, I guess,
 That we do make our entrance several ways ; 30
 That, if it chance the one of us do fail,
 The other yet may rise against their force.

Bed. Agreed : I'll to yond corner.

Sent. Arm! arm! the enemy doth make assault!

[Cry: 'St George,' 'A Talbot']

The French leap over the walls in their shirts. Enter, several ways, the BASTARD of Orleans, ALENÇON, and REIGNIER, half ready, and half unready.

Alen. How now, my lords! what, all unready so?

Bast. Unready! ay, and glad we 'scaped so well. 40

Reig. 'Twas time, I trow, to wake and leave our beds, Hearing alarums at our chamber-doors.

Alen. Of all exploits since first I follow'd arms,
Ne'er heard I of a warlike enterprise 45
More venturous or desperate than this.

Bast. I think this Talbot be a fiend of hell.

Reig. If not of hell, the heavens, sure, favour him.

Alen. Here cometh Charles: I marvel how he sped.

Bast. Tut, holy Joan was his defensive guard.

Enter CHARLES and LA PUCELLE.

Char. Is this thy cunning, thou deceitful dame? 50
Didst thou at first, to flatter us withal,
Make us partakers of a little gain,
That now our loss might be ten times so much?

Puc. Wherefore is Charles impatient with his friend? 55
At all times will you have my power alike?
Sleeping or waking must I still prevail,
Or will you blame and lay the fault on me?

As that whereof I had the government,
We had not been thus shamefully surprised. 65

Bast. Mine was secure.

Reig. And so was mine, my lord.

Char. And, for myself, most part of all this night,
Within her quarter and mine own precinct
I was employ'd in passing to and fro,
About relieving of the sentinels: 70
Then how or which way should they first break in?

Puc. Question, my lords, no further of the case,
How or which way: 'tis sure they found some place
But weakly guarded, where the breach was made.
And now there rests no other shift but this; 75
To gather our soldiers, scatter'd and dispersed,
And lay new platforms to endamage them.

Alarum. Enter an English Soldier, crying 'A Talbot! a Talbot!'
They fly, leaving their clothes behind.

Sold. I'll be so bold to take what they have left.

And here advance it in the market-place, 5

Now have I paid my vow unto his soul;
For every drop of blood was drawn from him
There hath at least five Frenchmen died to-night.
And that hereafter ages may behold 10
What ruin happen'd in revenge of him,
Within their chiefest temple I'll erect
A tomb, wherein his corpse shall be interr'd:
Upon the which, that every one may read,

But, lords, in all our bloody massacre,
I muse we met not with the Dauphin's grace,

Nor any of his false confederates.

Mess. The virtuous lady, Countess of Auvergne,

 You may not, my lord, despise her gentle suit.

 Could not prevail with all their oratory,
 Yet hath a woman's kindness over-ruled: 50
 And therefore tell her I return great thanks,
 And in submission will attend on her.

 For I am sorry that with reverence
 I did not entertain thee as thou art.

 The mind of Talbot, as you did mistake
 The outward composition of his body. 75

Enter the EARLS of SOMERSET, SUFFOLK, and WARWICK; RICHARD PLANTAGENET, VERNON, and another Lawyer.

Plan. Great lords and gentlemen, what means this silence?

Dare no man answer in a case of truth?

Suf. Within the Temple-hall we were too loud;
The garden here is more convenient.

Plan. Then say at once if I maintain'd the truth; 5
Or else was wrangling Somerset in the error?

Suf. Faith, I have been a truant in the law,
And never yet could frame my will to it;
And therefore frame the law unto my will.

Som. Judge you, my lord of Warwick, then, between us. 10

War. Between two hawks, which flies the higher pitch;
Between two dogs, which hath the deeper mouth;
Between two blades, which bears the better temper:
Between two horses, which doth bear him best;
Between two girls, which hath the merriest eye; 15
I have perhaps some shallow spirit of judgement:
But in these nice sharp quilllets of the law,
Good faith, I am no wiser than a daw.

Plan. Tut, tut, here is a mannerly forbearance:
The truth appears so naked on my side 20

If he suppose that I have pleaded truth,

Till you conclude that he upon whose side
The fewest roses are cropp'd from the tree
Shall yield the other in the right opinion.

Som. Good Master Vernon, it is well objected:
If I have fewest, I subscribe in silence.

Plan. And I. 45

Ver. Then for the truth and plainness of the case,
I pluck this pale and maiden blossom here,
Giving my verdict on the white rose side.

Som. Prick not your finger as you pluck it off, 50
Lest bleeding you do paint the white rose red
And fall on my side so, against your will.

For pale they look with fear, as witnessing
The truth on our side.

Som. No, Plantagenet,
'Tis not for fear but anger that thy cheeks 65
Blush for pure shame to counterfeit our roses,
And yet thy tongue will not confess thy error.

Plan. Hath not thy rose a canker, Somerset?

Som. Hath not thy rose a thorn, Plantagenet?

Plan. Ay, sharp and piercing, to maintain his truth; 70
Whiles thy consuming canker eats his falsehood.

Som. Well, I'll find friends to wear my bleeding roses,
That shall maintain what I have said is true,
Where false Plantagenet dare not be seen.

I scorn thee and thy fashion, peevish boy.

Was not thy father, Richard Earl of Cambridge, 90

For treason executed in our late king's days?

And, by his treason, stand'st not thou attainted,

Corrupted, and exempt from ancient gentry?

His trespass yet lives guilty in thy blood;

And, till thou be restored, thou art a yeoman. 95

Plan. My father was attached, not attainted, Condemn'd to die for treason, but no traitor;

And that I'll prove on better men than Somerset,

Were growing time once ripen'd to my will.

For your partaker Pole and you yourself, 100

I'll note you in my book of memory,

To scourge you for this apprehension:

Look to it well and say you are well warn'd.

Som. Ah, thou shalt find us ready for thee still;

And know us by these colours for thy foes, 105

For these my friends in spite of thee shall wear.

Plan. And, by my soul, this pale and angry rose,
As cognizance of my blood-drinking hate,

Will I for ever and my faction wear,

Until it wither with me to my grave 110

Or flourish to the height of my degree.

Suf. Go forward and be choked with thy ambition!

And so farewell until I meet thee next. [Exit.]

 But tell me, keeper, will my nephew come ?

 We sent unto the Temple, unto his chamber ;
 And answer was return'd that he will come.

 Poor gentleman ! his wrong doth equal mine.
 Since Henry Monmouth first began to reign,
 Before whose glory I was great in arms,

 I would his troubles likewise were expired,

Why didst thou say, of late thou wert despised ?

Plan. First, lean thine aged back against mine arm ;
And, in that ease, I'll tell thee my disease.

This day, in argument upon a case, 45

Some words there grew 'twixt Somerset and me ;

Among which terms he used his lavish tongue

And did upbraid me with my father's death :

Which obloquy set bars before my tongue,

Else with the like I had requited him. 50

Therefore, good uncle, for my father's sake,

In honour of a true Plantagenet

And for alliance sake, declare the cause

My father, Earl of Cambridge, lost his head.

Mor. That cause, fair nephew, that imprison'd me 55

And hath detain'd me all my flowering youth

Within a loathsome dungeon, there to pine,

Was cursed instrument of his decease.

Plan. Discover more at large what cause that was,

For I am ignorant and cannot guess. 60

Mor. I will, if that my fading breath permit

And death approach not ere my tale be done.

Henry the Fourth, grandfather to this king,

Deposed his nephew Richard, Edward's son,

The first-begotten and the lawful heir 65

Of Edward king, the third of that descent :

During whose reign the Percies of the north,

Finding his usurpation most unjust,

Endeavour'd my advancement to the throne :

The reason moved these warlike lords to this 70

Leaving no heir begotten of his body—

 Being but fourth of that heroic line.
 But mark : as in this haughty great attempt
 They laboured to plant the rightful heir, 80
 I lost my liberty and they their lives.
 Long after this, when Henry the Fifth,
 Succeeding his father Bolingbroke, did reign,
 Thy father, Earl of Cambridge, then derived
 From famous Edmund Langley, Duke of York, 85
 Marrying my sister that thy mother was,
 Again in pity of my hard distress
 Levied an army, weening to redeem
 And have install'd me in the diadem :
 But, as the rest, so fell that noble earl 90
 And was beheaded. Thus the Mortimers,
 In whom the title rested, were suppress'd.
Plan. Of which, my lord, your honour is the last.
Mor. True ; and thou seest that I no issue have
 And that my fainting words do warrant death : 95
 Thou art my heir ; the rest I wish thee gather :
 But yet be wary in thy studious care.
Plan. Thy grave admonishments prevail with me :
 But yet, methinks, my father's execution
 Was nothing less than bloody tyranny. 100
Mor. With silence, nephew, be thou politic :
 Strong-fixed is the house of Lancaster

Flourish. Enter KING, EXETER, GLOUCESTER, WARWICK, SOMERSET, and SUFFOLK; the BISHOP of WINCHESTER, RICHARD PLANTAGENET, and others. GLOUCESTER offers to put up a bill; WINCHESTER snatches it, tears it.

 Or aught intend'st to lay unto my charge,
 Do it without invention, suddenly; 5
 As I with sudden and extemporal speech
 Purpose to answer what thou canst object.

Glou. Presumptuous priest! this place commands my

 Or thou shouldst find thou hast dishonour'd me.
 Think not, although in writing I preferr'd 10
 The manner of thy vile outrageous crimes,
 That therefore I have forged, or am not able Verbatim to rehearse the method of my pen:
 No, prelate; such is thy audacious wickedness,
 Thy lewd, pestiferous and dissentious pranks, 15
 As very infants prattle of thy pride.
 Thou art a most pernicious usurer,
 Froward by nature, enemy to peace;
 Lascivious, wanton, more than well beseems
 A man of thy profession and degree; 20
 And for thy treachery, what's more manifest?

No, my good lords, it is not that offends;
It is not that that hath incensed the duke: 35
It is, because no one should sway but he;

Do pelt so fast at one another's pate
That many have their giddy brains knock'd out:
Our windows are broke down in every street
And we for fear compell'd to shut our shops. 85

Enter Serving-men, in skirmish, with bloody pates.

King. We charge you, on allegiance to ourself,
To hold your slaughtering hands and keep the peace.
Pray, uncle Gloucester, mitigate this strife.

First Serv. Nay, if we be forbidden stones, we'll fall to it with our teeth. 90

Sec. Serv. Do what ye dare, we are as resolute.

[Skirmish again.]

Glou. You of my household, leave this peevish broil
And set this unaccustom'd fight aside.

Third Serv. My lord, we know your grace to be a man
Just and upright; and, for your royal birth, 95
Inferior to none but to his majesty:
And ere that we will suffer such a prince,
So kind a father of the commonweal,
To be disgraced by an inkhorn mate,
We and our wives and children all will fight 100
And have our bodies slaughter'd by thy foes.

King. O, how this discord doth afflict my soul!

Can you, my Lord of Winchester, behold
My sighs and tears and will not once relent?
Who should be pitiful, if you be not?

Or who should study to prefer a peace, 110
If holy churchmen take delight in broils?

War. Yield, my lord protector; yield, Winchester;
Except you mean with obstinate repulse

Hath been enacted through your enmity;

Why look you still so stern and tragical? 125

Glou. Here, Winchester, I offer thee my hand.

King. Fie, uncle Beaufort! I have heard you preach
That malice was a great and grievous sin;
And will not you maintain the thing you teach,
But prove a chief offender in the same? 130

But unto thee, Alençon, and the rest; 65
Will ye, like soldiers, come and fight it out?

Alen. Signior, no.

Tal. Signior, hang! base muleters of France!

Either to get the town again or die:
And I, as sure as English Henry lives 80

That stout Pendragon in his litter sick
Came to the field and vanquished his foes :
Methinks I should revive the soldiers' hearts,
Because I ever found them as myself.

Tal. Undaunted spirit in a dying breast !
Then be it so : heavens keep old Bedford safe !
And now no more ado, brave Burgundy,
But gather we our forces out of hand

SCENE IV. Paris. The Palace.

Enter the KING, GLOUCESTER, BISHOP OF WINCHESTER, YORK, SUFFOLK, SOMERSET, WARWICK, EXETER: VERNON, BASSET, and others. To them with his Soldiers, TALBOT.

Tal. My gracious prince, and honourable peers,
Hearing of your arrival in this realm,
I have awhile given truce unto my wars,
To do my duty to my sovereign:
In sign whereof, this arm, that hath reclaim'd
To your obedience fifty fortresses,
Twelve cities and seven walled towns of strength,
Beside five hundred prisoners of esteem,
Lets fall his sword before your highness' feet,
And with submissive loyalty of heart
Ascribes the glory of his conquest got
First to my God and next unto your grace. [Kneels.]

That hath so long been resident in France?

Glow. Yes, if it please your majesty, my liege. 15

King. Welcome, brave captain and victorious lord!

When I was young, as yet I am not old,

I do remember how my father said

A stouter champion never handled sword.

Long since we were resolved of your truth, 20

Your faithful service and your toil in war;

Yet never have you tasted our reward,

Or been reguerdon'd with so much as thanks,

Because till now we never saw your face:

Therefore, stand up; and, for these good deserts, 25

We here create you Earl of Shrewsbury;

And in our coronation take your place.

[Sennet. Flourish. Exeunt all but Vernon and Basset.

Ver. Now, sir, to you, that were so hot at sea,

Disgracing of these colours that I wear

In honour of my noble Lord of York:—

Darest thou maintain the former words thou spakest? 30

Bas. Yes, sir; as well as you dare patronage

The envious barking of your saucy tongue

Against my lord the Duke of Somerset.

Ver. Sirrah, thy lord I honour as he is. 35

Bas. Why, what is he? as good a man as York.

Ver. Hark ye; not so: in witness, take ye that.

[Strikes him.

Bas. Villain, thou know'st the law of arms is such

That whoso draws a sword, 'tis present death,

Or else this blow should broach thy dearest blood.

But I'll unto his majesty, and crave 40

I may have liberty to venge this wrong;

When thou shalt see I'll meet thee to thy cost.

SCENE I. Paris. A hall of state.

Enter the KING, GLOUCESTER, BISHOP OF WINCHESTER, YORK, SUFFOLK, SOMERSET, WARWICK, TALBOT, EXETER, the Governor of Paris, and others.

Glou. Lord bishop, set the crown upon his head.

Win. God save King Henry, of that name the sixth !

Glou. Now, governor of Paris, take your oath,
 That you elect no other king but him ;
 Esteem none friends but such as are his friends, 5
 And none your foes but such as shall pretend
 Malicious practices against his state :
 This shall ye do, so help you righteous God !

Enter SIR JOHN FASTOLFE.

Fast. My gracious sovereign, as I rode from Calais,
 To haste unto your coronation, 10
 A letter was deliver'd to my hands,
 Writ to your grace from the Duke of Burgundy.

Tal. Shame to the Duke of Burgundy and thee !
 I vow'd, base knight, when I did meet thee next,

Which I have done, because unworthily
 Thou wast installed in that high degree.
 Pardon me, princely Henry, and the rest :
 This dastard, at the battle of Patay,
 When but in all I was six thousand strong 20
 And that the French were almost ten to one,
 Before we met or that a stroke was given,
 Like to a trusty squire did run away :
 In which assault we lost twelve hundred men ;
 Myself and divers gentlemen beside 25
 Were there surprised and taken prisoners.
 Then judge, great lords, if I have done amiss ;
 Or whether that such cowards ought to wear
 This ornament of knighthood, yea or no.

Glou. To say the truth, this fact was infamous 30
 And ill beseeming any common man,
 Much more a knight, a captain and a leader.

Tal. When first this order was ordain'd, my lords,
 Knights of the garter were of noble birth,
 Valiant and virtuous, full of haughty courage, 35
 Such as were grown to credit by the wars ;
 Not fearing death, nor shrinking for distress,
 But always resolute in most extremes.
 He then that is not furnish'd in this sort
 Doth but usurp the sacred name of knight, 40
 Profaning this most honourable order,
 And should, if I were worthy to be judge,
 Be quite degraded, like a hedge-born swain
 That doth presume to boast of gentle blood.

King. Stain to thy countrymen, thou hear'st thy doom ! 45
 Be packing, therefore, thou that wast a knight :
 Henceforth we banish thee, on pain of death.

Sent from our uncle Duke of Burgundy.

Glou. What means his grace, that he hath changed his style? 50

No more but, plain and bluntly, 'To the king!'

Hath he forgot he is his sovereign?

Or doth this churlish superscription

Pretend some alteration in good will?

What's here? [Reads] 'I have, upon especial cause, 55

Moved with compassion of my country's wreck,

Together with the pitiful complaints

Of such as your oppression feeds upon,

Forsaken your pernicious faction

And join'd with Charles, the rightful King of France.' 60

O monstrous treachery! can this be so,

That in alliance, amity and oaths,

There should be found such false dissembling guile?

King. What! doth my uncle Burgundy revolt?

Glou. He doth, my lord, and is become your foe. 65

King. Is that the worst this letter doth contain?

Glou. It is the worst, and all, my lord, he writes.

King. Why, then, Lord Talbot there shall talk with him

And give him chastisement for this abuse.

How say you, my lord? are you not content? 70

Tal. Content, my liege! yes, but that I am prevented,

I should have begg'd I might have been employ'd.

King. Then gather strength, and march unto him straight:

Let him perceive how ill we brook his treason

And what offence it is to flout his friends. 75

Tal. I go, my lord, in heart desiring still

You may behold confusion of your foes.

Som. And this is mine: sweet Henry, favour him.

K. Hen. Be patient, lords; and give them leave to speak.

Say, gentlemen, what makes you thus exclaim?

And wherefore crave you combat? or with whom?

Ver. With him, my lord; for he hath done me wrong. 85

Bas. And I with him; for he hath done me wrong.

K. Hen. What is that wrong whereof you both complain?

First let me know, and then I'll answer you.

Bas. Crossing the sea from England into France,

This fellow here, with envious carping tongue, 90

Upbraided me about the rose I wear;

Saying, the sanguine colour of the leaves

Did represent my master's blushing cheeks,

When stubbornly he did repugn the truth

About a certain question in the law 95

Argued betwixt the Duke of York and him;

With other vile and ignominious terms:

In confutation of which rude reproach

And in defence of my lord's worthiness,

I crave the benefit of law of arms. 100

Ver. And that is my petition, noble lord:

For though he seem with forged quaint conceit

To set a gloss upon his bold intent,

Yet know, my lord, I was provoked by him;

And he first took exceptions at this badge, 105

Pronouncing that the paleness of this flower

Bewray'd the faintness of my master's heart.

K. Hen. Good Lord, what madness rules in brainsick men,
When for so slight and frivolous a cause
Such factious emulations shall arise!
Good cousins both, of York and Somerset,
Quiet yourselves, I pray, and be at peace. 115

York. Let this dissension first be tried by fight,
And then your highness shall command a peace.

Som. The quarrel toucheth none but us alone;
Betwixt ourselves let us decide it then.

York. There is my pledge; accept it, Somerset. 120

Ver. Nay, let it rest where it began at first.

Bas. Confirm it so, mine honourable lord.

Glou. Confirm it so! Confounded be your strife!
And perish ye, with your audacious prate!
Presumptuous vassals, are you not ashamed 125
With this immodest clamorous outrage
To trouble and disturb the king and us?
And you, my lords, methinks you do not well
To bear with their perverse objections;
Much less to take occasion from their mouths 130
To raise a mutiny betwixt yourselves:
Let me persuade you take a better course.

Exe. It grieves his highness: good my lords, be friends.

K. Hen. Come hither, you that would be combatants:
Henceforth I charge you, as you love our favour, 135
Quite to forget this quarrel and the cause.
And you, my lords, remember where we are;
In France, amongst a fickle wavering nation:
If they perceive dissension in our looks
And that within ourselves we disagree, 140
How will their grudging stomachs be provoked
To wilful disobedience, and rebel!

Beside, what infamy will there arise,
 When foreign princes shall be certified
 That for a toy, a thing of no regard, 145
 King Henry's peers and chief nobility
 Destroy'd themselves, and lost the realm of France!
 O, think upon the conquest of my father,
 My tender years, and let us not forego
 That for a trifle that was bought with blood! 150
 Let me be umpire in this doubtful strife.
 I see no reason, if I wear this rose, [Putting on a red rose.
 That any one should therefore be suspicious
 I more incline to Somerset than York:
 Both are my kinsmen, and I love them both: 155
 As well they may upbraid me with my crown,
 Because, forsooth, the king of Scots is crown'd.
 But your discretions better can persuade
 Than I am able to instruct or teach:
 And therefore, as we hither came in peace, 160
 So let us still continue peace and love.
 Cousin of York, we institute your grace
 To be our regent in these parts of France:
 And, good my Lord of Somerset, unite
 Your troops of horsemen with his bands of foot; 165
 And, like true subjects, sons of your progenitors,
 Go cheerfully together and digest
 Your angry choler on your enemies.
 Ourself, my lord protector and the rest
 After some respite will return to Calais; 170
 From thence to England; where I hope ere long
 To be presented, by your victories,
 With Charles, Alençon and that traitorous rout.

York. An if I wist he did,—but let it rest ;
Other affairs must now be managed.

[Exeunt all but Exeter.]

Exe. Well didst thou, Richard, to suppress thy voice ;
For, had the passions of thy heart burst out,
I fear we should have seen decipher'd there
More rancorous spite, more furious raging broils,

185

Than yet can be imagined or supposed.
But howsoe'er, no simple man that sees
This jarring discord of nobility,
This shouldering of each other in the court,
This factious bandying of their favourites,

But that it doth presage some ill event.
'Tis much when sceptres are in children's hands ;
But more when envy breeds unkind division ;
There comes the ruin, there begins confusion.

English John Talbot, captains, calls you forth,
 Servant in arms to Harry King of England ;
 And thus he would : Open your city-gates ; 5
 Be humble to us ; call my sovereign yours,
 And do him homage as obedient subjects ;
 And I'll withdraw me and my bloody power :
 But, if you frown upon this proffer'd peace,
 You tempt the fury of my three attendants, 10
 Lean famine, quartering steel, and climbing fire ;
 Who in a moment even with the earth
 Shall lay your stately and air-braving towers,
 If you forsake the offer of their love.

Gen. Thou ominous and fearful owl of death, 15
 Our nation's terror and their bloody scourge !
 The period of thy tyranny approacheth.
 On us thou canst not enter but by death ;
 For, I protest, we are well fortified
 And strong enough to issue out and fight : 20
 If thou retire, the Dauphin, well appointed,
 Stands with the snares of war to tangle thee :
 On either hand thee there are squadrons pitch'd,
 To wall thee from the liberty of flight ;
 And no way canst thou turn thee for redress, 25
 But death doth front thee with apparent spoil
 And pale destruction meets thee in the face.
 Ten thousand French have ta'en the sacrament
 To rive their dangerous artillery
 Upon no Christian soul but English Talbot. 30
 Lo, there thou stand'st, a breathing valiant man,

Too rashly plotted : all our general force
 Might with a sally of the very town
 Be buckled with : the over-daring Talbot
 Hath sullied all his gloss of former honour
 By this unheedful, desperate, wild adventure :
 York set him on to fight and die in shame,
 That, Talbot dead, great York might bear the name.

Cap. Here is Sir William Lucy, who with me
 Set from our o'er-match'd forces forth for aid.

Enter Sir WILLIAM LUCY.

Som. How now, Sir William ! whither were you sent ?

Lucy. Whither, my lord ? from bought and sold Lord
 Talbot ;

Who, ring'd about with bold adversity,
 Cries out for noble York and Somerset,
 To beat assailing death from his weak legions :

15

And whiles the honourable captain there
 Drops bloody sweat from his war-wearied limbs,
 And, in advantage lingering, looks for rescue,
 You, his false hopes, the trust of England's honour,
 Keep off aloof with worthless emulation.

Let not your private discord keep away
 The levied succours that should lend him aid,

While he, renowned noble gentleman,
 Yields up his life unto a world of odds :

25

Orleans the Bastard, Charles, Burgundy,
 Alençon, Reignier, compass him about,
 And Talbot perisheth by your default.

Som. York set him on ; York should have sent him aid.

When sapless age and weak unable limbs

Therefore, dear boy, mount on my swiftest horse ;

 By sudden flight : come, dally not, be gone.

John. Is my name Talbot ? and am I your son ?
 And shall I fly ? O, if you love my mother,
 Dishonour not her honourable name,
 To make a bastard and a slave of me ! 15
 The world will say, he is not Talbot's blood,
 That basely fled when noble Talbot stood.

Tal. Fly, to revenge my death, if I be slain.

John. He that flies so will ne'er return again.

Tal. If we both stay, we both are sure to die. 20

John. Then let me stay ; and, father, do you fly :
 Your loss is great, so your regard should be ;
 My worth unknown, no loss is known in me.
 Upon my death the French can little boast ;
 In yours they will, in you all hopes are lost. 25
 Flight cannot stain the honour you have won ;
 But mine it will, that no exploit have done :
 You fled for vantage, every one will swear ;
 But, if I bow, they'll say it was for fear.
 There is no hope that ever I will stay, 30
 If the first hour I shrink and run away.
 Here on my knee I beg mortality,
 Rather than life preserved with infamy.

Tal. Shall all thy mother's hopes lie in one tomb ?

John. Ay, rather than I'll shame my mother's womb. 35

Tal. Upon my blessing, I command thee go.

John. To fight I will, but not to fly the foe.

Tal. Part of thy father may be saved in thee.

My age was never tainted with such shame.

John. And shall my youth be guilty of such blame?
No more can I be sever'd from your side,
Than can yourself yourself in twain divide:
Stay, go, do what you will, the like do I; 50
For live I will not, if my father die.

Born to eclipse thy life this afternoon.
Come, side by side together live and die;

It warm'd thy father's heart with proud desire
 Of bold-faced victory. Then leaden age,
 Quicken'd with youthful spleen and warlike rage,
 Beat down Alençon, Orleans, Burgundy,
 And from the pride of Gallia rescued thee. 15
 The ireful bastard Orleans, that drew blood
 From thee, my boy, and had the maidenhood
 Of thy first fight, I soon encountered,
 And interchanging blows I quickly shed
 Some of his bastard blood; and in disgrace 20
 Bespoke him thus; 'Contaminated base
 And misbegotten blood I spill of thine,
 Mean and right poor, for that pure blood of mine
 Which thou didst force from Talbot, my brave boy:'
 Here, purposing the Bastard to destroy, 25
 Came in strong rescue. Speak, thy father's care,
 Art thou not weary, John? how dost thou fare?
 Wilt thou yet leave the battle, boy, and fly,
 Now thou art seal'd the son of chivalry?
 Fly, to revenge my death when I am dead: 30
 The help of one stands me in little stead.
 O, too much folly is it, well I wot,
 To hazard all our lives in one small boat!
 If I to-day die not with Frenchmen's rage,
 To-morrow I shall die with mickle age: 35
 By me they nothing gain an if I stay;
 'Tis but the shortening of my life one day:
 In thee thy mother dies, our household's name,
 My death's revenge, thy youth, and England's fame:
 All these and more we hazard by thy stay; 40
 All these are saved if thou wilt fly away.

Alen. Then march to Paris, royal Charles of France,
And keep not back your powers in dalliance. 5

Else, ruin combat with their palaces!

Enter Scout.

Scout. Success unto our valiant general,
And happiness to his accomplices!

Char. What tidings send our scouts? I prithee, speak. 10

Scout. The English army, that divided was Into two parties, is now conjoin'd in one,
And means to give you battle presently.

Char. Somewhat too sudden, sirs, the warning is;
But we will presently provide for them. 15

Bur. I trust the ghost of Talbot is not there:
Now he is gone, my lord, you need not fear.

Puc. Of all base passions, fear is most accursed.
Command the conquest, Charles, it shall be thine,
Let Henry fret and all the world repine. 20

Now, ye familiar spirits, that are cull'd 10
Out of the powerful regions under earth,
Help me this once, that France may get the field.

[They walk, and speak not.

O, hold me not with silence over-long!
Where I was wont to feed you with my blood,
I'll lop a member off and give it you 15
In earnest of a further benefit,
So you do condescend to help me now.

[They hang their heads.

No hope to have redress? My body shall Pay recompense, if you will grant my suit.

[They shake their heads.

Cannot my body nor blood-sacrifice 20
Entreat you to your wonted furtherance?

Then take my soul, my body, soul and all,
Before that England give the French the foil. [They depart.

See, they forsake me! Now the time is come 25
That France must vail her lofty-plumed crest
And let her head fall into England's lap.

My ancient incantations are too weak,
And hell too strong for me to buckle with:

Now, France, thy glory droopeth to the dust. [Exit.

- Go and be free again as Suffolk's friend. [She is going.] 60
 O, stay! I have no power to let her pass;
 My hand would free her, but my heart says no.
 As plays the sun upon the glassy streams,
 Twinkling another counterfeited beam,
 So seems this gorgeous beauty to mine eyes.
 Fain would I woo her, yet I dare not speak: 65
 I'll call for pen and ink, and write my mind.
 Fie, de la Pole! disable not thyself;
 Hast not a tongue? is she not here?
 Wilt thou be daunted at a woman's sight?
 Ay, beauty's princely majesty is such, 70
 Confounds the tongue and makes the senses rough.
Mar. Say, Earl of Suffolk,—if thy name be so—
 What ransom must I pay before I pass?
 For I perceive I am thy prisoner.
Suf. How canst thou tell she will deny thy suit, 75
 Before thou make a trial of her love?
Mar. Why speak'st thou not? what ransom must I pay?
Suf. She's beautiful and therefore to be woo'd;
 She is a woman, therefore to be won.
Mar. Wilt thou accept of ransom? yea, or no.
Suf. Fond man, remember that thou hast a wife; 80
 Then how can Margaret be thy paramour?

Mar. He talks of wood: it is some carpenter.

Suf. Yet so my fancy may be satisfied,

And peace established between these realms.

But there remains a scruple in that too;

For though her father be the King of Naples,

Duke of Anjou and Maine, yet is he poor,

And our nobility will scorn the match.

Mar. Hear ye, captain, are you not at leisure?

Suf. It shall be so, disdain they ne'er so much:

Henry is youthful and will quickly yield.

Madam, I have a secret to reveal.

Mar. What though I be enthralld? he seems a knight,
And will not any way dishonour me.

Suf. Lady, vouchsafe to listen what I say.

Mar. Perhaps I shall be rescued by the French;

And then I need not crave his courtesy.

How say you, madam, are ye so content?

Mar. An if my father please, I am content.

 But darkness and the gloomy shade of death
 Environ you, till mischief and despair
 Drive you to break your necks or hang yourselves ! 90

[Exit, guarded.]

York. Break thou in pieces and consume to ashes,
 Thou foul accursed minister of hell !

Enter CARDINAL BEAUFORT, Bishop of Winchester, attended.

Car. Lord regent, I do greet your excellence
 With letters of commission from the king. 95
 For know, my lords, the states of Christendom,
 Moved with remorse of these outrageous broils,
 Have earnestly implored a general peace
 Betwixt our nation and the aspiring French ;
 And here at hand the Dauphin and his train 100
 Approacheth, to confer about some matter.

York. Is all our travail turn'd to this effect ?
 After the slaughter of so many peers,
 So many captains, gentlemen and soldiers,
 That in this quarrel have been overthrown 105
 And sold their bodies for their country's benefit,
 Shall we at last conclude effeminate peace ?
 Have we not lost most part of all the towns,
 By treason, falsehood and by treachery,
 Our great progenitors had conquered ? 110
 O, Warwick, Warwick ! I foresee with grief
 The utter loss of all the realm of France.

War. Be patient, York : if we conclude a peace,
 It shall be with such strict and severe covenants
 As little shall the Frenchmen gain thereby. 115

Char. Since, lords of England, it is thus agreed
That peaceful truce shall be proclaim'd in France,
We come to be informed by yourselves
What the conditions of that league must be.

York. Speak, Winchester; for boiling choler chokes 120
The hollow passage of my poison'd voice,
By sight of these our baleful enemies.

Car. Charles, and the rest, it is enacted thus :
That, in regard King Henry gives consent,
Of mere compassion and of lenity, 125
To ease your country of distressful war,
And suffer you to breathe in fruitful peace,
You shall become true liegemen to his crown :
And, Charles, upon condition thou wilt swear
To pay him tribute, and submit thyself, 130
Thou shalt be placed as viceroy under him,
And still enjoy thy regal dignity.

Alen. Must he be then as shadow of himself ?
Adorn his temples with a coronet,
And yet, in substance and authority, 135
Retain but privilege of a private man ?
This proffer is absurd and reasonless.

Char. 'Tis known already that I am possess'd
With more than half the Gallian territories,
And therein revered for their lawful king : 140
Shall I, for lucre of the rest unvanquish'd,
Detract so much from that prerogative,
As to be call'd but viceroy of the whole ?
No, lord ambassador, I'll rather keep
That which I have than, coveting for more, 145

To cavil in the course of this contract:
If once it be neglected, ten to one
We shall not find like opportunity.

Alen. To say the truth, it is your policy 160
To save your subjects from such massacre
And ruthless slaughters as are daily seen
By our proceeding in hostility;
And therefore take this compact of a truce,
Although you break it when your pleasure serves.

War. How say'st thou, Charles? shall our condition 165 stand?

Char. It shall;
Only reserved, you claim no interest
In any of our towns of garrison.

York. Then swear allegiance to his majesty, 170
As thou art knight, never to disobey

Enter SUFFOLK in conference with the KING, GLOUCESTER

King. Your wondrous rare description, noble earl,
Of beauteous Margaret hath astonish'd me :
Her virtues graced with external gifts
Do breed love's settled passions in my heart :
And like as rigour of tempestuous gusts
Provokes the mightiest hulk against the tide, 5
So am I driven by breath of her renown
Either to suffer shipwreck or arrive
Where I may have fruition of her love.

Suf. Tush, my good lord, this superficial tale 10
Is but a preface of her worthy praise ;
The chief perfections of that lovely dame,
Had I sufficient skill to utter them,
Would make a volume of enticing lines,
Able to ravish any dull conceit : 15
And, which is more, she is not so divine,
So full-replete with choice of all delights,
But with as humble lowliness of mind
She is content to be at your command ;
Command, I mean, of virtuous chaste intents, 20
To love and honour Henry as her lord.

King. And otherwise will Henry ne'er presume.
Therefore, my lord protector, give consent
That Margaret may be England's royal queen.

Glou. So should I give consent to flatter sin. 25

How shall we then dispense with that contract,
And not deface your honour with reproach?

Suf. As doth a ruler with unlawful oaths; 30
Or one that, at a triumph having vow'd
To try his strength, forsaketh yet the lists
By reason of his adversary's odds:
A poor earl's daughter is unequal odds,
And therefore may be broke without offence. 35

Glow. Why, what, I pray, is Margaret more than that?
Her father is no better than an earl,
Although in glorious titles he excel.

Suf. Yes, my lord, her father is a king,
The King of Naples and Jerusalem; 40
And of such great authority in France
As his alliance will confirm our peace
And keep the Frenchmen in allegiance.

Glow. And so the Earl of Armagnac may do,
Because he is near kinsman unto Charles. 45

Exe. Beside, his wealth doth warrant a liberal dower,
Where Reignier sooner will receive than give.

Suf. A dower, my lords! disgrace not so your king,
That he should be so abject, base and poor,
To choose for wealth and not for perfect love. 50
Henry is able to enrich his queen
And not to seek a queen to make him rich:
So worthless peasants bargain for their wives,
As market-men for oxen, sheep, or horse.
Marriage is a matter of more worth 55
Than to be dealt in by attorneyship;
Not whom we will, but whom his grace affects,
Must be companion of his nuptial bed:
And therefore, lords, since he affects her most,
It most of all these reasons bindeth us, 60

In our opinions she should be preferr'd.
 For what is wedlock forced but a hell,
 An age of discord and continual strife?
 Whereas the contrary bringeth bliss,
 And is a pattern of celestial peace. 65
 Whom should we match with Henry, being a king,
 But Margaret, that is daughter to a king?
 Her peerless feature, joined with her birth,
 Approves her fit for none but for a king:
 Her valiant courage and undaunted spirit, 70
 More than in women commonly is seen,
 Will answer our hope in issue of a king;
 For Henry, son unto a conqueror,
 Is likely to beget more conquerors,
 If with a lady of so high resolve 75
 As is fair Margaret he be link'd in love.
 Then yield, my lords; and here conclude with me
 That Margaret shall be queen, and none but she.

King. Whether it be through force of your report,
 My noble Lord of Suffolk, or for that 80
 My tender youth was never yet attain'd
 With any passion of inflaming love,
 I cannot tell; but this I am assured,
 I feel such sharp dissension in my breast,
 Such fierce alarums both of hope and fear, 85
 As I am sick with working of my thoughts.
 Take, therefore, shipping; post, my lord, to France;
 Agree to any covenants, and procure
 That Lady Margaret do vouchsafe to come
 To cross the seas to England and be crown'd 90
 King Henry's faithful and anointed queen:
 For your expenses and sufficient charge,
 Among the people gather up a tenth.

NOTES.

NOTE I.

DRAMATIS PERSONÆ. Mr G. R. French writes to us: 'In 1 Henry VI., it is generally said of the Duke of York: "Richard Plantagenet, eldest son of Richard, late Earl of Cambridge." But he was an only son. "Eldest" should therefore be left out.'

We have made other changes in the 'Dramatis Personæ' of the following plays, in accordance with suggestions from Mr French, to whom we beg to repeat our acknowledgements.

NOTE II.

I. I. 60. The word Rheims, spelt 'Rheimes' in the Folios, must be pronounced as a dissyllable, otherwise the metre halts. Capell's interpolation, the credit of which is claimed as usual by Steevens derives some support from the fact that Roan, i.e. Rowen, is mentioned by Gloucester in line 65. Possibly we should read Rheimes for Roan in the latter passage.

NOTE III.

I. 3. 59. The insertion made by the Editor of the second Folio for the sake of the metre shows that a change had already taken place in the pronunciation of the word 'Maÿor,' which in Shakespeare's day was sometimes written and pronounced 'Major.' See 1 Henry IV. II. 4. 473: 'I deny your major; if you will deny the Sheriff, so; let him enter.' In line 84 of the present scene, however, the 'Maior' of the first Folio becomes 'Major' in the second—probably from inadvertence.

NOTE IV.

I. 4. 16—18. We leave this corrupt passage as it stands in the first Folio. In the second Folio, which is followed as usual by the third and fourth, it is thus given :

‘And fully even these three dayes have I watcht,
If I could see them. Now Boy doe thou watch,
For I can stay no longer.’

Pope omits the words ‘For...longer.’

Malone has :

‘And even these three days have I watched,
If I could see them.
Now do thou watch, for I can stay no longer.’

Mr Collier :

‘And even these three days have I watch’d, if I Could see them.
Now, do thou watch, for I can stay no longer.’

NOTE V.

III. 2. 17. All editors previous to Capell, except Hanmer, follow the Folios in making Reignier speak without having brought him on the stage, and all subsequent editors follow Capell in giving Reignier’s speeches to Alençon, without noting that he had made any change. Hanmer altered Alençon to Reignier in the stage-direction, line 16, and Reignier to Alençon in the stage-direction, line 40.

NOTE VI.

V. 1. 17. However plausible the emendation kin may seem, we leave knit, the reading of the Folios, as the conceit suggested by the ‘knot of amity,’ in the preceding line, is not alien from the author’s manner. Mr Collier, in a note to his second edition, says: “Mr Singer is obliged to admit that it has been proposed to read ‘near kin to Charles.’ Where has it been so proposed? In the corrected Folio, 1632, which Mr Singer has always such a wish to ignore. The emendation was never suggested (not even in Mr Singer’s corrected Folio, 1632) until it appeared in our volume of ‘Notes and emendations,’ p. 277.”

In fact, it was first suggested by Pope, and adopted by Theobald, Hanmer, Warburton, and Johnson. Capell restored knit, in which he was followed by Steevens and Malone.

NOTE VII.

v. III. 75. This and other speeches which follow are marked by Pope and subsequent editors as spoken aside, but this is so obvious that we have not thought it necessary to encumber our pages with marginal directions.

NOTE VIII.

v. 4. 121. Malone, followed by Singer, Mr Collier, and Herr Delius, attributes the emendation 'prison'd' for 'poison'd' to Pope. Mr Staunton rightly assigns it to Theobald.

Your grief, the common grief of all the land.
 What! did my brother Henry spend his youth,
 His valour, coin and people, in the wars?
 Did he so often lodge in open field, 75
 In winter's cold and summer's parching heat,
 To conquer France, his true inheritance?
 And did my brother Bedford toil his wits,
 To keep by policy what Henry got?
 Have you yourselves, Somerset, Buckingham, 80
 Brave York, Salisbury, and victorious Warwick,
 Received deep scars in France and Normandy?
 Or hath mine uncle Beaufort and myself,
 With all the learned council of the realm,
 Studied so long, sat in the council-house 85
 Early and late, debating to and fro
 How France and Frenchmen might be kept in awe,
 And had his highness in his infancy
 Crowned in Paris in despite of foes?
 And shall these labours and these honours die? 90
 Shall Henry's conquest, Bedford's vigilance,
 Your deeds of war and all our counsel die?
 O peers of England, shameful is this league!
 Fatal this marriage, cancelling your fame,
 Blotting your names from books of memory, 95
 Razing the characters of your renown,
 Defacing monuments of conquer'd France,
 Undoing all, as all had never been!

Car. Nephew, what means this passionate discourse,
 This peroration with such circumstance? 100
 For France, 'tis ours; and we will keep it still.

 Agrees not with the leanness of his purse.

Sal. Now, by the death of Him that died for all,
 These counties were the keys of Normandy.
 But wherefore weeps Warwick, my valiant son? 110

War. For grief that they are past recovery:
 For, were there hope to conquer them again,
 My sword should shed hot blood, mine eyes no tears.
 Anjou and Maine! myself did win them both;
 Those provinces these arms of mine did conquer: 115
 And are the cities, that I got with wounds,
 Deliver'd up again with peaceful words?
 Mort Dieu!

York. For Suffolk's duke, may he be suffocate,
 That dims the honour of this warlike isle! 120
 France should have torn and rent my very heart,
 Before I would have yielded to this league.
 I never read but England's kings have had Large sums of gold and dowries with their wives;
 And our King Henry gives away his own, 125
 To match with her that brings no vantages.

Glou. A proper jest, and never heard before,
 That Suffolk should demand a whole fifteenth
 For costs and charges in transporting her!
 She should have stayed in France and starved in France, 130
 Before—

Car. My lord of Gloucester, now ye grow too hot:
 It was the pleasure of my lord the king.

Glou. My lord of Winchester, I know your mind;
 'Tis not my speeches that you do mislike, 135
 But 'tis my presence that doth trouble ye.
 Rancour will out: proud prelate, in thy face

Lordings, farewell; and say, when I am gone,
I prophesied France will be lost ere long.

[Exit.]

Car. So, there goes our protector in a rage.

Tis known to you he is mine enemy,

Nay, more, an enemy unto you all,

And no great friend, I fear me, to the king.

145

Consider, lords, he is the next of blood,

And heir apparent to the English crown:

Had Henry got an empire by his marriage,

And all the wealthy kingdoms of the west,

There's reason he should be displeas'd at it.

150

Look to it, lords; let not his smoothing words

Bewitch your hearts; be wise and circumspect.

What though the common people favour him,

Calling him 'Humphrey, the good Duke of Gloucester,'

Clapping their hands, and crying with loud voice,

155

'Jesu maintain your royal excellence!'

With 'God preserve the good Duke Humphrey!'

I fear me, lords, for all this flattering gloss,

He will be found a dangerous protector.

Buck. Why should he, then, protect our sovereign,

He being of age to govern of himself?

Cousin of Somerset, join you with me,

And all together, with the Duke of Suffolk,

We'll quickly hoise Duke Humphrey from his seat.

Car. This weighty business will not brook delay;

165

I'll to the Duke of Suffolk presently.

[Exit.]

Som. Cousin of Buckingham, though Humphrey's pride

And greatness of his place be grief to us,

Yet let us watch the haughty cardinal:

His insolence is more intolerable

170

Than all the princes in the land beside:

If Gloucester be displaced, he'll be protector.

Sal. Pride went before, ambition follows him. 175

While these do labour for their own preferment,
Behoves it us to labour for the realm.

I never saw but Humphrey Duke of Gloucester
Did bear him like a noble gentleman.

Offt have I seen the haughty cardinal, 180

More like a soldier than a man o' the church,

As stout and proud as he were lord of all,

Swear like a ruffian and demean himself

Unlike the ruler of a commonweal.

Warwick, my son, the comfort of my age, 185

Thy deeds, thy plainness and thy housekeeping,

Hath won the greatest favour of the commons,

Excepting none but good Duke Humphrey:

And, brother York, thy acts in Ireland,

In bringing them to civil discipline, 190

Thy late exploits done in the heart of France,

When thou wert regent for our sovereign,

Have made thee fear'd and honour'd of the people:

Join we together, for the public good,

In what we can, to bridle and suppress 195

The pride of Suffolk and the cardinal,

With Somerset's and Buckingham's ambition;

And, as we may, cherish Duke Humphrey's deeds,

While they do tend the profit of the land.

War. So God help Warwick, as he loves the land, 200

And common profit of his country!

That Maine which by main force Warwick did win, 205
And would have kept so long as breath did last!
Main chance, father, you meant; but I meant Maine,
Which I will win from France, or else be slain.

[Exeunt Warwick and Salisbury.]

York. Anjou and Maine are given to the French;
Paris is lost; the state of Normandy 210
Stands on a tickle point, now they are gone:
Suffolk concluded on the articles,
The peers agreed, and Henry was well pleased
To change two dukedoms for a duke's fair daughter.
I cannot blame them all: what is't to them? 215
'Tis thine they give away, and not their own.
Pirates may make cheap pennyworths of their pillage
And purchase friends and give to courtezans,
Still revelling like lords till all be gone;
While as the silly owner of the goods 220
Weeps over them and wrings his hapless hands
And shakes his head and trembling stands aloof,
While all is shared and all is borne away,
Ready to starve and dare not touch his own:
So York must sit and fret and bite his tongue, 225
While his own lands are bargain'd for and sold.
Methinks the realms of England, France and Ireland
Bear that proportion to my flesh and blood
As did the fatal brand Althæa burn'd

Unto the prince's heart of Calydon. 230
 Anjou and Maine both given unto the French!
 Cold news for me, for I had hope of France,
 Even as I have of fertile England's soil.
 A day will come when York shall claim his own;
 And therefore I will take the Nevils' parts 235
 And make a show of love to proud Duke Humphrey,
 And, when I spy advantage, claim the crown,
 For that's the golden mark I seek to hit:
 Nor shall proud Lancaster usurp my right,
 Nor hold the sceptre in his childish fist, 240
 Nor wear the diadem upon his head,
 Whose church-like humours fits not for a crown.
 Then, York, be still awhile, till time do serve:
 Watch thou and wake when others be asleep,
 To pry into the secrets of the state; 245
 Till Henry, surfeiting in joys of love,
 With his new bride and England's dear-bought queen,
 And Humphrey with the peers be fall'n at jars:
 Then will I raise aloft the milk-white rose,
 With whose sweet smell the air shall be perfumed; 250
 And in my standard bear the arms of York,
 To grapple with the house of Lancaster;
 And, force perforce, I'll make him yield the crown,
 Whose bookish rule hath pull'd fair England down. [Exit.]

Why doth the great Duke Humphrey knit his brows,
As frowning at the favours of the world?

Why are thine eyes fix'd to the sullen earth, 5
Gazing on that which seems to dim thy sight?
What seest thou there? King Henry's diadem,
Enchased with all the honours of the world?

If so, gaze on, and grovel on thy face,
Until thy head be circled with the same. 10

Put forth thy hand, reach at the glorious gold.
What, is't too short? I'll lengthen it with mine;
And, having both together heaved it up,
We'll both together lift our heads to heaven,
And never more abase our sight so low 15
As to vouchsafe one glance unto the ground.

Glou. O Nell, sweet Nell, if thou dost love thy lord,
Banish the canker of ambitious thoughts.
And may that thought, when I imagine ill
Against my king and nephew, virtuous Henry, 20
Be my last breathing in this mortal world!
My troublous dream this night doth make me sad.

Duch. What dream'd my lord? tell me, and I'll requite it
With sweet rehearsal of my morning's dream.

Glou. Methought this staff, mine office-badge in court, 25
Was broke in twain; by whom I have forgot,
But, as I think, it was by the cardinal;
And on the pieces of the broken wand
Were placed the heads of Edmund Duke of Somerset,
And William de la Pole, first duke of Suffolk. 30
This was my dream: what it doth bode, God knows.

Duch. Tut, this was nothing but an argument
That he that breaks a stick of Gloucester's grove
Shall lose his head for his presumption.
But list to me, my Humphrey, my sweet duke: 35

Presumptuous dame, ill-nurtured Eleanor,
Art thou not second woman in the realm,
And the protector's wife, beloved of him?
Hast thou not worldly pleasure at command, 45
Above the reach or compass of thy thought?
And wilt thou still be hammering treachery,
To tumble down thy husband and thyself
From top of honour to disgrace's feet?
Away from me, and let me hear no more! 50

Duch. What, what, my lord! are you so choleric
With Eleanor, for telling but her dream?
Next time I'll keep my dreams unto myself,
And not be check'd.

Glou. Nay, be not angry; I am pleased again. 55

As by your grace shall be propounded him.

Duch. It is enough; I'll think upon the questions:
When from Saint Alban's we do make return,
We'll see these things effected to the full.
Here, Hume, take this reward; make merry, man, 85
With thy confederates in this weighty cause. [Exit.

Marry, and shall. But, how now, Sir John Hume!
Seal up your lips, and give no words but mum:

Dame Eleanor gives gold to bring the witch:
Gold cannot come amiss, were she a devil.
Yet have I gold flies from another coast;

 To call them both a pair of crafty knaves.
 Well, so it stands; and thus, I fear, at last

Queen. My Lord of Suffolk, say, is this the guise,
 Is this the fashion in the court of England? 40
 Is this the government of Britain's isle,
 And this the royalty of Albion's king?
 What, shall King Henry be a pupil still Under the surly Gloucester's governance? 45
 Am I a queen in title and in style,
 And must be made a subject to a duke?
 I tell thee, Pole, when in the city Tours
 Thou ran'st a tilt in honour of my love
 And stolest away the ladies' hearts of France, 50
 I thought King Henry had resembled thee
 In courage, courtship and proportion:
 But all his mind is bent to holiness,
 To number Ave-Maries on his beads;
 His champions are the prophets and apostles, 55
 His weapons holy saws of sacred writ,
 His study is his tilt-yard, and his loves
 Are brazen images of canonized saints.
 I would the college of the cardinals
 Would choose him pope and carry him to Rome, 60
 And set the triple crown upon his head:
 That were a state fit for his holiness.

Suf. Madam, be patient: as I was cause
 Your highness came to England, so will I
 In England work your grace's full content. 65

Queen. Beside the haughty protector, have we Beaufort
 The imperious churchman, Somerset, Buckingham,
 And grumbling York; and not the least of these
 But can do more in England than the king.

Queen. Not all these lords do vex me half so much
 As that proud dame, the lord protector's wife.
 She sweeps it through the court with troops of ladies, 75
 More like an empress than duke Humphrey's wife:
 Strangers in court do take her for the queen:
 She bears a duke's revenues on her back,
 And in her heart she scorns our poverty:
 Shall I not live to be avenged on her? 80
 Contemptuous base-born callet as she is,
 She vaunted 'mongst her minions t'other day,
 The very train of her worst wearing gown
 Was better worth than all my father's lands,
 Till Suffolk gave two dukedoms for his daughter. 85

Suf. Madam, myself have limed a bush for her,
 And placed a quire of such enticing birds,
 That she will light to listen to the lays,
 And never mount to trouble you again.
 So, let her rest: and, madam, list to me; 90
 For I am bold to counsel you in this.
 Although we fancy not the cardinal,
 Yet must we join with him and with the lords,
 Till we have brought Duke Humphrey in disgrace.
 As for the Duke of York, this late complaint 95
 Will make but little for his benefit.
 So, one by one, we'll weed them all at last,
 And you yourself shall steer the happy helm.

Glou. Madam, the king is old enough himself
To give his censure: these are no women's matters. 115

Queen. If he be old enough, what needs your grace
To be protector of his excellence?

Glou. Madam, I am protector of the realm;
And, at his pleasure, will resign my place.

Suf. Resign it then and leave thine insolence. 120
Since thou wert king—as who is king but thou?—

The commonwealth hath daily run to wreck;
The Dauphin hath prevail'd beyond the seas;
And all the peers and nobles of the realm
Have been as bondmen to thy sovereignty. 125

Car. The commons hast thou rack'd; the clergy's bags
Are lank and lean with thy extortions.

Som. Thy sumptuous buildings and thy wife's attire
Have cost a mass of public treasury.

Buck. Thy cruelty in execution 130
Upon offenders hath exceeded law
And left thee to the mercy of the law.

Queen. Thy sale of offices and towns in France,

I cry you mercy, madam; was it you?

Duch. Was't I! yea, I it was, proud Frenchwoman:

Could I come near your beauty with my nails,

I'd set my ten commandments in your face. 140

King. Sweet aunt, be quiet; 'twas against her will.

Duch. Against her will! good king, look to't in time;

She'll hamper thee, and dandle thee like a baby:

Though in this place most master wear no breeches,

She shall not strike Dame Eleanor unrevenged. [Exit. 145

Buck. Lord cardinal, I will follow Eleanor,

And listen after Humphrey, how he proceeds:

She's tickled now; her fume needs no spurs,

She'll gallop far enough to her destruction. [Exit. 145

Re-enter GLOUCESTER.

Glow. Now, lords, my choler being over-blown 150

With walking once about the quadrangle,

I come to talk of commonwealth affairs.

As for your spiteful false objections,

Prove them, and I lie open to the law:

But God in mercy so deal with my soul, 155

As I in duty love my king and country!

But, to the matter that we have in hand:

I say, my sovereign, York is meetest man

To be your regent in the realm of France.

155. so deal] deal so Rowe.

To show some reason, of no little force,
That York is most unmeet of any man.

York. I'll tell thee, Suffolk, why I am unmeet:
First, for I cannot flatter thee in pride;
Next, if I be appointed for the place, 165
My Lord of Somerset will keep me here,
Without discharge, money, or furniture,
Till France be won into the Dauphin's hands:
Last time, I danced attendance on his will Till Paris was besieged, famish'd, and lost. 170

War. That can I witness; and a fouler fact
Did never traitor in the land commit.

Suf. Peace, headstrong Warwick!

War. Image of pride, why should I hold my peace?

Enter HORNER, the Armourer, and his man PETER, guarded.

Suf. Because here is a man accused of treason: 175
Pray God the Duke of York excuse himself!

York. Doth any one accuse York for a traitor?

King. What mean'st thou, Suffolk; tell me, what are these?

Suf. Please it your majesty, this is the man
That doth accuse his master of high treason: 180
His words were these: that Richard Duke of York
Was rightful heir unto the English crown
And that your majesty was an usurper.

King. Say, man, were these thy words?

Hor. An't shall please your majesty, I never said nor 185 thought any such matter: God is my witness, I am falsely accused by the villain.

Pet. By these ten bones, my lords, he did speak them to me in the garret one night, as we were scouring my Lord of York's armour. 190

I'll have thy head for this thy traitor's speech.
 I do beseech your royal majesty,
 Let him have all the rigour of the law.

Hor. Alas, my lord, hang me, if ever I spake the 195 words. My accuser is my 'prentice; and when I did correct him for his fault the other day, he did vow upon his knees he would be even with me: I have good witness of this; therefore I beseech your majesty, do not cast away an honest man for a villain's accusation. 200

King. Uncle, what shall we say to this in law?

Glou. This doom, my lord, if I may judge:
 Let Somerset be regent o'er the French,
 Because in York this breeds suspicion:
 And let these have a day appointed them 205
 For single combat in convenient place,
 For he hath witness of his servant's malice:
 This is the law, and this Duke Humphrey's doom.

Som. I humbly thank your royal majesty.

Hor. And I accept the combat willingly. 210

Pet. Alas, my lord, I cannot fight; for God's sake, pity my case. The spite of man prevaieth against me. O Lord, have mercy upon me! I shall never be able to fight a blow. O Lord, my heart!

Glou. Sirrah, or you must fight, or else be hang'd. 215

King. Away with them to prison; and the day of combat shall be the last of the next month. Come, Somers-

Hume. Come, my masters; the duchess, I tell you, expects performance of your promises.

Boling. Master Hume, we are therefore provided: will her ladyship behold and hear our exorcisms?

Hume. Ay, what else? fear you not her courage. 5

Boling. I have heard her reported to be a woman of an invincible spirit: but it shall be convenient, Master Hume, that you be by her aloft, while we be busy below; and so, I pray you, go, in God's name, and leave us. [Exit Hume.] Mother Jourdain, be you prostrate and grovel on the earth; 10 John Southwell, read you; and let us to our work.

Enter Duchess aloft, HUME following.

Duch. Well said, my masters; and welcome all. To this gear the sooner the better.

Boling. Patience, good lady; wizards know their times: Deep night, dark night, the silent of the night, 15 The time of night when Troy was set on fire; The time when screech-owls cry and ban-dogs howl And spirits walk and ghosts break up their graves, That time best fits the work we have in hand. Madam, sit you and fear not: whom we raise, 20

Injurious duke, that threatest where's no cause.

King. But what a point, my lord, your falcon made, 5
And what a pitch she flew above the rest!
To see how God in all his creatures works!
Yea, man and birds are fain of climbing high.

Suf. No marvel, an it like your majesty,
My lord protector's hawks do tower so well; 10
They know their master loves to be aloft
And bears his thoughts above his falcon's pitch.

Glou. My lord, 'tis but a base ignoble mind
That mounts no higher than a bird can soar.

Car. I thought as much; he would be above the clouds. 15

Glou. Ay, my lord cardinal? how think you by that?
Were it not good your grace could fly to heaven?

King. The treasury of everlasting joy.

Car. Thy heaven is on earth; thine eyes and thoughts 20
Beat on a crown, the treasure of thy heart;
Pernicious protector, dangerous peer,
That smooth'st it so with king and commonweal!

Glou. What, cardinal, is your priesthood grown peremptory?

 An't like your lordly lord-protectorship. 30
Glou. Why, Suffolk, England knows thine insolence.
Queen. And thy ambition, Gloucester.
King. I prithee, peace, good queen,
 And whet not on these furious peers;
 For blessed are the peacemakers on earth. 35
Car. Let me be blessed for the peace I make,
 Against this proud protector, with my sword!

How irksome is this music to my heart!

When such strings jar, what hope of harmony?

I pray, my lords, let me compound this strife.

Enter a Townsman of Saint Alban's, crying 'A miracle!'

Glou. What means this noise?

Fellow, what miracle dost thou proclaim? 60

Towns. A miracle! a miracle!

Suf. Come to the king and tell him what miracle.

Towns. Forsooth, a blind man at Saint Alban's shrine,
Within this half-hour, hath received his sight;

A man that ne'er saw in his life before. 65

King. Now, God be praised, that to believing souls
Gives light in darkness, comfort in despair!

Or of devotion, to this holy shrine?
- Simp.* God knows, of pure devotion; being call'd
A hundred times and oftener, in my sleep, 90
By good Saint Alban; who said, 'Simpcox, come,
Come, offer at my shrine, and I will help thee.'

Let me see thine eyes: wink now: now open them: 105

In my opinion yet thou see'st not well.

Simp. Red, master; red as blood. 110

Glou. Why, that's well said. What colour is my gown of?

Simp. Black, forsooth: coal-black as jet.

King. Why, then, thou know'st what colour jet is of?

Suf. And yet, I think, jet did he never see.

Glou. But cloaks and gowns, before this day, a many. 115

Wife. Never, before this day, in all his life.

Buck. Such as my heart doth tremble to unfold.

A sort of naughty persons, lewdly bent,
Under the countenance and confederacy
Of Lady Eleanor, the protector's wife,
The ringleader and head of all this rout, 165

Have practised dangerously against your state,
Dealing with witches and with conjurers:
Whom we have apprehended in the fact;
Raising up wicked spirits from under ground,
Demanding of King Henry's life and death, 170
And other of your highness' privy-council;
As more at large your grace shall understand.

Car. [Aside to Glou.] And so, my lord protector, by this means

Your lady is forthcoming yet at London.
This news, I think, hath turn'd your weapon's edge; 175
'Tis like, my lord, you will not keep your hour.

Glou. Ambitious churchman, leave to afflict my heart:
Sorrow and grief have vanquish'd all my powers;

How I have loved my king and commonweal:

And, for my wife, I know not how it stands;

Sorry I am to hear what I have heard:

Noble she is, but if she have forgot

Honour and virtue and conversed with such 190

As, like to pitch, defile nobility,

I banish her my bed and company

And give her as a prey to law and shame,

That hath dishonour'd Gloucester's honest name.

King. Well, for this night we will repose us here: 195

To-morrow toward London back again,

To look into this business thoroughly

And call these foul offenders to their answers

And poise the cause in justice' equal scales,

7. and if] an if S. Walker conj.

The Nevils are thy subjects to command.

York. Then thus:

Edward the Third, my lords, had seven sons: 10

The first, Edward the Black Prince, Prince of Wales;

The second, William of Hatfield, and the third,

Lionel Duke of Clarence; next to whom

Was John of Gaunt, the Duke of Lancaster;

The fifth was Edmund Langley, Duke of York; 15

The sixth was Thomas of Woodstock, Duke of Gloucester;

William of Windsor was the seventh and last.

Edward the Black Prince died before his father

And left behind him Richard, his only son,

Who after Edward the Third's death reign'd as king; 20

Till Henry Bolingbroke, Duke of Lancaster,

The eldest son and heir of John of Gaunt,

Crown'd by the name of Henry the Fourth,

Seized on the realm, deposed the rightful king,

Sent his poor queen to France, from whence she came, 25

And him to Pomfret; where, as all you know,

Harmless Richard was murder'd traitorously.

War. Father, the duke hath told the truth;

Thus got the house of Lancaster the crown.

* York. Which now they hold by force and not by right; 30

For Richard, the first son's heir, being dead,

The issue of the next son should have reign'd.

Sal. But William of Hatfield died without an heir.

York. The third son, Duke of Clarence, from whose line

I claim the crown, had issue, Philippe, a daughter, 35

Who married Edmund Mortimer, Earl of March:

Edmund had issue, Roger Earl of March;

Roger had issue, Edmund, Anne and Eleanor.

As I have read, laid claim unto the crown; 40
And, but for Owen Glendower, had been king,
Who kept him in captivity till he died.
But to the rest.

York. His eldest sister, Anne,
My mother, being heir unto the crown,
Married Richard Earl of Cambridge; who was son 45
To Edmund Langley, Edward the Third's fifth son.
By her I claim the kingdom: she was heir
To Roger Earl of March, who was the son
Of Edmund Mortimer, who married Philippe,
Sole daughter unto Lionel Duke of Clarence: 50
So, if the issue of the elder son
Succeed before the younger, I am king.

War. What plain proceeding is more plain than this?
Henry doth claim the crown from John of Gaunt,
The fourth son; York claims it from the third. 55
Till Lionel's issue fails, his should not reign:
It fails not yet, but flourishes in thee
And in thy sons, fair slips of such a stock.
Then, father Salisbury, kneel we together;
And in this private plot be we the first 60
That shall salute our rightful sovereign
With honour of his birthright to the crown.

Both. Long live our sovereign Richard, England's king!

York. We thank you, lords. But I am not your king 65
Till I be crown'd and that my sword be stain'd
With heart-blood of the house of Lancaster;
And that's not suddenly to be perform'd,
But with advice and silent secrecy.

 That virtuous prince, the good Duke Humphrey:
 'Tis that they seek, and they in seeking that Shall find their deaths, if York can prophesy.

Sal. My lord, break we off; we know your mind at full.

War. My heart assures me that the Earl of Warwick
 Shall one day make the Duke of York a king.

York. And, Nevil, this I do assure myself:
 Richard shall live to make the Earl of Warwick
 The greatest man in England but the king.

To tread them with her tender-feeling feet.
 Sweet Nell, ill can thy noble mind abrook 10
 The abject people gazing on thy face,
 With envious looks, laughing at thy shame,
 That erst did follow thy proud chariot-wheels
 When thou didst ride in triumph through the streets.
 But, soft! I think she comes; and I'll prepare 15

Duch. Come you, my lord, to see my open shame?

Now thou dost penance too. Look how they gaze! 20

See how the giddy multitude do point,

And nod their heads, and throw their eyes on thee!

Ah, Gloucester, hide thee from their hateful looks,

And, in thy closet pent up, rue my shame,

And ban thine enemies, both mine and thine! 25

Glou. Be patient, gentle Nell; forget this grief.

Duch. Ah, Gloucester, teach me to forget myself!

For whilst I think I am thy married wife

And thou a prince, protector of this land,

Methinks I should not thus be led along, 30

Mail'd up in shame, with papers on my back,

And follow'd with a rabble that rejoice

To see my tears and hear my deep-fet groans.

The ruthless flint doth cut my tender feet,

And when I start, the envious people laugh

And bid me be advised how I tread. 35

Ah, Humphrey, can I bear this shameful yoke?

Or count them happy that enjoy the sun?
 No; dark shall be my light and night my day; 40
 To think upon my pomp shall be my hell.
 Sometime I'll say, I am Duke Humphrey's wife,
 And he a prince and ruler of the land:
 Yet so he ruled and such a prince he was
 As he stood by whilst I, his forlorn duchess, 45
 Was made a wonder and a pointing-stock
 To every idle rascal follower.
 But be thou mild and blush not at my shame,
 Nor stir at nothing till the axe of death
 Hang over thee, as, sure, it shortly will; 50
 For Suffolk—he that can do all in all
 With her that hateth thee and hates us all—
 And York and impious Beaufort, that false priest,
 Have all limed bushes to betray thy wings,
 And, fly thou how thou canst, they'll tangle thee: 55
 But fear not thou, until thy foot be snared,
 Nor never seek prevention of thy foes.

Glou. Ah, Nell, forbear! thou aimest all awry;
 I must offend before I be attainted;
 And had I twenty times so many foes, 60
 And each of them had twenty times their power,
 All these could not procure me any scathe,
 So long as I am loyal, true and crimeless.
 Wouldst have me rescue thee from this reproach?
 Why, yet thy scandal were not wiped away, 65
 But I in danger for the breach of law.
 Thy greatest help is quiet, gentle Nell:
 I pray thee, sort thy heart to patience;

I care not whither, for I beg no favour,
Only convey me where thou art commanded.

There to be used according to your state. 95
- Duch.* That's bad enough, for I am but reproach:
And shall I then be used reproachfully?

SCENE I. The Abbey at Bury St Edmund's.

Sound a Sennet. Enter KING, QUEEN, CARDINAL BEAUFORT, SUFFOLK, YORK, BUCKINGHAM, SALISBURY and WARWICK to the Parliament.

King. I muse my Lord of Gloucester is not come:
'Tis not his wont to be the hindmost man,
Whate'er occasion keeps him from us now:

Queen. Can you not see? or will ye not observe
The strangeness of his alter'd countenance? 5
With what a majesty he bears himself,
How insolent of late he is become,
How proud, how peremptory, and unlike himself?
We know the time since he was mild and affable,
And if we did but glance a far-off look, 10
Immediately he was upon his knee,
That all the court admired him for submission:
But meet him now, and, be it in the morn,
When every one will give the time of day,

He knits his brow and shows an angry eye 15
 And passeth by with stiff unbowed knee,
 Disdaining duty that to us belongs.
 Small curs are not regarded when they grin;
 But great men tremble when the lion roars;
 And Humphrey is no little man in England. 20
 First note that he is near you in descent,
 And should you fall, he as the next will mount.
 Me seemeth then it is no policy,
 Respecting what a rancorous mind he bears
 And his advantage following your decease, 25
 That he should come about your royal person
 Or be admitted to your highness' council.
 By flattery hath he won the commons' hearts,
 And when he please to make commotion,
 'Tis to be fear'd they all will follow him. 30
 Now 'tis the spring, and weeds are shallow-rooted;
 Suffer them now, and they'll o'ergrow the garden
 And choke the herbs for want of husbandry.
 The reverent care I bear unto my lord
 Made me collect these dangers in the duke. 35
 If it be fond, call it a woman's fear;
 Which fear if better reasons can supplant,
 I will subscribe and say I wrong'd the duke.
 My lord of Suffolk, Buckingham, and York,
 Reprove my allegation, if you can; 40
 Or else conclude my words effectual.
Suf. Well hath your highness seen into this duke;
 And, had I first been put to speak my mind,
 I think I should have told your grace's tale.
 The duchess by his subornation, 45

Yet, by reputed of his high descent,
 As next the king he was successive heir,
 And such high vaunts of his nobility, 50
 Did instigate the bedlam brain-sick duchess
 By wicked means to frame our sovereign's fall.
 Smooth runs the water where the brook is deep;
 And in his simple show he harbours treason.
 The fox barks not when he would steal the lamb. 55
 No, no, my sovereign; Gloucester is a man
 Unsounded yet and full of deep deceit.

Car. Did he not, contrary to form of law,
 Devise strange deaths for small offences done?

York. And did he not, in his protectorship, 60
 Levy great sums of money through the realm
 For soldiers' pay in France, and never sent it?
 By means whereof the towns each day revolted.

Buck. Tut, these are petty faults to faults unknown,
 Which time will bring to light in smooth Duke Humphrey. 65

King. My lords, at once: the care you have of us,
 To mow down thorns that would annoy our foot,
 Is worthy praise: but, shall I speak my conscience,
 Our kinsman Gloucester is as innocent
 From meaning treason to our royal person 70
 As is the sucking lamb or harmless dove:
 The duke is virtuous, mild and too well given
 To dream on evil or to work my downfall.

Queen. Ah, what's more dangerous than this fond affiance!

Seems he a dove? his feathers are but borrow'd, 75
 For he's disposed as the hateful raven:
 Is he a lamb? his skin is surely lent him,
 For he's inclined as is the ravenous wolf.
 Who cannot steal a shape that means deceit?

I do arrest thee of high treason here.

Glou. Well, Suffolk, thou shalt not see me blush
Nor change my countenance for this arrest: 100
A heart unspotted is not easily daunted.

The purest spring is not so free from mud
As I am clear from treason to my sovereign:

Car. It serves you well, my lord, to say so much.

Glou. I say no more than truth, so help me God! 120

York. In your protectorship you did devise Strange tortures for offenders never heard of,
 That England was defamed by tyranny.

Glou. Why, 'tis well known that, whiles I was protector,
 Pity was all the fault that was in me; 125
 For I should melt at an offender's tears,
 And lowly words were ransom for their fault.
 Unless it were a bloody murderer,
 Or foul felonious thief that fleeced poor passengers,
 I never gave them condign punishment: 130
 Murder indeed, that bloody sin, I tortured
 Above the felon or what trespass else.

Suf. My lord, these faults are easy, quickly answered:
 But mightier crimes are laid unto your charge,
 Whereof you cannot easily purge yourself. 135
 I do arrest you in his highness' name;
 And here commit you to my lord cardinal
 To keep, until your further time of trial.

Glou. Ah, gracious lord, these days are dangerous:
Virtue is choked with foul ambition
And charity chased hence by rancour's hand;
Foul subornation is predominant 145
And equity exiled your highness' land.
I know their complot is to have my life,
And if my death might make this island happy
And prove the period of their tyranny,
I would expend it with all willingness: 150
But mine is made the prologue to their play;
For thousands more, that yet suspect no peril,
Will not conclude their plotted tragedy.
Beaufort's red sparkling eyes blab his heart's malice,

Sharp Buckingham unburthens with his tongue
The envious load that lies upon his heart;
And dogged York, that reaches at the moon,
Whose overweening arm I have pluck'd back,
By false accuse doth level at my life: 160
And you, my sovereign lady, with the rest,

The king will labour still to save his life,
The commons haply rise, to save his life; 240
And yet we have but trivial argument,
More than mistrust, that shows him worthy death.

York. So that, by this, you would not have him die.

York. 'Tis York that hath more reason for his death. 245
But, my lord cardinal, and you, my lord of Suffolk,

 Had been the regent there instead of me,
 He never would have stay'd in France so long. 295

York. No, not to lose it all, as thou hast done :
 I rather would have lost my life betimes

Might happily have proved far worse than his.

York. What, worse than nought? nay, then, a shame

Som. And, in the number, thee that wishest shame!

Car. My Lord of York, try what your fortune is.

The uncivil kernes of Ireland are in arms 310

And temper clay with blood of Englishmen:

To Ireland will you lead a band of men,

Collected choicely, from each county some,

And try your hap against the Irishmen?

York. I will, my lord, so please his majesty. 315

Suf. Why, our authority is his consent,

And what we do establish he confirms:

Then, noble York, take thou this task in hand.

York. I am content: provide me soldiers, lords,
Whiles I take order for mine own affairs. 320

Suf. A charge, Lord York, that I will see perform'd.
But now return we to the false Duke Humphrey.

Car. No more of him; for I will deal with him
That henceforth he shall trouble us no more.
And so break off; the day is almost spent: 325

Lord Suffolk, you and I must talk of that event.

York. My Lord of Suffolk, within fourteen days
At Bristol I expect my soldiers;
For there I'll ship them all for Ireland.

331. SCENE V. Pope.

Be that thou hopest to be, or what thou art
 Resign to death; it is not worth the enjoying:
 Let pale-faced fear keep with the mean-born man, 335
 And find no harbour in a royal heart.
 Faster than spring-time showers comes thought on thought,
 And not a thought but thinks on dignity.
 My brain more busy than the labouring spider
 Weaves tedious snares to trap mine enemies. 340
 Well, nobles, well, 'tis politicly done,
 To send me packing with an host of men:
 I fear me you but warm the starved snake,
 Who, cherish'd in your breasts, will sting your hearts.
 'Twas men I lack'd and you will give them me: 345
 I take it kindly; yet be well assured
 You put sharp weapons in a madman's hands.
 Whiles I in Ireland nourish a mighty band,
 I will stir up in England some black storm
 Shall blow ten thousand souls to heaven or hell; 350
 And this fell tempest shall not cease to rage
 Until the golden circuit on my head,
 Like to the glorious sun's transparent beams,
 Do calm the fury of this mad-bred flaw.
 And, for a minister of my intent, 355
 I have seduced a headstrong Kentishman,
 John Cade of Ashford,
 To make commotion, as full well he can,
 Under the title of John Mortimer.
 In Ireland have I seen this stubborn Cade 360
 Oppose himself against a troop of kernes,
 And fought so long, till that his thighs with darts
 Were almost like a sharp-quill'd porpentine;
 And, in the end being rescued, I have seen
 Him caper upright like a wild Morisco, 365

 This devil here shall be my substitute;
 For that John Mortimer, which now is dead,
 In face, in gait, in speech, he doth resemble:
 By this I shall perceive the commons' mind,
 How they affect the house and claim of York. 375
 Say he be taken, rack'd and tortured,
 I know no pain they can inflict upon him
 Will make him say I moved him to those arms.
 Say that he thrive, as 'tis great like he will,
 Why, then from Ireland come I with my strength 380

 For Humphrey being dead, as he shall be,
 And Henry put apart, the next for me. [Exit.

Pray God he may acquit him of suspicion! 25

King. O heavenly God!

Queen. How fares my gracious lord?

Suf. Comfort, my sovereign! gracious Henry, comfort!

King. What, doth my Lord of Suffolk comfort me?

Came he right now to sing a raven's note, 40
Whose dismal tune bereft my vital powers;

And thinks he that the chirping of a wren,

By crying comfort from a hollow breast,

Can chase away the first-conceived sound?

Hide not thy poison with such sugar'd words; 45

Lay not thy hands on me; forbear, I say;

Their touch affrights me as a serpent's sting.

Thou baleful messenger, out of my sight!

Upon thy eye-balls murderous tyranny

Sits in grim majesty, to fright the world. 50

Look not upon me, for thine eyes are wounding:

Yet do not go away: come, basilisk,

And kill the innocent gazer with thy sight;

For in the shade of death I shall find joy;

In life but double death, now Gloucester's dead. 55

Queen. Why do you rate my Lord of Suffolk thus?

Although the duke was enemy to him,

Yet he most Christian-like laments his death:

And for myself, foe as he was to me,

Might liquid tears or heart-offending groans 60

Or blood-consuming sighs recall his life,

I would be blind with weeping, sick with groans,

Look pale as primrose with blood-drinking sighs,

Or turn our stern upon a dreadful rock?
 Yet Æolus would not be a murderer,
 But left that hateful office unto thee:
 The pretty-vaulting sea refused to drown me,
 Knowing that thou wouldst have me drown'd on shore, 95
 With tears as salt as sea, through thy unkindness:
 The splitting rocks cower'd in the sinking sands
 And would not dash me with their ragged sides,
 Because thy flinty heart, more hard than they,
 Might in thy palace perish Eleanor. 100
 As far as I could ken thy chalky cliffs,
 When from thy shore the tempest beat us back,
 I stood upon the hatches in the storm,
 And when the dusky sky began to rob
 My earnest-gaping sight of thy land's view, 105
 I took a costly jewel from my neck—
 A heart it was, bound in with diamonds—
 And threw it towards thy land: the sea received it,
 And so I wish'd thy body might my heart:
 And even with this I lost fair England's view 110
 And bid mine eyes be packing with my heart
 And call'd them blind and dusky spectacles,
 For losing ken of Albion's wished coast.
 How often have I tempted Suffolk's tongue,

By Suffolk and the Cardinal Beaufort's means.
The commons, like an angry hive of bees 125
That want their leader, scatter up and down
And care not who they sting in his revenge.
Myself have calm'd their spleenful mutiny,
Until they hear the order of his death.

King. That he is dead, good Warwick, 'tis too true; 130
But how he died God knows, not Henry:
Enter his chamber, view his breathless corpse,
And comment then upon his sudden death.

War. That shall I do, my liege. Stay, Salisbury,
With the rude multitude till I return. [Exit. 135

King. O Thou that judgest all things, stay my thoughts,
My thoughts, that labour to persuade my soul

For judgement only doth belong to thee. 140

Suf. A dreadful oath, sworn with a solemn tongue!

War. See how the blood is settled in his face. 160
Oft have I seen a timely-parted ghost,
Of ashy semblance, meagre, pale and bloodless,
Being all descended to the labouring heart;
Who, in the conflict that it holds with death,
Attracts the same for aidance 'gainst the enemy; 165
Which with the heart there cools and ne'er returneth
To blush and beautify the cheek again.

But see, his face is black and full of blood,
His eye-balls further out than when he lived,
Staring full ghastly like a strangled man; 170
His hair uprear'd, his nostrils stretch'd with struggling;
His hands abroad display'd, as one that grasp'd
And tugg'd for life and was by strength subdued:
Look, on the sheets his hair, you see, is sticking;
His well-proportion'd beard made rough and rugged, 175
Like to the summer's corn by tempest lodged.

It cannot be but he was murder'd here;
The least of all these signs were probable.

Sal. [to the Commons, entering] Sirs, stand apart; the king shall know your mind.

Dread Lord, the commons send you word by me,
 Unless Lord Suffolk straight be done to death,
 Or banished fair England's territories, 245
 They will by violence tear him from your palace
 And torture him with grievous lingering death.
 They say, by him the good duke Humphrey died;
 They say, in him they fear your highness' death;
 And mere instinct of love and loyalty, 250
 Free from a stubborn opposite intent,
 As being thought to contradict your liking,
 Makes them thus forward in his banishment.
 They say, in care of your most royal person,
 That if your highness should intend to sleep 255
 And charge that no man should disturb your rest
 In pain of your dislike or pain of death,
 Yet, notwithstanding such a strait edict,
 Were there a serpent seen, with forked tongue,
 That slyly glided towards your majesty, 260
 It were but necessary you were waked,
 Lest, being suffer'd in that harmful slumber,
 The mortal worm might make the sleep eternal;
 And therefore do they cry, though you forbid,
 That they will guard you, whether you will or no, 265
 From such fell serpents as false Suffolk is,
 With whose envenomed and fatal sting,
 Your loving uncle, twenty times his worth,
 They say, is shamefully bereft of life.

Commons [within]. An answer from the king, my Lord of Salisbury! 270

Suf. 'Tis like the commons, rude unpolish'd hinds,
 Could send such message to their sovereign:

But you, my lord, were glad to be employ'd,
 To show how quaint an orator you are:
 But all the honour Salisbury hath won
 Is, that he was the lord ambassador
 Sent from a sort of tinkers to the king.

275

Commons [within]. An answer from the king, or we will all break in!

King. Go, Salisbury, and tell them all from me,
 I thank them for their tender loving care;
 And had I not been cited so by them,
 Yet did I purpose as they do entreat;
 For, sure, my thoughts do hourly prophesy
 Mischance unto my state by Suffolk's means:
 And therefore, by His majesty I swear,
 Whose far unworthy deputy I am,
 He shall not breathe infection in this air
 But three days longer, on the pain of death.

[Exit Salisbury].

Queen. O Henry, let me plead for gentle Suffolk!

King. Ungentle queen, to call him gentle Suffolk!
 No more, I say: if thou dost plead for him,
 Thou wilt but add increase unto my wrath.
 Had I but said, I would have kept my word,
 But when I swear, it is irrevocable.

290

If, after three days' space, thou here be'st found
 On any ground that I am ruler of,
 The world shall not be ransom for thy life.

295

Come, Warwick, come, good Warwick, go with me;
 I have great matters to impart to thee.

[Exeunt all but Queen and Suffolk].

Queen. Mischance and sorrow go along with you!
 Heart's discontent and sour affliction
 Be playfellows to keep you company!
 There's two of you; the devil make a third!
 And threefold vengeance tend upon your steps!

Hast thou not spirit to curse thine enemy?

Suf. A plague upon them! wherefore should I curse them?

Would curses kill, as doth the mandrake's groan, 310

I would invent as bitter-searching terms,

As curst, as harsh and horrible to hear,

Deliver'd strongly through my fixed teeth,

With full as many signs of deadly hate,

As lean-faced Envy in her loathsome cave: 315

My tongue should stumble in mine earnest words;

Mine eyes should sparkle like the beaten flint;

Mine hair be fix'd on end, as one distract;

Ay, every joint should seem to curse and ban:

And even now my burthen'd heart would break, 320

Should I not curse them. Poison be their drink!

Gall, worse than gall, the daintiest that they taste!

Their sweetest shade a grove of cypress trees!

Their chiefest prospect murdering basilisks!

Their softest touch as smart as lizards' stings! 325

Their music frightful as the serpent's hiss,

And boding screech-owls make the concert full!

All the foul terrors in dark-seated hell—

Queen. Enough, sweet Suffolk; thou torment'st thyself;

And these dread curses, like the sun 'gainst glass, 330

Or like an overcharged gun, recoil,

And turn the force of them upon thyself.

Suf. You bade me ban, and will you bid me leave?

Now, by the ground that I am banish'd from,

Well could I curse away a winter's night, 335

Queen. O, let me entreat thee cease. Give me thy hand,
That I may dew it with my mournful tears; 340
Nor let the rain of heaven wet this place,
To wash away my woful monuments.

O, could this kiss be printed in thy hand,
That thou mightst think upon these by the seal,
Through whom a thousand sighs are breathed for thee! 345

So, get thee gone, that I may know my grief;
'Tis but surmised whiles thou art standing by,
As one that surfeits thinking on a want.
I will repeal thee, or, be well assured,
Adventure to be banished myself: 350
And banished I am, if but from thee.

Go; speak not to me; even now be gone.
O, go not yet! Even thus two friends condemn'd
Embrace and kiss and take ten thousand leaves,
Loather a hundred times to part than die.
Yet now farewell; and farewell life with thee! 355

Suf. Thus is poor Suffolk ten times banished;
Once by the king, and three times thrice by thee.
'Tis not the land I care for, wert thou thence;
A wilderness is populous enough, 360
So Suffolk had thy heavenly company:
For where thou art, there is the world itself,
With every several pleasure in the world,
And where thou art not, desolation.

I can no more: live thou to joy thy life; 365
Myself no joy in nought but that thou livest.

Vaux. To signify unto his majesty
 That Cardinal Beaufort is at point of death;
 For suddenly a grievous sickness took him, 370
 That makes him gasp and stare and catch the air,
 Blaspheming God and cursing men on earth.
 Sometime he talks as if Duke Humphrey's ghost
 Were by his side; sometime he calls the king
 And whispers to his pillow as to him 375
 The secrets of his overcharged soul:
 And I am sent to tell his majesty
 That even now he cries aloud for him.

Queen. Go tell this heavy message to the king.

[Exit Vaux.]

Ay me! what is this world! what news are these! 380
 But wherefore grieve I at an hour's poor loss,
 Omitting Suffolk's exile, my soul's treasure?
 Why only, Suffolk, mourn I not for thee,
 And with the southern clouds contend in tears,
 Theirs for the earth's increase, mine for my sorrows? 385
 Now get thee hence: the king, thou know'st, is coming;
 If thou be found by me, thou art but dead.

Suf. If I depart from thee, I cannot live;
 And in thy sight to die, what were it else
 But like a pleasant slumber in thy lap? 390
 Here could I breathe my soul into the air,
 As mild and gentle as the cradle-babe
 Dying with mother's dug between its lips:
 Where, from thy sight, I should be raging mad
 And cry out for thee to close up mine eyes, 395
 To have thee with thy lips to stop my mouth;
 So shouldst thou either turn my flying soul,
 Or I should breathe it so into thy body,
 And then it lived in sweet Elysium.

SCENE I. The coast of Kent.

Alarum. Fight at sea. Ordnance goes off. Enter a Captain, a Master, a Master's-Mate, WALTER WHITMORE, and others; with them SUFFOLK, and others, prisoners.

Cap. The gaudy, blabbing and remorseful day
Is crept into the bosom of the sea;
And now loud-howling wolves arouse the jades
That drag the tragic melancholy night;
Who, with their drowsy, slow and flagging wings, 5
Clip dead men's graves and from their misty jaws
Breathe foul contagious darkness in the air.
Therefore bring forth the soldiers of our prize;
For, whilst our pinnace anchors in the Downs,
Here shall they make their ransom on the sand, 10
Or with their blood stain this discoloured shore.
Master, this prisoner freely give I thee;
And thou that art his mate, make boot of this;
The other, Walter Whitmore, is thy share.
First Gent. What is my ransom, master? let me know. 15
Mast. A thousand crowns, or else lay down your head.

Re-enter WHITMORE with SUFFOLK'S body.

Whit. There let his head and lifeless body lie,
Until the queen his mistress bury it. [Exit.]

First Gent. O barbarous and bloody spectacle!
His body will I bear unto the king:
If he revenge it not, yet will his friends;
So will the queen, that living held him dear.

SCENE II. Blackheath.

Enter GEORGE BEVIS and JOHN HOLLAND.

Bevis. Come, and get thee a sword, though made of a lath: they have been up these two days.

Holl. They have the more need to sleep now, then.

Bevis. I tell thee, Jack Cade the clothier means to dress the commonwealth, and turn it, and set a new nap upon it.

Holl. So he had need, for 'tis threadbare. Well, I say it was never merry world in England since gentlemen came up.

Holl. True; and yet it is said, labour in thy vocation; which is as much to say as, let the magistrates be labouring men; and therefore should we be magistrates. 15

Bevis. Thou hast hit it; for there's no better sign of a brave mind than a hard hand.

Holl. I see them! I see them! There's Best's son, the tanner of Wingham,— 20

Bevis. He shall have the skin of our enemies, to make dog's-leather of.

Holl. And Dick the butcher,—

Bevis. Then is sin struck down like an ox, and iniquity's throat cut like a calf. 25

Smith. [Aside] But now of late, not able to travel with her furred pack, she washes bucks here at home. 45

Cade. Therefore am I of an honourable house.

Dick. [Aside] Ay, by my faith, the field is honourable ; and there was he born, under a hedge, for his father had never a house but the cage.

Cade. Valiant I am. 50

Smith. [Aside] A' must needs ; for beggary is valiant.

Cade. I am able to endure much.

Dick. [Aside] No question of that ; for I have seen him whipped three market-days together.

Cade. I fear neither sword nor fire. 55

Smith. [Aside] He need not fear the sword ; for his coat is of proof.

Dick. [Aside] But methinks he should stand in fear of fire, being burnt i' the hand for stealing of sheep.

Cade. Be brave, then ; for your captain is brave, and vows reformation. There shall be in England seven half-penny loaves sold for a penny : the three-hooped pot shall have ten hoops ; and I will make it felony to drink small beer : all the realm shall be in common ; and in Cheapside shall my palfry go to grass : and when I am king, as king I will be,— 60 65

Cade. Let me alone. Dost thou use to write thy name? or hast thou a mark to thyself, like an honest plain-dealing man? 95

Clerk. Sir, I thank God, I have been so well brought up that I can write my name.

Think therefore on revenge and cease to weep.
But who can cease to weep and look on this?
Here may his head lie on my throbbing breast: 5
But where's the body that I should embrace?

Buck. What answer makes your grace to the rebels' supplication?

King. I'll send some holy bishop to entreat;
For God forbid so many simple souls 10
Should perish by the sword! And I myself,
Rather than bloody war shall cut them short,
Will parley with Jack Cade their general:
But stay, I'll read it over once again.

Queen. Ah, barbarous villains! hath this lovely face 15
Ruled, like a wandering planet, over me,
And could it not enforce them to relent,
That were unworthy to behold the same?

King. Lord Say, Jack Cade hath sworn to have thy head.

Say. Ay, but I hope your highness shall have his. 20

Mess. The rebels are in Southwark; fly, my lord!

Jack Cade proclaims himself Lord Mortimer,
Descended from the Duke of Clarence' house,
And calls your grace usurper openly
And vows to crown himself in Westminster.
His army is a ragged multitude

30

Of hinds and peasants, rude and merciless:
Sir Humphrey Stafford and his brother's death
Hath given them heart and courage to proceed:

35

All scholars, lawyers, courtiers, gentlemen,
They call false caterpillars and intend their death.

King. O graceless men! they know not what they do.

Buck. My gracious lord, retire to Killingworth,
Until a power be raised to put them down.

These Kentish rebels would be soon appeased!

King. Lord Say, the traitors hate thee;
Therefore away with us to Killingworth.

Say. So might your grace's person be in danger.
The sight of me is odious in their eyes;
And therefore in this city will I stay within point-blank of our jurisdiction regal. What canst thou answer to my majesty for giving up of Normandy unto Mounsieur Basimecu, the dauphin of France? Be it known unto thee by these presence, even the presence of Lord Mortimer, that I am the besom that must sweep the court clean of such filth as thou art. Thou hast most traitorously corrupted the youth of the realm in erecting a grammar school: and whereas, before, our forefathers had no other books but the score and the tally, thou hast caused printing to be used, and, contrary to the king, his crown and dignity, thou hast built a paper-mill. It will be proved to thy face that thou hast men about thee that usually talk of a noun and a verb, and such abominable words as no Christian ear can endure to hear. Thou hast appointed justices of peace, to call poor men before them about matters they were not able to answer. Moreover, thou hast put them in prison; and because they could not read, thou hast hanged them; when, indeed, only for that cause they have been most worthy to live. Thou dost ride in a foot-cloth, dost thou not?

Say. What of that?

Cade. Marry, thou oughtest not to let thy horse wear a cloak, when honest men than thou go in their hose and doublets.

Dick. And work in their shirt too; as myself, for example, that am a butcher.

Say. You men of Kent,—

Dick. What say you of Kent?

Say. Nothing but this; 'tis 'bona terra, mala gens.'

Cade. Away with him, away with him! he speaks Latin.

Say. Hear me but speak, and bear me where you will.

Kent, in the Commentaries Cæsar writ,
Is term'd the civil'st place of all this isle:
Sweet is the country, because full of riches;

 I sold not Maine, I lost not Normandy,
 Yet, to recover them, would lose my life.
 Justice with favour have I always done;
 Prayers and tears have moved me, gifts could never. 60
 When have I aught exacted at your hands,
 But to maintain the king, the realm and you?
 Large gifts have I bestow'd on learned clerks,
 Because my book prefer'd me to the king,
 And seeing ignorance is the curse of God, 65

 Unless you be possess'd with devilish spirits,
 You cannot but forbear to murder me:

Say. These cheeks are pale for watching for your good. 75

Say. Tell me wherein have I offended most? Have I affected wealth or honour? speak. Are my chests fill'd up with extorted gold? Is my apparel sumptuous to behold? 90 Whom have I injured, that ye seek my death? These hands are free from guiltless blood-shedding, This breast from harbouring foul deceitful thoughts. O, let me live!

Cade. [Aside] I feel remorse in myself with his words; but I'll bridle it: he shall die, an it be but for pleading so well for his life. Away with him! he has a familiar under his tongue; he speaks not o' God's name. Who loves the king and will embrace his pardon,
Fling up his cap, and say 'God save his majesty!'
Who hateth him and honours not his father, 15
Henry the fifth, that made all France to quake,
Shake he his weapon at us and pass by.

All. God save the king! God save the king!

Cade. What, Buckingham and Clifford, are ye so brave?
And you, base peasants, do ye believe him? will you needs 20 be hanged with your pardons about your necks? Hath my sword therefore broke through London gates, that you should leave me at the White Hart in Southwark? I thought ye would never have given out these arms till you had recovered your ancient freedom: but you are all re- 25 nobility. Let them break your backs with burthens, take your houses over your heads, ravish your wives and daugh-

and so, God's curse light upon you all! 30

All. We'll follow Cade, we'll follow Cade!

Clif. Is Cade the son of Henry the Fifth,
That thus you do exclaim you'll go with him?
Will he conduct you through the heart of France,
And make the meanest of you earls and dukes? 35
Alas, he hath no home, no place to fly to;
Nor knows he how to live but by the spoil,
Unless by robbing of your friends and us.
Were't not a shame, that whilst you live at jar,
The fearful French, whom you late vanquished, 40

 I see them lording it in London streets,
 Crying 'Villiago!' unto all they meet.
 Better ten thousand base-born Cades miscarry 45
 Than you should stoop unto a Frenchman's mercy.
 To France, to France, and get what you have lost;
 Spare England, for it is your native coast:
 Henry hath money, you are strong and manly;
 God on our side, doubt not of victory. 50

All. A Clifford! a Clifford! we'll follow the king and Clifford.

Cade. Was ever feather so lightly blown to and fro as this multitude? The name of Henry the Fifth hailes them to an hundred mischiefs and makes them leave me desolate. 55
 I see them lay their heads together to surprise me. My sword make way for me, for here is no staying. In despite of the devils and hell, have through the very middest of you! and heavens and honour be witness that no want of resolution in me, but only my followers' base and ignomi- 60 nious treasons, makes me betake me to my heels. [Exit.]

Buck. What, is he fled? Go some, and follow him;
 And he that brings his head unto the king
 Shall have a thousand crowns for his reward.

But now is Cade driven back, his men dispersed;
And now is York in arms to second him. 35
I pray thee, Buckingham, go and meet him,

These five days have I hid me in these woods and durst not peep out, for all the country is laid for me ; but now am I so hungry that if I might have a lease of my life for a thousand years I could stay no longer. Wherefore, on a brick wall have I climbed into this garden, to see if I can eat grass, or pick a sallet another while, which is not amiss to cool a man's stomach this hot weather. And I think this word 'sallet' was born to do me good : for many a time, but for a sallet, my brain-pan had been cleft with a brown bill ; and many a time, when I have been dry and bravely marching, it hath served me instead of a quart pot to drink in ; and now the word 'sallet' must serve me to feed on.

ACT V.

SCENE I. Fields between Dartford and Blackheath.

Enter YORK, and his army of Irish, with drum and colours.

York. From Ireland thus comes York to claim his right,
 And pluck the crown from feeble Henry's head:
 Ring, bells, aloud; burn, bonfires, clear and bright,
 To entertain great England's lawful king.
 Ah! sancta majestas, who would not buy thee dear?
 Let them obey that know not how to rule;
 This hand was made to handle nought but gold.
 I cannot give due action to my words,
 Except a sword or sceptre balance it:
 A sceptre shall it have, have I a soul,
 On which I'll toss the flower-de-luce of France.

Buck. York, if thou meanest well, I greet thee well.

York. Humphrey of Buckingham, I accept thy greeting. 15
Art thou a messenger, or come of pleasure?

Buck. A messenger from Henry, our dread liege,
To know the reason of these arms in peace;
Or why thou, being a subject as I am,
Against thy oath and true allegiance sworn, 20
Should raise so great a power without his leave,
Or dare to bring thy force so near the court.

York. [Aside] Scarce can I speak, my choler is so great:

O, I could hew up rocks and fight with flint,
I am so angry at these abject terms; 25
And now, like Ajax Telamonius,
On sheep or oxen could I spend my fury.
I am far better born than is the king,
More like a king, more kingly in my thoughts:
But I must make fair weather yet a while, 30
Till Henry be more weak and I more strong.—
Buckingham, I prithee, pardon me,
That I have given no answer all this while;
My mind was troubled with deep melancholy.
The cause why I have brought this army hither 35
Is to remove proud Somerset from the king,
Seditious to his grace and to the state.

Buck. That is too much presumption on thy part:
But if thy arms be to no other end,
The king hath yielded unto thy demand: 40
The Duke of Somerset is in the Tower.

York. Upon thine honour, is he prisoner?

Buck. Upon mine honour, he is prisoner.

 And let my sovereign, virtuous Henry,
 Command my eldest son, nay, all my sons,
 As pledges of my fealty and love; 50
 I'll send them all as willing as I live:
 Lands, goods, horse, armour, any thing I have,
 Is his to use, so Somerset may die.
Buck. York, I commend this kind submission:
 We twain will go into his highness' tent. 55

Enter KING and Attendants.

King. Buckingham, doth York intend no harm to us,
 That thus he marcheth with thee arm in arm?
York. In all submission and humility
 York doth present himself unto your highness.
King. Then what intends these forces thou dost bring? 60
York. To heave the traitor Somerset from hence,
 And fight against that monstrous rebel Cade,
 Who since I heard to be discomfited.

Enter IDEN, with CADE'S head.

Iden. If one so rude and of so mean condition
 May pass into the presence of a king, 65
 Lo, I present your grace a traitor's head,
 The head of Cade, whom I in combat slew.
King. The head of Cade! Great God, how just art Thou!

Then, York, unloose thy long-imprison'd thoughts,

And let thy tongue be equal with thy heart.

Shall I endure the sight of Somerset?

Nay, do not fright us with an angry look:

We are thy sovereign, Clifford, kneel again;

For thy mistaking so, we pardon thee.

Clif. This is my king, York, I do not mistake;

But thou mistakest me much to think I do:

130

To Bedlam with him! is the man grown mad?

King. Ay, Clifford; a bedlam and ambitious humour
Makes him oppose himself against his king.

Clif. He is a traitor; let him to the Tower,

And chop away that factious pate of his.

Rich. And if words will not, then our weapons shall.

Clif. Why, what a brood of traitors have we here!

York. Look in a glass, and call thy image so:
I am thy king, and thou a false-heart traitor.

Rich. Oft have I seen a hot o'erweening cur
Run back and bite, because he was withheld;
Who, being suffer'd with the bear's fell paw,
Hath clapp'd his tail between his legs and cried:
And such a piece of service will you do, 155
If you oppose yourselves to match Lord Warwick.

As crooked in thy manners as thy shape!

York. Nay, we shall heat you thoroughly anon.

Clif. Take heed, lest by your heat you burn yourselves. 160

King. Why, Warwick, hath thy knee forgot to bow?
Old Salisbury, shame to thy silver hair,
Thou mad misleader of thy brain-sick son!
What, wilt thou on thy death-bed play the ruffian,
And seek for sorrow with thy spectacles? 165
O, where is faith? O, where is loyalty?

If it be banish'd from the frosty head,
Where shall it find a harbour in the earth?
Wilt thou go dig a grave to find out war,
And shame thine honourable age with blood? 170
Why art thou old, and want'st experience?
Or wherefore dost abuse it, if thou hast it?

Alarum. Retreat. Enter YORK, RICHARD, WARWICK, and Soldiers, with drum and colours.

York. Of Salisbury, who can report of him,
That winter lion, who in rage forgets
Aged contusions and all brush of time,
And, like a gallant in the brow of youth,
Repairs him with occasion? This happy day 5
Is not itself, nor have we won one foot,
If Salisbury be lost.

Rich. My noble father,
Three times to-day I help him to his horse,
Three times bestrid him; thrice I led him off,
Persuaded him from any further act: 10
But still, where danger was, still there I met him;
And like rich hangings in a homely house,
So was his will in his old feeble body.
But, noble as he is, look where he comes.

Enter SALISBURY.

Sal. Now, by my sword, well hast thou fought to-day; 15
By the mass, so did we all. I thank you, Richard:
God knows how long it is I have to live;
And it hath pleased him that three times to-day
You have defended me from imminent death.

War. After them ! nay, before them, if we can.

NOTES.

NOTE I.

I. 1. 62. This passage, which is printed as prose in the Quartos, is arranged and read by Capell thus :

'And girt thee with the sword.—
Cousin of York, we here discharge your grace
From being regent in the parts of France,
'Till term of eighteen months be full expir'd.—
Thanks, uncle Winchester, Gloster, York, and Buckingham,
Somerset, Salisbury, and Warwick, thanks :
We thank you, &c.'

NOTE II.

I. 3. 208. Theobald inserts here two lines from the old play :

'K. Hen. Then be it so : My Lord of Somerset,
We make your Grace Regent over the French.'

We have omitted them, agreeing with Capell, Malone, Mr Knight, Mr Collier, and Mr Grant White, that their insertion is not absolutely necessary. Besides Shakespeare would hardly have left so lame a line as the second unaltered. It is possible that some such line as the following may have dropped out :

'King. Then be it so : this is King Henry's doom.'

NOTE III.

I. 4. At the commencement of this scene Rowe, and Pope in his first edition, inserted the stage direction 'Flourish' which belongs to the end of the previous scene. Pope, in his second edition, omitted it altogether, and Theobald restored it to its right place.

NOTE IV.

II. 1. 84. Having recorded up to this point throughout the scene all the cases in which the arrangement of the lines in the Folios is defective, we have thought it unnecessary to do so any more, except where there is any doubt as to what the true arrangement should be. The restoration of the metre is, in almost all instances, due to Pope.

NOTE V.

II. 1. 125—132. In the first Folio this passage stands as follows :

‘Then Saunder, sit there,
The lying’st Knave in Christendome.
If thou hadst beene borne blind,
Thou might’st as well haue knowne all our Names,
As thus to name the seuerall Colours we doe weare.
Sight may distinguish of Colours :
But suddenly to nominate them all,
It is impossible.
My Lords, Saint Albone here hath done a Miracle :
And would ye not thinke it, Cunning to be great,
That could restore this Cripple to his Legges againe.’

Pope alters the first four lines thus :

‘Saunder, sit there, the lying’st knave in christendom.
If thou hadst been born blind,
Thou might’st as well know all our names, as thus
To know the several colours we do wear.’

The following is Hanmer’s reading of the first six lines :

‘Then, Saunder, sit thou there, the lying’st knave
In christendom. If thou hadst been born blind,
Thou might’st as well know all our names, as thus
To know the several colours we do wear.
Sight may distinguish colours : true, but suddenly
To nominate them all, it is impossible.’

In the rest of the scene several arbitrary changes have been made by different editors for the sake of the metre.

NOTE VI.

II. 2. 45, 46. The first Folio has the whole passage thus :

‘His eldest Sister, Anne,
My Mother being Heire vnto the Crowne,

Marryed Richard, Earle of Cambridge,
 Who was to Edmond Langley,
Edward the thirds fift Sonnes Sonne ;
 By her I clayme the Kingdome :
 She was Heire to Roger, Earle of March,
 Who was the Sonne of Edmond Mortimer
 Who marryed Phillip, sole Daughter
 Vnto Lionel, Duke of Clarence.'

The later Folios follow the first, except that in the seventh line they read 'She then was' for 'She was.'

Rowe read, 'Who was son to Edmond Langley,' but made no other change ; and Pope followed him.

Theobald read :

'Who was the son to Edmond Langley,
 Edward the Third's fifth son.'— and arranged the following lines as they are found in our text.

Hanner :

'Who was the son of Edmund Langley,
 Edward the Third's fifth son's son, and by her
 I claim the kingdom, for she then was heir
 To Roger &c.'

It was Capell who arranged the earlier lines of the speech as we have given them. Steevens, as usual, adopted his arrangement without acknowledging the obligation.

Mr Collier, in his first edition, read :

'Married Richard Earl of Cambridge ; who was
 To Edmond Langley Edward the third's fifth son, son.'

NOTE VII.

III. 1. We retain here Salisbury and Warwick among the persons who enter to the parliament, because they are found both in the Folios and Quartos. In the latter their 'exeunt' is also marked. Capell was the first to omit them because they do not speak throughout the scene.

NOTE VIII.

III. 2. II. The murderer's answer 'T<sup>is</sup>, which Rowe changed to V<sup>as</sup> without authority, shows that we ought to retain the I<sup>s</sup> of the first Folio notwithstanding the grammatical inaccuracy. In the Quartos the murderer says, 'All things is handsome now my Lord.'

NOTE IX.

III. 2. 26. We have left 'Nell' in the text as the mistake is, in all probability, Shakespeare's own. He was thinking of the Duchess of Gloucester. Oddly enough neither Rowe nor Pope discovered the blunder. Shakespeare again wrote 'Eliador' or 'Elinor' for 'Margaret' in the 79th, the 100th, and 120th lines of this scene. In Henry V. v. 1. the author has made a similar mistake and written 'Doll' for 'Nell.' See also note VII on The Two Gentlemen of Verona.

NOTE X.

III. 2. 182. This is a striking example of the way in which corrections were made in the successive Folios; z.e. by mere guess-work, without reference to the first. The true reading escaped the notice of all editors before Capell.

NOTE XI.

IV. 10. 14. By comparing this scene as it stands in the Quartos with that of the Folios it will appear that Shakespeare, in remodelling it, intended that Iden should be alone when he encountered Cade, as his first speech is evidently a soliloquy; and after he has killed Cade he disposes of the body with his own hands. Shakespeare omitted, however, to strike out the reference to the 'five men' in line 36.

Steevens who brought the servants on the stage forgot to send them off it. The mistake remained uncorrected down to Mr Dyce's first edition.

Another example of Shakespeare's incomplete alteration of the Quarto has been pointed out by Malone at v. 1. 56.

NOTE XII.

v. 2. 66. Malone, referring to the corresponding passage of the Quartos, supposes that a line has been omitted, to the following effect:

'Behold, the prophecy is come to pass;
For, &c.'

KING HENRY VI.

ACT I.

SCENE I. London. The Parliament-house.

Alarum. Enter the DUKE OF YORK, EDWARD, RICHARD, NORFOLK, MONTAGUE, WARWICK, and Soldiers.

War. I wonder how the king escaped our hands.

York. While we pursued the horsemen of the north,
He slyly stole away and left his men :
Whereat the great Lord of Northumberland,
Whose warlike ears could never brook retreat, 5
Cheer'd up the drooping army; and himself,
Lord Clifford and Lord Stafford, all a-breast,
Charged our main battle's front, and breaking in
Were by the swords of common soldiers slain.

Edw. Lord Stafford's father, Duke of Buckingham, 10
Is either slain or wounded dangerously ;
I cleft his beaver with a downright blow :
That this is true, father, behold his blood.

Rich. Thus do I hope to shake King Henry's head. 20

War. And so do I. Victorious Prince of York,
Before I see thee seated in that throne
Which now the house of Lancaster usurps,
I vow by heaven these eyes shall never close.
This is the palace of the fearful king, 25
And this the regal seat: possess it, York;
For this is thine and not King Henry's heirs'.

York. Assist me, then, sweet Warwick, and I will;
For hither we have broken in by force.

Norf. We'll all assist you; he that flies shall die. 30

York. Thanks, gentle Norfolk: stay by me, my lords;
And, soldiers, stay and lodge by me this night. [They go up.]

War. And when the king comes, offer him no violence,
Unless he seek to thrust you out perforce.

No: first shall war unpeople this my realm;
Ay, and their colours, often borne in France,
And now in England to our heart's great sorrow,
Shall be my winding-sheet. Why faint you, lords?
My title's good, and better far than his. 130

War. Prove it, Henry, and thou shalt be king.

K. Hen. Henry the Fourth by conquest got the crown.

York. 'Twas by rebellion against his king.

K. Hen. [Aside] I know not what to say; my title's weak.
Tell me, may not a king adopt an heir? 135

York. What then?

K. Hen. An if he may, then am I lawful king;
For Richard, in the view of many lords,
Resign'd the crown to Henry the Fourth,
Whose heir my father was, and I am his. 140

York. He rose against him, being his sovereign,
And made him to resign his crown perforce.

War. Suppose, my lords, he did it unconstrain'd,
Think you 'twere prejudicial to his crown?

Exe. No; for he could not so resign his crown 145
But that the next heir should succeed and reign.

K. Hen. Art thou against us, Duke of Exeter?

Exe. His is the right, and therefore pardon me.

York. Why whisper you, my lords, and answer not?

And over the chair of state, where now he sits,
Write up his title with usurping blood.

[He stamps with his foot, and the Soldiers show themselves.]

K. Hen. My Lord of Warwick, hear me but one word: 170
Let me for this my life-time reign as king.

York. Confirm the crown to me and to mine heirs,
And thou shalt reign in quiet while thou livest.

King. I am content: Richard Plantagenet,
Enjoy the kingdom after my decease. 175

Clif. What wrong is this unto the prince your son!

War. What good is this to England and himself!

West. Base, fearful and despairing Henry!

Clif. How hast thou injured both thyself and us!

West. I cannot stay to hear these articles. 180

North. Nor I.

Clif. Come, cousin, let us tell the queen these news.

West. Farewell, faint-hearted and degenerate king,
In whose cold blood no spark of honour bides.

North. Be thou a prey unto the house of York, 185
And die in bands for this unmanly deed!

K. Hen. Ah, Exeter!

War. Why should you sigh, my lord?

K. Hen. Not for myself, Lord Warwick, but my son,
Whom I unnaturally shall disinherit.

But be it as it may: I here entail

The crown to thee and to thine heirs for ever; 195

Conditionally, that here thou take an oath

To cease this civil war, and, whilst I live,

To honour me as thy king and sovereign,

And neither by treason nor hostility

To seek to put me down and reign thyself. 200

York. This oath I willingly take and will perform.

War. Long live King Henry! Plantagenet, embrace him.

K. Hen. And long live thou and these thy forward sons!

York. Now York and Lancaster are reconciled.

K. Hen. Be patient, gentle queen, and I will stay.

Q. Mar. Who can be patient in such extremes? 215

Ah, wretched man! would I had died a maid,

And never seen thee, never borne thee son,

Seeing thou hast proved so unnatural a father!

Hath he deserved to lose his birthright thus?

Hadst thou but loved him half so well as I, 220

Or felt that pain which I did for him once,

Or nourish'd him as I did with my blood,

Thou wouldst have left thy dearest heart-blood there,

Rather than have made that savage duke thine heir

And disinherited thine only son. 225

Prince. Father, you cannot disinherit me:

If you be king, why should not I succeed?

K. Hen. Pardon me, Margaret; pardon me, sweet son:
The Earl of Warwick and the duke enforced me.

Q. Mar. Enforced thee! art thou king, and wilt be forced? 230

I shame to hear thee speak. Ah, timorous wretch!

Thou hast undone thyself, thy son and me;

And given unto the house of York such head

As thou shalt reign but by their sufferance.

To entail him and his heirs unto the crown, 235

What is it, but to make thy sepulchre

And creep into it far before thy time?

York. Why, how now, sons and brother! at a strife?

Rich. About that which concerns your grace and us;
The crown of England, father, which is yours.

York. Mine, boy? not till King Henry be dead. 10

Rich. Your right depends not on his life or death.

Edw. Now you are heir, therefore enjoy it now:
By giving the house of Lancaster leave to breathe,
It will outrun you, father, in the end.

York. I took an oath that he should quietly reign. 15

Edw. But for a kingdom any oath may be broken:
I would break a thousand oaths to reign one year.

Rich. No; God forbid your grace should be forsworn.

SCENE IV. Another part of the field.

Alarum. Enter RICHARD, Duke of York.

York. The army of the queen hath got the field:
 My uncles both are slain in rescuing me;
 And all my followers to the eager foe
 Turn back and fly, like ships before the wind
 Or lambs pursued by hunger-starved wolves. 5
 My sons, God knows what hath bechanced them:
 But this I know, they have demean'd themselves
 Like men born to renown by life or death.
 Three times did Richard make a lane to me,
 And thrice cried 'Courage, father! fight it out!' 10
 And full as oft came Edward to my side,
 With purple falchion, painted to the hilt
 In blood of those that had encounter'd him:
 And when the hardiest warriors did retire,
 Richard cried, 'Charge! and give no foot of ground!' 15
 And cried, 'A crown, or else a glorious tomb!
 A sceptre, or an earthly sepulchre!'
 With this, we charged again: but, out, alas!
 We bodged again; as I have seen a swan
 With bootless labour swim against the tide 20
 And spend her strength with over-matching waves.

[A short alarum within.

North. Yield to our mercy, proud Plantagenet. 30

Clif. Ay, to such mercy as his ruthless arm,

Now Phaëthon hath tumbled from his car,
And made an evening at the noontide prick.

A bird that will revenge upon you all: 35

Scorning whate'er you can afflict me with.

So desperate thieves, all hopeless of their lives,
Breathe out invectives 'gainst the officers. 40

York. O Clifford, but bethink thee once again,
And in thy thought o'er-run my former time;
And, if thou canst for blushing, view this face,
And bite thy tongue, that slanders him with cowardice
Whose frown hath made thee faint and fly ere this! 45

But buckle with thee blows, twice two for one. 50

Or, with the rest, where is your darling Rutland?

That not a tear can fall for Rutland's death?
 Why art thou patient, man? thou shouldst be mad;
 And I, to make thee mad, do mock thee thus. 90
 Stamp, rave, and fret, that I may sing and dance.
 Thou wouldst be fee'd, I see, to make me sport:
 York cannot speak, unless he wear a crown.
 A crown for York! and, lords, bow low to him:
 Hold you his hands, whilst I do set it on. 95

[Putting a paper crown on his head.]

Ay, marry, sir, now looks he like a king!
 Ay, this is he that took King Henry's chair;
 And this is he was his adopted heir.
 But how is it that great Plantagenet
 Is crown'd so soon, and broke his solemn oath? 100
 As I bethink me, you should not be king
 Till our King Henry had shook hands with death.
 And will you pale your head in Henry's glory,
 And rob his temples of the diadem,
 Now in his life, against your holy oath? 105
 O, 'tis a fault too too unpardonable!
 Off with the crown; and, with the crown, his head;
 And, whilst we breathe, take time to do him dead.

Clif. That is my office, for my father's sake.

Q. Mar. Nay, stay; let's hear the orisons he makes. 110

York. She-wolf of France, but worse than wolves of France,

Whose tongue more poisons than the adder's tooth!
 How ill-beseeming is it in thy sex
 To triumph, like an Amazonian trull,
 Upon their woes whom fortune captivates! 115
 But that thy face is, visard-like, unchanging,
 Made impudent with use of evil deeds,
 I would assay, proud queen, to make thee blush.

To tell thee whence thou camest, of whom derived,
 Were shame enough to shame thee, wert thou not shameless. 120
 Thy father bears the type of King of Naples,
 Of both the Sicils and Jerusalem,
 Yet not so wealthy as an English yeoman.
 Hath that poor monarch taught thee to insult?
 It needs not, nor it boots thee not, proud queen, 125
 Unless the adage must be verified,
 That beggars mounted run their horse to death.
 'Tis beauty that doth oft make women proud;
 But, God he knows, thy share thereof is small:
 'Tis virtue that doth make them most admired; 130
 The contrary doth make thee wonder'd at:
 'Tis government that makes them seem divine;
 The want thereof makes thee abominable:
 Thou art as opposite to every good
 As the Antipodes are unto us, 135
 Or as the south to the septentrion.
 O tiger's heart wrapp'd in a woman's hide!
 How couldst thou drain the life-blood of the child,
 To bid the father wipe his eyes withal,
 And yet be seen to bear a woman's face? 140
 Women are soft, mild, pitiful and flexible;
 Thou stern, obdurate, flinty, rough, remorseless.
 Bid'st thou me rage? why, now thou hast thy wish:
 Wouldst have me weep? why, now thou hast thy will:
 For raging wind blows up incessant showers, 145
 And when the rage allays, the rain begins.
 These tears are my sweet Rutland's obsequies:
 And every drop cries vengeance for his death,
 'Gainst thee, fell Clifford, and thee, false Frenchwoman.
North. Beshrew me, but his passion moves me so 150
 That hardly can I check my eyes from tears.

 See, ruthless queen, a hapless father's tears:

 And I with tears do wash the blood away.
 Keep thou the napkin, and go boast of this:
 And if thou tell'st the heavy story right, 160

SCENE I. A plain near Mortimer's Cross in Herefordshire.

A march. Enter EDWARD, RICHARD, and their power.

Edw. I wonder how our princely father 'scaped,
 Or whether he be 'scaped away or no
 From Clifford's and Northumberland's pursuit:
 Had he been ta'en, we should have heard the news;
 Had he been slain, we should have heard the news; 5
 Or had he 'scaped, methinks we should have heard
 The happy tidings of his good escape.
 How fares my brother? why is he so sad?

Rich. I cannot joy, until I be resolved
 Where our right valiant father is become. 10
 I saw him in the battle range about;
 And watch'd him how he singled Clifford forth.
 Methought he bore him in the thickest troop
 As doth a lion in a herd of neat;
 Or as a bear, encompass'd round with dogs, 15
 Who having pinch'd a few and made them cry,
 The rest stand all aloof, and bark at him.
 So fared our father with his enemies;
 So fled his enemies my warlike father:
 Methinks, 'tis prize enough to be his son. 20

Edw. Dazzle mine eyes, or do I see three suns? 25

Rich. Three glorious suns, each one a perfect sun;
 Not separated with the racking clouds,
 But sever'd in a pale clear-shining sky.
 See, see! they join, embrace, and seem to kiss,
 As if they vow'd some league inviolable: 30
 Now are they but one lamp, one light, one sun.
 In this the heaven figures some event.

Edw. 'Tis wondrous strange, the like yet never heard of.
 I think it cites us, brother, to the field,
 That we, the sons of brave Plantagenet, 35
 Each one already blazing by our meeds,
 Should notwithstanding join our lights together
 And over-shine the earth as this the world.
 Whate'er it bodes, henceforward will I bear
 Upon my target three fair-shining suns. 40

 And stood against them, as the hope of Troy
 Against the Greeks that would have enter'd Troy.
 But Hercules himself must yield to odds;
 And many strokes, though with a little axe,
 Hew down and fell the hardest-timber'd oak. 55
 By many hands your father was subdued;
 But only slaughter'd by the ireful arm
 Of unrelenting Clifford and the queen,
 Who crown'd the gracious duke in high despite,
 Laugh'd in his face; and when with grief he wept, 60
 The ruthless queen gave him to dry his cheeks
 A napkin steeped in the harmless blood
 Of sweet young Rutland, by rough Clifford slain:
 And after many scorns, many foul taunts,
 They took his head, and on the gates of York 65
 They set the same; and there it doth remain,
 The saddest spectacle that e'er I view'd.

Edw. Sweet Duke of York, our prop to lean upon,
 Now thou art gone, we have no staff, no stay.
 O Clifford, boisterous Clifford! thou hast slain 70
 The flower of Europe for his chivalry;
 And treacherously hast thou vanquish'd him,
 For hand to hand he would have vanquish'd thee.
 Now my soul's palace is become a prison:
 Ah, would she break from hence, that this my body 75
 Might in the ground be closed up in rest!
 For never henceforth shall I joy again,
 Never, O never, shall I see more joy!

Rich. I cannot weep; for all my body's moisture
 Scarce serves to quench my furnace-burning heart: 80
 Nor can my tongue unload my heart's great burthen;

 abroad? 95

Rich. Great Lord of Warwick, if we should recount
 Our baleful news, and at each word's deliverance
 Stab poniards in our flesh till all were told,
 The words would add more anguish than the wounds.
 O valiant lord, the Duke of York is slain! 100

Edw. O Warwick, Warwick! that Plantagenet,
 Which held thee dearly as his soul's redemption,
 Is by the stern Lord Clifford done to death.

War. Ten days ago I drown'd these news in tears;
 And now, to add more measure to your woes, 105
 I come to tell you things sith then befall'n.

I, then in London, keeper of the king,
 Muster'd my soldiers, gather'd flocks of friends,
 And very well appointed, as I thought,
 March'd toward Saint Alban's to intercept the queen,
 Bearing the king in my behalf along; 115
 For by my scouts I was advertised
 That she was coming with a full intent
 To dash our late decree in parliament
 Touching King Henry's oath and your succession.
 Short tale to make, we at Saint Alban's met, 120
 Our battles join'd, and both sides fiercely fought:
 But whether 'twas the coldness of the king,
 Who look'd full gently on his warlike queen,
 That robb'd my soldiers of their heated spleen;
 Or whether 'twas report of her success; 125
 Or more than common fear of Clifford's rigour,
 Who thunders to his captives blood and death,
 I cannot judge: but, to conclude with truth,
 Their weapons like to lightning came and went;
 Our soldiers', like the night-owl's lazy flight, 130
 Or like an idle thresher with a flail,
 Fell gently down, as if they struck their friends.
 I cheer'd them up with justice of our cause,
 With promise of high pay and great rewards:
 But all in vain; they had no heart to fight, 135
 And we in them no hope to win the day;
 So that we fled; the king unto the queen;
 Lord George your brother, Norfolk and myself,
 In haste, post-haste, are come to join with you;
 For in the marches here we heard you were, 140
 Making another head to fight again.

 And for your brother, he was lately sent 145

 With aid of soldiers to this needful war.

Rich. 'Twas odds, belike, when valiant Warwick fled:
 Oft have I heard his praises in pursuit,
 But ne'er till now his scandal of retire. 150

War. Nor now my scandal, Richard, dost thou hear;
 For thou shalt know this strong right hand of mine
 Can pluck the diadem from faint Henry's head,
 And wring the awful sceptre from his fist,
 Were he as famous and as bold in war 155
 As he is famed for mildness, peace, and prayer.

Rich. I know it well, Lord Warwick; blame me not:
 'Tis love I bear thy glories makes me speak.
 But in this troublous time what's to be done?
 Shall we go throw away our coats of steel, 160
 And wrap our bodies in black mourning gowns,
 Numbering our Ave-Maries with our beads?
 Or shall we on the helmets of our foes
 Tell our devotion with revengeful arms?
 If for the last, say ay, and to it, lords. 165

War. Why, therefore Warwick came to seek you out;
 And therefore comes my brother Montague.
 Attend me, lords. The proud insulting queen,
 With Clifford and the haught Northumberland,
 And of their feather many moe proud birds, 170
 Have wrought the easy-melting king like wax.
 He swore consent to your succession,
 His oath enrolled in the parliament;
 And now to London all the crew are gone,

The smallest worm will turn being trodden on,
 And doves will peck in safeguard of their brood.
 Ambitious York did level at thy crown,
 Thou smiling while he knit his angry brows: 20
 He, but a duke, would have his son a king,
 And raise his issue, like a loving sire;
 Thou, being a king, blest with a goodly son,
 Didst yield consent to disinherit him,
 Which argued thee a most unloving father. 25
 Unreasonable creatures feed their young;
 And though man's face be fearful to their eyes,
 Yet, in protection of their tender ones,
 Who hath not seen them, even with those wings
 Which sometime they have used with fearful flight, 30
 Make war with him that climb'd unto their nest,
 Offering their own lives in their young's defence?
 For shame, my liege, make them your precedent!
 Were it not pity that this goodly boy
 Should lose his birthright by his father's fault, 35
 And long hereafter say unto his child,
 'What my great-grandfather and grandsire got
 My careless father fondly gave away?'
 Ah, what a shame were this! Look on the boy;
 And let his manly face, which promiseth 40
 Successful fortune, steel thy melting heart
 To hold thine own and leave thine own with him.

K. Hen. Full well hath Clifford play'd the orator,
 Inferring arguments of mighty force.
 But, Clifford, tell me, didst thou never hear 45

And would my father had left me no more! 50
 For all the rest is held at such a rate
 As brings a thousand-fold more care to keep
 Than in possession any jot of pleasure.

Ah, cousin York! would thy best friends did know
 How it doth grieve me that thy head is here! 55

Q. Mar. My lord, cheer up your spirits: our foes are nigh,

And this soft courage makes your followers faint.
 You promised knighthood to our forward son:
 Unsheathe your sword, and dub him presently.
 Edward, kneel down. 60

K. Hen. Edward Plantagenet, arise a knight;
 And learn this lesson, draw thy sword in right.

Prince. My gracious father, by your kingly leave,
 I'll draw it as apparent to the crown,
 And in that quarrel use it to the death. 65

Clif. Why, that is spoken like a toward prince.

Enter a Messenger.

Mess. Royal commanders, be in readiness:
 For with a band of thirty thousand men
 Comes Warwick, backing of the Duke of York;
 And in the towns, as they do march along, 70
 Proclaims him king, and many fly to him:
 Darraign your battle, for they are at hand.

Clif. I would your highness would depart the field:
 The queen hath best success when you are absent.

Q. Mar. Ay, good my lord, and leave us to our fortune. 75

K. Hen. Why, that's my fortune too; therefore I'll stay.

North. Be it with resolution then to fight.

Prince. My royal father, cheer these noble lords
 And hearten those that fight in your defence:

Or bide the mortal fortune of the field?

Q. Mar. Go, rate thy minions, proud insulting boy!
Becomes it thee to be thus bold in terms 85
Before thy sovereign and thy lawful king?

Edw. I am his king, and he should bow his knee;
I was adopted heir by his consent:
Since when, his oath is broke; for, as I hear,
You, that are king, though he do wear the crown, 90
Have caused him, by new act of parliament,
To blot out me, and put his own son in.

Clif. And reason too:
Who should succeed the father but the son?

Rich. Are you there, butcher? O, I cannot speak! 95

Clif. Ay, crook-back, here I stand to answer thee,
Or any he the proudest of thy sort.

Rich. 'Twas you that kill'd young Rutland, was it not?

Clif. Ay, and old York, and yet not satisfied.

Rich. For God's sake, lords, give signal to the fight. 100

War. What say'st thou, Henry, wilt thou yield the crown?

Q. Mar. Why, how now, long-tongued Warwick! dare you speak?

When you and I met at Saint Alban's last,
Your legs did better service than your hands.

War. Then 'twas my turn to fly, and now 'tis thine. 105

Clif. You said so much before, and yet you fled.

War. 'Twas not your valour, Clifford, drove me thence.

Cannot be cured by words; therefore be still.

That ne'er shall dine unless thou yield the crown.

There is no wrong, but every thing is right.

Shamest thou not, knowing whence thou art extraught,
To let thy tongue detect thy base-born heart?

Edw. A wisp of straw were worth a thousand crowns,

To make this shameless callet know herself. 145

Helen of Greece was fairer far than thou,
Although thy husband may be Menelaus;
And ne'er was Agamemnon's brother wrong'd
By that false woman, as this king by thee.

His father revell'd in the heart of France, 150
And tamed the king, and made the dauphin stoop;

And had he match'd according to his state,
He might have kept that glory to this day;
But when he took a beggar to his bed,
And graced thy poor sire with his bridal-day, 155

Even then that sunshine brew'd a shower for him,
That wash'd his father's fortunes forth of France,
And heap'd sedition on his crown at home.

For what hath broach'd this tumult but thy pride?
Hadst thou been meek, our title still had slept; 160

And we, in pity of the gentle king,
Had slipp'd our claim until another age.

Geo. But when we saw our sunshine made thy spring,
And that thy summer bred us no increase, 165
We set the axe to thy usurping root;
And though the edge hath something hit ourselves,
Yet, know thou, since we have begun to strike,
We'll never leave till we have hewn thee down,
Or bathed thy growing with our heated bloods.

Edw. And, in this resolution, I defy thee; 170
Not willing any longer conference,

Since thou deniest the gentle king to speak.
Sound trumpets! let our bloody colours wave!

For this world frowns, and Edward's sun is clouded.

Our ranks are broke, and ruin follows us: 10

 Like to a dismal clangor heard from far,
 'Warwick, revenge! brother, revenge my death!'
 So, underneath the belly of their steeds,
 That stain'd their fetlocks in his smoking blood,
 The noble gentleman gave up the ghost.

20

 I'll kill my horse, because I will not fly.
 Why stand we like soft-hearted women here,
 Wailing our losses, whiles the foe doth rage;
 And look upon, as if the tragedy
 Were play'd in jest by counterfeiting actors?
 Here on my knee I vow to God above,
 I'll never pause again, never stand still,
 Till either death hath closed these eyes of mine
 Or fortune given me measure of revenge.

 And in this vow do chain my soul to thine!
 And, ere my knee rise from the earth's cold face,
 I throw my hands, mine eyes, my heart to thee,
 Thou setter up and plucker down of kings,
 Beseeching thee, if with thy will it stands
 That to my foes this body must be prey,
 Yet that thy brazen gates of heaven may ope,
 And give sweet passage to my sinful soul!
 Now, lords, take leave until we meet again,
 Where'er it be, in heaven or in earth.

King. This battle fares like to the morning's war,
 When dying clouds contend with growing light,
 What time the shepherd, blowing of his nails,
 Can neither call it perfect day nor night.
 Now sways it this way, like a mighty sea 5
 Forced by the tide to combat with the wind;
 Now sways it that way, like the selfsame sea
 Forced to retire by fury of the wind:
 Sometime the flood prevails, and then the wind;
 Now one the better, then another best; 10
 Both tugging to be victors, breast to breast,
 Yet neither conqueror nor conquered:
 So is the equal poise of this fell war.
 Here on this molehill will I sit me down.
 To whom God will, there be the victory! 15
 For Margaret my queen, and Clifford too,
 Have chid me from the battle; swearing both
 They prosper best of all when I am thence.
 Would I were dead! if God's good will were so;
 For what is in this world but grief and woe? 20
 O God! methinks it were a happy life,
 To be no better than a homely swain;
 To sit upon a hill, as I do now,
 To carve out dials quaintly, point by point,
 Thereby to see the minutes how they run, 25
 How many make the hour full complete;
 How many hours bring about the day;

How many days will finish up the year;
 How many years a mortal man may live.
 When this is known, then to divide the times: 30
 So many hours must I tend my flock;
 So many hours must I take my rest;
 So many hours must I contemplate;
 So many hours must I sport myself;
 So many days my ewes have been with young; 35
 So many weeks ere the poor fools will ean;
 So many years ere I shall shear the fleece:
 So minutes, hours, days, months, and years,
 Pass'd over to the end they were created,
 Would bring white hairs unto a quiet grave. 40
 Ah, what a life were this! how sweet! how lovely!
 Gives not the hawthorn-bush a sweeter shade
 To shepherds looking on their silly sheep,
 Than doth a rich embroider'd canopy
 To kings that fear their subjects' treachery? 45
 O, yes, it doth; a thousand-fold it doth.
 And to conclude, the shepherd's homely curds,
 His cold thin drink out of his leather bottle,
 His wonted sleep under a fresh tree's shade,
 All which secure and sweetly he enjoys, 50
 Is far beyond a prince's delicates,
 His viands sparkling in a golden cup,
 His body couched in a curious bed,
 When care, mistrust, and treason waits on him.

 More than my body's parting with my soul!
 My love and fear glued many friends to thee; 5
 And, now I fall, thy tough commixture melts.
 Impairing Henry, strengthening misproud York,
 The common people swarm like summer flies;
 And whither fly the gnats but to the sun?
 And who shines now but Henry's enemies? 10
 O Phœbus, hadst thou never given consent
 That Phaëthon should check thy fiery steeds,
 Thy burning car never had scorch'd the earth!
 And, Henry, hadst thou sway'd as kings should do,
 Or as thy father and his father did, 15
 Giving no ground unto the house of York,
 They never then had sprung like summer flies;
 I and ten thousand in this luckless realm
 Had left no mourning widows for our death;

And thou this day hadst kept thy chair in peace. 20
 For what doth cherish weeds but gentle air?
 And what makes robbers bold but too much lenity?
 Bootless are complaints, and cureless are my wounds;
 No way to fly, nor strength to hold out flight:
 The foe is merciless, and will not pity; 25
 For at their hands I have deserved no pity.
 The air hath got into my deadly wounds,
 And much effuse of blood doth make me faint.
 Come, York and Richard, Warwick and the rest;
 I stabb'd your fathers' bosoms, split my breast. [He faints. 30

*Alarum and retreat. Enter, EDWARD, GEORGE, RICHARD,
 MONTAGUE, WARWICK, and Soldiers,*

Edw. Now breathe we, lords: good fortune bids us pause,
 And smooth the frowns of war with peaceful looks.
 Some troops pursue the bloody-minded queen,
 That led calm Henry, though he were a king,
 As doth a sail, fill'd with a fretting gust, 35
 Command an argosy to stem the waves.
 But think you, lords, that Clifford fled with them?

War. No, 'tis impossible he should escape;
 For, though before his face I speak the words,
 Your brother Richard mark'd him for the grave: 40
 And wheresoe'er he is, he's surely dead.

Who not contented that he lopp'd the branch
In hewing Rutland when his leaves put forth,
But set his murdering knife unto the root
From whence that tender spray did sweetly spring, 50
I mean our princely father, Duke of York.

War. From off the gates of York fetch down the head,
Your father's head, which Clifford placed there;
Instead whereof let this supply the room:
Measure for measure must be answered. 55

Edw. Bring forth that fatal screech-owl to our house,
That nothing sung but death to us and ours:
Now death shall stop his dismal threatening sound,
And his ill-boding tongue no more shall speak.

War. I think his understanding is bereft. 60
Speak, Clifford, dost thou know who speaks to thee?
Dark cloudy death o'ershades his beams of life,
And he nor sees nor hears us what we say.

Rich. O, would he did! and so perhaps he doth:
'Tis but his policy to counterfeit, 65
Because he would avoid such bitter taunts
Which in the time of death he gave our father.

Geo. If so thou think'st, vex him with eager words.

Rich. Clifford, ask mercy and obtain no grace.

Edw. Clifford, repent in bootless penitence. 70

War. Clifford, devise excuses for thy faults.

Geo. While we devise fell tortures for thy faults.

Rich. Thou didst love York, and I am son to York.

Edw. Thou pitied'st Rutland; I will pity thee.

Rich. What, not an oath? nay, then the world goes hard
 When Clifford cannot spare his friends an oath.
 I know by that he's dead; and, by my soul,
 If this right hand would buy two hours' life, 80
 That I in all despite might rail at him,
 This hand should chop it off, and with the issuing blood
 Stifle the villain whose unstanched thirst
 York and young Rutland could not satisfy.

War. Ay, but he's dead: off with the traitor's head, 85
 And rear it in the place your father's stands.
 And now to London with triumphant march,
 There to be crowned England's royal king:
 From whence shall Warwick cut the sea to France,
 And ask the Lady Bona for thy queen: 90
 So shalt thou sinew both these lands together;
 And, having France thy friend, thou shalt not dread
 The scatter'd foe that hopes to rise again;
 For though they cannot greatly sting to hurt,
 Yet look to have them buzz to offend thine ears. 95
 First will I see the coronation;
 And then to Brittany I'll cross the sea,
 To effect this marriage, so it please my lord.

Edw. Even as thou wilt, sweet Warwick, let it be;
 For in thy shoulder do I build my seat, 100
 And never will I undertake the thing
 Wherein thy counsel and consent is wanting.
 Richard, I will create thee Duke of Gloucester,
 And George, of Clarence: Warwick, as ourself,
 Shall do and undo as him pleaseth best. 105

Rich. Let me be Duke of Clarence, George of Glou-

 For Gloucester's dukedom is too ominous.

ACT III.

SCENE I. A forest in the north of England.

Enter two Keepers, with cross-bows in their hands.

First Keep. Under this thick-grown brake we'll shroud ourselves;

For through this laund anon the deer will come;
And in this covert will we make our stand,
Culling the principal of all the deer.

Sec. Keep. I'll stay above the hill, so both may shoot. 5

First Keep. That cannot be; the noise of thy cross-bow
Will scare the herd, and so my shoot is lost.

Here stand we both, and aim we at the best:
And, for the time shall not seem tedious,
I'll tell thee what befel me on a day 10

In this self-place where now we mean to stand.

Sec. Keep. Here comes a man; let's stay till he be past.

Enter KING HENRY, disguised, with a prayer-book.

K. Hen. From Scotland am I stol'n, even of pure love,
To greet mine own land with my wishful sight.

Thy place is fill'd, thy sceptre wrung from thee,
 Thy balm wash'd off wherewith thou wast anointed:
 No bending knee will call thee Cæsar now,
 No humble suitors press to speak for right,
 No, not a man comes for redress of thee; 20
 For how can I help them, and not myself?

First Keep. Ay, here's a deer whose skin's a keeper's fee:
 This is the quondam king; let's seize upon him.

K. Hen. Let me embrace thee, sour adversity,
 For wise men say it is the wisest course. 25

Sec. Keep. Why linger we? let us lay hands upon him.

First Keep. Forbear awhile; we'll hear a little more.

K. Ken. My queen and son are gone to France for aid;
 And, as I hear, the great commanding Warwick
 Is thither gone, to crave the French king's sister 30
 To wife for Edward: if this news be true,
 Poor queen and son, your labour is but lost;
 For Warwick is a subtle orator,
 And Lewis a prince soon won with moving words.

By this account then Margaret may win him;
 For she's a woman to be pitied much: 35

Her sighs will make a battery in his breast;
 Her tears will pierce into a marble heart;
 The tiger will be mild whiles she doth mourn;
 And Nero will be tainted with remorse, 40
 To hear and see her plaints, her brinish tears.

Ay, but she's come to beg, Warwick, to give;
 She, on his left side, craving aid for Henry,
 He, on his right, asking a wife for Edward.
 She weeps, and says her Henry is deposed; 45
 He smiles, and says his Edward is install'd;
 That she, poor wretch, for grief can speak no more;

 And in conclusion wins the king from her, 50
 With promise of his sister, and what else,
 To strengthen and support King Edward's place.
 O Margaret, thus 'twill be; and thou, poor soul,
 Art then forsaken, as thou went'st forlorn!

Sec. Keep. Say, what art thou that talk'st of kings and queens? 55

K. Hen. More than I seem, and less than I was born to:
 A man at least, for less I should not be;
 And men may talk of kings, and why not I?

Sec. Keep. Ay, but thou talk'st as if thou wert a king.

K. Hen. Why, so I am, in mind; and that's enough. 60

Sec. Keep. But, if thou be a king, where is thy crown?

K. Hen. My crown is in my heart, not on my head;
 Not deck'd with diamonds and Indian stones,
 Nor to be seen: my crown is call'd content:
 A crown it is that seldom kings enjoy. 65

Sec. Keep. Well, if you be a king crown'd with content,
 Your crown content and you must be contented
 To go along with us; for, as we think,
 You are the king King Edward hath deposed;
 And we his subjects sworn in all allegiance 70
 Will apprehend you as his enemy.

K. Hen. But did you never swear, and break an oath?

Sec. Keep. No, never such an oath; nor will not now.

K. Hen. Where did you dwell when I was King of England?

Sec. Keep. Here in this country, where we now remain. 75

First Keep. No;

80

For we were subjects but while you were king.

K. Hen. Why, am I dead? do I not breathe a man?

Ah, simple men, you know not what you swear!

Look, as I blow this feather from my face,

And as the air blows it to me again,

85

Obeying with my wind when I do blow,

And yielding to another when it blows,

Commanded always by the greater gust;

Such is the lightness of you common men.

But do not break your oaths; for of that sin

90

My mild entreaty shall not make you guilty.

Go where you will, the king shall be commanded;

And be you kings, command, and I'll obey.

First Keep. We are true subjects to the king, King Edward.

K. Hen. So would you be again to Henry,
If he were seated as King Edward is.

To go with us unto the officers.

His lands then seized on by the conqueror:
Her suit is now to repossess those lands;
Which we in justice cannot well deny, 5
Because in quarrel of the house of York
The worthy gentleman did lose his life.

Glou. Your highness shall do well to grant her suit;
It were dishonour to deny it her.

K. Edw. It were no less; but yet I'll make a pause. 10

Glou. [Aside to Clar.] Yea, is it so?
I see the lady hath a thing to grant,
Before the king will grant her humble suit.

Glou. [Aside to Clar.] Silence! 15

K. Edw. Widow, we will consider of your suit;
And come some other time to know our mind.

May it please your highness to resolve me now;

L. Grey. That's soon perform'd, because I am a subject.

K. Edw. Why, then, thy husband's lands I freely give thee.

55

L. Grey. I take my leave with many thousand thanks.

L. Grey. The fruits of love I mean, my loving liege.

K. Edw. Ay, but, I fear me, in another sense.

60

What love, think'st thou, I sue so much to get?

L. Grey. My love till death, my humble thanks, my prayers;

That love which virtue begs and virtue grants.

K. Edw. No, by my troth, I did not mean such love.

L. Grey. Why, then you mean not as I thought you did.

65

K. Edw. But now you partly may perceive my mind.

One way or other, she is for a king;

And she shall be my love, or else my queen.—

Say that King Edward take thee for his queen?

L. Grey. 'Tis better said than done, my gracious lord: 90

I am a subject fit to jest withal,

But far unfit to be a sovereign.

K. Edw. Sweet widow, by my state I swear to thee

I speak no more than what my soul intends;

And that is, to enjoy thee for my love. 95

L. Grey. And that is more than I will yield unto:

I know I am too mean to be your queen,

And yet too good to be your concubine.

K. Edw. You cavil, widow: I did mean, my queen.

L. Grey. 'Twill grieve your grace my sons should call you father. 100

Glou. The widow likes it not, for she looks very sad. 110

K. Edw. You'd think it strange if I should marry her.

Clar. To whom, my lord?

K. Edw. Why, Clarence, to myself.

Glou. That would be ten days' wonder at the least.

Clar. That's a day longer than a wonder lasts.

Glou. By so much is the wonder in extremes. 115

K. Edw. Well, jest on, brothers: I can tell you both
Her suit is granted for her husband's lands.

And brought your prisoner to your palace gate.

And go we, brothers, to the man that took him,

To question of his apprehension.

Widow, go you along. Lords, use her honourably.

[Exeunt all but Gloucester.]

Glou. Ay, Edward will use women honourably.

Would he were wasted, marrow, bones and all, 125

That from his loins no hopeful branch may spring,

To cross me from the golden time I look for!

And all the unlook'd for issue of their bodies,
 To take their rooms, ere I can place myself:
 A cold premeditation for my purpose!
 Why, then, I do but dream on sovereignty;
 Like one that stands upon a promontory, 135
 And spies a far-off shore where he would tread,
 Wishing his foot were equal with his eye,
 And chides the sea that sunders him from thence,
 Saying, he'll lade it dry to have his way:
 So do I wish the crown, being so far off; 140
 And so I chide the means that keeps me from it;
 And so I say, I'll cut the causes off,
 Flattering me with impossibilities.
 My eye's too quick, my heart o'erweens too much,
 Unless my hand and strength could equal them. 145
 Well, say there is no kingdom then for Richard;
 What other pleasure can the world afford?
 I'll make my heaven in a lady's lap,
 And deck my body in gay ornaments,
 And witch sweet ladies with my words and looks. 150
 O miserable thought! and more unlikely
 Than to accomplish twenty golden crowns!
 Why, love forswore me in my mother's womb:
 And, for I should not deal in her soft laws,
 She did corrupt frail nature with some bribe,
 To shrink mine arm up like a wither'd shrub; 155
 To make an envious mountain on my back,
 Where sits deformity to mock my body;
 To shape my legs of an unequal size;
 To disproportion me in every part, 160
 Like to a chaos, or an unlick'd bear-whelp
 That carries no impression like the dam.

 Then, since this earth affords no joy to me,
 But to command, to check, to o'erbear such
 As are of better person than myself,
 I'll make my heaven to dream upon the crown,
 And, whiles I live, to account this world but hell,
 Until my mis-shaped trunk that bears this head
 Be round impaled with a glorious crown.
 And yet I know not how to get the crown,
 For many lives stand between me and home:
 And I,—like one lost in a thorny wood,
 That rends the thorns and is rent with the thorns,
 Seeking a way and straying from the way;
 Not knowing how to find the open air,
 But toiling desperately to find it out,—
 Torment myself to catch the English crown:
 And from that torment I will free myself,
 Or hew my way out with a bloody axe.
 Why, I can smile, and murder whiles I smile,
 And cry 'Content' to that which grieves my heart,
 And wet my cheeks with artificial tears,
 And frame my face to all occasions.
 I'll drown more sailors than the mermaid shall;
 I'll slay more gazers than the basilisk;
 I'll play the orator as well as Nestor,
 Deceive more silyly than Ulysses could,
 And, like a Sinon, take another Troy.
 I can add colours to the chameleon,
 Change shapes with Proteus for advantages,
 And set the murderous Machiavel to school.

Flourish. Enter LEWIS the French King, his sister BONA, his Admiral, called BOURBON: PRINCE EDWARD, QUEEN MARGARET, and the EARL OF OXFORD. LEWIS sits, and riseth up again.

K. Lew. Fair Queen of England, worthy Margaret,
Sit down with us: it ill befits thy state
And birth, that thou shouldst stand while Lewis doth sit.

Q. Mar. No, mighty King of France: now Margaret Must strike her sail and learn awhile to serve
Where kings command. I was, I must confess,
Great Albion's queen in former golden days:
But now mischance hath trod my title down,
And with dishonour laid me on the ground;
Where I must take like seat unto my fortune,
And to my humble seat conform myself.

K. Lew. Why, say, fair queen, whence springs this deep despair?

Q. Mar. From such a cause as fills mine eyes with tears
And stops my tongue, while heart is drown'd in cares.

20

Q. Mar. Those gracious words revive my drooping thoughts

And give my tongue-tied sorrows leave to speak.

Now, therefore, be it known to noble Lewis,

That Henry, sole possessor of my love,

Is of a king become a banish'd man,

25

And forced to live in Scotland a forlorn;

While proud ambitious Edward Duke of York

Usurps the regal title and the seat

Of England's true-anointed lawful king.

This is the cause that I, poor Margaret,

30

With this my son, Prince Edward, Henry's heir,

Am come to crave thy just and lawful aid;

And if thou fail us, all our hope is done:

Scotland hath will to help, but cannot help;

Our people and our peers are both misled,

35

Our treasure seized, our soldiers put to flight,

And, as thou seest, ourselves in heavy plight.

K. Lew. Renowned queen, with patience calm the storm,
 While we bethink a means to break it off.

Q. Mar. The more we stay, the stronger grows our foe. 40

K. Lew. The more I stay, the more I'll succour thee.

Q. Mar. O, but impatience waiteth on true sorrow.

And see where comes the breeder of my sorrow!

Q. Mar. Ay, now begins a second storm to rise;
For this is he that moves both wind and tide.

War. From worthy Edward, king of Albion,
My lord and sovereign, and thy vowed friend, 50
I come, in kindness and unfeigned love,
First, to do greetings to thy royal person;
And then to crave a league of amity;
And lastly, to confirm that amity
With nuptial knot, if thou vouchsafe to grant 55
That virtuous Lady Bona, thy fair sister,
To England's king in lawful marriage.

Q. Mar. [Aside] If that go forward, Henry's hope is done.

War. [To Bona] And, gracious madam, in our king's behalf,
I am commanded, with your leave and favour, 60
Humbly to kiss your hand and with my tongue
To tell the passion of my sovereign's heart;
Where fame, late entering at his heedful ears,
Hath placed thy beauty's image and thy virtue.

Q. Mar. King Lewis and Lady Bona, hear me speak, 65
Before you answer Warwick. His demand
Springs not from Edward's well-meant honest love,
But from deceit bred by necessity;
For how can tyrants safely govern home,
Unless abroad they purchase great alliance? 70
To prove him tyrant this reason may suffice,
That Henry liveth still; but were he dead,
Yet here Prince Edward stands, King Henry's son.
Look, therefore, Lewis, that by this league and marriage

Thou draw not on thy danger and dishonour;
 For though usurpers sway the rule awhile, 75
 Yet heavens are just, and time suppresseth wrongs.

War. Injurious Margaret!

Prince. And why not queen?

War. Because thy father Henry did usurp;
 And thou no more art prince than she is queen. 80

Oxf. Then Warwick disannuls great John of Gaunt,
 Which did subdue the greatest part of Spain;
 And, after John of Gaunt, Henry the Fourth,
 Whose wisdom was a mirror to the wisest;
 And, after that wise prince, Henry the Fifth, 85
 Who by his prowess conquered all France:
 From these our Henry lineally descends.

War. Oxford, how haps it, in this smooth discourse,
 You told not how Henry the Sixth hath lost
 All that which Henry the Fifth had gotten? 90
 Methinks these peers of France should smile at that.
 But for the rest, you tell a pedigree
 Of threescore and two years; a silly time
 To make prescription for a kingdom's worth.

Oxf. Why, Warwick, canst thou speak against thy liege, 95
 Whom thou obeyed'st thirty and six years,
 And not bewray thy treason with a blush?

War. Can Oxford, that did ever fence the right,
 Now buckler falsehood with a pedigree?
 For shame! leave Henry, and call Edward king. 100

Oxf. Call him my king by whose injurious doom
 My elder brother, the Lord Aubrey Vere,
 Was done to death? and more than so, my father,
 Even in the downfall of his mellow'd years,
 When nature brought him to the door of death? 105
 No, Warwick, no; while life upholds this arm,
 This arm upholds the house of Lancaster.

War. And I the house of York.

Vouchsafe, at our request, to stand aside, 110
 While I use further conference with Warwick.

[They stand aloof.]

Q. Mar. Heavens grant that Warwick's words bewitch him not!

K. Lew. Now, Warwick, tell me, even upon thy conscience,

Is Edward your true king? for I were loath
 To link with him that were not lawful chosen. 115

War. Thereon I pawn my credit and mine honour.

K. Lew. But is he gracious in the people's eye?

War. The more that Henry was unfortunate.

K. Lew. Then further, all dissembling set aside,
 Tell me for truth the measure of his love 120
 Unto our sister Bona.

War. Such it seems
 As may beseem a monarch like himself.
 Myself have often heard him say and swear
 That this his love was an eternal plant,
 Whereof the root was fix'd in virtue's ground, 125
 The leaves and fruit maintain'd with beauty's sun,
 Exempt from envy, but not from disdain,
 Unless the Lady Bona quit his pain.

K. Lew. Now, sister, let us hear your firm resolve.

Bona. Your grant, or your denial, shall be mine: 130
[To War.] Yet I confess that often ere this day,
 When I have heard your king's desert recounted,
 Mine ear hath tempted judgment to desire.

 By this alliance to make void my suit:
 Before thy coming Lewis was Henry's friend.

K. Lew. And still is friend to him and Margaret:
 But if your title to the crown be weak, 145
 As may appear by Edward's good success,
 Then 'tis but reason that I be released
 From giving aid which late I promised.

Yet shall you have all kindness at my hand
 That your estate requires and mine can yield. 150

War. Henry now lives in Scotland at his ease,
 Where having nothing, nothing can he lose.
 And as for you yourself, our quondam queen,
 You have a father able to maintain you;
 And better 'twere you troubled him than France. 155

Q. Mar. Peace, impudent and shameless Warwick, peace,
 Proud setter up and puller down of kings!
 I will not hence, till, with my talk and tears,
 Both full of truth, I make King Lewis behold

Oxf. I like it well that our fair queen and mistress
Smiles at her news, while Warwick frowns at his.

Prince. Nay, mark how Lewis stamps, as he were nettled:
I hope all's for the best. 170

K. Lew. Warwick, what are thy news? and yours, fair queen?

Q. Mar. Mine, such as fill my heart with unhop'd joys.

War. Mine, full of sorrow and heart's discontent.

K. Lew. What! has your king married the Lady Grey?
And now, to soothe your forgery and his, 175
Sends me a paper to persuade me patience?
Is this the alliance that he seeks with France?
Dare he presume to scorn us in this manner?

Q. Mar. I told your majesty as much before:
This proveth Edward's love and Warwick's honesty. 180

War. King Lewis, I here protest, in sight of heaven,
And by the hope I have of heavenly bliss,
That I am clear from this misdeed of Edward's,
No more my king, for he dishonours me,
But most himself, if he could see his shame. 185

Did I forget that by the house of York
My father came untimely to his death?
Did I let pass the abuse done to my niece?
Did I impale him with the regal crown?
Did I put Henry from his native right? 190
And am I guerdon'd at the last with shame?
Shame on himself! for my desert is honour:

And to repair my honour lost for him,
I here renounce him and return to Henry.

War. So much his friend, ay, his unfeigned friend,
That, if King Lewis vouchsafe to furnish us
With some few bands of chosen soldiers,
I'll undertake to land them on our coast 205
And force the tyrant from his seat by war.

'Tis not his new-made bride shall succour him:
And as for Clarence, as my letters tell me,
He's very likely now to fall from him,
For matching more for wanton lust than honour, 210
Or than for strength and safety of our country.

Unless thou rescue him from foul despair? 215

Bona. My quarrel and this English queen's are one.

K. Lew. And mine with hers, and thine, and Margaret's.
Therefore at last I firmly am resolved
You shall have aid. 220

Q. Mar. Let me give humble thanks for all at once.

K. Lew. Then, England's messenger, return in post,
And tell false Edward, thy supposed king,
That Lewis of France is sending over masquers
To revel it with him and his new bride: 225
Thou seest what's past, go fear thy king withal.

Yet, ere thou go, but answer me one doubt,
What pledge have we of thy firm loyalty?

War. This shall assure my constant loyalty,

240

That if our queen and this young prince agree,
I'll join mine eldest daughter and my joy
To him forthwith in holy wedlock bands.

Q. Mar. Yes, I agree, and thank you for your motion.

245

Therefore delay not, give thy hand to Warwick;
And, with thy hand, thy faith irrevocable,
That only Warwick's daughter shall be thine.

Prince. Yes, I accept her, for she well deserves it;
And here, to pledge my vow, I give my hand.

[He gives his hand to Warwick.]

K. Lew. Why stay we now? These soldiers shall be levied,

And thou, Lord Bourbon, our high admiral,
Shalt waft them over with our royal fleet.

I long till Edward fall by war's mischance,
For mocking marriage with a dame of France.

SCENE I. London. The palace.

Enter GLOUCESTER, CLARENCE, SOMERSET, and MONTAGUE.

Glou. Now tell me, brother Clarence, what think you
Of this new marriage with the Lady Grey?

Hath not our brother made a worthy choice?

Clar. Alas, you know, 'tis far from hence to France;
How could he stay till Warwick made return?

Som. My lords, forbear this talk; here comes the king.

Glou. And his well-chosen bride.

Clar. I mind to tell him plainly what I think.

Flourish. Enter KING EDWARD, attended; LADY GREY, as Queen; PEMBROKE, STAFFORD, HASTINGS, and others.

K. Edw. Now, brother of Clarence, how like you our choice,

Which are so weak of courage and in judgement
That they'll take no offence at our abuse.

K. Edw. Suppose they take offence without a cause,
They are but Lewis and Warwick: I am Edward, 15
Your king and Warwick's, and must have my will.

Glou. And shall have your will, because our king:
Yet hasty marriage seldom proveth well.

K. Edw. Yea, brother Richard, are you offended too?

Glou. Not I: 20

No, God forbid that I should wish them sever'd
Whom God hath join'd together; ay, and 'twere pity
To sunder them that yoke so well together.

K. Edw. Setting your scorns and your mislike aside,
Tell me some reason why the Lady Grey 25
Should not become my wife and England's queen.
And you too, Somerset and Montague,
Speak freely what you think.

Clar. Then this is mine opinion: that King Lewis Becomes your enemy, for mocking him 30
About the marriage of the Lady Bona.

Glou. And Warwick, doing what you gave in charge,
Is now dishonoured by this new marriage.

K. Edw. What if both Lewis and Warwick be appeased
By such invention as I can devise? 35

Mont. Yet, to have join'd with France in such alliance
Would more have strengthen'd this our commonwealth
'Gainst foreign storms than any home-bred marriage.

And with their helps only defend ourselves; 45
In them and in ourselves our safety lies.

Clar. For this one speech Lord Hastings well deserves
To have the heir of the Lord Hungerford.

K. Edw. Ay, what of that? it was my will and grant;
And for this once my will shall stand for law. 50

Glou. And yet methinks your grace hath not done well,
To give the heir and daughter of Lord Scales
Unto the brother of your loving bride;
She better would have fitted me or Clarence:
But in your bride you bury brotherhood. 55

Clar. Or else you would not have bestow'd the heir
Of the Lord Bonville on your new wife's son,
And leave your brothers to go speed elsewhere.

K. Edw. Alas, poor Clarence! is it for a wife
That thou art malcontent? I will provide thee. 60

Clar. In choosing for yourself, you show'd your judgement,
Which being shallow, you shall give me leave
To play the broker in mine own behalf;
And to that end I shortly mind to leave you.

K. Edw. Leave me, or tarry, Edward will be king, 65

So long as Edward is thy constant friend,
And their true sovereign, whom they must obey?
Nay, whom they shall obey, and love thee too,
Unless they seek for hatred at my hands; 80
Which if they do, yet will I keep thee safe,
And they shall feel the vengeance of my wrath.

Dare not relate.

K. Edw. Go to, we pardon thee: therefore, in brief,
Tell me their words as near as thou canst guess them. 90
What answer makes King Lewis unto our letters?

'Go tell false Edward, thy supposed king,
That Lewis of France is sending over masquers
To revel it with him and his new bride.' 95

K. Edw. Is Lewis so brave? belike he thinks me Henry.

K. Edw. Ha! durst the traitor breathe out so proud words?

Well, I will arm me, being thus forewarn'd:
They shall have wars and pay for their presumption.
But say, is Warwick friends with Margaret? 115

 Yet am I arm'd against the worst can happen;
 And haste is needful in this desperate case.
 Pembroke and Stafford, you in our behalf 130
 Go levy men, and make prepare for war;
 They are already, or quickly will be landed:
 Myself in person will straight follow you.

[Exeunt Pembroke and Stafford.]

But, ere I go, Hastings and Montague,
 Resolve my doubt. You twain, of all the rest, 135
 Are near to Warwick by blood and by alliance:
 Tell me if you love Warwick more than me?
 If it be so, then both depart to him;
 I rather wish you foes than hollow friends:
 But if you mind to hold your true obedience, 140
 Give me assurance with some friendly vow,
 That I may never have you in suspect.

Mont. So God help Montague as he proves true!

Hast. And Hastings as he favours Edward's cause!

K. Edw. Now, brother Richard, will you stand by us? 145

War. Then, gentle Clarence, welcome unto Warwick;
And welcome, Somerset: I hold it cowardice
To rest mistrustful where a noble heart
Hath pawn'd an open hand in sign of love;
Else might I think that Clarence, Edward's brother, 10
Were but a feigned friend to our proceedings:
But welcome, sweet Clarence; my daughter shall be thine.
And now what rests but, in night's coverture,
Thy brother being carelessly encamp'd,
His soldiers lurking in the towns about, 15
And but attended by a simple guard,
We may surprise and take him at our pleasure?
Our scouts have found the adventure very easy:
That as Ulysses and stout Diomede
With sleight and manhood stole to Rhesus' tents, 20
And brought from thence the Thracian fatal steeds,
So we, well cover'd with the night's black mantle,
At unawares may beat down Edward's guard
And seize himself; I say not, slaughter him,
For I intend but only to surprise him. 25
You that will follow me to this attempt,
Applaud the name of Henry with your leader.

That his chief followers lodge in towns about him,
While he himself keeps in the cold field?

Second Watch. 'Tis the more honour, because more dangerous. 15

Third Watch. Ay, but give me worship and quietness;
I like it better than a dangerous honour.
If Warwick knew in what estate he stands,
'Tis to be doubted he would waken him.

Yorkshire. Pope.

Enter KING EDWARD and a Huntsman with him.

Hunt. This way, my lord; for this way lies the game.

K. Edw. Nay, this way, man: see where the huntsmen stand. 15

Now, brother of Gloucester, Lord Hastings, and the rest,
Stand you thus close, to steal the bishop's deer?

Glou. Brother, the time and case requireth haste:
Your horse stands ready at the park-corner.

K. Edw. But whither shall we then?

Hast. To Lynn, my lord, 20

And ship from thence to Flanders.

Glou. Well guess'd, believe me; for that was my meaning.

K. Edw. Stanley, I will requite thy forwardness.

Glou. But wherefore stay we? 'tis no time to talk.

K. Edw. Huntsman, what say'st thou? wilt thou go along? 25

Hunt. Better do so than tarry and be hang'd.

Glou. Come then, away; let's ha' no more ado.

K. Edw. Bishop, farewell: shield thee from Warwick's frown;

And pray that I may repossess the crown. [Exeunt.]

SCENE VI. London. The Tower.

Flourish. Enter KING HENRY, CLARENCE, WARWICK, SOMERSET, young RICHMOND, OXFORD, MONTAGUE, and Lieutenant of the Tower.

K. Hen. Master lieutenant, now that God and friends
Have shaken Edward from the regal seat,
And turn'd my captive state to liberty,
My fear to hope, my sorrows unto joys,
At our enlargement what are thy due fees? 5

Lieu. Subjects may challenge nothing of their sovereigns;
But if an humble prayer may prevail,
I then crave pardon of your majesty.

K. Hen. For what, lieutenant? for well using me?
Nay, be thou sure I'll well requite thy kindness, 10
For that it made my imprisonment a pleasure;
Ay, such a pleasure as incaged birds
Conceive when after many moody thoughts
At last by notes of household harmony
They quite forget their loss of liberty. 15
But, Warwick, after God, thou set'st me free,
And chiefly therefore I thank God and thee;
He was the author, thou the instrument.
Therefore, that I may conquer fortune's spite
By living low, where fortune cannot hurt me, 20
And that the people of this blessed land
May not be punish'd with my thwarting stars,
Warwick, although my head still wear the crown,
I here resign my government to thee,
For thou art fortunate in all thy deeds. 25

War. Your grace hath still been famed for virtuous;
 And now may seem as wise as virtuous,
 By spying and avoiding fortune's malice,
 For few men rightly temper with the stars:
 Yet in this one thing let me blame your grace, 30
 For choosing me when Clarence is in place.

Clar. No, Warwick, thou art worthy of the sway,
 To whom the heavens in thy nativity
 Adjudged an olive branch and laurel crown,
 As likely to be blest in peace and war; 35
 And therefore I yield thee my free consent.

War. And I choose Clarence only for protector.

K. Hen. Warwick and Clarence, give me both your hands:
 Now join your hands, and with your hands your hearts,
 That no dissension hinder government: 40
 I make you both protectors of this land,
 While I myself will lead a private life
 And in devotion spend my latter days,
 To sin's rebuke and my Creator's praise.

War. What answers Clarence to his sovereign's will? 45

Clar. That he consents, if Warwick yield consent;
 For on thy fortune I repose myself.

War. Why, then, though loath, yet must I be content:
 We'll yoke together, like a double shadow
 To Henry's body, and supply his place; 50
 I mean, in bearing weight of government,
 While he enjoys the honour and his ease.
 And, Clarence, now then it is more than needful
 Forthwith that Edward be pronounced a traitor,
 And all his lands and goods be confiscate. 55

Clar. What else? and that succession be determined.

War. Ay, therein Clarence shall not want his part.

 My joy of liberty is half eclipsed.

Clar. It shall be done, my sovereign, with all speed.

K. Hen. My Lord of Somerset, what youth is that, 65
 Of whom you seem to have so tender care?

Som. My liege, it is young Henry, earl of Richmond.

K. Hen. Come hither, England's hope. [Lays his hand
on his head] If secret powers 70
 Suggest but truth to my divining thoughts,
 This pretty lad will prove our country's bliss.
 His looks are full of peaceful majesty,
 His head by nature framed to wear a crown,
 His hand to wield a sceptre, and himself
 Likely in time to bless a regal throne.
 Make much of him, my lords, for this is he 75
 Must help you more than you are hurt by me.

Enter a Post.

War. What news, my friend?

Post. That Edward is escaped from your brother,
 And fled, as he hears since, to Burgundy.

War. Unsavoury news! but how made he escape? 80

Post. He was convey'd by Richard duke of Gloucester
 And the Lord Hastings, who attended him
 In secret ambush on the forest side
 And from the bishop's huntsmen rescued him;
 For hunting was his daily exercise. 85

War. My brother was too careless of his charge.
 But let us hence, my sovereign, to provide
 A salve for any sore that may betide.

 For doubtless Burgundy will yield him help, 90
 And we shall have more wars before't be long.
 As Henry's late presaging prophecy
 Did glad my heart with hope of this young Richmond,
 So doth my heart misgive me, in these conflicts
 What may befall him, to his harm and ours: 95
 Therefore, Lord Oxford, to prevent the worst,
 Forthwith we'll send him hence to Brittany,
 Till storms be past of civil enmity.

Oxf. Ay, for if Edward repossess the crown,
 'Tis like that Richmond with the rest shall down. 100

Som. It shall be so; he shall to Brittany.
 Come, therefore, let's about it speedily. [Exeunt.]

SCENE VII. Before York.

Flourish. Enter KING EDWARD, GLOUCESTER, HASTINGS, and Soldiers.

K. Edw. Now, brother Richard, Lord Hastings, and the rest,
 Yet thus far fortune maketh us amends,
 And says that once more I shall interchange
 My waned state for Henry's regal crown.
 Well have we pass'd and now repass'd the seas 5

Yet Edward at the least is Duke of York.

Mont. To help King Edward in his time of storm,
As every loyal subject ought to do.

Our title to the crown and only claim
Our dukedom till God please to send the rest.

By what safe means the crown may be recover'd.

Mont. What talk you of debating? in few words,
If you'll not here proclaim yourself our king,
I'll leave you to your fortune and be gone 55

Now, for this night, let's harbour here in York;

And when the morning sun shall raise his car

Above the border of this horizon, 80

And with his troops doth march amain to London;
And many giddy people flock to him.

K. Hen. Let's levy men, and beat him back again.

Clar. A little fire is quickly trodden out;
Which, being suffer'd, rivers cannot quench.

War. In Warwickshire I have true-hearted friends,
Not mutinous in peace, yet bold in war;
Those will I muster up: and thou, son Clarence,
Shalt stir up in Suffolk, Norfolk and in Kent,
The knights and gentlemen to come with thee:
Thou, brother Montague, in Buckingham,
Northampton and in Leicestershire, shalt find
Men well inclined to hear what thou command'st:
And thou, brave Oxford, wondrous well beloved,
In Oxfordshire shalt muster up thy friends.

Cousin of Exeter, what thinks your lordship?

Methinks the power that Edward hath in field 35

Should not be able to encounter mine.

Exe. The doubt is that he will seduce the rest.

K. Hen. That's not my fear; my meed hath got me fame:

I have not stopp'd mine ears to their demands,

Nor posted off their suits with slow delays; 40

My pity hath been balm to heal their wounds,

My mildness hath allay'd their swelling griefs,

My mercy dried their water-flowing tears;

I have not been desirous of their wealth,

Nor much oppress'd them with great subsidies, 45

Nor forward of revenge, though they much err'd:

Then why should they love Edward more than me?

No, Exeter, these graces challenge grace:

And when the lion fawns upon the lamb,

The lamb will never cease to follow him. 50

That we could hear no news of his repair? 20

K. Edw. Now, Warwick, wilt thou ope the city gates,
Speak gentle words and humbly bend thy knee,
Call Edward king and at his hands beg mercy?
And he shall pardon thee these outrages.

War. Nay, rather, wilt thou draw thy forces hence, 25

The king was slyly finger'd from the deck!

You left poor Henry at the Bishop's palace, 45

And, ten to one, you'll meet him in the Tower.

Glou. The gates are open, let us enter too. 60

K. Edw. So other foes may set upon our backs.

Stand we in good array; for they no doubt

Will issue out again and bid us battle:

If not, the city being but of small defence,

We'll quickly rouse the traitors in the same. 65

War. O, welcome, Oxford! for we want thy help.

Enter MONTAGUE, with drum and colours.

Mont. Montague, Montague, for Lancaster!

[He and his forces enter the city.]

Glou. Thou and thy brother both shall buy this treason

Even with the dearest blood your bodies bear.

K. Edw. The harder match'd, the greater victory: 70

My mind presageth happy gain and conquest.

Enter SOMERSET, with drum and colours.

Som. Somerset, Somerset, for Lancaster!

[He and his forces enter the city.]

Glou. Two of thy name, both Dukes of Somerset,

Have sold their lives unto the house of York;

And thou shalt be the third, if this sword hold. 75

Enter CLARENCE, with drum and colours.

War. And lo, where George of Clarence sweeps along,

Of force enough to bid his brother battle;

With whom an upright zeal to right prevails

More than the nature of a brother's love!

Come, Clarence, come; thou wilt, if Warwick call. 80

Look here, I throw my infamy at thee:
 I will not ruinate my father's house,
 Who gave his blood to lime the stones together,
 And set up Lancaster. Why, trow'st thou, Warwick, 85
 That Clarence is so harsh, so blunt, unnatural,
 To bend the fatal instruments of war
 Against his brother and his lawful king?
 Perhaps thou wilt object my holy oath:
 To keep that oath were more impiety 90
 Than Jephthah's, when he sacrificed his daughter.
 I am so sorry for my trespass made
 That, to deserve well at my brother's hands,
 I here proclaim myself thy mortal foe,
 With resolution, wheresoe'er I meet thee— 95
 As I will meet thee, if thou stir abroad—
 To plague thee for thy foul misleading me.
 And so, proud-hearted Warwick, I defy thee,
 And to my brother turn my blushing cheeks.
 Pardon me, Edward, I will make amends: 100
 And, Richard, do not frown upon my faults,
 For I will henceforth be no more unconstant.

K. Edw. Now welcome more, and ten times more beloved,

Than if thou never hadst deserved our hate.

Glo. Welcome, good Clarence; this is brother-like. 105

War. O passing traitor, perjured and unjust!

K. Edw. What, Warwick, wilt thou leave the town, and fight?

Or shall we beat the stones about thine ears?

That Warwick's bones may keep thine company. [Exit.]

War. Ah, who is nigh? come to me, friend or foe, 5
And tell me who is victor, York or Warwick?

Why ask I that? my mangled body shows,

My blood, my want of strength, my sick heart shows,

That I must yield my body to the earth

And, by my fall, the conquest to my foe. 10

Thus yields the cedar to the axe's edge,

Whose arms gave shelter to the princely eagle,

Under whose shade the ramping lion slept,

Whose top-branch overpeer'd Jove's spreading tree

And kept low shrubs from winter's powerful wind. 15

These eyes, that now are dimm'd with death's black veil,

Have been as piercing as the mid-day sun,

To search the secret treasons of the world:

The wrinkles in my brows, now fill'd with blood,

Were liken'd oft to kingly sepulchres; 20

 We might recover all our loss again: 30
 The queen from France hath brought a puissant power:
 Even now we heard the news: ah, couldst thou fly!

War. Why, then I would not fly. Ah, Montague,
 If thou be there, sweet brother, take my hand,
 And with thy lips keep in my soul awhile! 35
 Thou lovest me not; for, brother, if thou didst,
 Thy tears would wash this cold congealed blood
 That glues my lips and will not let me speak.
 Come quickly, Montague, or I am dead.

Som. Ah, Warwick! Montague hath breathed his last; 40
 And to the latest gasp cried out for Warwick
 And said 'Commend me to my valiant brother.'
 And more he would have said, and more he spoke,
 Which sounded like a clamour in a vault,
 That mought not be distinguish'd; but at last 45

Flourish. Enter KING EDWARD in triumph; with GLOUCESTER,
CLARENCE, and the rest.

K. Edw. Thus far our fortune keeps an upward course,
And we are graced with wreaths of victory.
But, in the midst of this bright-shining day,
I spy a black, suspicious, threatening cloud,
That will encounter with our glorious sun, 5
Ere he attain his easeful western bed:

I mean, my lords, those powers that the queen
Hath raised in Gallia have arrived our coast
And, as we hear, march on to fight with us.

Clar. A little gale will soon disperse that cloud 10
And blow it to the source from whence it came:
The very beams will dry those vapours up,
For every cloud engenders not a storm.

Glo. The queen is valued thirty thousand strong,
And Somerset, with Oxford, fled to her: 15
If she have time to breathe, be well assured
Her faction will be full as strong as ours.

K. Edw. We are advertised by our loving friends
That they do hold their course toward Tewksbury:
We, having now the best at Barnet field, 20
Will thither straight, for willingness rids way;
And, as we march, our strength will be augmented

Q. Mar. Great lords, wise men ne'er sit and wail their loss,
But cheerly seek how to redress their harms.
What though the mast be now blown overboard,
The cable broke, the holding-anchor lost,
And half our sailors swallow'd in the flood? 5
Yet lives our pilot still. Is't meet that he Should leave the helm and like a fearful lad
With tearful eyes add water to the sea
And give more strength to that which hath too much,
Whiles, in his moan, the ship splits on the rock, 10
Which industry and courage might have saved?
Ah, what a shame! ah, what a fault were this!
Say Warwick was our anchor; what of that?
And Montague our topmast; what of him?
Our slaughter'd friends the tackles; what of these? 15
Why, is not Oxford here another anchor?
And Somerset another goodly mast?
The friends of France our shrouds and tacklings?
And, though unskilful, why not Ned and I
For once allow'd the skilful pilot's charge? 20
We will not from the helm to sit and weep,
But keep our course, though the rough wind say no,
From shelves and rocks that threaten us with wreck.
As good to chide the waves as speak them fair.
And what is Edward but a ruthless sea? 25

What Clarence but a quicksand of deceit?
 And Richard but a ragged fatal rock?
 All these the enemies to our poor bark.
 Say you can swim; alas, 'tis but a while!
 Tread on the sand; why, there you quickly sink: 30
 Bestride the rock; the tide will wash you off,
 Or else you famish; that's a threefold death.
 This speak I, lords, to let you understand,
 If case some one of you would fly from us,
 That there's no hoped-for mercy with the brothers 35
 More than with the ruthless waves, with sands and rocks.
 Why, courage then! what cannot be avoided
 'Twere childish weakness to lament or fear.

Prince. Methinks a woman of this valiant spirit
 Should, if a coward heard her speak these words, 40
 Infuse his breast with magnanimity
 And make him, naked, foil a man at arms.
 I speak not this as doubting any here;
 For did I but suspect a fearful man,
 He should have leave to go away betimes, 45
 Lest in our need he might infect another
 And make him of like spirit to himself.
 If any such be here—as God forbid!—
 Let him depart before we need his help.

Oxf. Women and children of so high a courage, 50
 And warriors faint! why, 'twere perpetual shame.
 O brave young prince! thy famous grandfather
 Doth live again in thee: long mayst thou live
 To bear his image and renew his glories!

Som. And he that will not fight for such a hope, 55
 Go home to bed, and like the owl by day,
 If he arise, be mock'd and wonder'd at.

Which, by the heavens' assistance and your strength,
Must by the roots be hewn up yet ere night.

I need not add more fuel to your fire, 70

For well I wot ye blaze to burn them out:

Give signal to the fight, and to it, lords!

Q. Mar. Lords, knights, and gentlemen, what I should say

My tears gainsay; for every word I speak,

Ye see, I drink the water of mine eyes. 75

Therefore, no more but this: Henry, your sovereign,

Is prisoner to the foe; his state usurp'd,

His realm a slaughter-house, his subjects slain,

His statutes cancell'd and his treasure spent;

And yonder is the wolf that makes this spoil. 80

 And many an old man's sigh and many a widow's,
 And many an orphan's water-standing eye— 40
 Men for their sons, wives for their husbands,
 And orphans for their parents' timeless death—
 Shall rue the hour that ever thou wast born.
 The owl shriek'd at thy birth,—an evil sign;
 The night-crow cried, aboding luckless time; 45
 Dogs howl'd, and hideous tempest shook down trees;
 The raven rook'd her on the chimney's top,
 And chattering pies in dismal discords sung.
 Thy mother felt more than a mother's pain,
 And yet brought forth less than a mother's hope, 50
 To wit, an indigested and deformed lump,
 Not like the fruit of such a goodly tree.
 Teeth hadst thou in thy head when thou wast born,
 To signify thou camest to bite the world:
 And, if the rest be true which I have heard, 55
 Thou camest—

Down, down to hell; and say I sent thee thither:

[Stabs him again.]

I, that have neither pity, love, nor fear.

Indeed, 'tis true that Henry told me of;

For I have often heard my mother say 70

I came into the world with my legs forward:

Had I not reason, think ye, to make haste,

And seek their ruin that usurp'd our right?

The midwife wonder'd and the women cried

'O, Jesus bless us, he is born with teeth!' 75

And so I was; which plainly signified

That I should snarl and bite and play the dog.

Then, since the heavens have shaped my body so,

Let hell make crook'd my mind to answer it.

I have no brother, I am like no brother; 80

And this word 'love,' which greybeards call divine,

Be resident in men like one another

And not in me: I am myself alone.

Clarence, beware; thou keep'st me from the light:

But I will sort a pitchy day for thee; 85

For I will buz abroad such prophecies

That Edward shall be fearful of his life,

And then, to purge his fear, I'll be thy death.

King Henry and the prince his son are gone:

Clarence, thy turn is next, and then the rest, 90

Counting myself but bad till I be best.

NOTES.

NOTE I.

II. 1. 95. Pope and Hanmer make no new scene here, although they evidently intended to do so, as the next scene is marked as Scene III. In Theobald, as usual, the scenes are not numbered.

NOTE II.

II. 2. 89. In this passage the lines 89—92 are given to 'Cla.' in the first Folio, and to 'George' in the Quartos; but it is evident that Shakespeare, by altering 'his brother' in line 92 to 'me,' intended the whole to be spoken by Edward. This is another instance of Shakespeare's haste in remodelling the older plays.

NOTE III.

II. 5. 92, 93. Capell follows Hanmer in adopting the reading of the Quartos. We retain the reading of the Folios, because the alteration merely transfers the difficulty of explanation from one line to another.

NOTE IV.

III. 1. As Sinklo is certainly the name of an Actor, who is mentioned in the stage directions in the Taming of the Shrew (Ind. I. 86), and in Henry IV. Pt. II. (Act IV. Sc. 4), there is great probability that Humfrey is the name of another Actor, perhaps, as Malone suggests, Humfrey Jeaffes. Neither of these is mentioned in the list of 'Principal Actors' prefixed to the first Folio.

NOTE V.

IV. I. 20—23. The following is the arrangement of these lines in the Folios:

‘Not I: no:
 God forbid, that I should wish them seuer’d,
 Whom God hath ioyn’d together:
 I, and ’twere pittie, to sunder them,
 That yoake so well together.’

Pope reads:

‘Not I; no: God forbid that I should wish
 Them severed whom God hath join’d together.
 Pity to sunder them, that yoak so well.’

NOTE VI.

IV. 2. 13. The reading ‘overture’ first appears in Warburton’s edition, being probably a misprint. Johnson adopts it, but suggests the true reading ‘coverture,’ without giving any indication that this was the reading in all the Folios and in all the editions before Warburton’s. We give this as one of the many instances of the carelessness with which Johnson’s work was done.

NOTE VII.

IV. 8. In the Folios, Somerset is introduced in the stage direction, though he had gone with young Richmond into Brittany. The mistake arose from the Quartos in which Scene VI. and Scene VIII. form but one.

NOTE VIII.

V. I. 44. This conjecture of Warburton’s, which as he does not mention it in his edition we have marked ‘withdrawn,’ is found in a series of unpublished letters from Theobald to Warburton recently added to the treasures of the British Museum. The first of these letters is dated Feb. 10, 1729, and the last Sep. 4, 1736. That in which allusion is made to the passage in question is dated March 10, 1732. Theobald rejects Warburton’s suggestion, for, he says, ‘Deck’ is ‘a county dialect,’ meaning the same thing. Among the MSS. recently acquired by the Museum is a series of letters from Hanmer to Warburton beginning Dec. 24, 1735, and ending May 25, 1739. In a letter dated July 27, 1737, Hanmer mentions his conjectural reading ‘truss’ for ‘cost’ which he afterwards inserted in the text of his edition. He defends it thus: ‘when a hawk raiseth a fowl aloft and soaring upwards with it at length seizeth it in the air, she is said to truss the fowl, which I imagine is the word which the poor desponding king was made here to apply to his crown.’

NOTE IX.

v. 2. 48. The first Folio, which the later Folios copy verbatim but not literatim, reads as follows :

‘Oh farewell Warwicke.

Warw. Sweet rest his Soule :
Flye Lords, and saue your selues,
For Warwicke bids you all farewell, to meet in Heauen.’

Pope reads :

‘O farewell Warwick.

War. Sweetly rest his soul !
Fly lords and save your selves, for Warwick bids
You all farewell, to meet again in heaven.’

Capell :

‘O, farewell, Warwick !

War. Sweet rest his soul !—Fly, lords, and save yourselves ;
For Warwick bids farewell, to meet in heaven.’

Rann :

‘O, farewell, Warwick !

War. Sweet rest his soul !—
Fly, lords, and save yourselves ; Warwick bids you
All farewell—to meet in heaven.’

In his edition of 1778 Steevens followed Pope’s arrangement ; restoring, however, ‘Sweet’ for ‘Sweetly’ and omitting ‘again.’

Steevens in later editions gives :

‘O, farewell, Warwick !

War. Sweet rest to his soul !—
Fly, lords, and save yourselves ; for Warwick bids
You all farewell to meet again in heaven.’

The arrangement which we have adopted is exactly that of the Quartos. Mr Collier was the first of modern editors to introduce it in his text.

NOTE X.

v. 5. We have adhered in the stage directions as nearly as possible to the Folios, which throughout the play mark no division of the scenes, except at the end of an Act. Rowe first omitted the Exeunt. Theobald, who also continued the scene, gave Alarm. Retreat. Excursions. Both Parties go out. Re-enter King Edward, &c.

Capell first made a new scene here and, altering the relative position of the stage directions, gave Exeunt both the Armies. Sc. v. Alarums; Excursions; afterwards a Retreat. Then, Enter, as from Conquest, King Edward, &c.

Capell’s arrangement has, as usual, been followed by subsequent editors.

NOTE XI.

v. 5. 77, 78.

‘Where is that devil’s butcher,

Hard-favour’d Richard? Richard, where art thou?’

The reading we have given in the text is that of Steevens, which appears to be nearest the corresponding passage of the Quartos.

The first Folio has:

‘Where is that diuels butcher Richard?

Hard fauor’d Richard? Richard, where art thou?’

The second Folio:

‘Where is that divels butcher Richard

Hard favor’d Richard? Richard, where art thou?’

The third and fourth put a comma after the first ‘Richard,’ the third reading ‘devils,’ the fourth ‘devil’s.’ Rowe follows the Folios.

Pope has:

‘where is that Devil’s butcher,

Richard? hard-favour’d Richard, where art thou?’

Theobald:

‘where is that Devil-butcher,

Richard? hard-favour’d Richard, where art thou?’

Capell:

‘Where is that butcher, Richard?

Hard-favour’d Richard? Richard, where art thou?’

NOTE XII.

v. 6. We have retained the stage direction of the Folios ‘on the walls’ instead of adopting Capell’s alteration ‘a Room in the Tower’, as it seems likely that the mistake lies in the expression ‘another room’ which was retained from the older play, the author forgetting that he had changed the scene to the walls.

NOTE XIII.

v. 7. 25. The copy of the first Folio belonging to Lord Ellesmere has in this place ‘add’ for ‘and.’ In line 27, the same copy reads ‘tis’ for ‘kis,’ which latter is the word found so far as we know in all other copies.

NOTE XIV.

v. 7. 30. Steevens says: ‘In my copy of the second Folio, which had belonged to King Charles the First, his Majesty has erased Cla. and written King, in its stead. Shakespeare, therefore, in the catalogue of his restorers may boast a Royal name.’

The First Part of the Contention of The Two Famovs Houses of Yorke & Lancaster, with the death of the good Duke Humphrey.

*Enter at one doore, King HENRY the sixt, and HUMPHREY Duke of Suffolke.

[Sc. I.]

As by your high imperiall Maiesties command,
 I had in charge at my depart for France,
 As Procurator for your excellence,
 To marry Princes Margaret for your grace,
 So in the auncient famous Citie Towres, 5
 In presence of the Kings of France & Cyssile,
 The Dukes of Orleance, Calabar, Brittain, and Alonson.
 Seuen Earles, twelue Barons, and then the reuerend Bishops,
 I did performe my taske and was espouse,
 And now, most humbly on my bended knees, 10
 In sight of England and her royall Peeres,
 Deliuer vp my title in the Queene,
 Vnto your gracious excellence, that are the substance
 Of that great shadow I did represent:
 The happiest gift that euer Marquesse gaue, 15
 The fairest Queene that euer King possest.

King. Suffolke arise.

Welcome Queene Margaret to English Henries Court,
 The greatest shew of kindnesse yet we can bestow,

Is this kinde kisse : Oh gracious God of heauen,
Lend me a heart repleat with thankfulnessse,
For in this beautious face thou hast bestowde
A world of pleasures to my perplexed soule.

Queene. Th' excessiue loue I beare vnto your grace,
Forbids me to be lauish of my tongue,
Least I should speake more then beseemes a woman :
Let this suffice, my blisse is in your liking,
And nothing can make poore Margaret miserable,
Vnlesse the frowne of mightie Englands King.

Kin. Her lookes did wound, but now her speech doth pierce,
Louely Queene Margaret sit down by my side :
And vnckle Gloster, and you Lordly Peeres,
With one voice welcome my beloued Queene.

All. Long liue Queene Margaret, Englands happinesse.

Queene. We thanke you all.

 For either thou or I will be Protector.

Exet Buckingham and Somerset.

Salsb. Pride went before, Ambition follows after.
 Whilst these do seeke their owne preferments thus, 115
 My Lords let vs seeke for our Countries good,
 Oft haue I seene this haughtie Cardinall
 Swear, and forswear himselfe, and braue it out,
 More like a Ruffin then a man of Church.
 Cosin Yorke, the victories thou hast wonne, 120
 In Ireland, Normandie, and in France,
 Hath wonne thee immortall praise in England.
 And thou braue Warwicke, my thrice valiant sonne,
 Thy simple plainnesse and thy house-keeping,
 Hath wonne thee credit amongst the common sort, 125

The reuerence of mine age, and Neuels name,
Is of no little force if I command,
Then let vs ioyne all three in one for this,
That good Duke Humphrey may his state possesse,
But wherefore weepes Warwicke my noble sonne.

130

Warw. For grieft that all is lost that Warwick won.

Sonnes. Anioy and Maine, both giuen away at once,
Why Warwick did win them, & must that then which we wonne with our swords, be giuen away with wordes.

Yorke. As I haue read, our Kinges of England were woont to haue large dowries with their wiues, but our King Henry giues away his owne.

135

Sals. Come sonnes away and looke vnto the maine.

War. Vnto the Maine, Oh father Maine is lost,
Which Warwicke by maine force did win from France,
Maine chance father you meant, but I meant Maine,
Which I will win from France, or else be slaine.

140

Exet Salsbury and Warwicke.

Yorke. Anioy and Maine, both giuen vnto the French,
Cold newes for me, for I had hope of France,
Euen as I haue of fertill England.

145

A day will come when Yorke shall claime his owne,
And therefore I will take the Neuels parts,
And make a show of loue to proud Duke Humphrey:
And when I spie aduantage, claime the Crowne,
For thats the golden marke I seeke to hit:

150

Nor shall proud Lancaster vsurpe my right,
Nor hold the scepter in his childish fist,
Nor weare the Diademe vpon his head,
Whose church-like humours fits not for a Crowne:

Then Yorke be still a while till time do serue,
Watch thou, and wake when others be a sleepe,
To prie into the secrets of the state,
Till Henry surfeiting in ioyes of loue,

155

With his new bride, and Englands dear bought queene,
And Humphrey with the Peeres be falne at iarres,
Then will I raise aloft the milke-white Rose,

160

With whose sweete smell the aire shall be perfumde,
And in my Standard beare the Armes of Yorke,
To graffle with the House of Lancaster:

And force perforce, ile make him yeeld the Crowne,
Whose bookish rule hath puld faire England downe.

Exet Yorke.

Enter Duke Humphrey, and Dame Ellanor,
Cobham his wife.

Elnor. Why droopes my Lord like ouer ripened corne,
Hanging the head at Cearies plentious load,
What seest thou Duke Humphrey King Henries Crowne?
Reach at it, and if thine arme be too short,
Mine shall lengthen it. Art not thou a Prince, 5
Vnckle to the King, and his Protector?
Then what shouldst thou lacke that might content thy minde.

Humph. My louely Nell, far be it from my heart,
To thinke of Treasons gainst my soueraigne Lord,
But I was troubled with a dreame to night, 10
And God I pray, it do betide no ill.

Elnor. What drempt my Lord. Good Humphrey tell it me,
And ile interpret it, and when thats done,
Ile tell thee then, what I did dreame to night.

Humphrey. This night when I was laid in bed, I dreampt that 15
This my staffe mine Office badge in Court,
Was broke in two, and on the ends were plac'd,
The heads of the Cardinall of Winchester,
And William de la Poule first Duke of Suffolke.

Elnor. Tush my Lord, this signifies nought but this, 20
That he that breakes a sticke of Glosters groue,
Shall for th' offence, make forfeit of his head.
But now my Lord, Ile tell you what I dreampt,
Me thought I was in the Cathedrall Church
At Westminster, and seated in the chaire 25
Where Kings and Queenes are crownde, and at my feete
Henry and Margaret with a Crowne of gold Stood readie to set it on my Princely head.

Humphrey. Fie Nell. Ambitious woman as thou art, 30
Art thou not second woman in this land,
And the Protectors wife belou'd of him,
And wilt thou still be hammering treason thus,

Ile keepe to my selfe, and not be rated thus.

Humphrey. Nay Nell, Ile giue no credit to a dreame,
But I would haue thee to thinke on no such things.

Enters a Messenger.

Messenger. And it please your grace, the King and Queene to morrow morning will ride a hawking to Saint Albones, 40 and craues your company along with them.

Humphrey. With all my heart, I will attend his grace :
Come Nell, thou wilt go with vs vs I am sure.

Exet Humphrey.

Elnor. Ile come after you, for I cannot go before,

But ere it be long, Ile go before them all,

45

Despight of all that seeke to crosse me thus,

Who is within there?

Enter sir John Hum.

What sir John Hum, what newes with you?

Sir John. Iesus preserue your Maiestie.

Elnor. My Maiestie. Why man I am but grace.

Ser John. I, but by the grace of God & Hums aduise,
Your graces state shall be aduanst ere long.

Elnor. What hast thou conferd with Margery Iordaine, the cunning Witch of Ely, with Roger Bullingbrooke and the rest, and will they vndertake to do me good?

55

Sir John. I haue Madame, and they haue promised me to raise a Spirite from depth of vnder grounde, that shall tell your grace all questions you demaund.

Elnor. Thanks good sir John. Some two daies hence I gesse
Will fit our time, then see that they be here :

Exet Elnor.

Sir Iohn. Now sir Iohn Hum, No words but mum.
Seale vp your lips, for you must silent be,
These gifts ere long will make me mightie rich,
The Duches she thinks now that all is well,
But I haue gold comes from another place,
From one that hyred me to set her on,
To plot these Treasons gainst the King and Peeres,
And that is the mightie Duke of Suffolke.
For he it is, but I must not say so,
That by my meanes must worke the Duches fall,
Who now by Cuniurations thinkes to rise.
But whist sir Iohn, no more of that I trow,
For feare you lose your head before you goe.

[Sc. III.]

Enter two Petitioners, and Peter the Armourers man.

1. Peti. Come sirs let vs linger here abouts a while,
Vntil my Lord Protector come this way,
That we may show his grace our seuerall causes.
* 2. Peti. I pray God saue the good Duke Humphries life,
For but for him a many were vndone,
That cannot get no succour in the Court,
But see where he comes with the Queene.

Enter the Duke of Suffolke with the Queene, and they take him for Duke Humphrey, and giues him their writings.

1. Peti. Oh we are vndone, this is the Duke of Suffolke.
Queene. Now good-fellowes, whom would you speak withall?
2. Peti. If it please your Maiestie, with my Lord Protector's
Grace.
Queene. Are your sutes to his grace. Let vs see them first,

Suffolke. Hath he stole thy wife, thats some iniury indeed.
But what say you?

Peter Thump. Marry sir I come to tel you that my maister said, 20 that the Duke of Yorke was true heire vnto the Crowne, and that the King was an vsurer.

Queene. An vsurper thou wouldst say.

Peter. I forsooth an vsurper.

Queene. Didst thou say the King was an vsurper? 25

Peter. No forsooth, I saide my maister saide so, th' other day, when we were scowring the Duke of Yorks Armour in our garret.

Suffolke. I marry this is something like,
Whose within there? 30

Enter one or two.

Sirra take in this fellow and keepe him close,
And send out a Purseuant for his maister straight,
Weele here more of this before the King.

Exet with the Armourers man.

Now sir what yours? Let me see it,
Whats here? 35

A complaint against the Duke of Suffolke for enclosing the commons of long Melford.

How now sir knaue.

1. Peti. I beseech your grace to pardon me, me, I am but a Messenger for the whole town-ship. 40

He teares the papers.

Suffolke. So now show your petitions to Duke Humphrey.
Villaines get you gone and come not neare the Court,
Dare these pesants write against me thus.

Exet Petitioners.

Queene. My Lord of Suffolke, you may see by this,

 So will I in England worke your full content :
 And as for proud Duke Humphrey and his wife,
 I haue set lime-twigs that will intangle them,
 As that your grace ere long shall vnderstand.
 But staie Madame, here comes the King.

65

Enter King Henry, and the Duke of Yorke and the Duke of Somerset on both sides of the King, whispering with him, and enter Duke Humphrey, Dame Elnor, the Duke of Buckingham, the Earle of Salsbury, the Earle of Warwicke, and the Cardinall of Winchester.

King. My Lords I care not who be Regent in France, or York, 70 or Somerset, alls wonne to me.

Yorke. My Lord, if Yorke haue ill demeande himselfe,
 Let Somerset enioy his place and go to France.

Somerset. Then whom your grace thinke worthie, let him go,
 And there be made the Regent ouer the French.

War. The Cardinals not my better in the field.

Buc. All in this place are thy betters farre. 80

War. And Warwicke may liue to be the best of all.

Queene. My Lord in mine opinion, it were best that Somerset were Regent ouer France.

Humphrey. Madame onr King is old inough himselfe,
To giue his answeare without your consent. 85

Queene. If he be old inough, what needs your grace
To be Protector ouer him so long.

Humphrey. Madame I am but Protector ouer the land,
And when it please his grace, I will resigne my charge.

Suffolke. Resigne it then, for since that thou wast King,
As who is King but thee. The common state 90

Doth as we see, all wholly go to wracke,
And Millions of treasure hath bene spent,
And as for the Regentship of France,

I say Somerset is more worthie then Yorke. 95

Yorke. Ile tell thee Suffolke why I am not worthie,
Because I cannot flatter as thou canst.

War. And yet the worthie deeds that York hath done,
Should make him worthie to be honoured here.

Suffolke. Peace headstrong Warwicke. 100

War. Image of pride, wherefore should I peace?

Suffolke. Because here is a man accusde of Treason,
Pray God the Duke of Yorke do cleare himselfe.
Ho, bring hither the Armourer and his man.

Enter the Armourer and his man,

If it please your grace, this fellow here, hath accused his maister of 105 high Treason, And his words were these.

That the Duke of Yorke was lawfull heire vnto the Crowne, and that your grace was an vsurper.

Yorke. I beseech your grace let him haue what punishment the law will afford, for his villany. 110 matter, God is my wisse, I am falsly accused by this villain (here.

Peter. Tis no matter for that, you did say so. 115

Yorke. I beseech your grace, let him haue the law.

Armour. Alasse my Lord, hang me if euer I spake the words, my accuser is my prentise, & when I did correct him for his fault the other day, he did vow upon his knees that he would be euen with me, I haue good wisse of this, and therefore 120
I beseech your Maiestie do not cast away an honest man for a villaines accusation.

King. Vnckle Gloster, what do you thinke of this?

Humphrey. The law my Lord is this by case, it rests suspitious,
That a day of combat be appointed, 125
And there to trie each others right or wrong,
Which shall be on the thirtith of this month,
With Eben staues, and Standbags combatting
In Smythfield, before your Royall Maiestie.

Exet Humphrey.

Armour. And I accept the Combat willingly. 130

Peter. Alasse my Lord, I am not able to fight.

Suffolke. You must either fight sirra or else be hangde :
Go take them hence againe to prison. Exet with them.

The Queene lets fall her gloue, and hits the Duches of Gloster, a boxe on the eare.

Queene. Giue me my gloue. Why Minion can you not see?
She strikes her.

I cry you mercy Madame, I did mistake, 135
I did not thinke it had bene you.

Elnor. Did you not proud French-woman,
Could I come neare your daintie vissage with my nayles,
Ide set my ten commandments in your face.

King. Be patient gentle Aunt. 140
It was against her will.

Elnor. Against her will. Good King sheele dandle thee,
If thou wilt alwaies thus be rulde by her.

Exet Elnor.

King. Beleeue me my loue, thou wart much to blame,
I would not for a thousand pounds of gold,
My noble vnckle had bene here in place.

Enter Duke Humphrey.

But see where he comes, I am glad he met her not.
Vnckle Gloster, what answere makes your grace
Concerning our Regent for the Realme of France, Whom thinks your grace is meetest for to send.

150

Humphrey. My gracious Lord, then this is my resolute,
For that these words the Armourer should speake,
Doth breed suspition on the part of Yorke,
Let Somerset be Regent ouer the French,
Till trials made, and Yorke may cleare himselfe.

155

King. Then be it so my Lord of Somerset.
We make your grace Regent ouer the French,
And to defend our rights gainst forraine foes,
And so do good vnto the Realme of France.
Make hast my Lord, tis time that you were gone,
The time of Truse I thinke is full expirde.

160

Somerset. I humbly thanke your royall Maiestie,
And take my leaue to poste with speed to France.

Exet Somerset.

King. Come vnckle Gloster, now lets haue our horse,
For we will to Saint Albones presently,
Madame your Hawke they say, is swift of flight,
And we will trie how she will flie to day. Exet omnes.

Enter Elnor, with sir John Hum, Koger Bullenbrooke a Coniurer, [SC. IV.]
and Margery Iourdain a Witch.

Elnor. Here sir John, take this scrole of paper here,
Wherein is writ the questions you shall aske,
And I will stand vpon this Tower here,

And here the spirit what it saies to you,
And to my questions, write the answers downe.

She goes vp to the Tower.

Sir Iohn. Now sirs begin and cast your spels about,
And charme the fiendes for to obey your wils,
And tell Dame Enlor of the thing she askes.

Witch. Then Roger Bullinbrooke about thy taske,
And frame a Cirkle here vpon the earth,
Whilst I thereon all prostrate on my face,
Do talke and whisper with the diuels be low,
And coniure them for to obey my will.

10

She lies downe vpon her face.

Bullenbrooke makes a Cirkle.

Bullen. Darke Night, dread Night, the silence of the Night.
Wherein the Furies maske in hellish troupes,
Send vp I charge you from Sosetus lake,
The spirit Askalon to come to me,
To pierce the bowels of this Centricke earth,
And hither come in twinkling of an eye,
Askalon, Assenda, Assenda.

20

It thunders and lightens, and then the spirit riseth vp.

Spirit. Now Bullenbrooke what wouldst thou haue me do?

Bullen. First of the King, what shall become of him?

Spirit. The Duke yet liues that Henry shall depose,
But him out liue, and dye a violent death.

Bullen. What fate awayt the Duke of Suffolke.

25

Spirit. By water shall he die and take his ende.

Bullen. What shall betide the Duke of Somerset?

Spirit. Let him shun Castles, safer shall he be vpon the sandie plaines, then where Castles mounted stand.

Now question me no more, for I must hence againe.

30

He sinkes downe againe.

Bullen. Then downe I say, vnto the damned poule.
Where Pluto in his frie Waggon sits.
Ryding amidst the singde and parched smoakes,
The Rode of Dytas by the Riuer Stykes,
There howle and burne for euer in those flames,

[Sc. iv.]

Enter the Duke of Yorke, and the Duke of Buckingham, and others.

Yorke. Come sirs, laie hands on them, and bind them sure,
 This time was well watcht. What Madame are you there?
 This will be great credit for your husband, 40
 That your are plotting Treasons thus with Cuniurers,
 The King shall haue notice of this thing.

Exet Elnor aboute.

Buc. See here my Lord what the diuell hath writ.

Yorke. Giue it me my Lord, Ile show it to the King.
 Go sirs, see them fast lockt in prison. 45

Exet with them.

Bucking. My Lord, I pray you let me go post vnto the King,
 Vnto S. Albones, to tell this newes.

Yorke. Content. Away then, about it straight.

Buck. Farewell my Lord.

Exet Buckingham. 50

Yorke. Whose within there?

Enter one.

One. My Lord.

Yorke. Sirrha, go will the Earles of Salsbury and Warwicke, to sup with me to night. Exet Yorke.

One. I will my Lord.

Exet.

Enter the King and Queene with her Hawke on her fist, and Duke Humphrey and Suffolke, and the Cardinall, as if they came from hawking. [Sc. v.]

Queene. My Lord, how did your grace like this last flight?
 But as I cast her off the winde did rise,
 And twas ten to one, old Ione had not gone out.

King. How wonderful the Lords workes are on earth,
 Euen in these silly creatures of his hands, 5
 Vnckle Gloster, how hie your Hawke did sore?
 And on a sodaine soust the Partridge downe.

 Church-men so hote. Good vnckle can you doate. 20
- Suffolke.* Why not Hauing so good a quarrell & so bad a cause.
Humphrey. As how, my Lord?
Suffolke. As you, my Lord. And it like your Lordly Lords Protectorship.
- Humphrey.* Why Suffolke, England knowes thy insolence. 25
Queene. And thy ambition Gloster.
King. Cease gentle Queene, and whet not on these furious Lordes to wrath, for blessed are the peace-makers on earth.

Card. Faith Cousin Gloster, had not your man cast off so soone, we had had more sport to day, Come with thy sword 45 and buckler.

Humphrey. Faith Priest, Ile shaue your Crowne.

Cardinall. Protector, protect thy selfe well.

King. The wind growes high, so doth your chollour Lords.

Enter one crying, A miracle, a miracle.

How now, now sirrha, what miracle is it? 50

One. And it please your grace, there is a man that came blinde to S. Albones, and hath receiued his sight at his shrine.

King. Goe fetch him hither, that wee may glorifie the Lord with him.

Enter the Maior of Saint Albones and his brethren with Musicke, bearing the man that had bene blind, betweene two in a chaire.

King. Thou happie man, giue God eternall praise, 55
For he it is, that thus hath helped thee.

Humphrey. Where wast thou borne?

Poore man. At Barwicke sir, in the North.

Humph. At Barwicke, and come thus far for helpe.

Poore man. I sir, it was told me in my sleepe, 60

That sweet saint Albones, should giue me my sight againe.

Humphrey. What art thou lame too?

Poore man. I indeed sir, God helpe me.

Humphrey. How cam'st thou lame?

Humphrey. My Maisters of saint Alboness,
Haue you not Beadles in your Towne,
And things called whippes?

Mayor. Yes my Lord, if it please your grace. 110

Humph. Then send for one presently.

Mayor. Sirrha, go fetch the Beadle hither straight.

Exit one.

Humph. Now fetch me a stoole hither by and by.
Now sirrha, If you meane to saue your selfe from whipping,
Leape me ouer this stoole and runne away. 115

Enter Beadle.

Poore man. Alasse maister I am not able to stand alone,
You go about to torture me in vaine.

Humph. Well sir, we must haue you finde your legges.
Sirrha Beadle, whip him till he leape ouer that same stoole.

Beadle. I will my Lord, come on sirrha, off with your doublet 120 quickly.

Poore man. Alas maister what shall I do, I am not able to stand.
After the Beadle hath hit him one girke, he leapes ouer
the stoole and runnes away, and they run after him, crying, A miracle, a miracle.

Humph. Amiracle, a miracle, let him be taken againe, & whipt through euery Market Towne til he comes at Barwicke where he was borne. 125

Mayor. It shall be done my Lord. Exit Mayor.

Suffolke. My Lord Protector hath done wonders to day,
He hath made the blinde to see, and halt to go.

Humph. I but you did greater wonders, when you made whole
Dukedomes flie in a day. 130

Witnessse France.

King. Haue done I say, and let me here no more of that.

Enter the Duke of Buckingham.

Hath plotted Treasons gainst the King and Peeres, [Sc. v.]
 By wichcrafts, sorceries, and cuniurings,
 Who by such meanes did raise a spirit vp,
 To tell her what hap should betide the state,
 But ere they had finisht their diuellish drift, 140
 By Yorke and my selfe they were all surprisde,
 And heres the answere the diuel did make to them.

King. First of the King, what shall become of him?

Card. Heres good stufte, how now my Lord Protector
 This newes I thinke hath turnde your weapons point, 155
 I am in doubt youle scarsly keepe your promise.

Humphrey. Forbeare ambitious Prelate to vrge my grieffe,
 And pardon me my gracious Soueraigne,
 For here I sweare vnto your Maiestie,
 That I am guiltlesse of these hainous crimes 160

Which my ambitious wife hath falsly done,
 And for she would betraie her soueraigne Lord,
 I here renounce her from my bed and boord,
 And leaue her open for the law to iudge,
 Vnlesse she cleare her selfe of this foule deed. 165

King. Come my Lords this night weele lodge in S. Albones,

The right and title of the house of Yorke,
To Englands Crowne by liniall descent. [Sc. vi.]

War. Then Yorke begin, and if thy claime be good,
The Neuils are thy subiects to command. 5

Yorke. Then thus my Lords.
Edward the third had seuen sonnes,
The first was Edward the blacke Prince,
Prince of Wales. 10

The second was Edmund of Langly,
Duke of Yorke.
The third was Lyonell Duke of Clarence.
The fourth was Iohn of Gaunt,
The Duke of Lancaster. 15

The fifth was Roger Mortemor, Earle of March.
The sixt was sir Thomas of Woodstocke,
William of Winsore was the seuenth and last.
Now, Edward the blacke Prince he died before his father, and left behinde him Richard, that afterwards was King, Crownde by 20 the name of Richard the second, and he died without an heire.
Edmund of Langly Duke of Yorke died, and left behind him two daughters, Anne and Elinor.

Lyonell Duke of Clarence died, and left behinde Alice, Anne, and Elinor, that was after married to my father, and by her I 25
claime the Crowne, as the true heire to Lyonell Duke of Clarence, the third sonne to Edward the third. Now sir. In the time of Richards raigne, Henry of Bullingbrooke, sonne and heire to Iohn of Gaunt, the Duke of Lancaster fourth sonne to Edward the third, he claimde the Crowne, deposde the Merthfull King, and 30 as both you know, in Pomphret Castle harmlesse Richard was shamefully murthered, and so by Richards death came the house of Lancaster vnto the Crowne.

Sals. Sauing your tale my Lord, as I haue heard, in the raigne of Bullenbrooke, the Duke of Yorke did claime the Crowne, and 35
but for Owin Glendor, had bene King.

Yorke. True. But so it fortunéd then, by meanes of that monstrous rebel Glendor, the noble Duke of York was done to death, and so euer since the heires of Iohn of Gaunt haue possessed the Crowne. But if the issue of the elder should sucseed before the is- 40 sue of the yonger, then am I lawfull heire vnto the kingdome.

Warwicke. What plaine proceedings can be more plaine, hee [SC. VI.]
 claimes it from Lyonel Duke of Clarence, the third sonne to Edward the third, and Henry from Iohn of Gaunt the fourth sonne.
 So that till Lyonels issue failes, his should not raigne. It failes not 45 yet, but florisheth in thee & in thy sons, braue slips of such a stock.
 Then noble father, kneele we both together, and in this priuate place, be we the first to honor him with birthright to the Crown.

Both. Long liue Richard Englands royall King.

Yorke. I thanke you both. But Lords I am not your King, vntil 50 this sword be sheathed euen in the hart blood of the house of Lancaster.

War. Then Yorke aduise thy selfe and take thy time,
 Claime thou the Crowne, and set thy standard vp,
 And in the same aduance the milke-white Rose, 55
 And then to gard it, will I rouse the Beare,
 Inuiron'd with ten thousand Ragged-staues
 To aide and helpe thee for to win thy right,
 Maugre the proudest Lord of Henries blood,
 That dares deny the right and claime of Yorke, 60
 For why my minde presageth I shall liue
 To see the noble Duke of Yorke to be a King.

Yorke. Thanks noble Warwicke, and Yorke doth hope to see,
 The Earl of Warwicke liue, to be the greatest man in England,
 but the King. Come lets goe. Exet omnes. 65

Enter King Henry, and the Queene, Duke Humphrey, the Duke of [SC. VII.]
Suffolke, and the Duke of Buckingham, the Cardinall, and Dame
Elnor Cobham, led with the Officers, and then enter to them the Duke of Yorke, and the Earles of Salsbury and Warwicke.

King. Stand forth Dame Elnor Cobham Duches of Gloster, and here the sentence pronounced against thee for these Treasons, that thou hast committed gainst vs, our States and Peeres.

First for thy hainous crimes, thou shalt two daies in London do

Elnor. Euen to my death, for I haue liued too long. 10

Exet some with Elnor.

King. Greeue not noble vnckle, but be thou glad,
In that these Treasons thus are come to light,
Least God had pourde his vengeance on thy head,
For her offences that thou heldst so deare.

Humph. Oh gracious Henry, giue me leaue awhile, 15
To leaue your grace, and to depart away,
For sorrowes teares hath gripte my aged heart,
And makes the fountaines of mine eyes to swell,
And therefore good my Lord, let me depart.

King. With all my hart good vnkle, when you please, 20
Yet ere thou goest, Humphrey resigne thy staffe,
For Henry will be no more protected,
The Lord shall be my guide both for my land and me.

Humph. My staffe, I noble Henry, my life and all.
My staffe, I yeeld as willing to be thine, 25
As erst thy noble father made it mine,
And euen as willing at thy feete I leaue it,
As others would ambitiously receiue it,
And long hereafter when I am dead and gone,
May honourable peace attend thy throne. 30

King. Vnkle Gloster, stand vp and go in peace,
No lesse beloued of vs, then when Thou weart Protector ouer my land. Exet Gloster.

Queene. Take vp the staffe, for here it ought to stand,
Where should it be, but in King Henries hand? 35

Yorke. Please it your Maiestie, this is the day
That was appointed for the combating
Between the Armourer and his man, my Lord,
And they are readie when your grace doth please.

King. Then call them forth, that they may trie their rightes. 40

Enter at one doore the Armourer and his neighbours, drinking to him so much that he is drunken, and he enters with a drum before him, and his staffe with a sand-bag fastened to it, and

Which he had thought to haue murdered wrongfully.
Come fellow, follow vs for thy reward. Exet omnis.

[SC. VII.]

75

Enter Duke Humphrey and his men, in mourning cloakes.

[SC. VIII.]

Humph. Sirrha, whats a clocke?

Seruing. Almost ten my Lord.

Humph. Then is that wofull houre hard at hand,
That my poore Lady should come by this way,
In shamefull penance wandring in the streetes,
Sweete Nell, ill can thy noble minde abrooke,
The abiect people gazing on thy face,
With enuious lookes laughing at thy shame,
That earst did follow thy proud Chariot wheeles,
When thou didst ride in tryumph through the streetes.

10

Enter Dame Elnor Cobham, bare-foote, and a white sheete about her, with a waxe candle in her hand, and verses written on her backe and pind on, and accompanied with the Sheriffes of London, and Sir John Standly, and Officers, with billes and holbards.

Seruing. My gracious Lord, see where my Lady comes,
Please it your grace, weele take her from the Sheriffes?

Humph. I charge you for your liues stir not a foote,
Nor offer once to draw a weapon here,
But let them do their office as they should.

15

Elnor. Come you my Lord to see my open shame?
Ah Gloster, now thou doest penance too,
See how the giddie people looke at thee,
Shaking their heads, and pointing at thee heere,
Go get thee gone, and hide thee from their sights,
And in thy pent vp studie rue my shame,
And ban thine enemies. Ah mine and thine.

20

Hum. Ah Nell, sweet Nell, forget this extreme grief,
And beare it patiently to ease thy heart.

Elnor. Ah Gloster teach me to forget my selfe,

 The ruthlesse flints do cut my tender feete,
 And when I start the cruell people laugh,
 And bids me be aduised how I tread, 30
 And thus with burning Tapor in my hand,
 Malde vp in shame with papers on my backe,
 Ah, Gloster, can I endure this and liue.
 Sometime ile say I am Duke Humphreys wife,
 And he a Prince, Proteſtor of the land, 35
 But so he rulde, and such a Prince he was,
 As he stood by, whilst I his forelorne Duches
 Was led with shame, and made a laughing stocke,
 To euery idle rascald follower.

Humphrey. My louely Nell, what wouldst thou haue me do? 40
 Should I attempt to rescue thee from hence,
 I should incurre the danger of the law,
 And thy disgrace would not be shadowed so.

Elnor. Be thou milde, and stir not at my disgrace,
 Vntill the axe of death hang ouer thy head, 45
 As shortly sure it will. For Suffolke he,
 The new made Duke, that may do all in all

 And impious Yorke and Bewford that false Priest,
 Haue all lymde bushes to betraie thy wings, 50
 And fie thou how thou can they will intangle thee.

Enter a Herald of Armes.

Herald. I summon your Grace, vnto his highnesse Parliament holden at saint Edmunds-Bury, the first of the next month.

Humphrey. A Parliament and our consent neuer craude
 Therein before. This is sodeine. 55
 Well, we will be there.

And doth Duke Humphrey now forsake me too?

Then let me haste from out faire Englands boundes,
Come Standly come, and let vs haste away.

75

Standly. Madam lets go vnto some house hereby,
Where you may shift your selfe before we go.

Elnor. Ah good sir Iohn, my shame cannot be hid,
Nor put away with casting off my sheete:

But come let vs go, maister Sheriffe farewell,
Thou hast but done thy office as thou shoulst.

 When euery one will giue the time of day,
 And he will neither moue nor speake to vs.
 See you not how the Commons follow him
 In troupes, crying, God saue the good Duke Humphrey, 10
 And with long life, Iesus preserue his grace,
 Honouring him as if he were their King.
 Gloster is no litle man in England,
 And if he list to stir commotions,
 Tys likely that the people will follow him. 15
 My Lord, if you imagine there is no such thing,
 Then let it passe, and call it a womans feare.
 My Lord of Suffolke, Buckingham, and Yorke,
 Disproue my Alligations if you can,
 And by your speeches, if you can reprove me, 20

 And if I had bene licenst first to speake,
 I thinke I should haue told your graces tale.
 Smooth runs the brooke whereas the streame is deepest 25
 No, no, my soueraigne, Gloster is a man
 Vnsounded yet, and full of deepe deceit.

Enter the Duke of Somerset.

King. Welcome Lord Somerset, what newes from France?

Somer. Cold newes my Lord, and this it is,
 That all your holds and Townes within those Territores 30
 Is ouercome my Lord, all is lost.

King. Cold newes indeed Lord Somerset,
 But Gods will be done.

Yorke. Cold newes for me, for I had hope of France,
 Euen as I haue of fertill England. 35

Enter Duke Humphrey.

Hum. Pardon my liege, that I haue staid so long.

Suffol. Nay, Gloster know, that thou art come too soone,
 Vnlesse thou proue more loyall then thou art,

York. Tis thought my lord, your grace tooke bribes from France,
And stopt the soldiers of their paie,
By which his Maiestie hath lost all France. 45

Humph. Is it but thought so, and who are they that thinke so?
So God helpe me, as I haue watcht the night
Euer intending good for England still,
That penie that euer I tooke from France,
Be brought against me at the iudgement day. 50
I neuer robd the soldiers of their paie,
Many a pound of mine owne propper cost
Haue I sent ouer for the soldiers wants,
Because I would not racke the needie Commons.

Car. In your Protectorship you did deuise 55
Strange torments for offenders, by which meanes
England hath bene defamde by tyrannie.

Hum. Why tis wel knowne that whilst I was protector
Pitie was all the fault that was in me,
A murtherer or foule felonous theefe, 60
That robs and murthers silly passengers,
I tortord about the rate of common law.

Suffolk. Tush my Lord, these be things of no account,
But greater matters are laid vnto your charge,
I do arrest thee on high treason here, 65
And commit thee to my good Lord Cardinall,
Vntill such time as thou canst cleare thy selfe.

King. Good vnkle obey to his arrest,
I haue no doubt but thou shalt cleare thy selfe,
My conscience tels me thou art innocent. 70

Humph. Ah gracious Henry these daies are dangerous,
And would my death might end these miseries,
And staie their moodes for good King Henries sake,
But I am made the Prologue to their plaie,
And thousands more must follow after me, 75
That dreads not yet their liues destruction.
Suffolkes hatefull tongue blabs his harts malice,
Bewfords firie eyes showes his enuious minde,

All you haue ioynd to betraie me thus : [Sc. ix.]
 And you my gracious Lady and soueraigne mistresse,
 Causelesse haue laid complaints vpon my head,
 I shall not want false witnesses inough, 85
 That so amongst you, you may haue my life.
 The Prouerbe no doubt will be well performde,
 A staffe is quickly found to beate a dog.

Suffolke. Doth he not twit our soueraigne Lady here,
 As if that she with ignomious wrong, 90
 Had sobornde or hired some to sweare against his life.

Queene. I but I can giue the loser leaue to speake.

Humph. Far truer spoke then ment, I loose indeed,
 Beshrow the winners hearts, they plaie me false.

Buck. Hele wrest the sence and keep vs here all day, 95
 My Lord of Winchester, see him sent away.

Car. Who's within there? Take in Duke Humphrey,
 And see him garded sure within my house.

Humph. O! thus King Henry casts away his crouch,
 Before his legs can beare his bodie vp, 100
 And puts his watchfull shepheard from his side,
 Whilst wolues stand snarring who shall bite him first.
 Farwell my soueraigne, long maist thou enjoy,
 Thy fathers happie daies free from annoy.

Exet Humphrey, with the Cardinals men.

King. My Lords what to your wisdoms shal seem best, 105
 Do and vndo as if our selfe were here.

Queen. What wil your highnesse leaue the Parliament?

King. I Margaret. My heart is kild with grieve,
 Where I may sit and sigh in endlesse mone, 110
 For who's a Traitor, Gloster he is none.

Exet King, Salsbury, and Warwicke.

Queene. Then sit we downe againe my Lord Cardinall, Suffolke, Buckingham, Yorke, and Somerset.
 Let vs consult of proud Duke Humphries fall.
 In mine opinion it were good he dide,
 For safetie of our King and Common-wealth. 115

- Duke Humphrey then would looke to be our King :
 And it may be by pollicie he workes, [Sc. ix.]
 To bring to passe the thing which now we doubt, 120
 The Foxe barkes not when he would steale the Lambe,
 But if we take him ere he do the deed,
 We should not question if that he should liue.
 No. Let him die, in that he is a Foxe,
 Least that in liuing he offend vs more. 125
Car. Then let him die before the Commons know,
 For feare that they do rise in Armes for him.
Yorke. Then do it sodainly my Lords.
Suffol. Let that be my Lord Cardinals charge & mine.
Car. Agreed, for hee's already kept within my house. 130
 Enter a Messenger.
Queene. How now sirrha, what newes?
Messen. Madame I bring you newes from Ireland,
 The wilde Onele my Lords, is vp in Armes,
 With troupes of Irish Kernes that vncontrold,
 Doth plant themselues within the English pale. 135
Queene. What redresse shal we haue for this my Lords?
Yorke. Twere very good that my Lord of Somerset
 That fortunate Champion were sent ouer,
 And burnes and spoiles the Country as they goe.
 To keepe in awe the stubborne Irishmen, 140
 He did so much good when he was in France.
Somer. Had Yorke bene there with all his far fetcht
 Pollices, he might haue lost as much as I.
Yorke. I, for Yorke would haue lost his life before
 That France should haue reuolted from Englands rule. 145
Somer. I so thou might'st, and yet haue gouernd worse then I.
Yorke. What worse then nought, then a shame take all.
Somer. Shame on thy selfe, that wisheth shame.
Queene. Somerset forbear, good Yorke be patient,
 And do thou take in hand to crosse the seas, 150
 With troupes of Armed men to quell the pride
 Of those ambitious Irish that rebell.

Buck. Madame I will, and leauie such a band
As soone shall ouercome those Irish Rebels, 160
But Yorke, where shall those soldiers staie for thee?

Yorke. At Bristow, I wil expect them ten daies hence.

That so soone as I am gone he may begin [Sc. ix.]
 To rise in Armes with troupes of country swaines,

 And then Duke Humphrey, he well made away, 190
 None then can stop the light to Englands Crowne,
 But Yorke can tame and headlong pull them downe.

Exet Yorke.

Then the Curtaines being drawne, Duke Humphrey is discouered [Sc. x.]
 in his bed, and two men lying on his brest and smothering him in his bed. And then enter the Duke of Suffolke to them.

Suffolk. How now sirs, what haue you dispatcht him?

One. I my Lord, hees dead I warrant you.

Suffolke. Then see the cloathes laid smooth about him still,
 That when the King comes, he may perceiue

Suffolke. Then draw the Curtaines againe and get you gone,
 And you shall haue your firme rewarde anon.

Exet murtherers.

Then enter the King and Queene, the Duke of Buckingham, and the Duke of Somerset, and the Cardinall.

King. My Lord of Suffolke go call our vnkle Gloster,
 Tell him this day we will that he do cleare himselfe. 10

Suffolke. I will my Lord. Exet Suffolke. (Gloster,

King. And good my Lords proceed no further against our vnkle

 For as the sucking childe or harmlesse lambe,

Enter Suffolke.

How now Suffolke, where's our vnkle?

Suffolke. Dead in his bed, my Lord Gloster is dead.

- King.* What doth my Lord of Suffolk bid me comfort? [Sc. x.]
 Came he euen now to sing a Rauens note,
 And thinkes he that the cherping of a Wren,
 By crying comfort through a hollow voice,
 Can satisfie my griefes, or ease my heart:
 Thou balefull messenger out of my sight, 25
 For euen in thine eye-bals murther sits,
 Yet do not goe. Come Basaliske
 And kill the silly gazer with thy lookes.
Queene. Why do you rate my Lord of Suffolke thus,
 As if that he had causde Duke Humphreys death? 30
 The Duke and I too, you know were enemies,
 And you had best say that I did murther him.
King. Ah woe is me, for wretched Glosters death.
Queene. Be woe for me more wretched then he was,
 What doest thou turne away and hide thy face? 35
 I am no loathsome leoper looke on me,
 Was I for this nigh wrackt vpon the sea,
 And thrise by aukward winds driuen back from Englands bounds,
 What might it bode, but that well foretelling
 Winds, said, seeke not a scorpions neast. 40
 Enter the Earles of Warwicke and Salisbury.
War. My Lord, the Commons like an angrie hiue of bees,
 Run vp and downe, caring not whom they sting,
 For good Duke Humphreys death, whom they report
 To be murthered by Suffolke and the Cardinall here.
King. That he is dead good Warwick, is too true, 45
 But how he died God knowes, not Henry.
War. Enter his priuie chamber my Lord and view the bodie.
 Good father staie you with the rude multitude, till I returne.

55

Suffolk. A dreadfull oth sworne with a solemne toong,
What instance giues Lord Warwicke for these words?

War. Oft haue I seene a timely parted ghost,
Of ashie semblance, pale and bloodlesse,
But loe the blood is setled in his face, 60

More better coloured then when he liu'd,
His well proportioned beard made rough and sterne,
His fingers spred abroad as one that graspt for life,
Yet was by strength surprisde, the least of these are probable,
It cannot chuse but he was murthered. 65

Queene. Suffolke and the Cardinall had him in charge,
And they I trust sir, are no murtherers.

War. I, but twas well knowne they were not his friends,
And tis well seene he found some enemies.

Card. But haue you no greater proofes then these? 70

War. Who sees a hefer dead and bleeding fresh,
And sees hard-by a butcher with an axe,
But will suspect twas he that made the slaughter?
Who findes the partridge in the puttocks neast,
But will imagine how the bird came there, 75
Although the kyte soare with vnbloodie beake?
Euen so suspitious is this Tragidie.

Queene. Are you the kyte Bewford, where's your talants?
Is Suffolke the butcher, where's his knife?

Suffolke. I weare no knife to slaughter sleeping men,
But heres a vengefull sword rusted with case,
That shall be scoured in his rankorous heart,
That slanders me with murthers crimson badge,
Say if thou dare, proud Lord of Warwickshire,
That I am guiltie in Duke Humphreys death. 80

 That they will erre from your highnesse person,
 They say by him the good Duke Humphrey died, 120
 They say by him they feare the ruine of the realme.
 And therefore if you loue your subiects weale,
 They wish you to banish him from foorth the land.

Suf. Indeed tis like the Commons rude vnpolisht hinds

 But all the honour Salsbury hath got,

Suffolke. You bad me ban, and will you bid me sease? 165
 Now by this ground that I am banisht from,
 Well could I curse away a winters night,
 And standing naked on a mountaine top,
 Where byting cold would neuer let grasse grow,
 And thinke it but a minute spent in sport. 170
Queene. No more. Sweete Suffolke hie thee hence to France,
 Or liue where thou wilt within this worlde's globe,
 Ile haue an Irish that shall finde thee out,
 And long thou shalt not staie, but ile haue thee repelde,
 Or venture to be banished my selfe. 175
 Oh let this kisse be printed in thy hand,
 That when thou seest it, thou maist thinke on me.
 Away, I say, that I may feele my grieffe,
 For it is nothing whilst thou standest here.
Suffolke. Thus is poore Suffolke ten times banished, 180
 Once by the King, but three times thrise by thee.

Enter Vawse.

- Queene.* How now, whither goes Vawse so fast?
Vawse. To signifie vnto his Maiestie,
 That Cardinall Bewford is at point of death,
 Sometimes he raues and cries as he were madde, 185
 Sometimes he cals vpon Duke Humphries Ghost,
 And whispers to his pillow as to him,

And sometime he calles to speake vnto the King,
 And I am going to certifie vnto his grace,
 That euen now he cald aloude for him. [Sc. x.]

Queene. Go then good Vawse and certifie the King 190
Exet Vawse.

Oh what is worldly pompe, all men must die,
 And woe am I for Bewfords heauie ende.
 But why mourne I for him, whilst thou art here?
 Sweete Suffolke hie thee hence to France,
 For if the King do come, thou sure must die. 195

Suff. And if I go I cannot liue : but here to die,
 What were it else, but like a pleasant slumber
 In thy lap?
 Here could I, could I, breath my soule into the aire,
 As milde and gentle as the new borne babe,
 That dies with mothers dugge betweene his lips,
 Where from thy sight I should be raging madde,
 And call for thee to close mine eyes,
 Or with thy lips to stop my dying soule,
 That I might breathe it so into thy bodie, 205
 And then it liu'd in sweete Elyziam,
 By thee to die, were but to die in ieast,
 From thee to die, were torment more then death,
 O let me staie, befall, what may befall. 210

Queen. Oh mightst thou staie with safetie of thy life,
 Then shouldst thou staie, but heauens deny it,
 And therefore go, but hope ere longe to be repelde.

Suff. I goe.
Queene. And take my heart with thee. 215
 She kisseth him.

Suff. A iewell lockt into the wofulst caske,
 That euer yet containde a thing of woorth,
 Thus like a splitted barke so sunder we.
 This way fall I to death. Exet Suffolke. 220

Queene. This way for me. Exet Queene.

Enter King and Salsbury, and then the Curtaines be drawne, and [Sc. XI.]
 the Cardinall is discouered in his bed, rauing and staring as if he were madde.

Car. Why died he not in his bed? 5

What would you haue me to do then?

Can I make men liue whether they will or no?

Sirra, go fetch me the strong poison which the Pothicary sent me.

Oh see where Duke Humphreys ghoast doth stand,

And stares me in the face. Looke, looke, coame downe his haire, 10

So now hees gone againe: Oh, oh, oh.

Sal. See how the panges of death doth gripe his heart.

King. Lord Cardinall, if thou diest assured of heauenly blisse,
Hold vp thy hand and make some signe to vs.

The Cardinall dies.

Oh see he dies, and makes no signe at all. 15

Oh God forgiue his soule.

Nick. But sirrha, who comes more beside Iacke Cade?

George. Why theres Dicke the Butcher, and Robin the Sadler, and Will that came a wooing to our Nan last Sunday, and Harry and Tom, and Gregory that should haue your Parnill, and a great 15 sort more is come from Rochester, and from Maydstone, and Can-

Cade. Oh hes confest, go hang him with his penny-inckhorne about his necke.

Exit one with the Clarke.

Enter Tom.

Tom. Captaine. Newes, newes, sir Humphrey Stafford and his brother are comming with the kings power, and mean to kill vs all.

Cade. Let them come, hees but a knight is he?

Tom. No, no, hees but a knight.

Cade. Why then to equall him, ile make my selfe knight.

Kneele downe Iohn Mortemer, 75

Rise vp sir Iohn Mortemer.

Is there any more of them that be Knights?

Tom. I his brother.

He Knights Dicke Butcher.

Cade. Then kneele downe Dicke Butcher,

Rise vp sir Dicke Butcher. 80

Now sound vp the Drumme.

Enter sir Humphrey Stafford and his brother, with Drumme and souldiers.

Cade. As for these silken coated slaues I passe not a pinne, Tis to you good people that I speake.

Stafford. Why country-men, what meane you thus in troopes, To follow this rebellious Traitor Cade?

Why his father was but a Brick-laier. 85

Cade. Well, and Adam was a Gardner, what then?

But I come of the Mortemers.

Stafford. I, the Duke of Yorke hath taught you that.

Cade. The Duke of York, nay, I learnt it my selfe, 90

For looke you, Roger Mortemer the Earle of March,

Married the Duke of Clarence daughter.

Stafford. Well, thats true: But what then?

All. Why then tis true.

Cade. And one of them was stolne away by a begger-woman,
And that was my father, and I am his sonne,
Deny it and you can.

Nicke. Nay looke you, I know twas true,
For his father built a chimney in my fathers house,
And the brickes are aliuie at this day to testifie.

100

Cade. But doest thou heare Stafford, tell the King, that for his fathers sake, in whose time boyes plaide at spanne-counter with Frenche Crownes, I am content that hee shall be King as long 105 as he liues Marry alwaies prouided, ile be Protector ouer him.

Stafford. O monstrous simplicitie.

Cade. And tell him, weele haue the Lorde Sayes head, and the Duke of Somersets, for deliuering vp the Dukedomes of Anioy and Mayne, and selling the Townes in France, by which meanes 110 England hath bene maimde euer since, and gone as it were with a crouch, but that my puissance held it vp. And besides, they can speake French, and therefore they are traitors.

Stafford. As how I prethie?

Cade. Why the French men are our enemies be they not? 115
And then can hee that speakes with the tongue of an enemy be a good subiect?

Answer me to that.

Stafford. Well sirrha, wilt thou yeeld thy selfe vnto the Kings mercy, and he will pardon thee and these, their outrages and rebel- 120 lious deeds?

Cade. Nay, bid the King come to me and he will, and then ile pardon him, or otherwaies ile haue his Crowne tell him, ere it be long.

Stafford. Go Herald, proclaime in all the Kings Townes, 125
That those that will forsake the Rebell Cade,
Shall haue free pardon from his Maiestie.

Exet Stafford and his men.

Cade. Come sirs, saint George for vs and Kent.

Exet omnes.

Alarums to the battaile, and sir Humphrey Stafford and his brother is slaine. Then enter Iacke
Cade againe and the rest.

[Sc. xiv.]

Cade. Sir Dicke Butcher, thou hast fought to day most valianly,
And knockt them down as if thou hadst bin in thy slaughter house.
And thus I will reward thee. The Lent shall be as long againe as it was. Thou shalt haue licence to kil for foure score & one a week.
Drumme strike vp, for now weele march to London, for to mor- 5 row I meane to sit in the Kings seate at Westminster.

Exet omnes.

Enter the King reading of a Letter, and the Queene, with the Duke of Suffolkes head, and the Lord Say, with others.

[Sc. xv.]

King. Sir Humphrey Stafford and his brother is slaine,
And the Rebels march amaine to London,
Go back to them, and tell them thus from me,
Ile come and parley with their generall.

Reade. Yet staie, ile reade the Letter one againe. 5
Lord Say, Iacke Cade hath solemnly vowde to haue thy head.

Say. I, but I hope your highnesse shall haue his.

King. How now Madam, still lamenting and mourning for Suf- folkes death, I feare my loue, if I had bene dead, thou wouldst not haue mournde so much for me. 10

Queene. No my loue, I should not mourne, but die for thee.

Enter a Messenger.

Messen. Oh flie my Lord, the Rebels are entered Southwarke, and haue almost wonne the Bridge,
Calling your grace an vsurper,
And that monstrous Rebell Cade, hath sworne 15
To Crowne himsele King in Westminster,
Therefore flie my Lord, and poste to Killingworth.

King. Go bid Buckingham and Clifford, gather
An Army vp, and meete with the Rebels.
Come Madame, let vs haste to Killingworth. 20

Come on Lord Say, go thou along with vs,
For feare the Rebelle Cade do finde thee out.

[Sc. xv.]

Say. My innocence my Lord shall pleade for me.
And therefore with your highnesse leaue, ile staie behind.

King. Euen as thou wilt my Lord Say.
Come Madame, let vs go.

25

Exet omnes.

Enter the Lord Skayles vpon the Tower walles walking.

[Sc. xvi.]

Enter three or foure Citizens below.

Lord Scayles. How now, is Iacke Cade slaine?

1. Citizen. No my Lord, nor likely to be slaine,
For they haue wonne the bridge,
Killing all those that withstand them.

The Lord Mayor craueth ayde of your honor from the Tower,
To defend the Citie from the Rebels.

Lord Scayles. Such aide as I can spare, you shall command,
But I am troubled here with them my selfe,
The Rebels haue attempted to win the Tower,
But get you to Smythfield and gather head,
And thither I will send you Mathew Goffe,
Fight for your King, your Country, and your liues,
And so farewell, for I must hence againe.

10

Exet omnes.

Enter Iacke Cade and the rest, and strikes his sword vpon London stone.

[Sc. xvii.]

Cade. Now is Mortemer Lord of this Citie,
And now sitting vpon London stone, We command,
That the first yeare of our raigne,
The pissing Cundit run nothing but red wine.
And now hence forward, it shall be treason
For any that calles me any otherwise then Lord Mortemer.

[Sc.xvii.]

Sould. Iacke Cade, Iacke Cade.

Cade. Sounes, knocke him downe. (They kill him.

Dicke. My Lords, theirs an Army gathered together

10

Into Smythfield.

Cade. Come then, lets go fight with them,

But first go on and set London Bridge a fire,

And if you can, burne downe the Tower too.

Come lets away.

Exet omnes.

15

Alarmes, and then Mathew Goffe is slaine, and all the rest with him. Then Enter Iacke Cade again, and his company.

[Sc.
xviii.]

Cade. So, sirs now go some and pull down the Sauoy,
Others to the Innes of the Court, downe with them all.

Dicke. I haue a sute vnto your Lordship.

Cade. Be it a Lordship Dicke, and thou shalt haue it
For that word.

Dicke. That we may go burne all the Records,
And that all writing may be put downe,
And nothing vsde but the score and the Tally.

Cade. Dicke it shall be so, and henceforward all things shall be in common, and in Cheapeside shall my palphrey go to grasse.
Why ist not a miserable thing, that of the skin of an innocent lamb should parchment be made, & then with a litle blotting ouer with inke, a man should vndo himselfe.

10

Some saies tis the bees that sting, but I say, tis their waxe, for I am sure I neuer seald to any thing but once, and I was neuer mine owne man since.

15

Nicke. But when shall we take vp those commodities
Which you told vs of.

Cade. Marry he that will lustily stand to it,
Shall go with me, and take vp these commodities following:
Item, a gowne, a kirtle, a petticoate, and a smocke.

Enter George.[Sc.
xviii.]

George. My Lord, a prize, a prize, heres the Lord Say,
Which sold the Townes in France.

Cade. Come hither thou Say, thou George, thou buckrum lord,
What answere canst thou make vnto my mightinesse, 25
For deliuering vp the townes in France to Mounsier bus mine cue, the Dolphin of France?

And more then so, thou hast most traitorously erected a grammer schoole, to infect the youth of the realme, and against the Kings Crowne and dignitie, thou hast built vp a paper-mill, nay it wil be 30 said to thy face, that thou kepst men in thy house that daily reades of bookes with red letters, and talkes of a Nowne and a Verbe, and such abhominable words as no Christian eare is able to endure it.
And besides all that, thou hast appointed certaine Iustises of peace 35 in euery shire to hang honest men that steale for their liuing, and because they could not reade, thou hast hung them vp: Onely for which cause they were most worthy to liue. Thou ridest on a foot-cloth doest thou not?

Say. Yes, what of that?

Cade. Marry I say, thou oughtest not to let thy horse weare a 40 cloake, when an honester man then thy selfe, goes in his hose and doublet.

Say. You men of Kent.

All. Kent, what of Kent?

Say. Nothing but bona, terra. 45

Cade. Bonum terum, sounds whats that?

Dicke. He speakes French.

Will. No tis Dutch.

Nicke. No tis outtalian, I know it well inough.

Say. Kent, in the Commentaries Cæsar wrote, 50
Termde it the ciuel'st place of all this land,
Then noble Country-men, heare me but speake,
I sold not France, I lost not Normandie.

Cade. But wherefore doest thou shake thy head so?

Say. It is the palsie and not feare that makes me. 55

Cade. Nay thou nodst thy head, as who say, thou wilt be euen [Sc. with me, if thou getst away, but ile make the sure inough, now I <sup>XVIII.</sup> haue thee. Go take him to the standerd in Cheapeside and chop of his head, and then go to milende-greene, to sir Iames Cromer his sonne in law, and cut off his head too, and bring them to me vpon 60 two poles presently. (Away with him.

Exet one or two, with the Lord Say.

There shall not a noble man weare a head on his shoulders,
But he shall paie me tribute for it.
Nor there shal not a mayd be married, but he shal fee to me for her.
Maydenhead or else, ile haue it my selfe, 65
Marry I will that married men shall hold of me in capitie,
And that their wiues shalbe as free as hart can thinke, or toong can (tell.

Enter Robin.

Robin. O Captaine, London bridge is a fire.

Cade. Runne to Billingsgate, and fetche pitch and flaxe and squench it. 70

Enter Dicke and a Sargiant.

Sargiant. Iustice, iustice, I pray you sir, let me haue iustice of this fellow here.

Cade. Why what has he done?

Sarg. Alasse sir he has rausht my wife.

Dicke. Why my Lord he would haue rested me, 75
And I went and and entred my Action in his wiues paper house.

Cade. Dicke follow thy sute in her common place,
You horson villaine, you are a Sargiant youle,
Take any man by the throate for twelue pence,
And rest a man when hees at dinner, 80
And haue him to prison ere the meate be out of his mouth.
Go Dicke take him hence, cut out his toong for cogging,
Hough him for running, and to conclude,
Braue him with his owne mace.

Exet with the Sargiant.

Enter two with the Lord Sayes head, and sir Iames
Cromers, vpon two poles.

So, come carry them before me, and at euey lanes ende, let them
kisse together. 85

Enter the Duke of Buckingham, and Lord Clifford the Earle of Comberland.

Clifford. Why country-men and warlike friends of Kent,
What meanes this mutinous rebellions,
That you in troopes do muster thus your selues,
Vnder the conduct of this Traitor Cade? 90
To rise against your soueraigne Lord and King,
Who mildly hath his pardon sent to you,
If you forsake this monstrous Rebell here?
If honour be the marke whereat you aime,
Then haste to France that our forefathers wonne, 95
And winne againe that thing which now is lost,
And leaue to seeke your Countries ouerthrow.

All. A Clifford, a Clifford.

They forsake Cade.

Cade. Why how now, will you forsake your generall,
And ancient freedome which you haue possesst? 100
To bend your neckes vnder their seruile yokes,
Who if you stir, will straightwaies hang you vp,
But follow me, and you shall pull them downe,
And make them yeeld their liuings to your hands.

All. A Cade, a Cade.

105

They runne to Cade againe.

Cliff. Braue warlike friends heare me but speak a word,
Refuse not good whilst it is offered you,
The King is mercifull, then yeeld to him,
And I my selfe will go along with you,
To Winsore Castle whereas the King abides, 110
And on mine honour you shall haue no hurt.

All. A Clifford, a Clifford, God saue the King.

Cade. How like a feather is this rascall company

But that they may see there want no valiancy in me,
My staffe shall make way through the midst of you,
And so a poxe take you all. [Sc. XVIII.]

He runs through them with his staffe, and flies away.

Buc. Go some and make after him, and proclaime,
That those that can bring the head of Cade,
Shall haue a thousand Crownes for his labour. 120
Come march away. (Exet omnes.)

Enter King Henry and the Queene, and Somerset. [Sc. XIX.]

King. Lord Somerset, what newes here you of the Rebell Cade?

Som. This, my gracious Lord, that the Lord Say is don to death,
And the Citie is almost sackt.

King. Gods will be done, for as he hath decreede, so must it be :
And be it as he please, to stop the pride of those rebellious men. 5

Queene. Had the noble Duke of Suffolke bene aliuē,
The Rebell Cade had bene suppress ere this,
And all the rest that do take part with him.

Enter the Duke of Buckingham and Clifford, with the Rebels, with halters about their necks.

Cliff. Long liue King Henry, Englands lawfull King,
Loe here my Lord, these Rebels are subdude, 10
And offer their liues before your highnesse feete.

King. But tell me Clifford, is there Captaine here.

Clif. No, my gracious Lord, he is fled away, but proclamations are sent forth, that he that can but bring his head, shall haue a thousand crownes. But may it please your Maiestie, to pardon these 15 their faults, that by that traitors meanes were thus misled.

King. Stand vp you simple men, and giue God praise,
For you did take in hand you know not what,
And go in peace obedient to your King,
And liue as subiects, and you shall not want, 20
Whilst Henry liues, and weares the English Crowne.

All. God saue the King, God saue the King.

King. Come let vs hast to London now with speed,
That solemne prosessions may be sung,
In laud and honour of the God of heauen, 25
And triumphs of this happie victorie. (Exet omnes.)

Enter Iacke Cade at one doore, and at the other, maister Alexander [Sc. xx.]

Eyden and his men, and Iack Cade lies downe picking of hearbes and eating them.

Eyden. Good Lord how pleasant is this country life,
This litle land my father left me here,
With my contented minde serues me as well,
As all the pleasures in the Court can yeeld,
Nor would I change this pleasure for the Court.

Cade. Sounes, heres the Lord of the soyle, Stand villaine, thou wilt betraie mee to the King, and get a thousand crownes for my head, but ere thou goest, ile make thee eate yron like an Astridge, and swallow my sword like a great pinne.

Eyden. Why sawcy companion, why should I betray thee?
Ist not inough that thou hast broke my hedges,
And enterd into my ground without the leaue of me the owner,
But thou wilt braue me too.

10

Cade. Braue thee and beard thee too, by the best blood of the Realme, looke on me well, I haue eate no meate this fue dayes, yet and I do not leaue thee and thy fue men as dead as a doore nayle, I pray God I may neuer eate grasse more.

15

Eyden. Nay, it neuer shall be saide whilst the world doth stand, that Alexander Eyden an Esquire of Kent, tooke oddes to combat with a famisht man, looke on me, my limmes are equall vnto thine, and every way as big, then hand to hand, ile combat thee. Sirrha fetch me weopons, and stand you all aside.

20

Cade. Now sword, if thou doest not hew this burly-bond churle into chines of beefe, I beseech God thou maist fal into some smiths hand, and be turnd to hob-nailes.

25

Eyden. Come on thy way. (They fight, and Cade fals downe.

Cade. Oh villaine, thou hast slaine the floure of Kent for chiuallrie, but it is famine & not thee that has done it, for come ten thousand diuels, and giue me but the ten meales that I wanted this fue

Exet.

Enter the Duke of Yorke with Drum and souldiers.

Yorke. In Armes from Ireland comes Yorke amaine, [Sc. XXI.]
Ring belles aloud, bonfires perfume the ayre,
To entertaine faire Englands royall King.
Ah Sancta Maiesta, who would not buy thee deare?

Enter the Duke of Buckingham.

But soft, who comes here Buckingham, what newes with him? 5

Buc. Yorke, if thou meane well, I greete thee so.

Yorke. Humphrey of Buckingham, welcome I sweare:
What comes thou in loue or as a Messenger?

Buc. I come as a Messenger from our dread Lord and soueraign, Henry. To know the reason of these Armes in peace? 10
Or that thou being a subiect as I am,
Shouldst thus approach so neare with colours spred,
Whereas the person of the King doth keepe?

Yorke. A subiect as he is.

Oh how I hate these spitefull abiect termes, 15
But Yorke dissemble, till thou meete thy sonnes,
Who now in Armes expect their fathers sight,
And not farre hence I know they cannot be.
Humphrey Duke of Buckingham, pardon me,
That I answerde not at first, my mind was troubled, 20
I came to remoue that monstrous Rebelle Cade,
And heaue proud Somerset from out the Court,
That basely yeilded vp the Townes in France.

Buc. Why that was presumption on thy behalfe,
But if it be no otherwise but so, 25
The King doth pardon thee, and granst to thy request,

[Sc. XXI.]

Yorke. Vpon thine honour is it so?

Buc. Yorke, he is vpon mine honour.

Yorke. Then before thy face, I here dismisse my troopes,
Sirs, meete me to morrow in saint Georges fields,
And there you shall receiue your paie of me.

30

Exet souldiers.

Buc. Come York, thou shalt go speake vnto the King,
But see, his grace is comming to meete with vs.

Enter King Henry.

King. How now Buckingham, is Yorke friends with vs,
That thus thou bringst him hand in hand with thee?

35

Buc. He is my Lord, and hath dischargde his troopes
Which came with him, but as your grace did say,
To heaue the Duke of Somerset from hence,
And to subdue the Rebels that were vp.

40

King. Then welcome cousin Yorke, giue me thy hand,
And thanks for thy great seruice done to vs,
Against those traitorous Irish that rebeld.

Enter maister Eyden with Iacke Cades head.

Eyden. Long liue Henry in triumphant peace,
Lo here my Lord vpon my bended knees,
I here present the traitorous head of Cade,
That hand to hand in single fight I slue.

45

King. First thanks to heauen, & next to thee my friend,
That hast subdude that wicked traitor thus.
O let me see that head that in his life,
Did worke me and my land such cruell spight,
A visage sterne, cole blacke his curled locks,
Deepe trenched furrowes in his frowning brow,
Presageth warlike humors in his life.

50

Here take it hence and thou for thy reward,
Shalt be immediatly created Knight.

55

Kneele downe my friend, and tell me whats thy name?

Eyden. Alexander Eyden, if it please your grace,
A poore Esquire of Kent.

King. Then rise vp sir Alexander Eyden knight,
And for thy maintenance, I freely giue
A thousand markes a yeare to maintaine thee,
Beside the firme reward that was proclaimde,

maintaine Q<sub>2</sub>.

For those that could performe this worthie act,
And thou shalt waight vpon the person of the king. [Sc. XXI.]
65

Eyden. I humbly thank your grace, and I no longer liue,
Then I proue iust and loyall to my king. (Exet.)

Enter the Queene with the Duke of Somerset.

King. O Buckingham see where Somerset comes,
Bid him go hide himselfe till Yorke be gone.

Queene. He shall not hide himselfe for feare of Yorke,
But beard and braue him proudly to his face. 70

Yorke. Whose that, proud Somerset at libertie?
Base fearefull Henry that thus dishonor'st me,
By heauen, thou shalt not gouerne ouer me :
I cannot brooke that Traitors presence here, 75
Nor will I subiect be to such a King,

That knowes not how to gouerne nor to rule,
Resigne thy Crowne proud Lancaster to me,
That thou vsurped hast so long by force,
For now is Yorke resolu'd to claim his owne, 80
And rise aloft into faire Englands Throane.

Somer. Proud Traitor, I arest thee on high treason,
Against thy soueraigne Lord, yeeld thee false Yorke,
For here I sweare, thou shalt vnto the Tower,
For these proud words which thou hast giuen the king. 85

Yorke. Thou art deceiued, my sonnes shalbe my baile,
And send thee there in dispight of him.
Hoe, where are you boyes?

Queene. Call Clifford hither presently.

Enter the Duke of *Yorke*s sonnes, Edward the Earle of March, and [Sc. XXII.]
crook-backe Richard, at the one doore, with Drumme and soldiers, and at the other doore, enter Clifford and his sonne, with Drumme and souldiers, and Clifford kneeles to Henry, and speakes.

Cliff. Long liue my noble Lord, and soueraigne King.

Yorke. We thank thee Clifford.

Nay, do not affright vs with thy lookes,
If thou didst mistake, we pardon thee, kneele againe.

Cliff. Why, I did no way mistake, this is my King. 5
What is he mad? to Bedlam with him.

Clif. Why doth not your grace send him to the Tower?

Queene. He is arested, but will not obey,
His sonnes he saith, shall be his baile.

Yorke. How say you boyes, will you not?

Edward. Yes noble father, if our words will serue.

Richard. And if our words will not, our swords shall.

Yorke. Call hither to the stake, my two rough beares.

King. Call Buckingham, and bid him Arme himselfe.

Yorke. Call Buckingham and all the friends thou hast,
Both thou and they, shall curse this fatall houre.

Enter at one doore, the Earles of Salsbury and Warwicke, with Drumme and souldiers. And at the other, the Duke of Buckingham, with Drumme and souldiers.

Clif. Are these thy beares? weele bayte them soone, Dispight of thee, and all the friends thou hast,

War. You had best go dreame againe,
To keepe you from the tempest of the field.

Clif. I am resolu'd to beare a greater storme,
Then any thou canst coniure vp to day,
And that ile write vpon thy Burgonet,
Might I but know thee by thy household badge.

War. Now by my fathers age, old Neuels crest,
The Rampant Beare chaind to the ragged staffe,
This day ile weare aloft my burgonet,
As on a mountaine top the Cædar showes,
That keepes his leaues in spight of any storme,
Euen to affright the with the view thereof.

Clif. And from thy burgonet will I rend the beare,
And tread him vnderfoote with all contempt,
Dispight the Beare-ward that protects him so.

Yoong Clif. And so renowned soueraigne to Armes,
To quell these Traitors and their compleases.

Richard. Fie, Charitie for shame, speake it not in spight,
For you shall sup with Iesus Christ to night.

Yoong Clif. Foule Stigmaticke thou canst not tell.

Rich. No, for if not in heauen, youle surely sup in hell.

Alarmes to the battaile, and then enter the Duke of Somerset [Sc. and Richard fighting, and Richard kills him vnder the signe of XXIII.] the Castle in saint Albones.

Rich. So Lie thou there, and breathe thy last.

Whats here, the signe of the Castle?

Then the prophesie is come to passe,

For Somerset was forewarned of Castles,

The which he alwaies did obserue.

And now behold, vnder a paltry Ale-house signe,

The Castle in saint Albones,

Somerset hath made the Wissard famous by his death.

Exet.

Alarme again, and enter the Earle of

Warwicke alone.

War. Clifford of Comberland, tis Warwicke calles,

And if thou doest not hide thee from the Beare,

10

Now whilst the angry Trompets sound Alarmes,

And dead mens cries do fill the emptie aire :

Clifford I say, come forth and fight with me,

Proud Northerne Lord, Clifford of Comberland,

Warwicke is hoarse with calling thee to Armes.

15

Clifford speakes within.

Warwicke stand still, and view the way that Clifford hewes with his murthuring Curtel-axe, through the fainting troopes to finde thee out.

Warwicke stand still, and stir not till I come.

Enter Yorke.

War. How now my Lord, what a foote?

20

Who kild your horse?

Yorke. The deadly hand of Clifford. Noble Lord,

Fiue horse this day slaine vnder me,

And yet braue Warwicke I remaine aliuie,

But I did kill his horse he lou'd so well,

25

The boniest gray that ere was bred in North.

Enter Clifford, and Warwicke offers to fight with him.

Hold Warwicke, and seeke thee out some other chase,

My selfe will hunt this deare to death.

War. Braue Lord, tis for a Crowne thou fights,

Clifford farewell, as I entend to prosper well to day,

Be this the day of doome to one of vs, XXIII.
For now my heart hath sworne immortall hate
To thee, and all the house of Lancaster. 35

Clifford. And here I stand, and pitch my foot to thine,
Vowing neuer to stir, till thou or I be slaine.
For neuer shall my heart be safe at rest,
Till I haue spoyld the hatefull house of Yorke.

Alarmes, and they fight, and Yorke kills Clifford.

Yorke. Now Lancaster sit sure, thy sinowes shrinke, 40
Come fearefull Henry grouelling on thy face,
Yeeld vp thy Crowne vnto the Prince of Yorke.

Exet Yorke.

Alarmes, then enter young Clifford alone.

Yoong Clifford. Father of Comberland,
Where may I seeke my aged father forth?
O! dismall sight, see where he breathlesse lies, 45
All smeard and weltred in his luke-warme blood,
Ah, aged pillar of all Comberlands true house,
Sweete father, to thy murthred ghoast I sweare,
Immortall hate vnto the house of Yorke,
Nor neuer shall I sleepe secure one night,
Till I haue furiously reuengde thy death,
And left not one of them to breath on earth.

He takes him vp on his backe.

And thus as old Ankyses sonne did beare
His aged father on his manly backe,
And fought with him against the bloodie Greeks, 55
Euen so will I. But staie, heres one of them,
To whom my soule hath sworne immortall hate.
Enter Richard, and then Clifford laies downe his father, fights with him, and Richard flies away againe.
Out crooktbacke villaine, get thee from my sight,
But I will after thee, and once againe
When I haue borne my father to his Tent, 60
Ile trie my fortune better with thee yet.

Alar mes againe, and then enter three or foure, bearing the Duke of Buckingham wounded to his Tent. [Sc. XXIII.]

Alar mes still, and then enter the King and Queene.

Queene. Away my Lord, and flie to London straight,
Make hast, for vengeance comes along with them,
Come stand not to expostulate, lets go.

King. Come then faire Queene, to London let vs hast,
And sommon a Parliament with speede, 65
To stop the fury of these dyre euent.

Exet King and Queene.

Alar mes, and then a flourish, and enter the Duke of Yorke and Richard.

Yorke. How now boyes, fortunate this fight hath bene,
I hope to vs and ours, for Englands good,
And our great honour, that so long we lost, 70
Whilst faint-heart Henry did vsurpe our rights:

But did you see old Salsbury, since we
With bloodie mindes did buckle with the foe,
I would not for the losse of this right hand,
That ought but well betide that good old man. 75

Rich. My Lord, I saw him in the thickest throng,
Charging his Lance with his old weary armes,
And thrise I saw him beaten from his horse,
And thrise this hand did set him vp againe,
And still he fought with courage gainst his foes, 80
The boldest sprited man that ere mine eyes beheld.

Enter Salsbbury and Warwicke.

Edward. See noble father, where they both do come,
The onely props vnto the house of Yorke.

Sals. Well hast thou fought this day, thou valiant Duke,
And thou braue bud of Yorkes encreasing house, 85
The small remainder of my weary life,
I hold for thee, for with thy warlike arme,
Three times this day thou hast preseru'd my life.

Church in Cornwall.

1594.

NOTES TO THE FIRST PART OF THE CONTENTION, &c.

NOTE I.

I. 66. The Quarto of 1594 has 'Exet' throughout this play, which is corrected in the edition of 1619 to 'Exit,' and in that of 1600 to 'Exit' or 'exeunt.' We have only recorded the corrections of 'Exet' to 'Exeunt.'

NOTE II.

II. 45—47. Instead of these lines the Quarto of 1619 has:

'As long as Gloster beares this base and humble minde:
Were I a man, and Protector as he is,
I'de reach to 'th Crowne, or make some hop headlesse.
And being but a woman, ile not behinde
For playing of my part, in spite of all that seek to crosse me thus:
Who is within there?'

NOTE III.

VI. 11—27. In the edition of 1619 this passage is so much altered that it is necessary to give it at full:

'The second was William of Hatfield,
Who dyed young.
The third was Lyonell, Duke of Clarence.
The fourth was John of Gaunt,
The Duke of Lancaster.
The fift was Edmund of Langley,
Duke of Yorke.
The sixt was William of Windsore,
Who dyed young.
The seauenth and last was Sir Thomas of Woodstocke, Duke of Yorke.
Now Edward the blacke Prince dyed before his Father, leauing behinde him two sonnes, Edward borne at Angolesme, who died young, and Richard that was after crowned King, by the name of Richard the second, who dyed without an heyre.

Lyonell Duke of Clarence dyed, and left him one only daughter, named Phillip, who was married to Edmund Mortimer earle of March and Vlster: and so by her I claime the Crowne, as the true heire to Lyonell Duke of Clarence, third sonne to Edward the third.'

NOTE IV.

XVIII. 37, 38. On the line 'Thou ridest on a foot-cloth doest thou not?' Mr Halliwell remarks, 'This passage, though completely necessary for the sense, is entirely omitted in the edition of 1619 and by Mr Knight.' It is indeed omitted by Mr Knight, who follows Steevens, but it is found in Capell's copy of the edition of 1619, 'Thou ridest on a foot-cloth, dost thou not?' We take this opportunity of remarking that, in all cases where the readings given by us from the edition of 1619 differ from those quoted by Mr Halliwell, we have given them as they stand in Capell's copy. Mr Halliwell appears to quote from Mr Knight's reprint. Instances of these variations occur in Scene III. line 6, where Steevens and Mr Knight print 'They' for 'That,' the reading of all the Quartos: in Scene IV. line 41, where they have 'treason' for 'treasons:' in Scene VII. line 3, where they have 'against' for 'gainst.' In Scene x. line 76, Mr Halliwell says the edition of 1619 reads 'with the vnbloody beake': in Capell's copy it is 'With vnbloody beake.' In xx. 16 he quotes 'Yet if I do not' as the reading of the edition of 1619 where Capell's copy has 'Yet if do not,' the former being the reading of Steevens's reprint. In xx. 28 'hand' is the reading of all the Quartos, while Steevens has 'hands.' It is possible that these variations may be found in other copies of the ed. of 1619.

NOTE V.

xx. 36. In the edition of 1594 the words which follow 'beare it' have dropped out.

The true Tragedie of Richard Duke of Yorke, and the good King
 Henry the Sixt.

Enter Richard Duke of Yorke, the Earle of Warwicke, The Duke of Norffolke, Marquis Montague, Edward Earle of March, Crookeback Richard, and the yong Earle of Rutland, with Drumme and Souldiers, with white Roses in their hats.

Warwicke.

[Sc. I.]

I wonder how the king escapt our hands.

Yorke. Whilst we pursude the horsemen of the North,

He slilie stole awaie and left his men :
 Whereat the great Lord of Northum-
 land,

Whose warlike eares could neuer brooke retrait,
 Chargde our maine battels front, and therewith him
 Lord Stafford and Lord Clifford all abrest (slain.
 Brake in and were by the hands of common Souldiers

Edw. Lord Staffords father Duke of Buckingham,
 Is either slaine or wounded dangerouslie,
 I cleft his Beuer with a downe right blow :
 Father that this is true behold his bloud.

10

Mont. And brother heeres the Earle of Wiltshires
 Bloud, whom I encountred as the battailes ioid.

Rich. Speake thou for me and tell them what I did.

15

Yorke. What is your grace dead my L. of Summerset?

Norf. Such hope haue all the line of Iohn of Gawnt.

Rich. Thus doe I hope to shape king Henries head.

War. And so do I victorious prince of Yorke, [Sc. I.]
 Before I see thee seated in that throne 20
 Which now the house of Lancaster vsurpes,
 I vow by heauens these eies shal neuer close.
 This is the pallace of that fearefull king,
 And that the regall chaire? Possesse it Yorke :
 For this is thine and not king Henries heires. 25
Yorke. Assist me then sweet Warwike, and I wil :
 For hither are we broken in by force.
Norf. Weele all assist thee, and he that flies shall die.
Yorke. Thanks gentle Norffolke. Staie by me my Lords, and souldiers staie you heere and lodge this night : 30
War. And when the king comes offer him no
 Violence, vnlesse he seek to put vs out by force.
Rich. Armde as we be, lets staie within this house?
War. The bloudie parlement shall this be calde,
 Vnlesse Plantagenet Duke of Yorke be king 35
 And bashfull Henrie be deposde, whose cowardise
 Hath made vs by-words to our enemies.
Yorke. Then leaue me not my Lords: for now I meane
 To take possession of my right.
War. Neither the king, nor him that loues him best, 40
 The proudest burd that holds vp Lancaster.
 Dares stirre a wing if Warwike shake his bels.
 Ile plant Plantagenet: and root him out who dares?
 Resolue thee Richard: Claime the English crowne.

Enter king Henrie the sixt, with the Duke of Excester,
 The Earle of Northumberland, the Earle of Westmerland and Clifford, the Earle of Cumberland, with red Roses in their hats.

King. Looke Lordings where the sturdy rebel sits, 45
 Euen in the chaire of state: belike he meanes
 Backt by the power of Warwike that false peere,
 To aspire vnto the crowne, and raigne as king.
 Earle of Northumberland, he slew thy father.
 And thine Clifford: and you both haue vow'd reuenge, 50
 On him, his sonnes, his faourites, and his friends.
Northu. And if I be not, heauens be reuengd on me.
Clif. The hope thereof, makes Clifford mourn in steel.

West. What? shall we suffer this, lets pull him downe. [Sc. I.]
 My hart for anger breakes, I cannot speake. 55
King. Be patient gentle Earle of Westmerland.
Clif. Patience is for pultrouns such as he
 He durst not sit there had your father liu'd?
 My gracious Lord: here in the Parlement,
 Let vs assaile the familie of Yorke. 60
North. Well hast thou spoken cosen, be it so.
King. O know you not the Cittie faoures them,
 And they haue troopes of soldiers at their becke?
Exet. But when the D. is slaine, theile quicklie fie.
King. Far be it from the thoughtes of Henries hart, 65
 To make a shambles of the parlement house.
 Cosen of Exeter, words, frownes, and threats,
 Shall be the warres that Henrie meanes to vse.
 Thou factious duke of Yorke, descend my throne,
 I am thy soueraigne. 70
York. Thou art deceiu'd: I am thine. (York.
Exet. For shame come downe he made thee D. of York. Twas mine inheritance as the kingdome is.
Exet. Thy father was a traytor to the crowne.
War. Exeter thou art a traitor to the crowne. 75
 In following this vsurping Henry.
Clif. Whom should he follow but his naturall king.
War. True Clif. and that is Richard Duke of Yorke.
King. And shall I stande while thou sittest in my throne? 80
York. Content thy selfe it must and shall be so.
War. Be Duke of Lancaster, let him be king.
West. Why? he is both king & Duke of Lancaster,
 And that the Earle of Westmerland shall mainetaine.
War. And Warwike shall disproue it. You forget 85
 That we are those that chaste you from the field
 And slew your father, and with colours spred,
 Marcht through the Cittie to the pallas gates.
Nor. No Warwike I remember it to my grieffe,
 And by his soule thou and thy house shall rew it. 90
West. Plantagenet of thee and of thy sonnes,
 Thy kinsmen and thy friendes, Ile haue more liues,

 As shall reueng his death before I stirre. 95
- War.* Poore Clifford, how I skorn thy worthles threats
York. Wil ye we shew our title to the crowne,
 Or else our swords shall plead it in the field?
- King.* What title haste thou traitor to the Crowne?
 Thy father was as thou art Duke of Yorke, 100
 Thy grandfather Roger Mortimer earle of March,
 I am the sonne of Henrie the Fift who tamde the French,
 And made the Dolphin stoope, and seazd vpon their Townes and prouinces.
- War.* Talke not of France since thou hast lost it all. 105
King. The Lord protector lost it and not I,
 When I was crownd I was but nine months old.
- Rich.* You are olde enough now and yet me thinkes you lose,
 Father teare the Crowne from the Vsurpers head.
- Edw.* Do so sweet father, set it on your head. 110
Mont. Good brother as thou lou'st & honorst armes, Lets fight it out and not stand cauilling thus.
- Rich.* Sound drums and trumpets & the king will fly.
York. Peace sonnes:
Northum. Peace thou and giue king Henry leauē to speake. (me? 115
- King.* Ah Plantagenet, why seekest thou to depose
 Are we not both both Plantagenets by birth,
 And from two brothers lineallie discent?
 Suppose by right and equitie thou be king,
 Thinkst thou that I will leaue my kinglie seate 120
 Wherein my father and my grandsire sat?
 No, first shall warre vnpeople this my realme,
 I and our colours often borne in France,
 And now in England to our harts great sorrow
 Shall be my winding sheete, why faint you Lords? 125
 My titles better farre than his.

War. What then?

King. Then am I lawfull king For Richard
The second in the view of manie Lords
Resignde the Crowne to Henrie the fourth, 135
Whose heire my Father was, and I am his.

York I tell thee he rose against him being his Soueraigne, & made him to resigne the crown perforce.

War. Suppose my Lord he did it vnconstrainde,
Thinke you that were preiudiciall to the Crowne? 140

Exet. No, for he could not resigne the Crowne,
But that the next heire must succeed and raigne.

King. Art thou against vs, Duke of Exceter?

Exet. His is the right, and therefore pardon me.

King. All will reuolt from me and turne to him. 145

Northum. Plantagenet for all the claime thou laist, Thinke not king Henry shall be thus deposde?

War. Deposde he shall be in despight of thee.

North. Tush Warwike, Thou art deceiued? tis not thy Southerne powers of Essex, Suffolke, Norffolke, and of 150
Kent. that makes thee thus presumptuous and proud,
Can set the Duke vp in despight of me.

Cliff. King Henrie be thy title right or wrong,
Lord Clifford vowes to fight in thy defence.
Maie that ground gape and swallow me aliue, 155
Where I do kneele to him that slew my father.

King. O Clifford, how thy words reuiue my soule.

York. Henry of Lancaster resigne thy crowne.
What mutter you? or what conspire you Lords?

War. Doe right vnto this princelie Duke of Yorke, 160
Or I will fill the house with armed men,
Enter Souldiers.

And ouer the chaire of state where now he sits,
Wright vp his title with thy vsurping bloud.

[Sc. I.]

Exet. My Lord here comes the Queen, Ile steale away.

King. And so will I.

200

Queene. Naie staie, or else I follow thee.

King. Be patient gentle Queene, and then Ile staie.

Quee. What patience can there? ah timerous man,

Thou hast vndoone thy selfe, thy sonne, and me,

And giuen our rights vnto the house of Yorke.

205

Art thou a king and wilt be forst to yeeld?

Had I beene there, the souldiers should haue tost

Me on their launces points, before I would haue

Granted to their wils. The Duke is made

Protektor of the land: Sterne Fawconbridge

210

Commands the narrow seas. And thinkst thou then

To sseepe secure? I heere diuorce me Henry

From thy bed, vntill that Act of Parlement

Be recalde, wherein thou yeeldest to the house of Yorke.

The Northen Lords that haue forsworne thy colours,

215

Will follow mine if once they see them spred,

And spread they shall vnto thy deepe disgrace.

Come sonne, lets awaie and leaue him heere alone.

King. Staie gentle Margaret, and here me speake.

Queene. Thou hast spoke too much alreadie, therefore be still.

220

King. Gentle sonne Edwarde, wilt thou staie with me?

Quee. I, to be murdred by his enemies. Exit.

Prin. When I returne with victorie from the field,

Ile see your Grace, till then Ile follow her. Exit.

King. Poore Queene, her loue to me and to the prince

Her sonne,

Makes hir in furie thus forget hir selfe.

Reuenged maie shee be on that accursed Duke.

Come cosen of Exeter, staie thou here,

For Clifford and those Northern Lords be gone

I feare towards Wakefield, to disturbe the Duke.

230

Enter Edward, and Richard, and Montague.

Mont. But I haue reasons strong and forceable.

Enter the Duke of Yorke.

Yorke. Howe nowe sonnes what at a iarre amongst your selues?

Rich. No father, but a sweete contention, about that which concernes your selfe and vs, The crowne of England father. 5

Yorke. The crowne boy, why Henries yet aliue, And I haue sworne that he shall raigne in quiet till His death. 10

Edw. But I would breake an hundred othes to raigne one yeare.

Rich. And if it please your grace to giue me leaue, Ile shew your grace the waie to saue your oath, And dispossesse king Henrie from the crowne. 15

Yorke I prethe Dicke let me heare thy deuise.

Rich. Then thus my Lord. An oath is of no moment Being not sworne before a lawfull magistrate. Henry is none but doth vsurpe your right, And yet your grace stands bound to him by oath. 20 Then noble father resolute your selfe, And once more claime the crowne.

Yorke I, saist thou so boie? why then it shall be so. I am resolute to win the crowne, or die.

Edward, rhou shalt to Edmund Brooke Lord Cobham, With whom the Kentishmen will willinglie rise: 25

Thou cosen Montague, shalt to Norffolke straight, And bid the Duke to muster vppe his souldiers, And come to me to Wakefield presentlie.

And Richard thou to London strait shalt post, 30

And bid Richard Neuill Earle of Warwike To leaue the cittie, and with his men of warre, To meet me at Saint Albons ten daies hence.

My selfe heere in Sandall castell will prouide Both men and monie to furdur our attempts. 35

Enter sir John and sir Hugh Mortimer.

Yorke A Gods name, let them come. Cosen Monta- gue post you hence: and boies staie you with me.

Sir John and sir Hugh Mortimers mine vnclcs,
 Your welcome to Sandall in an happie houre, 45
 The armie of the Queene meanes to besiege vs.

Sir John. Shee shall not neede my Lorde, weele meete her in the field.

Yorke What with fiue thousand souldiers vnclc?

Rich. I father, with fiue hundred for a need,

A womans generall, what should you feare? 50

Yorke. Indeed, manie braue battels haue I woon

In Normandie, when as the enimie

Hath bin ten to one, and why should I now doubt

Of the like successe? I am resolu'd. Come lets goe.

Edw. Lets march awaie, I heare their drums. Exit. 55

Alarmes, and then enter the yong Earle of [Sc. III.]
Rutland and his Tutor.

Tutor. Oh flie my Lord, lets leaue the Castell,
 And flie to Wakefield straight.

Enter Clifford.

Rut. O Tutor, looke where bloudie Clifford comes.

Clif. Chaplin awaie, thy Priesthood saues thy life,

As for the brat of that accursed Duke 5

Whose father slew my father, he shall die.

 How now, what dead alreadie? or is it feare that Makes him close his eies? Ile open them.
- Rut.* So lookes the pent vp Lion on the lambe,
 And so he walkes insulting ouer his praie,
 And so he turnes againe to rend his limmes in sunder, 15
 Oh Clifford, kill me with thy sword, and
 Not with such a cruell threatning looke,
 I am too meane a subiect for thy wrath,
 Be thou reuengde on men, and let me liue.
- Clif.* In vaine thou speakest poore boy: my fathers 20
 Bloud hath stopt the passage where thy words shoulde enter.
- Rut.* Then let my fathers blood ope it againe? he is a Man, and Clifford cope with him.
- Clif.* Had I thy brethren here, their liues and thine 25
 Were not reuenge sufficient for me.
 Or should I dig vp thy forefathers graues,
 And hang their rotten coffins vp in chaines,
 It could not slake mine ire, nor ease my hart.
 The sight of anie of the house of Yorke,
 Is as a furie to torment my soule. 30
 Therefore till I root out that curssed line

 To thee I praie: Sweet Clifford pittie me.

Rut. I neuer did thee hurt, wherefore wilt thou kill mee?
- Clif.* Thy father hath.
- Rut.* But twas ere I was borne :
 Thou hast one sonne, for his sake pittie me,
 Least in reuenge thereof, sith God is iust, 40
 He be as miserablie slaine as I.
 Oh, let me liue in prison all my daies,
 And when I giue occasion for offence,

 And this thy sonnes blood cleauing to my blade,
 Shall rust vpon my weapon, till thy blood
 Congeald with his, doe make me wipe off both. Exit.

Alarmes, Enter the Duke of Yorke solus.

Yorke Ah Yorke, post to thy castell, saue thy life, 50
 The goale is lost thou house of Lancaster,
 Thrise happie chance is it for thee and thine,
 That heauen abridgde my daies and cals me hence,
 But God knowes what chance hath betide my sonnes:
 But this I know they haue demead themselues, 55
 Like men borne to renowne by life or death:
 Three times this daie came Richard to my sight,
 And cried courage Father: Victorie or death.
 And twise so oft came Edward to my view,
 With purple Faulchen painted to the hilts, 60
 In blood of those whom he had slaughtered.
 Oh harke, I heare the drums? No waie to fie:
 No waie to saue my life? And heere I staie:
 And heere my life must end.

Enter the Queene, Clifford, Northumberland, and souldiers.

Come bloudie Clifford, rough Northumberland,
 I dare your quenchesse furie to more blood:
 This is the But, and this abides your shot.

Northum. Yeeld to our mercies proud Plantagenet.

Clif. I, to such mercie as his ruthfull arme
 With downe right paiment lent vnto my father, 70
 Now Phæton hath tumbled from his carre,
 And made an euening at the noone tide pricke.

York. My ashes like the Phenix maie bring forth
 A bird that will reuenge it on you all,
 And in that hope I cast mine eies to heauen, 75
 Skorning what ere you can afflict me with:
 Why staie you Lords? what, multitudes and feare?

Clif. So cowards fight when they can fie no longer:
 So Doves doe pecke the Rauens piercing tallents:
 So desperate theeues all hopelesse of their liues, 80
 Breath out inuectiues gainst the officers.

York. Oh Clifford, yet bethinke thee once againe,
 And in thy minde orerun my former time:

51. lost thou] Q<sub>1</sub>. lost; thou Q<sub>2</sub>.
lost, thou Q<sub>3</sub>.

62. fie:] Q<sub>1</sub>. fie? Q<sub>2</sub>Q<sub>3</sub>.
 81. gainst] Q<sub>1</sub>Q<sub>2</sub>. 'gainst Q<sub>3</sub>.

And bite thy tounge that slaunderst him with cowardise,
Whose verie looke hath made thee quake ere this.

Clif. I will not bandie with thee word for word,
But buckle with thee blowes twice two for one.

Queene. Hold valiant Clifford for a thousand causes,
I would prolong the traitors life a while.

Wrath makes him death, speake thou Northumberland.

Nor. Hold Clifford, doe not honour him so much,
To pricke thy finger though to wound his hart:

What valure were it when a curre doth grin,
For one to thrust his hand betweene his teeth,
When he might spurne him with his foote awaie?

Tis warres prise to take all aduantages,
And ten to one, is no impeach in warres.

Fight and take him.

Clif. I, I, so striues the Woodcocke with the gin.

North. So doth the cunnie struggle with the net.

York. So triumphs theeues vpon their conquered
Bootie: So true men yeeld by robbers ouermatcht.

North. What will your grace haue done with him?

Queen. Braue warriors, Clifford & Northumberland
Come make him stand vpon this molehill here,

That aimde at mountaines with outstretched arme,
And parted but the shaddow with his hand.

Was it you that reuelde in our Parlement,
And made a prechment of your high descent?

Where are your messe of sonnes to backe you now?

The wanton Edward, and the lustie George?

Or where is that valiant Crookbackt prodegie?

Dickey your boy, that with his grumbling voice,

Was wont to cheare his Dad in mutinies?

Or amongst the rest, where is your darling Rutland?

Looke Yorke? I dipt this napkin in the bloud,

That valiant Clifford with his rapiers point,

Made issue from the bosome of thy boy.

And if thine eies can water for his death,

I giue thee this to drie thy cheeks withall.

Alas poore Yorke? But that I hate thee much,

 What? hath thy fierie hart so parcht thine entrailes,
 That not a teare can fall for Rutlands death?
 Thou wouldst be fcede I see to make me sport.
Yorke cannot speake, vnlesse he weare a crowne.
 A crowne for Yorke? and Lords bow low to him.
 So: hold you his hands, whilst I doe set it on.
 I, now lookes he like a king?
 This is he that tooke king Henries chaire,
 And this is he was his adopted aire.
 But how is it that great Plantagenet,
 Is crownd so soone, and broke his holie oath,
 As I bethinke me you should not be king,
 Till our Henry had shooke hands with death,
 And will you impale your head with Henries glorie,
 And rob his temples of the Diadem
 Now in his life against your holie cath?
 Oh, tis a fault too too vnardonable.
 Off with the crowne, and with the crowne his head,
 And whilst we breath, take time to doe him dead.
Clif. Thats my office for my fathers death.
Queen. Yet stay: & lets here the Orisons he makes.
York. She wolfe of France, but worse than Wolues of France:
 Whose tongue more poison'd than the Adders tooth:
 How ill beseeming is it in thy sexe,
 To triumph like an Amazonian trull
 Vpon his woes, whom Fortune captiuates?
 But that thy face is visard like, vnchanging,
 Made impudent by vse of euill deeds:
I would assaie, proud Queene, to make thee blush:
 To tell thee of whence thou art, from whom deriu'de, Twere shame enough to shame thee, wert thou not shamelesse.
 Thy father beares the type of king of Naples,

 Yet not so wealthie as an English Yeoman.
 Hath that poore Monarch taught thee to insult?
 It needes not, or it bootes thee not proud Queene,
 Vnlesse the Adage must be verifide: 160
 That beggers mounted, run their horse to death.
 Tis beautie, that oft makes women proud,
 But God he wots thy share thereof is small.
 Tis gournment, that makes them most admirde,
 The contrarie doth make thee wondred at. 165
 Tis vertue that makes them seeme deuine,
 The want thereof makes thee abhominable.
 Thou art as opposite to euerie good,
 As the Antipodes are vnto vs,
 Or as the south to the Septentrion. 170
 Oh Tygers hart wrapt in a womans hide?
 How couldst thou draine the life bloud of the childe,
 To bid the father wipe his eies withall,
 And yet be seene to beare a womans face?
 Women are milde, pittifull, and flexible, 175
 Thou indurate, sterne, rough, remorcelesse.
 Bids thou me rage? why now thou hast thy will.
 Wouldst haue me weepe? why so thou hast thy wish,
 For raging windes blowes vp a storme of teares,
 And when the rage alaies the raine begins. 180
 These teares are my sweet Rutlands obsequies,
 And euerie drop begs vengeance as it fals,
 On thee fell Clifford, and the false French woman.
North. Beshrew me but his passions moue me so,
 As hardlie can I checke mine eies from teares. 185
York. That face of his the hungrie Cannibals
 Could not haue tucht, would not haue staine with bloud
 But you are more inhumaine, more inexorable,
 O ten times more then Tygers of Arcadia.
 See ruthlesse Queene a haplesse fathers teares. 190
 This cloth thou dipts in bloud of my sweet boy,

- To dash your late decree in parliament,
 Touching king Henries heires and your succession. [Sc. iv.]
 Short tale to make, we at Saint Albons met,
 Our battles ioinde, and both sides fiercelie fought:
 But whether twas the coldnesse of the king,
 He lookt full gentlie on his warlike Queene, 90
 That robde my souldiers of their heated spleene.
 Or whether twas report of his successe,
 Or more then common feare of Cliffords rigor,
 Who thunders to his captaines bloud and death,
 I cannot tell. But to conclude with truth, 95
 Their weapons like to lightnings went and came.
 Our souldiers like the night Owles lasie flight,
 Or like an idle thresher with a flaile,
 Fel gentlie downe as if they smote their friends.
 I cheerd them vp with iustice of the cause, 100
 With promise of hie paic and great rewardes,
 But all in vaine, they had no harts to fight,
 Nor we in them no hope to win the daie,
 So that We fled. The king vnto the Queene,
 Lord George your brother, Norffolke, and my selfe, 105
 In hast, post hast, are come to ioine with you,
 For in the marches here we heard you were,
 Making another head to fight againe.
- Edw.* Thankes gentle Warwike.
 How farre hence is the Duke with his power? 110
 And when came George from Burgundie to England?
War. Some fieve miles off the Duke is with his power,
 But as for your brother he was latelie sent
 From your kind Aunt, Duches of Burgundie,
 With aide of souldiers gainst this needfull warre. 115
- Rich.* Twas ods belike, when valiant Warwike fled.
 Oft haue I heard thy praises in pursute,
 But nere till now thy scandall of retire.
- War.* Nor now my scandall Richard dost thou heare,
 For thou shalt know that this right hand of mine, 120
 Can plucke the Diadem from faint Henries head,
 And wring the awefull scepter from his fist:
 Were he as famous and as bold in warre,
 As he is famde for mildnesse, peace and praier.
- Rich.* I know it well Lord Warwike blame me not, 125

[Sc. iv.]

Tw'as loue I bare thy glories made me speake,
 But in this troublous time, whats to be done?
 Shall we go throw away our coates of steele,
 And clad our bodies in blacke mourning gownes,
 Numbring our Auemaries with our beades? 130
 Or shall we on the helmets of our foes,
 Tell our deuotion with reuengefull armes?
 If for the last, saie I, and to it Lords.

War. Why therefore Warwike came to find you out,
 And therefore comes my brother Montague. 135
 Attend me Lords, the proud insulting Queene,
 With Clifford, and the haught Northumberland,
 And of their feather manie mo proud birdes,
 Haue wrought the easie melting king like waxe.
 He sware consent to your succession, 140
 His oath inrolled in the Parliamcnt.

But now to London all the crew are gone,
 To frustrate his oath or what besides
 May make against the house of Lancaster.
 Their power I gesse them fifty thousand strong. 145
 Now if the helpe of Norfolke and my selfe,
 Can but amount to 48. thousand,
 With all the friendes that thou braue earle of March,
 Among the louing Welshmen canst procure,
 Why via, To London will we march amaine, 150
 And once againe bestride our foming steedes,
 And once againe crie charge vpon the foe,
 But neuer once againe turne backe and fie.

Rich. I, now me thinkes I heare great Warwike speake :
 Nere maie he liue to see a sunshine daie, 155
 That cries retire, when Warwike bids him stay.

Edw. Lord Warwike, on thy shoulder will I leane,
 And when thou faints, must Edward fall:
 Which perill heauen forefend.

War. No longer Earle of March, but Duke of Yorke, 160
 The next degree, is Englands royall king:
 And king of England shalt thou be proclaimde,
 In euery burrough as we passe along:
 And he that casts not vp his cap for ioie,
 Shall for the offence make forfeit of his head. 165

[Sc. iv.]

Enter a Messenger.

Mes. The Duke of Norffolke sends you word by me,
The Queene is comming with a puissant power,
And craues your companie for speedie councill.

170

War. Why then it sorts braue Lordes. Lets march away. Exeunt Omnes.

Enter the King and Queene, Prince Edward, and the Northerne Earles, with drum
and Souldiers.

[Sc. v.]

Quee. Welcome my Lord to this braue town of Yorke.
Yonders the head of that ambitious enemy,
That sought to be impaled with your crowne.
Doth not the obieft please your eie my Lord?

King. Euen as the rockes please them that feare their wracke.

Withhold reuenge deare God, tis not my fault,
Nor wittinglie haue I infringde my vow.

Clif. My gracious Lord, this too much lenitie,
And harmefull pittie must be laid aside,
To whom do Lyons cast their gentle lookes?

10

Not to the beast that would vsurpe his den.
Whose hand is that the sauage Beare doth licke?
Not his that spoiles his young before his face.
Whose scapes the lurking serpentes mortall sting?

15

Not he that sets his foot vpon her backe.
The smallest worme will turne being troden on,
And Doues will pecke, in rescue of their broode.

Ambitious Yorke did leuell at thy Crowne,
Thou smiling, while he knit his angrie browes.

He but a Duke, would haue his sonne a king,
And raise his issue like a louing sire.

20

Thou being a king blest with a goodlie sonne,
Didst giue consent to disinherit him,

Which argude thee a most vnnaturall father.
Vnreasonable creatures feed their yong,

25

And though mans face be fearefull to their eies,
Yet in protection of their tender ones,

Who hath not seene them euen with those same wings

Which they haue sometime vsde in fearefull flight, [Sc. v.]
 Make warre with him, that climes vnto their nest, 30
 Offring their owne liues in their yongs defence?
 For shame my Lord, make them your president,
 Were it not pittie that this goodlie boy,
 should lose his birth right through his fathers fault?
 And long hereafter saie vnto his child, 35
 What my great grandfather and grandsire got,
 My carelesse father fondlie gaue awaie?
 Looke on the boy and let his manlie face,
 Which promiseth successefull fortune to vs all,
 Steele thy melting thoughts, 40
 To keepe thine owne, and leaue thine owne with him.
King. Full wel hath Clifford plaid the Orator,
 Inferring arguments of mighty force.
 But tell me, didst thou neuer yet heare tell,
 That things euill got had euer bad successe, 45
 And happie euer was it for that sonne,
 Whose father for his hoording went to hell?
 I leaue my sonne my vertuous deedes behind,
 And would my father had left me no more,
 For all the rest is held at such a rate, 50
 As askes a thousand times more care to keepe,
 Then maie the present profit counteruaile.
 Ah cosen Yorke, would thy best friendes did know,
 How it doth greeue me that thy head stands there.
Quse. My Lord, this harmefull pittie makes your followers faint. 55
 You promise knighthood to your princelie sonne.
 Vnsheath your sword and straight doe dub him knight.
 Kneele downe Edward.
King. Edward Plantagenet, arise a knight,
 And learne this lesson boy, draw thy sword in right 60
Prince. My gracious father by your kingly leaue,
 Ile draw it as apparant to the crowne,
 And in that quarrel vse it to the death.
Northum. Why that is spoken like a toward prince.
 Enter a Messenger.
Mes. Royall commaunders be in readinesse, 65

 Comes Warwike backing of the Duke of Yorke.

Clif. I would your highnesse would depart the field,
 The Queene hath best successe when you are absent.

Quee. Do good my Lord, and leaue vs to our fortunes.

King. Why thats my fortune, therefore Ile stay still.

Clif. Be it with resolution then to fight. 75

Prince, Good father cheere these noble Lords, Vnsheath your sword, sweet father crie Saint George.

Clif. Pitch we our battell heere, for hence wee will not moue.

Enter the house of Yorke.

Edward. Now periurde Henrie wilt thou yelde thy crowne,

And kneele for mercie at thy soueraignes feete? 80

Queen. Go rate thy minions proud insulting boy,
 Becomes it thee to be thus malepert,
 Before thy king and lawfull soueraigne?

Edw. I am his king, and he should bend his knee,
 I was adopted heire by his consent. 85

George. Since when he hath broke his oath.
 For as we heare you that are king
 Though he doe weare the Crowne,
 Haue causde him by new act of Parleмент
 To blot our brother out, and put his owne son in. 90

Clif. And reason George. Who should succede the father but the son?

Rich. Are you their butcher?

Clif. I Crookbacke, here I stand to answeere thee, or any of your sort.

Rich. Twas you that kild yong Rutland, was it not?

Clif. Yes, and old Yorke too, and yet not satisfide. 95

Rich. For Gods sake Lords giue synald to the fight.

War. What saiest thou Henry? wilt thou yelde thy crowne?

Queen. What, long tongde War. dare you speake?

War. I, then twas my turne to flee, but now tis thine.

Cruell child-killer.

Clif. Why I kild thy father, calst thou him a child? 110

Rich. I like a villaine, and a trecherous coward,
As thou didst kill our tender brother Rutland.
But ere sunne set Ile make thee curse the deed.

Cannot be cru'd with words, therefore be still.

Rich. Then executioner vnsheath thy sword, 120
By him that made vs all I am resolu'de,
That Cliffords manhood hangs vpon his tongue.

Edw. What saist thou Henry, shall I haue my right or no?

A thousand men haue broke their fast to daie,
That nere shall dine, vnlesse thou yeeld the crowne. 125

War. If thou denie their blouds be on thy head,
For Yorke in iustice puts his armour on.

Prin. If all be right that Warwike saies is right,
There is no wrong but all things must be right.

Rich. Whosoeuer got thee, there thy mother stands, 130

Thy father beares the title of a king,

As if a channell should be calde the Sea;

Shames thou not, knowing from whence thou art de-

Riu'de, to parlie thus with Englands lawfull heires?

140

Edw. A wisp of straw were worth a thousand crowns,

To make that shamelesse callet know her selfe,

Thy husbands father reueld in the hart of France,

And tam'de the French, and made the Dolphin stoope:

And had he macht according to his state,

145

He might haue kept that glorie till this daie.

But when he tooke a begger to his bed,

And gracst thy poore sire with his bridall daie,

Then that sun-shine bred a showre for him

Which washt his fathers fortunes out of France,

150

And heapt seditions on his crowne at home.

For what hath mou'd these tumults but thy pride?

Hadst thou beene meeke, our title yet had slept?

And we in pittie of the gentle king,

Had slipt our claime vntill an other age.

155

George. But when we saw our summer brought the gaine,

And that the haruest brought vs no increase,

We set the axe to thy vsurping root,

And though the edge haue something hit our selues,

Yet know thou we will neuer cease to strike,

160

Till we haue hewne thee downe,

Or bath'd thy growing with our heated blouds.

Edw. And in this resolution, I defie thee,

Not willing anie longer conference,

Since thou deniest the gentle king to speake.

165

Sound trumpets, let our bloudie colours waue,

And either victorie or else a graue.

Quee. Staie Edward staie.

[SC. VI.]

War. Sore spent with toile as runners with the race,
I laie me downe a little while to breath,
For strokes receiude, and manie blowes repaide,
Hath robd my strong knit sinnewes of their strength,
And force perforce needes must I rest my selfe.

Enter Edward.

Edw. Smile gentle heauens or strike vngentle death,
That we maie die vnlesse we gaine the daie:
What fatall starre malignant frownes from heauen
Vpon the harmelesse line of Yorkes true house?

Enter George.

George. Come brother, come, lets to the field againe,
For yet theres hope inough to win the daie:
Then let vs backe to cheere our fainting Troupes,
Lest they retire now we haue left the field.

10

War. How now my lords: what hap, what hope of good?

Enter Richard running.

Rich. Ah Warwike, why haste thou withdrawne thy selfe?

15

Thy noble father in the thickest thronges,
Cride still for Warwike his thrise valiant son,
Vntill with thousand swords he was beset,
And manie wounds made in his aged brest,
And as he tottring sate vpon his steede,

20

He waft his hand to me and cride aloud:
Richard, commend me to my valiant sonne,
And still he cride Warwike reuenge my death,
And with those words he tumbled off his horse,
And so the noble Salsbury gaue vp the ghost.

25

War. Then let the earth be drunken with his bloud,
Ile kill my horse because I will not flie:

And here to God of heauen I make a vow,
Neuer to passe from forth this bloody field
Till I am full reuenged for his death.

30

Edw. Lord Warwike, I doe bend my knees with thine,
And in that vow now ioine my soule to thee,
Thou setter vp and puller downe of kings,
vouchsafe a gentle victorie to vs,
Or let vs die before we loose the daie:

35

George. Then let vs haste to cheere the souldiers harts,

 For yet is hope of fortune good enough.
 Brothers, giue me your hands, and let vs part
 And take our leaues vntill we meet againe,

 Now I that neuer wept, now melt in wo, 45
 To see these dire mishaps continue so.
Warwike farewell.

War. Awaie awaie, once more sweet Lords farewell.

Exeunt Omnes.

Alarmes, and then enter Richard at one dore and Clifford [Sc. VII.] at the other.

Rich. A Clifford a Clifford.

Clif. A Richard a Richard.

Rich. Now Clifford, for Yorke & young Rutlands death,
 This thirsty sword that longs to drinke thy bloud,
 Shall lop thy limmes, and slise thy cursed hart, 5
 For to reuenge the murders thou hast made.

Clif. Now Richard, I am with thee here alone,
 This is the hand that stabd thy father Yorke,
 And this the hand that slew thy brother Rutland,
 And heres the heart that triumphs in their deathes, 10
 And cheeres these hands that slew thy sire and brother,
 To execute the like vpon thy selfe,
 And so haue at thee.

Alarmes. They fight, and then enters Warwike [Sc. VIII.]
 and rescues Richard, & then exeunt omnes.

Alarime still, and then enter Henry solus.

Hen. Oh gracious God of heauen looke downe on vs,
 And set some endes to these incessant griefes,
 How like a mastlesse ship vpon the seas,
 This woful battaile doth continue still,

 Would God that I were dead so all were well,
 Or would my crowne suffice, I were content
 To yeeld it them and liue a priuate life. 10

Enter a souldier with a dead man in his armes.

Sould Il blowes the wind that profits no bodie,
 This man that I haue slaine in fight to daie, 15
 Maie be possessed of some store of crownes,
 And I will search to find them if I can,
 But stay. Me thinkes it is my fathers face,
 Oh I tis he whom I haue slaine in fight,
 From London was I prest out by the king, 20
 My father he came on the part of Yorke,
 And in this conflict I haue slaine my father:
 Oh pardon God, I knew not what I did,
 And pardon father, for I knew thee not.

Enter an other souldier with a dead man.

2. Soul. Lie there thou that foughtst with me so stoutly,
 Now let me see what store of gold thou haste, 25
 But staie, me thinkes this is no famous face:
 Oh no it is my sonne that I haue slaine in fight,
 O monstrous times begetting such euent,
 How cruel bloody, and ironious, 30
 This deadlie quarrell dailie doth beget,
 Poore boy thy father gaue thee lif too late,
 And hath bereau'de thee of thy life too sone.

King Wo aboute wo, grieffe more then common grieffe,
 Whilst Lyons warre and battaile for their dens, 35
 Poore lambs do feele the rigor of their wraths:
 The red rose and the white are on his face,
 The fatall colours of our striuing houses,
 Wither one rose, and let the other flourish,
 For if you striue, ten thousand liues must perish. 40

1. Sould. How will my mother for my fathers death,
 Take on with me and nere be satisfide?

2. Sol. How will my wife for slaughter of my son,
 Take on with me and nere be satisfide?

King. How will the people now misdeeme their king, 45
 Oh would my death their mindes could satisfie.

And as thy father and his father did,
 Giuing no foot vnto the house of Yorke,
 I and ten thousand in this wofull land,
 Had left no mourning Widdowes for our deathes,
 And thou this daie hadst kept thy throne in peace.
 For what doth cherish weedes but gentle aire?
 And what makes robbers bold but lenitie? 85
 Bootlesse are plaintes, and curelesse are my woundes,
 No waie to flie, no strength to hold our flight,
 The foe is mercillesse and will not pittie me,
 And at their hands I haue deserude no pittie.
 The aire is got into my bleeding woundes, 90
 And much effuse of bloud doth make me faint,
 Come Yorke, and Richard, Warwike and the rest,
I stabde your fathers, now come split my brest.

Enter Edward, Richard, and Warwike,
 and Souldiers.

Edw. Thus farre our fortunes keepes an vpward
 Course, and we are grast with wreathes of victorie. 95
 Some troopes pursue the bloudie minded Queene,
 That now towards Barwike doth poste amaine,
 But thinke you that Clifford is fled awaie with them?

War. No, tis impossible he should escape,
 For though before his face I speake the words, 100
 Your brother Richard markt him for the graue.
 And where so ere he be I warrant him dead.

Clifford grones and then dies.

Edw. Harke, what soule is this that takes his heauy leaue?

Rich. A deadlie grone, like life and deaths departure.

Edw. See who it is, and now the battailes ended, 105
 Friend or foe, let him be friendlie vsed.

Rich. Reuerse that doome of mercie, for tis Clifford,
 Who kild our tender brother Rutland;
 And stabd our princelie father Duke of Yorke.

War. From off the gates of Yorke fetch down the 110

That nothing sung to vs but bloud and death, 115
Now his euill boding tongue no more shall speake.

War. I thinke his vnderstanding is bereft.
Say Clifford, doost thou know who speakes to thee?
Darke cloudie death oreshades his beames of life,
And he nor sees nor heares vs what we saie. 120

Rich. Oh would he did, and so perhaps he doth,
And tis his policie that in the time of death,
He might auoid such bitter stormes as he
In his houre of death did give vnto our father.

George. Richard if thou thinkest so, vex him with eager words. 125

Rich. Clifford, aske mercie and obtaine no grace.

Edw. Clifford, repent in bootlesse penitence.

War. Clifford deuise excuses for thy fault.

George. Whilst we deuise fell tortures for thy fault.

Rich. Thou pittiedst Yorke, and I am sonne to Yorke. 130

Edw. Thou pittiedst Rutland, and I will pittie thee.

George. Wheres captaine Margaret to fence you now?

War. They mocke thee Clifford, sweare as thou wast wont.

Rich. What not an oth? Nay, then I know hees dead.
Tis hard, when Clifford cannot foord his friend an oath. 135

By this I know hees dead, and by my soule,
Would this right hand buy but an howres life,
That I in all contempt might raile at him.
Ide cut it off and with the issuing bloud,
Stifle the villaine whose instanced thirst, 140
Yorke and young Rutland could not satisfie.

War. I, but he is dead, off with the traitors head,
And reare it in the place your fathers stands.
And now to London with triumphant march,
There to be crowned Englands lawfull king. 145

From thence shall Warwike crosse the seas to France,
And aske the ladie Bona for thy Queene,
So shalt thou sinew both these landes together,
And hauing France thy friend thou needst not dread,

War. Tush thats a childish obseruation.
Richard be Duke of Gloster. Now to London.
 To see these honors in possession. Exeunt Omnes. 165
 Enter two keepers with bow and arrowes.
Keeper. Come, lets take our stands vpon this hill, [Sc. IX.]
 And by and by the deere will come this waie.
 But staie, heere comes a man, lets listen him a while.
 Enter king Henrie disguise.
Hen. From Scotland am I stolne euen of pure loue,
 And thus disguise to greet my natie land. 5
 No, Henrie no, It is no land of thine,
 No bending knee will call thee Cæsar now,
 No humble suters sues to thee for right,
 For how canst thou helpe them and not thy selfe?
Keeper. I marrie sir, here is a deere, his skin is a 10
 Keepers fee. Sirra stand close, for as I thinke,
 This is the king, king Edward hath deposde.
Hen. My Queene and sonne poore soules are gone to France, and as I heare the great commanding Warwike,
 To intreat a marriage with the ladie Bona, 15
 If this be true, poore Queene and sonne,
 Your labour is but spent in vaine,
 For Lewis is a prince soone wun with words,

 She on his left side crauing aid for Henry.

Keeper. What art thou that talkes of kings and queens?

Hen. More then I seeme, for lesse I should not be. 25
 A man at least, and more I cannot be,
 And men maie talke of kings, and why not I?

Keeper. I but thou talkest as if thou wert a king thy selfe.

Hen. Why so I am in mind though not in shew.

Keeper. And if thou be a king where is thy crowne? 30

Hen. My crowne is in my hart, not on my head.

My crowne is calde content, a crown that
 Kings doe seldome times enioy.

Keeper. And if thou be a king crownd with content, 35
 Your crowne content and you, must be content
 To go with vs vnto the officer, for as we thinke
 You are our quondam king, K. Edward hath deposde,
 And therefore we charge you in Gods name & the kings
 To go along with vs vnto the officers.

Hen. Gods name be fulfilled, your kings name be 40
 Obaide, and be you kings, command and Ile obay.

Enter king Edward, Clarence, and Gloster, Montague,
Hastings, and the Lady Gray.

K Edw. Brothers of Clarence, and of Glocester, [Sc. x.]
 This ladies husband heere sir Richard Gray,
 At the battaile of saint Albones did lose his life,
 His lands then were seized on by the conqueror.
 Her sute is now to repossesse those lands, 5
 And sith in quarrell of the house of Yorke,
 The noble gentleman did lose his life,
 In honor we cannot denie her sute.

Glo. Your highnesse shall doe well to grant it then.

K Edw I, so I will, but yet Ile make a pause. 10

Glo. I, is the winde in that doore?

Clarence, I see the Lady hath some thing to grant,

Prince Ed. And why not Queene?

War. Because thy father Henry did vsurpe,
 And thou no more art Prince then shee is Queene. 35

Ox. Then Warwike disanuls great John of Gaunt,
 That did subdue the greatest part of Spaine,
 And after John of Gaunt wise Henry the fourth,
 Whose wisdom was a mirrour to the world,
 And after this wise prince Henry the fift,
 Who with his prowesse conquered all France,
 From these our Henries lineallie descent. 40

War. Oxford, how haps that in this smooth discourse
 You told not how Henry the sixt had lost
 All that Henry the fift had gotten. 45
 Me thinkes these peeres of France should smile at that,
 But for the rest you tell a pettigree
 Of threescore and two yeares a sillie time,
 To make prescription for a kingdomes worth.

Oxf. Why Warwike, canst thou denie thy king,
 Whom thou obeyedst thirtie and eight yeeres,
 And bewray thy treasons with a blush? 50

War. Can Oxford that did euer fence the right,
 Now buckler falshood with a pettigree?
 For shame leaue Henry and call Edward king. 55

 No Warwike no, whilst life vpholds this arme
 This arme vpholds the house of Lancaster.
War. And I the house of Yorke.
K Lewes. Queene Margaret, prince Edward and Now Warwike euen vpon thy honor tell me true ;

War. The more, that Henry is vnfortunate.
Lew. What is his loue to our sister Bona?
War. Such it seemes
 As maie beseeme a monarke like himselfe. 75
 My selfe haue often heard him saie and sweare,
 That this his loue was an eternall plant,
 The root whereof was fixt in vertues ground,
 The leaues and fruite maintainde with beauties sun,

Sent from your brother Marquis Montague.

[SC. XI.]

This from our king vnto your Maiestie.

And these to you Madam, from whom I know not.

Oxf. I like it well that our faire Queene and mistresse, Smiles at her newes when Warwike frets as his.

100

P. Ed. And marke how Lewes stamps as he were nettled.

Lew. Now Margaret & Warwike, what are your news?

Queen. Mine such as fills my hart full of ioie.

War. Mine full of sorrow and harts discontent.

105

Lew. What hath your king married the Ladie Gray,

And now to excuse himselfe sends vs a post of papers?

How dares he presume to vse vs thus?

Quee. This proueth Edwards loue, & Warwiks honesty.

War. King Lewis, I here protest in sight of heauen,

110

And by the hope I haue of heauenlie blisse,

That I am cleare from this misdeed of Edwards.

No more my king, for he dishonours me,

And most himselfe, if he could see his shame.

Did I forget that by the house of Yorke,

115

My father came vntimelie to his death?

Did I let passe the abuse done to my neece?

Did I impale him with the regall Crowne,

And thrust king Henry from his natiue home,

And most vngratefull doth he vse me thus?

120

My gracious Queene pardon what is past,

And henceforth I am thy true seruitour,

I will reuenge the wrongs done to ladie Bona,

And replant Henry in his former state.

Queen. Yes Warwike I doe quite forget thy former 125

Faults, if now thou wilt become king Henries friend.

War. So much his friend, I his vnfained friend,

That if king Lewes vouchsafe to furnish vs

With some few bands of chosen souldiers,

Ile vndertake to land them on our coast,

130

And force the Tyrant from his seate by warre,

Tis not his new made bride shall succour him.

Lew. Then at the last I firmelie am resolu'd,

You shall haue aide: and English messenger returne

Enter Gloster, Hastings, and sir William Stanly.

[Sc. xiv.]

Glo. Lord Hastings, and sir William Stanly,
Know that the cause I sent for you is this.
I looke my brother with a slender traine,
Should come a hunting in this forrest heere.
The Bishop of Yorke befriends him much,
And lets him vse his pleasure in the chase,
Now I haue priuillie sent him word,
How I am come with you to rescue him,
And see where the huntsman and he doth come.

Enter Edward and a Huntsman.

Hunts This waie my Lord the deere is gone.
Edw. No this waie huntsman, see where the Keepers stand. Now brother and the rest,
What, are you prouided to depart?

10

Glo. I, I, the horse stands at the parke corner,
Come, to Linne, and so take shipping into Flanders.

15

Edw. Come then: Hastings, and Stanlie, I will Requite your loues. Bishop farewell,
Sheeld thee from Warwikes frowne,
And praie that I maie repoesse the crowne.
Now huntsman what will you doe?

20

Hunts Marrie my Lord, I thinke I had as good
Goe with you, as tarrie heere to be hangde.

Edw. Come then lets awaie with speed.

Exeunt Omnes.

Enter the Queene and the Lord Riuers.

Riuers. Tel me good maddam, why is your grace
So passionate of late?

[Sc. xv.]

Queen. Why brother Riuers, heare you not the newes,
Of that successe king Edward had of late?

Riu. What? losse of some pitcht battaile against Warwike,
Tush, feare not faire Queen, but cast those cares aside.
King Edwards noble mind his honours doth display:
And Warwike maie loose, though then he got the day.

Queen. If that were all, my griefes were at an end:
But greater troubles will I feare befall.

10

Riu. What, is he taken prisoner by the foe,

Warwick. Q<sub>3</sub>.

11. What,] Q<sub>1</sub>Q<sub>3</sub>. What? Q<sub>2</sub>.

To the danger of his royall person then?

[Sc. xv.]

Queen. I, thears my grieffe, king Edward is surprisde,
And led awaie, as prisoner vnto Yorke.

Riu. The newes is passing strange, I must confesse: 15
Yet comfort your selfe, for Edward hath more friends,
Then Lancaster at this time must perceiue,
That some will set him in his throne againe.

Queen. God grant they maie, but gentle brother come,
And let me leane vpon thine arme a while, 20
Vntill I come vnto the sanctuarie,

There to preserue the fruit within my wombe,
K. Edwards seed true heire to Englands crowne. Exit.

Enter Edward and Richard, and Hastings with a troope of Hollanders.

Edw. Thus far from Belgia haue we past the seas, 25
And marcht from Raunspur hauen vnto Yorke:
But soft the gates are shut, I like not this. [Sc. xvi.]

Rich. Sound vp the drum and call them to the wals.

Enter the Lord Maire of Yorke vpon the wals.

Mair. My Lords we had notice of your comming, 5
And thats the cause we stand vpon our garde,
And shut the gates for to preserue the towne.
Henry now is king, and we are sworne to him.

Edw. Why my Lord Maire, if Henry be your king,
Edward I am sure at least, is Duke of Yorke. 10

Mair. Truth my Lord, we know you for no lesse.

Edw. I craue nothing but my Dukedome.

Rich. But when the Fox hath gotten in his head,
Heele quicklie make the bodie follow after.

Hast. Why my Lord Maire, what stand you vpon points? 15
Open the gates, we are king Henries friends.

Mair. Saie you so, then Ile open them presentlie.

Exit Maire.

Ri. By my faith, a wise stout captain & soone perswaded.
The Maire opens the dore, and brings the keies in his hand.

Edw. So my Lord Maire, these gates must not be shut, 20
But in the time of warre, giue me the keies :

the towne and you, despite of all your foes.

[Sc. xvi.]

Enter sir Iohn Mountgommery with drumme and souldiers.

How now Richard, who is this?

Rich. Brother, this is sir Iohn Mountgommery,
A trustie friend, vnlesse I be deceiude.

25

Edw. Welcome sir Iohn. Wherefore come you in armes?

Sir Iohn. To helpe king Edward in this time of stormes,
As euerie loyall subiect ought to doe.

Edw. Thankes braue Mountgommery,
But I onlie claime my Dukedom.

30

Vntil it please God to send the rest.

Sir Iohn. Then fare you wel? Drum strike vp and let vs
March away, I came to serue a king and not a Duke.

Edw. Nay staie sir Iohn, and let vs first debate,
With what security we maie doe this thing.

35

Sir Iohn. What stand you on debating, to be briefe,
Except you presently proclaime your selfe our king,
Ile hence againe, and keepe them backe that come to Succour you, why should we fight when
You pretend no title?

40

Rich. Fie brother, fie, stand you vpon tearmes?
Resolue your selfe, and let vs claime the crowne.

Edw. I am resolute once more to claime the crowne,
And win it too, or else to loose my life.

Sir Iohn. I now my soueraigne speaketh like himselfe,
And now will I be Edwards Champion,
Sound Trumpets, for Edward shall be proclaimd.

45

Edward the fourth by the grace of God, king of England and France, and Lord of Ireland, and whosoeuer gainsaies king Edwards right: by this I challenge him to single fight, long liue Edward the fourth.

50

All. Long liue Edward the fourth.

Edw. We thanke you all. Lord Maire leade on the waie.

And then as earlie as the morning sunne,
 Liftes vp his beames about this horison [Sc. xvi.]
 Weele march to London, to meete with Warwike :
 And pull false Henry from the Regall throne.
Exeunt Omnes.

Enter Warwike and Clarence, with the Crowne, and then king Henry, and Oxford, and Summerset, and the yong Earle of Richmond.

King. Thus from the prison to this princelie seat, [Sc. xvii.]
 By Gods great mercies am I brought Againe, Clarence and Warwike doe you
 Keepe the crowne, and gouerne and protect
 My realme in peace, and I will spend the Remnant of my daies, to sinnes rebuke 5
 And my Creators praise.

War. What answeres Clarence to his soueraignes will?

Cla. Clarence agrees to what king Henry likes.

King. My Lord of Summerset, what prettie 10
 Boie is that you seeme to be so carefull of?

Sum. And it please your grace, it is yong Henry,
 Earle of Richmond.

King. Henry of Richmond, Come hither pretie Ladde. 15
 If heauenlie powers doe aime aright
 To my diuining thoughts, thou pretie boy,
 Shalt proue this Countries blisse,
 Thy head is made to weare a princelie crowne,
 Thy lookes are all repleat with Maiestie,
 Make much of him my Lords, 20
 For this is he shall helpe you more,
 Then you are hurt by me.

Enter one with a letter to Warwike.

War. What Counsell Lords, Edward from Belgia,
 With hastie Germaines and blunt Hollanders,
 Is past in safetie through the narrow seas, (London, 25

Oxf. Tis best to looke to this betimes,
For if this fire doe kindle any further,
It will be hard for vs to quench it out.

30

War. In Warwikeshire I haue true harted friends,
Not mutinous in peace, yet bold in warre,
Them will I muster vp, and thou sonne Clarence shalt
In Essex, Suffolke, Norfolke, and in Kent,
Stir vp the knights and gentlemen to come with thee.
And thou brother Montague, in Leistershire,
Buckingham and Northamptonshire shalt finde,
Men well inclinde to doe what thou commands,
And thou braue Oxford wondrous well belou'd,
Shalt in thy countries muster vp thy friends.
My soueraigne with his louing Citizens,
Shall rest in London till we come to him.
Faire Lords take leaue and stand not to replie,
Farewell my soueraigne.

35

40

King. Farewel my Hector, my Troyes true hope.

45

War. Farewell sweet Lords, lets meet at Couentrie.

All. Agreed. Exeunt Omnes.

[SC. XVIII.]

Enter Edward and his traine.

Edw. Sease on the shamefast Henry,
And once againe conuaie him to the Tower,
Awaie with him, I will not heare him speake.
And now towards Couentrie let vs bend our course
To meet with Warwike and his confederates.

Exeunt Omnes.

Enter Warwike on the walles.

[SC. XIX.]

War. Where is the post that came from valiant Oxford?
How farre hence is thy Lord my honest fellow?

Oxf post. By this at Daintrie marching hitherward.

War. Where is our brother Montague?

Where is the post that came from Montague?

Post. I left him at Donsmore with his troopes.

War. Say Summerfield where is my louing son?
And by thy gesse, how farre is Clarence hence?

Sommer. At Southam my Lord I left him with His force, and doe expect him two houres hence.

Glo. See brother, where the surly Warwike mans the wal.

War. O vnbid spight, is spotfull Edward come!

Where slept our scouts, or how are they seduste,

That we could haue no newes of their repaire?

Edw. Now Warwike wilt thou be sorrie for thy faults,
And call Edward king and he will pardon thee.

War. Naie rather wilt thou draw thy forces backe?
Confesse who set thee vp and puld thee downe?

Call Warwike patron and be penitent,
And thou shalt still remaine the Duke of Yorke.

Glo. I had thought at least he would haue said the king.
Or did he make the iest against his will.

War. Twas Warwike gaue the kingdome to thy brother.

Edw. Why then tis mine, if but by Warwikes gift.

War. I but thou art no Atlas for so great a waight,
And weakling, Warwike takes his gift againe,
Henry is my king, Warwike his subiect.

Edw. I prethe gallant Warwike tell me this,
What is the bodie when the head is off?

Glo. Alasse that Warwike had no more foresight,
But whilst he sought to steale the single ten,
The king was finelie fingerd from the decke?
You left poore Henry in the Bishops pallace,
And ten to one you'le meet him in the Tower.

Edw. Tis euen so, and yet you are olde Warwike still.

War. O cheerefull colours, see where Oxford comes.

Enter Oxford with drum and souldiers & al crie,

Oxf. Oxford, Oxford, for Lancaster. Exit.

Edw. The Gates are open, see they enter in,
Lets follow them and bid them battaile in the streetes.

Glo. No, so some other might set vpon our backes,
Weele staie till all be entered, and then follow them.

Enter Summerset with drum and souldiers.

Sum. Summerset, Summerset, for Lancaster. Exit.

Enter Montague with drum and souldiers.

Mont. Montague, Montague, for Lancaster. Exit.

Edw. Traitorous Montague, thou and thy brother
 Shall deerlie abie this rebellious act.

Enter Clarence with drum and souldiers.

War. And loe where George of Clarence sweepes 50

War. Com Clarence come, thou wilt if Warwike call. 55

Cl. Father of Warwike, know you what this meanes?

I throw mine infamie at thee,

I will not ruinate my fathers house,

Who gaue his bloud to lime the stones together,

And set vp Lancaster. Thinkest thou 60

That Clarence is so harsh vnnaturall,

To lift his sword against his brothers life,

And so proud harted Warwike I defie thee,

And to my brothers turne my blushing cheekes?

Pardon me Edward, for I haue done amisse, 65

And Richard doe not frowne vpon me,

For henceforth I will proue no more vnconstant.

Edw. Welcome Clarence, and ten times more welcome,
 Then if thou neuer hadst deserud our hate.

Glo. Welcome good Clarence, this is brotherlie. 70

War. Oh passing traytor, periurd and vniust.

Edw. Now Warwike, wilt thou leaue

Edw. Yes Warwike he dares, and leades the waie, Lords to the field, saint George and victorie.

Exeunt Omnes.

Alarmes, and then enter Warwike wounded.

War. Ah, who is nie? Come to me friend or foe,
And tell me who is victor Yorke or Warwike?

[Sc.

Why aske I that? my mangled bodie shewes,
That I must yeeld my bodie to the earth.

And by my fall the conquest to my foes,
Thus yeelds the Cedar to the axes edge,

Whose armes gaue shelter to the princelie Eagle,
Vnder whose shade the ramping Lion slept,
Whose top branch ouerpeerd Ioues spreading tree.

The wrinkles in my browes now fild with bloud,
Were likened oft to kinglie sepulchers.

10

For who liu'd king, but I could dig his graue?
And who durst smile, when Warwike bent his brow?

Lo now my glorie smeerd in dust and bloud,
My parkes, my walkes, my manners that I had,

15

Euen now forsake me, and of all my lands,
Is nothing left me but my bodies length.

Enter Oxford and Summerset.

Oxf. Ah Warwike, Warwike, cheere vp thy selfe and liue,
For yet thears hope enough to win the daie.

Our warlike Queene with troopes is come from France,

20

And at South-hampton landed all hir traine,
And mightst thou liue, then would we neuer fie.

War. Whie then I would not fie, nor haue I now,
But Hercules himselfe must yeeld to ods,

For manie wounds receiu'd, and manie moe repaid,
Hath robd my strong knit sinews of their strength,

25

And spite of spites needes must I yeeld to death.

Som. Thy brother Montague hath breathd his last,
And at the pangs of death I heard him crie

And saie, commend me to my valiant brother,
And more he would haue spoke and more he said,

[Sc. xx.]

War. What is pompe, rule, raigne, but earth and dust?

And liue we how we can, yet die we must.

Sweet rest his soule, flie Lords and saue your selues,

For Warwike bids you all farewell to meet in Heauen.

He dies.

Oxf Come noble Summerset, lets take our horse,

And cause retrait be sounded through the campe,

40

That all our friends that yet remaine aliuē,

Maie be awarn'd and saue themselues by flight.

That done, with them weele post vnto the Queene,

And once more trie our fortune in the field. Ex. ambo.

Enter Edward, Clarence, Gloster, with souldiers.

Edw. Thus still our fortune giues vs victorie,

45

And girts our temples with triumphant ioies,

The bigboond traytor Warwike hath breathde his last,

And heauen this daie hath smilde vpon vs all,

But in this cleere and brightsome daie,

I see a blacke suspitious cloud appeare

50

That will encounter with our glorious sunne

Before he gaine his easefull westerne beames,

I mean those powers which the Queen hath got in Frāce

Are landed, and meane once more to menace vs.

Glo. Oxford and Summerset are fled to hir,

55

And tis likelie if she haue time to breath,

Her faction will be full as strong as ours.

Edw. We are aduertisde by our louing friends,

That they doe hold their course towards Tewxburie.

Thither will we, for willingnes rids waie,

60

And in euerie countie as we passe along,

Our strengthes shall be augmented.

Come lets goe, for if we slacke this faire

Ex. Omnes.

Enter the Queene, Prince Edward, Oxford, and Summerset, with drum and souldiers.

Quee. Welcome to England, my louing friends of Frāce,
And welcome Summerset, and Oxford too. [Sc. XXI.]

Once more haue we spread our sailes abroad,
And though our tackling be almost consumde,
And Warwike as our maine mast ouerthrowne, 5

Yet warlike Lords raise you that sturdie post,
That beares the sailes to bring vs vnto rest,
And Ned and I as willing Pilots should
For once with carefull mindes guide on the sterne,
To beare vs through that dangerous gulfe 10
That heretofore hath swallowed vp our friends.

Prince. And if there be, as God forbid there should,
Amongst vs a timorous or fearefull man,
Let him depart before the battels ioine,
Least he in time of need intise another, 15
And so withdraw the souldiers harts from vs.

I will not stand aloofe and bid you fight,
But with my sword presse in the thickest thronges,
And single Edward from his strongest guard,
And hand to hand enforce him for to yeeld, 20
Or leaue my bodie as witness of my thoughts.

Oxf. Women and children of so high resolute,
And Warriors faint, why twere perpetuall
Shame? Oh braue yong Prince, thy
Noble grandfather doth liue againe in thee, 25
Long maiest thou liue to beare his image,
And to renew his glories.

Sum. And he that turnes and flies when such do fight,
Let him to bed, and like the Owle by daie

But here will we stand and fight it to the death.

Enter king Edward, Cla. Glo. Hast. and Souldiers.

Edw. See brothers, yonder stands the thornie wood,
Which by Gods assistance and your prowesse,
Shall with our swords yer night be cleane cut downe.

Queen. Lords, Knights & gentlemen, what I should say,
My teares gaine saie, for as you see, I drinke

The water of mine eies. Then no more

But this. Henry your king is prisoner

In the tower, his land and all our friends

Are quite distrest, and yonder standes

The Wolfe that makes all this,

Then on Gods name Lords together cry saint George.

All. Saint George for Lancaster.

Alarmes to the battell, Yorke flies, then the chambers be discharged. Then enter the king, Cla. & Glo. and the rest, & make a great shout, and crie, for Yorke, for Yorke, and then the Queene is taken, & the prince, & Oxf. & Sum.
and then sound and enter all againe.

Edw. Lo here a period of tumultuous broiles,

Awaie with Oxford to Hames castell straight,

For Summerset off with his guiltie head.

Awaie I will not heare them speake.

Oxf. For my part Ile not trouble thee with words.

[Sc. xxii.]

Glo. Good day my Lord. What at your booke so hard?

Hen. I my good Lord. Lord I should saie rather,
Tis sinne to flatter, good was little better,
Good Gloster, and good Diuell, were all alike,
What scene of Death hath Rosius now to act?

Glo. Suspition alwaies haunts a guiltie mind.

Hen. The birde once limde doth feare the fatall bush,
And I the haplesse maile to one poore bird,
Hauē now the fatall obiect in mine eie,
Where my poore young was limde, was caught & kild.

10

Glo. Why, what a foole was that of Creete?
That taught his sonne the office
Of a birde, and yet for all that the poore
Fowle was drownde.

Hen. I Dedalus, my poore sonne Icarus,
Thy father Minos that denide our course,
Thy brother Edward, the sunne that searde his wings,
And thou the enuious gulfe that swallowed him.
Oh better can my brest abide thy daggers point,
Then can mine eares that tragilke historie.

15

Glo. Why dost thou thinke I am an executioner?

Hen. A persecutor I am sure thou art,
And if murdering innocents be executions,
Then I know thou art an executioner.

Glo. Thy sonne I kild for his presumption.

25

Hen. Hadst thou bin kild when first thou didst presume,
Thou hadst not liude to kill a sonne of mine,
And thus I prophesie of thee.

That manie a Widdow for her husbands death,
And many an infants water standing eie,
Widowes for their husbandes, children for their fathers,
Shall curse the time that euer thou wert borne.

30

The owle shrikt at thy birth, an euill signe,
The night Crow cride, aboding lucklesse tune,
Dogs howld and hideous tempests shooke down trees,

35

The Rauē rookt her on the Chimnies top,
And chattering Pies in dismall discord sung,

 And by one and one I will dispatch the rest, 80
 Counting my selfe but bad, till I be best.
 Ile drag thy bodie in another roome,
 And triumph Henry in thy daie of doome.

Exit.

Enter king Edward, Queene Elizabeth, and a Nurse with the young prince, and Clarence, and Hastings, and others.

Edw. Once more we sit in England's royall throne, [Sc. xxiii.]
 Repurchasde with the bloud of enemies,
 What valiant foemen like to Autumnes corne,
 Haue we mow'd downe in tops of all their pride?
 Three Dukes of Summerset, threefold renownd 5
 For hardie and vndoubted champions.
 Two Cliffords, as the father and the sonne,
 And two Northumberlands, two brauer men
 Nere spurd their coursers at the trumpets sound.
 With them the two rough Beares, Warwike and
Montague, 10
 That in their chaines fettered the kinglie Lion,
 And made the Forrest tremble when they roard,
 Thus haue we swept suspicion from our seat,
 And made our footstoole of securitie.
 Come hither Besse, and let me kisse my boie, 15
 Young Ned, for thee, thine Vncles and my selfe,
 Haue in our armors watcht the Winters night,
 Marcht all a foote in summers skalding heat,
 That thou mightst repossesse the crowne in peace,
 And of our labours thou shalt reape the gaine. 20
Glo. Ile blast his haruest and your head were laid,
 For yet I am not lookt on in the world.
 This shoulder was ordained so thicke to heaue,
 And heaue it shall some waight or breake my backe,

THE TRAGEDY OF
KING RICHARD III.

ACT I.

SCENE I. London. A street.

Enter RICHARD, DUKE OF GLOUCESTER, solus.

Glou. Now is the winter of our discontent
Made glorious summer by this sun of York;
And all the clouds that lour'd upon our house
In the deep bosom of the ocean buried.
Now are our brows bound with victorious wreaths;
Our bruised arms hung up for monuments; 5
Our stern alarums changed to merry meetings,
Our dreadful marches to delightful measures.
Grim-visaged war hath smooth'd his wrinkled front;
And now, instead of mounting barbed steeds
To fright the souls of fearful adversaries, 10
He capers nimbly in a lady's chamber
To the lascivious pleasing of a lute.
But I, that am not shaped for sportive tricks,

Nor made to court an amorous looking-glass; 15
 I, that am rudely stamp'd, and want love's majesty
 To strut before a wanton ambling nymph;
 I, that am curtail'd of this fair proportion,
 Cheated of feature by dissembling nature,
 Deform'd, unfinish'd, sent before my time 20
 Into this breathing world, scarce half made up,
 And that so lamely and unfashionable
 That dogs bark at me as I halt by them;
 Why, I, in this weak piping time of peace,
 Have no delight to pass away the time, 25
 Unless to spy my shadow in the sun
 And descant on mine own deformity:
 And therefore, since I cannot prove a lover,
 To entertain these fair well-spoken days,
 I am determin'd to prove a villain 30
 And hate the idle pleasures of these days.
 Plots have I laid, inductions dangerous,
 By drunken prophecies, libels and dreams,
 To set my brother Clarence and the king
 In deadly hate the one against the other: 35
 And if King Edward be as true and just
 As I am subtle, false and treacherous,
 This day should Clarence closely be mew'd up,
 About a prophecy, which says that G
 Of Edward's heirs the murderer shall be. 40
 Dive, thoughts, down to my soul: here Clarence comes.

Enter CLARENCE, guarded, and BRAKENBURY.

Brother, good day: what means this armed guard
That waits upon your grace?

Clar. His majesty,
Tendering my person's safety, hath appointed
This conduct to convey me to the Tower. 45

Glou. Upon what cause?

Clar. Because my name is George.

Glou. Alack, my lord, that fault is none of yours;
He should, for that, commit your godfathers:
O, belike his majesty hath some intent
That you shall be new-christen'd in the Tower. 50
But what's the matter, Clarence? may I know?

Clar. Yea, Richard, when I know; for I protest
As yet I do not: but, as I can learn,
He hearkens after prophecies and dreams;
And from the cross-row plucks the letter G, 55
And says a wizard told him that by G
His issue disinherited should be;
And, for my name of George begins with G,
It follows in his thought that I am he.
These, as I learn, and such like toys as these 60
Have moved his highness to commit me now.

Glou. Why, this it is, when men are ruled by women:
'Tis not the king that sends you to the Tower;
My Lady Grey his wife, Clarence, 'tis she
That tempers him to this extremity. 65

Was it not she and that good man of worship,
 Anthony Woodville, her brother there,
 That made him send Lord Hastings to the Tower,
 From whence this present day he is deliver'd?
 We are not safe, Clarence; we are not safe.

70

Clar. By heaven, I think there's no man is secure
 But the queen's kindred and night-walking heralds
 That trudge betwixt the king and Mistress Shore.
 Heard ye not what an humble suppliant
 Lord Hastings was to her for his delivery?

75

Glou. Humbly complaining to her deity
 Got my lord chamberlain his liberty.
 I'll tell you what; I think it is our way,
 If we will keep in favour with the king,
 To be her men and wear her livery:
 The jealous o'erworn widow and herself,
 Since that our brother dubb'd them gentlewomen,
 Are mighty gossips in this monarchy.

80

Brak. I beseech your graces both to pardon me;
 His majesty hath straitly given in charge
 That no man shall have private conference,
 Of what degree soever, with his brother.

85

Glou. Even so; an't please your worship, Brakenbury,
 You may partake of any thing we say:
 We speak no treason, man: we say the king

He cannot live, I hope; and must not die 145

Till George be pack'd with post-horse up to heaven.

I'll in, to urge his hatred more to Clarence,

With lies well steel'd with weighty arguments;

And, if I fail not in my deep intent,

Clarence hath not another day to live: 150

Which done, God take King Edward to his mercy,

And leave the world for me to bustle in!

For then I'll marry Warwick's youngest daughter.

What though I kill'd her husband and her father?

The readiest way to make the wench amends 155

Is to become her husband and her father:

The which will I; not all so much for love

As for another secret close intent,

By marrying her which I must reach unto.

But yet I run before my horse to market: 160

Clarence still breathes; Edward still lives and reigns:

When they are gone, then must I count my gains. [Exit.]

 Be it lawful that I invoke thy ghost,
 To hear the lamentations of poor Anne,
 Wife to thy Edward, to thy slaughter'd son, 10
 Stabb'd by the selfsame hand that made these wounds!
 Lo, in these windows that let forth thy life
 I pour the helpless balm of my poor eyes.
 Cursed be the hand that made these fatal holes!
 Cursed be the heart that had the heart to do it! 15
 Cursed the blood that let this blood from hence!

 No excuse current, but to hang thyself.

Glou. By such despair, I should accuse myself. 85

Anne. And, by despairing, shouldst thou stand excused
 For doing worthy vengeance on thyself,
 Which didst unworthy slaughter upon others.

Glou. Say that I slew them not?

Anne. Why, then they are not dead:
 But dead they are, and, devilish slave, by thee. 90

Glou. I did not kill your husband.

Anne. Why, then he is alive.

Glou. Nay, he is dead; and slain by Edward's hand.

Anne. In thy foul throat thou liest: Queen Margaret saw
 Thy murderous falchion smoking in his blood;
 The which thou once didst bend against her breast, 95
 But that thy brothers beat aside the point.

Glou. I was provoked by her slanderous tongue,

Anne. Dost grant me, hedgehog? then, God grant me too
Thou mayst be damned for that wicked deed!
O, he was gentle, mild, and virtuous!

Glou. The fitter for the King of heaven, that hath him. 100

Anne. He is in heaven, where thou shalt never come.

Anne. I hope so.

Glou. I know so. But, gentle Lady Anne,
To leave this keen encounter of our wits, 115
And fall somewhat into a slower method,
Is not the causer of the timeless deaths
Of these Plantagenets, Henry and Edward,

So I might live one hour in your sweet bosom.

Anne. If I thought that, I tell thee, homicide, 135
These nails should rend that beauty from my cheeks.

Glou. These eyes could never endure sweet beauty's wreck;

You should not blemish it, if I stood by;
As all the world is cheered by the sun,
So I by that; it is my day, my life. 130

Anne. Black night o'ershade thy day, and death thy life!

Glou. Curse not thyself, fair creature; thou art both.

Anne. I would I were, to be revenged on thee.

Glou. It is a quarrel most unnatural,
To be revenged on him that loveth you. 135

Anne. It is a quarrel just and reasonable,
To be revenged on him that slew my husband.

Glou. He that bereft thee, lady, of thy husband,
Did it to help thee to a better husband.

Anne. His better doth not breathe upon the earth. 140

Glou. He lives that loves you better than he could.

Anne. Name him.

Anne. Where is he?

Glou. Here. [She spitteth at him.] Why dost thou spit at me? 145

Anne. Would it were mortal poison, for thy sake!

Glou. Never came poison from so sweet a place.

Anne. Never hung poison on a fouler toad.

Out of my sight! thou dost infect my eyes.

Glou. Thine eyes, sweet lady, have infected mine. 150

Anne. Would they were basilisks, to strike thee dead!

Glou. I would they were, that I might die at once;

For now they kill me with a living death.

Those eyes of thine from mine have drawn salt tears,
Shamed their aspect with store of childish drops: 155

These eyes, which never shed remorseful tear,

No, when my father York and Edward wept,

To hear the piteous moan that Rutland made

When black-faced Clifford shook his sword at him;

Nor when thy warlike father, like a child, 160

Told the sad story of my father's death,

And twenty times made pause to sob and weep,

That all the standers-by had wet their cheeks,

Like trees bedash'd with rain: in that sad time

My manly eyes did scorn an humble tear; 165

And what these sorrows could not thence exhale,

Thy beauty hath, and made them blind with weeping.

I never sued to friend nor enemy;

My tongue could never learn sweet smoothing words;

But, now thy beauty is proposed my fee, 170

My proud heart sues, and prompts my tongue to speak.

Teach not thy lips such scorn, for they were made
For kissing, lady, not for such contempt.

If thy revengeful heart cannot forgive,

Lo, here I lend thee this sharp-pointed sword;

175

Which if thou please to hide in this true bosom,

And let the soul forth that adoreth thee,

I lay it naked to the deadly stroke,

And humbly beg the death upon my knee.

[He lays his breast open: she offers at it with his sword.]

Nay, do not pause; for I did kill King Henry,

180

But 'twas thy beauty that provoked me.

Nay, now dispatch; 'twas I that stabb'd young Edward,

But 'twas thy heavenly face that set me on.

[Here she lets fall the sword.]

Take up the sword again, or take up me.

Anne. Arise, dissembler: though I wish thy death,

185

I will not be the executioner.

Glou. Then bid me kill myself, and I will do it.

Anne. I have already.

Glou. Tush, that was in thy rage:

Speak it again, and, even with the word,

That hand, which, for thy love, did kill thy love,

Shall, for thy love, kill a far truer love;

To both their deaths thou shalt be accessory.

Edward, her lord, whom I, some three months since,
 Stabb'd in my angry mood at Tewksbury?
 A sweeter and a lovelier gentleman,
 Framed in the prodigality of nature,
 Young, valiant, wise, and, no doubt, right royal, 245
 The spacious world cannot again afford:
 And will she yet debase her eyes on me,
 That cropp'd the golden prime of this sweet prince,
 And made her widow to a woful bed?
 On me, whose all not equals Edward's moiety? 250
 On me, that halt and am unshapen thus?
 My dukedom to a beggarly denier,
 I do mistake my person all this while:
 Upon my life, she finds, although I cannot,
 Myself to be a marvellous proper man. 255
 I'll be at charges for a looking-glass,
 And entertain some score or two of tailors,
 To study fashions to adorn my body:
 Since I am crept in favour with myself,
 I will maintain it with some little cost. 260
 But first I'll turn yon fellow in his grave;
 And then return lamenting to my love.
 Shine out, fair sun, till I have bought a glass,
 That I may see my shadow as I pass. [Exit.

SCENE III. The palace.

Enter QUEEN ELIZABETH, LORD RIVERS, and LORD GREY.

Riv. Have patience, madam: there's no doubt his majesty

Will soon recover his accustom'd health.

Grey. In that you brook it ill, it makes him worse:
Therefore, for God's sake, entertain good comfort,
And cheer his grace with quick and merry words. 5

Q. Eliz. If he were dead, what would betide of me?

Riv. No other harm but loss of such a lord.

Q. Eliz. The loss of such a lord includes all harm.

Grey. The heavens have bless'd you with a goodly son,
To be your comforter when he is gone. 10

Q. Eliz. Oh, he is young, and his minority
Is put unto the trust of Richard Gloucester,
A man that loves not me, nor none of you.

Riv. Is it concluded he shall be protector?

Q. Eliz. It is determined, not concluded yet: 15
But so it must be, if the king miscarry.

Enter BUCKINGHAM and DERBY.

Grey. Here come the lords of Buckingham and Derby.

Q. Eliz. The Countess Richmond, good my Lord of Derby,

20

To your good prayers will scarcely say amen.
Yet, Derby, notwithstanding she's your wife,
And loves not me, be you, good lord, assured
I hate not you for her proud arrogance.

Der. I do beseech you, either not believe
The envious slanders of her false accusers;
Or, if she be accused in true report,
Bear with her weakness, which, I think, proceeds
From wayward sickness, and no grounded malice.

25

Riv. Saw you the king to-day, my Lord of Derby?

30

Der. But now the Duke of Buckingham and I
Are come from visiting his majesty.

Q. Eliz. What likelihood of his amendment, lords?

Buck. Madam, good hope; his grace speaks cheerfully.

Q. Eliz. God grant him health! Did you confer with him?

35

Buck. Madam, we did: he desires to make atonement
Betwixt the Duke of Gloucester and your brothers,
And betwixt them and my lord chamberlain;
And sent to warn them to his royal presence.

Q. Eliz. Would all were well! but that will never be:
I fear our happiness is at the highest.

Who are they that complain unto the king,
That I, forsooth, am stern and love them not?
By holy Paul, they love his grace but lightly
That fill his ears with such dissentious rumours.

45

Because I cannot flatter and speak fair,
Smile in men's faces, smooth, deceive and cog,
Duck with French nods and apish courtesy,
I must be held a rancorous enemy.

50

Cannot a plain man live and think no harm,
But thus his simple truth must be abused
By silken, sly, insinuating Jacks?

Riv. To whom in all this presence speaks your grace?

Glou. To thee, that hast nor honesty nor grace.
When have I injured thee? when done thee wrong?
Or thee? or thee? or any of your faction?

55

A plague upon you all! His royal person—
Whom God preserve better than you would wish!—
Cannot be quiet scarce a breathing-while,
But you must trouble him with lewd complaints.

60

Q. Eliz. Brother of Gloucester, you mistake the matter.
The king, of his own royal disposition,
And not provoked by any suitor else;
Aiming, belike, at your interior hatred,
Which in your outward actions shows itself

Since every Jack became a gentleman,
There's many a gentle person made a Jack.

Q. Eliz. Come, come, we know your meaning, brother
Gloucester;

You envy my advancement and my friends':
God grant we never may have need of you!

Glou. Meantime, God grants that we have need of you:
Our brother is imprison'd by your means,
Myself disgraced, and the nobility
Held in contempt; whilst many fair promotions
Are daily given to ennoble those
That scarce, some two days since, were worth a noble.

Q. Eliz. By Him that raised me to this careful height
From that contented hap which I enjoy'd,
I never did incense his majesty
Against the Duke of Clarence, but have been
An earnest advocate to plead for him.
My lord, you do me shameful injury,
Falsely to draw me in these vile suspects.

Glou. She may, Lord Rivers! why, who knows not so?
She may do more, sir, than denying that:

She may help you to many fair preferments; 95

And then deny her aiding hand therein,

And lay those honours on your high deserts.

What may she not? She may, yea, marry, may she,—

Riv. What, marry, may she?

Glou. What, marry, may she! marry with a king, 100

A bachelor, a handsome stripling too:

I wis your grandam had a worser match.

Q. Eliz. My Lord of Gloucester, I have too long borne
Your blunt upbraidings and your bitter scoffs:

By heaven, I will acquaint his majesty 105

With those gross taunts I often have endured.

I had rather be a country servant-maid

Than a great queen, with this condition,

To be thus taunted, scorn'd, and baited at:

Enter QUEEN MARGARET, behind.

Q. Mar. And lessen'd be that small, God, I beseech thee!

'Tis time to speak; my pains are quite forgot.

Q. Mar. Out, devil! I remember them too well:
Thou slewest my husband Henry in the Tower,
And Edward, my poor son, at Tewksbury. 120

Glou. Ere you were queen, yea, or your husband king,
I was a pack-horse in his great affairs;
A weeder out of his proud adversaries,
A liberal rewarder of his friends:
To royalise his blood I spilt mine own. 125

Q. Mar. Yea, and much better blood than his or thine.

Glou. In all which time you and your husband Grey
Were factious for the house of Lancaster;
And, Rivers, so were you. Was not your husband
In Margaret's battle at Saint Alban's slain? 130
Let me put in your minds, if you forget,
What you have been ere now, and what you are;
Withal, what I have been, and what I am.

Q. Mar. A murderous villain, and so still thou art.

Glou. Poor Clarence did forsake his father, Warwick; 135
Yea, and forswore himself,—which Jesu pardon!—

Q. Mar. Which God revenge!

Glou. To fight on Edward's party for the crown;
And for his meed, poor lord, he is mew'd up.
I would to God my heart were flint, like Edward's; 140

We follow'd then our lord, our lawful king:
So should we you, if you should be our king.

Glou. If I should be! I had rather be a pedlar:

Q. Eliz. As little joy, my lord, as you suppose
You should enjoy, were you this country's king,
As little joy may you suppose in me,
That I enjoy, being the queen thereof.

Q. Mar. A little joy enjoys the queen thereof;

Steep'd in the faultless blood of pretty Rutland,—

His curses, then from bitterness of soul

Denounced against thee, are all fall'n upon thee; 180

And God, not we, hath plagued thy bloody deed.

 Can curses pierce the clouds and enter heaven? 195
 Why, then, give way, dull clouds, to my quick curses!
 If not by war, by surfeit die your king,
 As ours by murder, to make him a king!
 Edward thy son, which now is Prince of Wales,
 For Edward my son, which was Prince of Wales, 200
 Die in his youth by like untimely violence!
 Thyself a queen, for me that was a queen,
 Outlive thy glory, like my wretched self!
 Long mayst thou live to wail thy children's loss;
 And see another, as I see thee now, 205
 Deck'd in thy rights, as thou art stall'd in mine!
 Long die thy happy days before thy death;
 And, after many lengthen'd hours of grief,
 Die neither mother, wife, nor England's queen!
 Rivers and Dorset, you were standers by, 210
 And so wast thou, Lord Hastings, when my son
 Was stabb'd with bloody daggers: God, I pray him,

 And take deep traitors for thy dearest friends!
 No sleep close up that deadly eye of thine,
 Unless it be whilst some tormenting dream
 Affrights thee with a hell of ugly devils!
 Thou elvish-mark'd, abortive, rooting hog!
 Thou that wast seal'd in thy nativity

Uncharitably with me have you dealt, 275
And shamefully by you my hopes are butcher'd.
My charity is outrage, life my shame;
And in that shame still live my sorrow's rage!

Q. Mar. O princely Buckingham, I'll kiss thy hand, 280
In sign of league and amity with thee:
Now fair befall thee and thy noble house!
Thy garments are not spotted with our blood,
Nor thou within the compass of my curse.

The lips of those that breathe them in the air.

Q. Mar. I'll not believe but they ascend the sky,
And there awake God's gentle-sleeping peace.
O Buckingham, take heed of yonder dog!
Look, when he fawns, he bites; and when he bites, 290

Clarence, whom I, indeed, have laid in darkness,
I do bewep to many simple gulls;

Namely, to Hastings, Derby, Buckingham;

And say it is the queen and her allies 330

That stir the king against the duke my brother.

Now, they believe it; and withal whet me

To be revenged on Rivers, Vaughan, Grey:

But then I sigh; and, with a piece of Scripture,

Tell them that God bids us do good for evil: 335

And thus I clothe my naked villany

With old odd ends stolen out of holy writ;

Methought that Gloucester stumbled; and, in falling,
 Struck me, that thought to stay him, overboard,
 Into the tumbling billows of the main. 20
 Lord, Lord! methought, what pain it was to drown!
 What dreadful noise of waters in mine ears!
 What ugly sights of death within mine eyes!
 Methought I saw a thousand fearful wrecks;
 Ten thousand men that fishes gnaw'd upon; 25
 Wedges of gold, great anchors, heaps of pearl,
 Inestimable stones, unvalued jewels,
 All scatter'd in the bottom of the sea:
 Some lay in dead men's skulls; and in those holes
 Where eyes did once inhabit, there were crept, 30
 As 'twere in scorn of eyes, reflecting gems,
 Which woo'd the slimy bottom of the deep,

 Dabbled in blood; and he squeak'd out aloud,
 'Clarence is come; false, fleeting, perjured Clarence, 55
 That stabb'd me in the field by Tewksbury:
 Seize on him, Furies, take him to your torments!'
 With that, methoughts, a legion of foul fiends
 Environ'd me about, and howled in mine ears
 Such hideous cries that with the very noise 60
 I trembling waked, and for a season after
 Could not believe but that I was in hell,
 Such terrible impression made the dream.

Brak. No marvel, my lord, though it affrighted you;
 I promise you, I am afraid to hear you tell it. 65

Clar. O Brakenbury, I have done those things,
 Which now bear evidence against my soul,

For Edward's sake; and see how he requites me!
 O God! if my deep prayers cannot appease thee,
 But thou wilt be avenged on my misdeeds,
 Yet execute thy wrath in me alone;
 O, spare my guiltless wife and my poor children!
 I pray thee, gentle keeper, stay by me;
 My soul is heavy, and I fain would sleep.

70

Brak. I will, my lord: God give your grace good rest!

[Clarence sleeps. 75

Sorrow breaks seasons and reposing hours,
 Makes the night morning and the noon-tide night.
 Princes have but their titles for their glories,
 An outward honour for an inward toil;
 And, for unfelt imagination,
 They often feel a world of restless cares:
 So that, betwixt their titles and low names,
 There's nothing differs but the outward fame.

What lawful quest have given their verdict up
 Unto the frowning judge? or who pronounced 180
 The bitter sentence of poor Clarence' death?
 Before I be convict by course of law,
 To threaten me with death is most unlawful.
 I charge you, as you hope to have redemption
 By Christ's dear blood shed for our grievous sins, 185
 That you depart and lay no hands on me:
 The deed you undertake is damnable.

First Murd. What we will do, we do upon command.

Sec. Murd. And he that hath commanded is the king.

Clar. Erroneous vassal! the great King of kings 190
 Hath in the tables of his law commanded
 That thou shalt do no murder: and wilt thou then
 Spurn at his edict, and fulfil a man's?
 Take heed; for he holds vengeance in his hands,
 To hurl upon their heads that break his law. 195

Sec. Murd. And that same vengeance doth he hurl on thee,

For false forswearing, and for murder too:
 Thou didst receive the holy sacrament,
 To fight in quarrel of the house of Lancaster.

First Murd. And, like a traitor to the name of God, 200
 Didst break that vow; and with thy treacherous blade
 Unrip'dst the bowels of thy sovereign's son.

ACT II.

SCENE I. London. The palace.

Flourish. Enter KING EDWARD sick, QUEEN ELIZABETH, DORSET, RIVERS, HASTINGS, BUCKINGHAM, GREY, and others.

K. Edw. Why, so: now have I done a good day's work:

You peers, continue this united league:

I every day expect an embassy

From my Redeemer to redeem me hence;

And now in peace my soul shall part to heaven, 5

Since I have set my friends at peace on earth.

Rivers and Hastings, take each other's hand;

Dissemble not your hatred, swear your love.

Riv. By heaven, my soul is purged from grudging hate;

And with my hand I seal my true heart's love. 10

Hast. So thrive I, as I truly swear the like!

K. Edw. Take heed you dally not before your king;

Lest he that is the supreme King of kings

Confound your hidden falsehood and award

Either of you to be the other's end. 15

Hast. So prosper I, as I swear perfect love!

Riv. And I, as I love Hastings with my heart!

K. Edw. Madam, yourself are not exempt in this,
Nor your son Dorset; Buckingham, nor you;
You have been factious one against the other. 20
Wife, love Lord Hastings, let him kiss your hand;
And what you do, do it unfeignedly.

Q. Eliz. Here, Hastings; I will never more remember
Our former hatred, so thrive I and mine!

K. Edw. Dorset, embrace him; Hastings, love lord marquess. 25

Dor. This interchange of love, I here protest,
Upon my part shall be unviolable.

Hast. And so swear I, my lord. [They embrace.]

K. Edw. Now, princely Buckingham, seal thou this league

With thy embracements to my wife's allies,
And make me happy in your unity. 30

Buck. [To the Queen] Whenever Buckingham doth turn his hate

On you or yours but with all duteous love
Doth cherish you and yours, God punish me
With hate in those where I expect most love! 35

When I have most need to employ a friend,
And most assured that he is a friend,
Deep, hollow, treacherous and full of guile,
Be he unto me! this do I beg of God,
When I am cold in zeal to you or yours. [They embrace.] 40

K. Edw. A pleasing cordial, princely Buckingham,
Is this thy vow unto my sickly heart.
There wanteth now our brother Gloucester here,
To make the perfect period of this peace.

Buck. And, in good time, here comes the noble duke. 45

Enter GLOUCESTER.

Glou. Good morrow to my sovereign king and queen;
And, princely peers, a happy time of day!

K. Edw. Happy indeed, as we have spent the day.
Brother, we have done deeds of charity;
Made peace of enmity, fair love of hate, 50
Between these swelling wrong-incensed peers.

Glou. A blessed labour, my most sovereign liege:
Amongst this princely heap, if any here,
By false intelligence, or wrong surmise,
Hold me a foe; 55

If I unwittingly, or in my rage,
Have aught committed that is hardly borne
By any in this presence, I desire
To reconcile me to his friendly peace:
'Tis death to me to be at enmity; 60

I hate it, and desire all good men's love.
First, madam, I entreat true peace of you,
Which I will purchase with my duteous service;
Of you, my noble cousin Buckingham,

Buck. We wait upon your grace.

SCENE II. The palace.

Enter the DUCHESS OF YORK, with the two children of CLARENCE.

Boy. Tell me, good grandam, is our father dead?

Duch. No, boy.

Boy. Why do you wring your hands, and beat your breast,
And cry 'O Clarence, my unhappy son'?

Girl. Why do you look on us, and shake your head, 5
And call us wretches, orphans, castaways,
If that our noble father be alive?

Duch. My pretty cousins, you mistake me much.
I do lament the sickness of the king,
As loath to lose him; not your father's death; 10
It were lost sorrow to wail one that's lost.

Boy. Then, grandam, you conclude that he is dead.
The king my uncle is to blame for this:
God will revenge it; whom I will importune
With daily prayers all to that effect. 15

Girl. And so will I.

Duch. Peace, children, peace! the king doth love you well:

Incapable and shallow innocents,

You cannot guess who caused your father's death.

Boy. Grandam, we can; for my good uncle Gloucester 20

Told me, the king, provoked by the queen,

Devised impeachments to imprison him:

And when my uncle told me so, he wept,

And hugg'd me in his arm, and kindly kiss'd my cheek;

Bade me rely on him as on my father, 25

And he would love me dearly as his child.

Duch. Oh, that deceit should steal such gentle shapes,

And with a virtuous vizard hide foul guile!

He is my son; yea, and therein my shame;

Yet from my dugs he drew not this deceit. 30

Boy. Think you my uncle did dissemble, grandam?

Duch. Ay, boy.

Boy. I cannot think it. Hark! what noise is this?

Enter QUEEN ELIZABETH, with her hair about her ears; RIVERS and DORSET after her.

Q. Eliz. Oh, who shall hinder me to wail and weep,

To chide my fortune and torment myself? 35

I'll join with black despair against my soul,

And to myself become an enemy.

Duch. What means this scene of rude impatience?

Q. Eliz. To make an act of tragic violence:

Edward, my lord, your son, our king, is dead. 40

Why grow the branches now the root is wither'd?

Why wither not the leaves the sap being gone?

If you will live, lament; if die, be brief,

That our swift-winged souls may catch the king's,

Or, like obedient subjects, follow him

45

To his new kingdom of perpetual rest.

Duch. Ah, so much interest have I in thy sorrow

As I had title in thy noble husband!

I have bewept a worthy husband's death,

And lived by looking on his images:

50

But now two mirrors of his princely semblance

Are crack'd in pieces by malignant death,

And I for comfort have but one false glass,

Which grieves me when I see my shame in him.

Thou art a widow; yet thou art a mother,

55

And hast the comfort of thy children left thee:

But death hath snatch'd my husband from mine arms,

And pluck'd two crutches from my feeble limbs,

Edward and Clarence. O, what cause have I,

Thine being but a moiety of my grief,

60

To overgo thy plaints and drown thy cries!

How can we aid you with our kindred tears?

 May send forth plenteous tears to drown the world! 70

 I for a Clarence weep, so doth not she:

That you take with unthankfulness his doing: 90
In common worldly things, 'tis call'd ungrateful,
With dull unwillingness to repay a debt
Which with a bounteous hand was kindly lent;
Much more to be thus opposite with heaven,
For it requires the royal debt it lent you. 95

Riv. Madam, bethink you, like a careful mother,
Of the young prince your son: send straight for him;
Let him be crown'd; in him your comfort lives:
Drown desperate sorrow in dead Edward's grave,
And plant your joys in living Edward's throne. 100

Enter GLOUCESTER, BUCKINGHAM, DERBY, HASTINGS, and RATCLIFF.

Glou. Madam, have comfort: all of us have cause
To wail the dimming of our shining star;
But none can cure their harms by wailing them.
Madam, my mother, I do cry you mercy;
I did not see your grace: humbly on my knee 105
I crave your blessing.

Duch. God bless thee, and put meekness in thy mind,
Love, charity, obedience, and true duty!

Glou. [Aside] Amen; and make me die a good old man!
That is the butt-end of a mother's blessing: 110
I marvel why her grace did leave it out.

Now cheer each other in each other's love:
 Though we have spent our harvest of this king, 115
 We are to reap the harvest of his son.
 The broken rancour of your high-swoln hearts,
 But lately splinter'd, knit and join'd together,
 Must gently be preserved, cherish'd, and kept:
 Me seemeth good, that, with some little train, 120
 Forthwith from Ludlow the young prince be fetch'd
 Hither to London, to be crown'd our king.

Riv. Why with some little train, my Lord of Buckingham?

Buck. Marry, my lord, lest, by a multitude,
 The new-heal'd wound of malice should break out; 125
 Which would be so much the more dangerous,
 By how much the estate is green and yet ungovern'd:
 Where every horse bears his commanding rein,
 And may direct his course as please himself,
 As well the fear of harm as harm apparent, 130
 In my opinion, ought to be prevented.

Glou. I hope the king made peace with all of us;
 And the compact is firm and true in me.

Riv. And so in me; and so, I think, in all:
 Yet, since it is but green, it should be put 135
 To no apparent likelihood of breach,
 Which haply by much company might be urged:
 Therefore I say with noble Buckingham,
 That it is meet so few should fetch the prince.

Hast. And so say I. 140

Glou. Then be it so; and go we to determine
 Who they shall be that straight shall post to Ludlow.

 When great leaves fall, the winter is at hand;
 When the sun sets, who doth not look for night?
 Untimely storms make men expect a dearth. 35
 All may be well; but, if God sort it so,

SCENE IV. London. The palace.

Enter the ARCHBISHOP OF YORK, the young DUKE OF YORK, QUEEN ELIZABETH, and the DUCHESS OF YORK.

Arch. Last night, I hear, they lay at Northampton; At Stony-Stratford will they be to-night: To-morrow, or next day, they will be here.

Duch. I long with all my heart to see the prince: I hope he is much grown since last I saw him.

Q. Eliz. But I hear, no; they say my son of York Hath almost overta'en him in his growth.

York. Ay, mother; but I would not have it so.

Duch. Why, my young cousin, it is good to grow.

York. Grandam, one night, as we did sit at supper, My uncle Rivers talk'd how I did grow More than my brother: 'Ay,' quoth my uncle Gloucester, 'Small herbs have grace, great weeds do grow apace:' And since, methinks, I would not grow so fast, Because sweet flowers are slow and weeds make haste.

I could have given my uncle's grace a flout,
To touch his growth nearer than he touch'd mine.

That he could gnaw a crust at two hours old:
'Twas full two years ere I could get a tooth.

Grandam, this would have been a biting jest.

30

Duch. I pray thee, pretty York, who told thee this?

York. Grandam, his nurse.

Glou. Welcome, dear cousin, my thoughts' sovereign:
The weary way hath made you melancholy.

Prince. No, uncle; but our crosses on the way
Have made it tedious, wearisome, and heavy: 5
I want more uncles here to welcome me.

Glou. Sweet prince, the untainted virtue of your years
Hath not yet dived into the world's deceit:
Nor more can you distinguish of a man
Than of his outward show; which, God he knows, 10
Seldom or never jumpeth with the heart.
Those uncles which you want were dangerous;
Your grace attended to their sugar'd words,
But look'd not on the poison of their hearts:
God keep you from them, and from such false friends! 15

Prince. God keep me from false friends! but they were none.

Glou. My lord, the mayor of London comes to greet you.

Enter the Lord Mayor, and his train.

May. God bless your grace with health and happy days!

Prince. I thank you, good my lord; and thank you all. 20
I thought my mother and my brother York
Would long ere this have met us on the way:
Fie, what a slug is Hastings, that he comes not
To tell us whether they will come or no!

Enter LORD HASTINGS.

Buck. And, in good time, here comes the sweating lord.

Prince. Welcome, my lord: what, will our mother come? 25

The queen your mother and your brother York
Have taken sanctuary: the tender prince

30

Buck. Fie, what an indirect and peevish course
Is this of hers! Lord cardinal, will your grace
Persuade the queen to send the Duke of York
Unto his princely brother presently?

If she deny, Lord Hastings, go with him,
And from her jealous arms pluck him perforce.

35

Card. My Lord of Buckingham, if my weak oratory
Can from his mother win the Duke of York,
Anon expect him here; but if she be obdurate
To mild entreaties, God in heaven forbid
We should infringe the holy privilege
Of blessed sanctuary! not for all this land
Would I be guilty of so deep a sin.

40

Buck. You are too senseless-obstinate, my lord,
Too ceremonious and traditional:
Weigh it but with the grossness of this age,
You break not sanctuary in seizing him.
The benefit thereof is always granted
To those whose dealings have deserved the place
And those who have the wit to claim the place:
This prince hath neither claim'd it nor deserved it;
And therefore, in mine opinion, cannot have it:
Then, taking him from thence that is not there,

 My grandam told me he was murder'd there.

 And, as it were far off, sound thou Lord Hastings, 170

Because they have been still mine enemies:
But, that I'll give my voice on Richard's side,
To bar my master's heirs in true descent,
God knows I will not do it, to the death. 55

When men are unprepared and look not for it. 65

Hast. O monstrous, monstrous! and so falls it out
With Rivers, Vaughan, Grey: and so 'twill do
With some men else, who think themselves as safe
As thou and I; who, as thou know'st, are dear
To princely Richard and to Buckingham. 70

You may jest on, but, by the holy rood,
I do not like these several councils, I.

Hast. My lord,
I hold my life as dear as you do yours; 80

Think you, but that I know our state secure,
I would be so triumphant as I am?

London, 85
Were jocund and supposed their state was sure,
And they indeed had no cause to mistrust;
But yet, you see, how soon the day o'ercast.
This sudden stab of rancour I misdoubt:
Pray God, I say, I prove a needless coward! 90
What, shall we toward the Tower? the day is spent.

Richard Ratcliffe, with Halberds, carrying the Nobles to death at Pomfret. Ff.

1. Rat. Come.....prisoners.] Qq.
Omitted in Ff.

To-day shalt thou behold a subject die
For truth, for duty, and for loyalty.

Grey. God keep the prince from all the pack of you!

A knot you are of damned blood-suckers.

Vaug. You live that shall cry woe for this hereafter.

Rat. Dispatch; the limit of your lives is out.

Riv. O Pomfret, Pomfret! O thou bloody prison,
Fatal and ominous to noble peers!
Within the guilty closure of thy walls
Richard the second here was hack'd to death;
And, for more slander to thy dismal seat,
We give thee up our guiltless blood to drink.

Grey. Now Margaret's curse is fall'n upon our heads,
For standing by when Richard stabb'd her son.

Riv. Then cursed she Hastings, then cursed she Buckingham,

Then cursed she Richard. O, remember, God,
To hear her prayers for them, as now for us!
And for my sister and her princely sons,
Be satisfied, dear God, with our true blood,
Which, as thou know'st, unjustly must be spilt.

Enter BUCKINGHAM, DERBY, HASTINGS, the BISHOP OF ELY, RATCLIFF, LOVEL, with others, and take their seats at a table.

Hast. My lords, at once: the cause why we are met
Is, to determine of the coronation.

In God's name, speak: when is the royal day?

Buck. Are all things fitting for that royal time?

Der. It is, and wants but nomination. 5

Ely. To-morrow then I judge a happy day.

Buck. Who knows the lord protector's mind herein?
Who is most inward with the noble duke?

Ely. Your grace, we think, should soonest know his mind. 10

Buck. Who, I, my lord! We know each other's faces,
But for our hearts, he knows no more of mine
Than I of yours;
Nor I no more of his, than you of mine.
Lord Hastings, you and he are near in love.

 I have not sounded him, nor he deliver'd
 His gracious pleasure any way therein:
 But you, my noble lords, may name the time;
 And in the duke's behalf I'll give my voice, 20
 Which, I presume, he'll take in gentle part.

Enter GLOUCESTER.

Ely. Now in good time, here comes the duke himself.
Glou. My noble lords and cousins all, good morrow.
 I have been long a sleeper; but, I hope,
 My absence doth neglect no great designs, 25
 Which by my presence might have been concluded.
Buck. Had not you come upon your cue, my lord,

Hast. Woe, woe for England! not a whit for me;
For I, too fond, might have prevented this.
Stanley did dream the boar did raze his helm;
But I disdain'd it, and did scorn to fly:
Three times to-day my foot-cloth horse did stumble,
And startled, when he look'd upon the Tower,
As loath to bear me to the slaughter-house.
O, now I want the priest that spake to me:
I now repent I told the pursuivant,
As 'twere triumphing at mine enemies,
How they at Pomfret bloodily were butcher'd,
And I myself secure in grace and favour.
O Margaret, Margaret, now thy heavy curse

Which now the loving haste of these our friends,
Somewhat against our meaning, have prevented: 55
Because, my lord, we would have had you heard
The traitor speak and timorously confess
The manner and the purpose of his treason;
That you might well have signified the same
Unto the citizens, who haply may 60
Misconstrue us in him and wail his death.

May. But, my good lord, your grace's word shall serve,
As well as I had seen and heard him speak:
And doubt you not, right noble princes both,
But I'll acquaint our duteous citizens 65
With all your just proceedings in this cause.

Glou. And to that end we wish'd your lordship here,
To avoid the carping censures of the world.

Buck. But since you come too late of our intents,
Yet witness what you hear we did intend: 70
And so, my good lord mayor, we bid farewell. [Exit Mayor.]

Glou. Go, after, after, cousin Buckingham.
The mayor towards Guildhall hies him in all post:
There, at your meet'st advantage of the time,
Infer the bastardy of Edward's children: 75

Tell them how Edward put to death a citizen,
 Only for saying he would make his son
 Heir to the crown, meaning indeed his house,
 Which, by the sign thereof, was termed so.
 Moreover, urge his hateful luxury 80
 And bestial appetite in change of lust;
 Which stretched to their servants, daughters, wives,
 Even where his lustful eye or savage heart,
 Without control, listed to make his prey.
 Nay, for a need, thus far come near my person: 85
 Tell them, when that my mother went with child
 Of that unsatiate Edward, noble York
 My princely father then had wars in France;
 And, by just computation of the time,
 Found that the issue was not his begot; 90
 Which well appeared in his lineaments,
 Being nothing like the noble duke my father:
 But touch this sparingly, as 'twere far off;
 Because you know, my lord, my mother lives.

Buck. Fear not, my lord, I'll play the orator 95
 As if the golden fee for which I plead
 Were for myself: and so, my lord, adieu.

Glou. If you thrive well, bring them to Baynard's Castle;

Where you shall find me well accompanied
 With reverend fathers and well-learned bishops. 100

Buck. I go; and towards three or four o'clock
 Look for the news that the Guildhall affords. [Exit.

Enter a Scrivener, with a paper in his hand.

Scriv. This is the indictment of the good Lord Hastings;
 Which in a set hand fairly is engross'd,
 That it may be this day read o'er in Paul's.
 And mark how well the sequel hangs together:
 Eleven hours I spent to write it over, 5
 For yesternight by Catesby was it brought me;
 The precedent was full as long a-doing:
 And yet within these five hours lived Lord Hastings,
 Untainted, unexamined, free, at liberty.
 Here's a good world the while! Why who's so gross, 10

Buck. Now, by the holy mother of our Lord,
 The citizens are mum, and speak not a word.

Glou. Touch'd you the bastardy of Edward's children?

Buck. I did; with his contract with Lady Lucy, 5
 And his contract by deputy in France;
 The insatiate greediness of his desires,
 And his enforcement of the city wives;
 His tyranny for trifles; his own bastardy,

 Withal I did infer your lineaments,

Indeed left nothing fitting for the purpose
 Untouch'd or slightly handled in discourse:
 And when mine oratory grew to an end, 20
 I bid them that did love their country's good
 Cry 'God save Richard, England's royal king!'

Glou. Ah! and did they so?

Buck. No, so God help me, they spake not a word;
 But, like dumb statuas or breathing stones, 25
 Gazed each on other, and look'd deadly pale.
 Which when I saw, I reprehended them;
 And ask'd the mayor what meant this wilful silence:
 His answer was, the people were not wont
 To be spoke to but by the recorder. 30

Then he was urged to tell my tale again:
 'Thus saith the duke, thus hath the duke inferr'd;'
 But nothing spake in warrant from himself.
 When he had done, some followers of mine own
 At the lower end of the hall hurl'd up their caps, 35
 And some ten voices cried 'God save King Richard!'
 And thus I took the vantage of those few,
 'Thanks, gentle citizens and friends!' quoth I,
 'This general applause and loving shout
 Argues your wisdoms and your love to Richard:' 40

Buck. The mayor is here at hand: intend some fear; 45
Be not you spoke with, but by mighty suit:

And look you get a prayer-book in your hand,

And stand betwixt two churchmen, good my lord;

For on that ground I'll build a holy descant:

And be not easily won to our request; 50

Play the maid's part, still answer nay, and take it.

My lord, he fears you mean no good to him.

85

But, leaving this, what is your grace's pleasure?

Buck. Even that, I hope, which pleaseth God above

Glou. I do suspect I have done some offence

That seems disgracious in the city's eyes,

And that you come to reprehend my ignorance.

Buck. You have, my lord: would it might please your grace,

At our entreaties, to amend that fault! 115

Glou. Else wherefore breathe I in a Christian land?

Buck. Then know, it is your fault that you resign

The supreme seat, the throne majestic,

The scepter'd office of your ancestors,

Your state of fortune and your due of birth, 120

The lineal glory of your royal house,

To the corruption of a blemish'd stock:

Whilst, in the mildness of your sleepy thoughts,

Which here we waken to our country's good,

This noble isle doth want her proper limbs; 125

Her face defaced with scars of infamy,

Her royal stock graft with ignoble plants,

And almost shoulder'd in the swallowing gulf
 Of blind forgetfulness and dark oblivion.
 Which to recure, we heartily solicit 130
 Your gracious self to take on you the charge
 And kingly government of this your land;
 Not as protector, steward, substitute,
 Or lowly factor for another's gain;
 But as successively, from blood to blood, 135
 Your right of birth, your empery, your own.
 For this, consorted with the citizens,
 Your very worshipful and loving friends,
 And by their vehement instigation,
 In this just suit come I to move your grace. 140
Glow. I know not whether to depart in silence,
 Or bitterly to speak in your reproof,
 Best fitteth my degree or your condition:
 If not to answer, you might haply think
 Tongue-tied ambition, not replying, yielded 145
 To bear the golden yoke of sovereignty,
 Which fondly you would here impose on me;
 If to reprove you for this suit of yours
 So season'd with your faithful love to me,
 Then, on the other side, I check'd my friends. 150
 Therefore, to speak, and to avoid the first,
 And then, in speaking, not to incur the last,
 Definitively thus I answer you.
 Your love deserves my thanks, but my desert

Unmeritable shuns your high request. 155
 First, if all obstacles were cut away
 And that my path were even to the crown,
 As my ripe revenue and due by birth;
 Yet so much is my poverty of spirit,
 So mighty and so many my defects, 160
 As I had rather hide me from my greatness,
 Being a bark to brook no mighty sea,
 Than in my greatness covet to be hid
 And in the vapour of my glory smother'd.
 But, God be thanked, there's no need of me, 165
 And much I need to help you, if need were;
 The royal tree hath left us royal fruit,
 Which, mellow'd by the stealing hours of time,
 Will well become the seat of majesty,
 And make, no doubt, us happy by his reign. 170
 On him I lay what you would lay on me,
 The right and fortune of his happy stars;
 Which God defend that I should wring from him!

Buck. My lord, this argues conscience in your grace;
 But the respects thereof are nice and trivial, 175
 All circumstances well considered.
 You say that Edward is your brother's son:
 So say we too, but not by Edward's wife;
 For first he was contract to Lady Lucy—
 Your mother lives a witness to that vow— 180
 And afterward by substitute betroth'd
 To Bona, sister to the King of France.

A care-crazed mother of a many children,
 A beauty-waning and distressed widow, 185
 Even in the afternoon of her best days,
 Made prize and purchase of his lustful eye,
 Seduced the pitch and height of all his thoughts
 To base declension and loathed bigamy :
 By her, in his unlawful bed, he got 190
 This Edward, whom our manners term the prince.
 More bitterly could I expostulate,
 Save that, for reverence to some alive,
 I give a sparing limit to my tongue.
 Then, good my lord, take to your royal self 195
 This proffer'd benefit of dignity ;
 If not to bless us and the land withal,
 Yet to draw forth your noble ancestry
 From the corruption of abusing times,
 Unto a lineal true-derived course. 200

May. Do, good my lord, your citizens entreat you.

Duch. Who meets us here? my niece Plantagenet
Led in the hand of her kind aunt of Gloucester?
Now, for my life, she's wandering to the Tower,
On pure heart's love to greet the tender princes.
Daughter, well met.

Anne. God give your graces both
A happy and a joyful time of day!

Q. Eliz. As much to you, good sister! Whither away?

Upon the like devotion as yourselves,
To gratulate the gentle princes there.

Q. Eliz. Kind sister, thanks: we'll enter all together.

Came to me, as I follow'd Henry's corse,

When scarce the blood was well wash'd from his hands

Which issued from my other angel husband

And that dead saint which then I weeping follow'd;

70

O, when, I say, I look'd on Richard's face,

This was my wish: 'Be thou,' quoth I, 'accursed,

K. Rich. Kind Tyrrel, am I happy in thy news?

Tyr. If to have done the thing you gave in charge
Beget your happiness, be happy then,
For it is done, my lord. 20

K. Rich. But didst thou see them dead?

Tyr. I did, my lord.

K. Rich. And buried, gentle Tyrrel?

Tyr. The chaplain of the Tower hath buried them;
But how or in what place I do not know. 30

K. Rich. Come to me, Tyrrel, soon at after supper,
And thou shalt tell the process of their death.
Meantime, but think how I may do thee good,
And be inheritor of thy desire.
Farewell till soon. 35

To worry lambs and lap their gentle blood, 50
That foul defacer of God's handiwork,
That excellent grand tyrant of the earth,
That reigns in galled eyes of weeping souls,
Thy womb let loose, to chase us to our graves.

O upright, just, and true-disposing God, 55
How do I thank thee, that this carnal cur
Preys on the issue of his mother's body,

A sign of dignity, a garish flag
 To be the aim of every dangerous shot; 90
 A queen in jest, only to fill the scene.
 Where is thy husband now? where be thy brothers?
 Where are thy children? wherein dost thou joy?
 Who sues to thee and cries 'God save the queen'?
 Where be the bending peers that flatter'd thee? 95
 Where be the thronging troops that follow'd thee?
 Decline all this, and see what now thou art:
 For happy wife, a most distressed widow;
 For joyful mother, one that wails the name;
 For queen, a very caitiff crown'd with care; 100
 For one being sued to, one that humbly sues;
 For one that scorn'd at me, now scorn'd of me;
 For one being fear'd of all, now fearing one;
 For one commanding all, obey'd of none. 105
 Thus hath the course of justice wheel'd about,
 And left thee but a very prey to time;
 Having no more but thought of what thou wert,
 To torture thee the more, being what thou art.
 Thou didst usurp my place, and dost thou not
 Usurp the just proportion of my sorrow? 110
 Now thy proud neck bears half my burthen'd yoke;
 From which even here I slip my weary neck,
 And leave the burthen of it all on thee.

Duch. Art thou so hasty? I have stay'd for thee,
God knows, in anguish, pain and agony.

K. Rich. And came I not at last to comfort you?

Duch. No, by the holy rood, thou know'st it well, 165
Thou camest on earth to make the earth my hell.

A grievous burthen was thy birth to me;

Tetchy and wayward was thy infancy;

Thy school-days frightful, desperate, wild, and furious,

Thy prime of manhood daring, bold, and venturous, 170

Thy age confirm'd, proud, subtle, bloody, treacherous,

More mild, but yet more harmful, kind in hatred:

What comfortable hour canst thou name,

That ever graced me in thy company?

K. Rich. Faith, none, but Humphrey Hour, that call'd 175 your grace

To breakfast once forth of my company.

If I be so disgracious in your sight,

Let me march on, and not offend your grace.

Strike up the drum.

Duch. Either thou wilt die, by God's just ordinance,
Ere from this war thou turn a conqueror,
Or I with grief and extreme age shall perish 185
And never look upon thy face again.

Therefore take with thee my most heavy curse;
Which, in the day of battle, tire thee more
Than all the complete armour that thou wear'st!
My prayers on the adverse party fight; 190

And there the little souls of Edward's children
Whisper the spirits of thine enemies
And promise them success and victory.
Bloody thou art, bloody will be thy end;
Shame serves thy life and doth thy death attend. [Exit. 195

Q. Eliz. Though far more cause, yet much less spirit to curse

Abides in me; I say amen to all.

K. Rich. Stay, madam; I must speak a word with you.

Q. Eliz. I have no moe sons of the royal blood
For thee to murder: for my daughters, Richard, 200
They shall be praying nuns, not weeping queens;
And therefore level not to hit their lives.

K. Rich. You have a daughter call'd Elizabeth,
Virtuous and fair, royal and gracious.

Q. Eliz. And must she die for this? O, let her live, 205

And I'll corrupt her manners, stain her beauty;

Slander myself as false to Edward's bed;

Throw over her the veil of infamy:

So she may live unscarr'd of bleeding slaughter,

Thy head, all indirectly, gave direction: 225
No doubt the murderous knife was dull and blunt
Till it was whetted on thy stone-hard heart,
To revel in the entrails of my lambs.
But that still use of grief makes wild grief tame,
My tongue should to thy ears not name my boys 230
Till that my nails were anchor'd in thine eyes;
And I, in such a desperate bay of death,
Like a poor bark, of sails and tackling reft,
Rush all to pieces on thy rocky bosom.

 Advantaging their loan with interest
 Of ten times double gain of happiness.
 Go, then, my mother, to thy daughter go; 325
 Make bold her bashful years with your experience;
 Prepare her ears to hear a wooer's tale;
 Put in her tender heart the aspiring flame
 Of golden sovereignty; acquaint the princess
 With the sweet silent hours of marriage joys: 330
 And when this arm of mine hath chastised

The time to come.

Q. Eliz. That thou hast wronged in the time o'erpast;
For I myself have many tears to wash
Hereafter time, for time past wrong'd by thee. 390
The children live, whose parents thou hast slaughter'd,
Ungovern'd youth, to wail it in their age;
The parents live, whose children thou hast butcher'd,
Old wither'd plants, to wail it with their age.
Swear not by time to come; for that thou hast 395
Misused ere used, by time misused o'erpast.

K. Rich. As I intend to prosper and repent,
So thrive I in my dangerous attempt
Of hostile arms! myself myself confound!
Heaven and fortune bar me happy hours! 400
Day, yield me not thy light; nor, night, thy rest!
Be opposite all planets of good luck
To my proceedings, if, with pure heart's love,
Immaculate devotion, holy thoughts,
I tender not thy beauteous princely daughter! 405
In her consists my happiness and thine;
Without her, follows to this land and me,
To thee, herself, and many a Christian soul,

Death, desolation, ruin and decay: 410
 It cannot be avoided but by this;
 It will not be avoided but by this.
 Therefore, good mother,—I must call you so—
 Be the attorney of my love to her:
 Plead what I will be, not what I have been;
 Not my deserts, but what I will deserve: 415
 Urge the necessity and state of times,
 And be not peevish-fond in great designs.

Q. Eliz. Shall I forget myself to be myself? 420

K. Rich. Ay, if yourself's remembrance wrong yourself.

Q. Eliz. But thou didst kill my children.

K. Rich. But in your daughter's womb I bury them:

Where in that nest of spicery they shall breed
 Selves of themselves, to your recomforture. 425

Q. Eliz. Shall I go win my daughter to thy will?

K. Rich. And be a happy mother by the deed.

How now! what news?

Rat. My gracious sovereign, on the western coast
Rideth a puissant navy; to the shore
Throng many doubtful hollow-hearted friends, 435
Unarm'd, and unresolved to beat them back:
'Tis thought that Richmond is their admiral;
And there they hull, expecting but the aid
Of Buckingham to welcome them ashore.

K. Rich. Some light-foot friend post to the Duke of Norfolk: 440

Ratcliff, thyself, or Catesby; where is he?

Cate. Here, my lord.

K. Rich. Fly to the duke. [To Ratcliff] Post thou

When thou comest thither,—[To Catesby] Dull unmindful villain,

Why stand'st thou still, and go'st not to the duke? 445

Holy King Henry, and thy fair son Edward,
 Vaughan, and all that have miscarried
 By underhand corrupted foul injustice,
 If that your moody discontented souls
 Do through the clouds behold this present hour,
 Even for revenge mock my destruction!
 This is All-Souls' day, fellows, is it not?

Sher. It is, my lord.

Buck. Why, then All-Souls' day is my body's doomsday.
 This is the day that in King Edward's time
 I wish'd might fall on me when I was found
 False to his children or his wife's allies;
 This is the day wherein I wish'd to fall
 By the false faith of him I trusted most;
 This, this All-Souls' day to my fearful soul
 Is the determined respite of my wrongs:
 That high All-seer that I dallied with
 Hath turn'd my feigned prayer on my head,
 And given in earnest what I begg'd in jest.
 Thus doth he force the swords of wicked men
 To turn their own points on their masters' bosoms:
 Now Margaret's curse is fallen upon my head;
 'When he,' quoth she, 'shall split thy heart with sorrow,
 Remember Margaret was a prophetess.'

SCENE II. The camp near Tamworth.

Enter RICHMOND, OXFORD, BLUNT, HERBERT, and others, with drum and colours.

Richm. Fellows in arms, and my most loving friends,
Bruised underneath the yoke of tyranny,
Thus far into the bowels of the land
Have we march'd on without impediment;
And here receive we from our father Stanley 5
Lines of fair comfort and encouragement.
The wretched, bloody, and usurping boar,
That spoil'd your summer fields and fruitful vines,
Swills your warm blood like wash, and makes his trough
In your embowell'd bosoms, this foul swine 10
Lies now even in the centre of this isle,
Near to the town of Leicester, as we learn:
From Tamworth thither is but one day's march.
In God's name, cheerly on, courageous friends,
To reap the harvest of perpetual peace 15
By this one bloody trial of sharp war.

Oxf. Every man's conscience is a thousand swords,
To fight against that bloody homicide.

Herb. I doubt not but his friends will fly to us.

Blunt. He hath no friends but who are friends for fear, 20

K. Rich. My Lord of Norfolk,—

Nor. Here, most gracious liege.

K. Rich. Norfolk, we must have knocks; ha! must we not? 5

Nor. We must both give and take, my gracious lord.

K. Rich. Up with my tent there! here will I lie to night:
But where to-morrow? Well, all's one for that.

Who hath descried the number of the foe?

Enter, on the other side of the field, RICHMOND, SIR WILLIAM BRANDON, OXFORD, and others. Some of the Soldiers pitch Richmond's tent.

Richm. The weary sun hath made a golden set,

And by the bright track of his fiery car

Gives signal of a goodly day to-morrow.

Sir William Brandon, you shall bear my standard.

Give me some ink and paper in my tent:

I'll draw the form and model of our battle,

Limit each leader to his several charge,

And part in just proportion our small strength.

My Lord of Oxford, you, Sir William Brandon,

And you, Sir Walter Herbert, stay with me.

The Earl of Pembroke keeps his regiment:

His regiment lies half a mile at least
South from the mighty power of the king.

Richm. If without peril it be possible,
Good Captain Blunt, bear my good-night to him,

Be to thy person, noble father-in-law!
Tell me, how fares our loving mother?

80

Der. I, by attorney, bless thee from thy mother,
Who prays continually for Richmond's good:
So much for that. The silent hours steal on,
And flaky darkness breaks within the east.
In brief, for so the season bids us be,
Prepare thy battle early in the morning,
And put thy fortune to the arbitrement
Of bloody strokes and mortal-staring war.

I, as I may—that which I would I cannot,—
With best advantage will deceive the time,
And aid thee in this doubtful shock of arms:

 Which so long sunder'd friends should dwell upon: 100
 God give us leisure for these rites of love!
 Once more, adieu: be valiant, and speed well!

 Cold fearful drops stand on my trembling flesh.
 What do I fear? myself? there's none else by:
 Richard loves Richard; that is, I am I.
 Is there a murderer here? No. Yes, I am:
 Then fly. What, from myself? Great reason why: 185

His oration to his soldiers.

More than I have said, loving countrymen,
 The leisure and enforcement of the time
 Forbids to dwell upon: yet remember this,
 God and our good cause fight upon our side; 240
 The prayers of holy saints and wronged souls,
 Like high-rear'd bulwarks, stand before our faces.
 Richard except, those whom we fight against
 Had rather have us win than him they follow:
 For what is he they follow? truly, gentlemen, 245
 A bloody tyrant and a homicide;
 One raised in blood, and one in blood establish'd;
 One that made means to come by what he hath,
 And slaughter'd those that were the means to help him;
 A base foul stone, made precious by the foil 250
 Of England's chair, where he is falsely set;
 One that hath ever been God's enemy:
 Then, if you fight against God's enemy,
 God will in justice ward you as his soldiers;
 If you do sweat to put a tyrant down, 255
 You sleep in peace, the tyrant being slain;
 If you do fight against your country's foes,
 Your country's fat shall pay your pains the hire;
 If you do fight in safeguard of your wives,
 Your wives shall welcome home the conquerors; 260
 If you do free your children from the sword,
 Your children's children quit it in your age.
 Then, in the name of God and all these rights,
 Advance your standards, draw your willing swords.
 For me, the ransom of my bold attempt 265

What shall I say more than I have inferr'd?
 Remember whom you are to cope withal; 315
 A sort of vagabonds, rascals, and runaways,
 A scum of Bretons, and base lackey peasants,
 Whom their o'er-cloyed country vomits forth
 To desperate ventures and assured destruction.
 You sleeping safe, they bring to you unrest; 320
 You having lands and blest with beauteous wives,
 They would restrain the one, distain the other.
 And who doth lead them but a paltry fellow,
 Long kept in Bretagne at our mother's cost?
 A milk-sop, one that never in his life 325
 Felt so much cold as over shoes in snow?
 Let's whip these stragglers o'er the seas again,
 Lash hence these overweening rags of France,
 These famish'd beggars, weary of their lives,
 Who, but for dreaming on this fond exploit, 330

NOTES.

NOTE I.

THE first and second Folios give the title of this play as follows: 'The Tragedy of Richard the Third: with the Landing of Earle Richmond, and the Battell at Bosworth Field.' The third and fourth Folios give the same except that for 'Earle Richmond,' they have 'the Earl of Richmond.' The running title in all is: 'The Life and Death of Richard the Third.'

The Acts and Scenes are marked throughout in the Folios, but not in the Quartos.

NOTE II.

I. I. 98—100. Pope reconstructed the whole passage thus:

'What, fellow? nought to do with mistress Shore?
I tell you Sir, he that doth naught with her,
Excepting one, were best to do it secretly.'

Steevens rejecting the word 'alone,' as an interpolation would arrange the last and the following lines thus:

'Were best to do it secretly.

Bra.

What one

My lord?

Glou. Her husband, knave:—Wouldst thou betray me?'

Capell also had omitted 'alone,' but made an Alexandrine by continuing the line to 'my lord.'

NOTE III.

I. 3. 16. Theobald substitutes 'Stanley' for 'Derby' throughout, observing, 'This is a blunder of inadvertence, which has run thro' the whole chain of impressions. It could not well be original in Shakespeare, who was most minutely acquainted with his history and the intermarriages of the nobility. . . Thomas Lord Stanley was not created Earl of Derby till after the accession of that prince (i. e. Henry VII.); and, accordingly, afterwards in the fourth and fifth Acts of this play, before the battel of Bosworth-field, he is every where call'd Lord Stanley. This sufficiently justifies the change I have made in his title.'

This statement is not quite correct. He is called 'Derby' (the word being, of course, variously spelt) throughout the first and second Acts. He is called 'Lord Stanley' for the first time in Act III. Scene 2. In Act III. Scene 4 he is called 'Derby' in the stage directions and 'Stanley' in the text. He is 'Stanley' in Act IV. Scene 1. In Act IV. Scenes 2 and 3, we find in the Folio 'Stanley' both in the stage directions and the text. In the Quarto it is 'Derby,' in the stage directions, the name not occurring in the text. In Act IV. Scene 4, he is called 'Derby' in the stage directions. In Act V. Scene 2, Richmond speaks of him as 'my father Stanley,' and in the next scene he is called 'Derby' in the stage directions, and 'Stanley' in the text.

The error must have been due to the author, who would not have written 'my lord of Stanley,' and therefore we have retained 'Derby' wherever both Quarto and Folio agree in reading it. 'An editor,' says Mr Grant White, 'is not justifiable in substituting what his author should have written for what he did write.'

NOTE IV.

I. 3. 322. In Capell's copy of the seventh Quarto an old MS. corrector has converted 'we come' into 'welcome.'

NOTE V.

I. 4. 75. After this line which is assigned to 'Keep.' like the foregoing lines, the Folios insert the stage direction, 'Enter Brackenbury the Lieutenant,' and then prefix 'Bra.' to the next line, as if Brackenbury and the keeper had been two different persons, instead of being identical as they are in the Quartos. Pope restored the reading of the Quartos. Mr Grant White defends the stage directions of the Folios thus: 'It was a violation of all propriety to make Sir Robert Brackenbury, Lieutenant of the Tower, go about with a bunch of ponderous keys at his girdle or in his hand. These keys were evidently carried by the keeper, a higher sort of gaoler, but a person of rank much inferior to that of Brackenbury, the commander of the Tower. The stage direction and the prefixes of the quarto are probably the result of the limited number of actors in Shakespeare's company when the play was first produced, which caused the easily merged parts of the Keeper and Brakenbury to be assigned to one performer?

But Clarence was no common prisoner, and there would be no degradation in Brakenbury's acting in person as keeper to a prince of the blood, at a time when even menial offices were rendered by gentlemen of good birth not only to royal personages but also to others. We may observe—though this is of little weight—that the corrector has omitted to provide for the exit of the Keeper.

On the whole we have decided to adhere to the Quartos, as they undoubtedly give what Shakespeare originally wrote, and the alteration found in the Folios is not of such obvious propriety that we should unhesitatingly attribute it to the hand of the author.

NOTE VI.

I. 4. 110. The speeches in this part of the scene, which are obviously prose, are printed in the Quartos and Folios as lines of verse of various lengths.

NOTE VII.

I. 4. 255—264. This passage, including the lines immediately preceding, stands thus in the first Quarto, which is followed by the rest, substantially:

' 2 What shall we doe?

Clar. Relent, and saue your soules.

1 Relent, tis cowardly and womanish.

Clar. Not to relent, is beastly, sauage, diuelish,
My friend, I spie some pittie in thy lookes :
Oh if thy eye be not a flatterer,
Come thou on my side, and intreat for me,
A begging Prince, what begger pitties not?'

It is thus amplified in the Folios :

' 2 What shall we do?

Clar. Relent, and saue your soules :
Which of you, if you were a Princes Sonne,
Being pent from Liberty, as I am now,
If two such murtherers as your selues came to you,
Would not intreat for life, as you would begge
Were you in my distresse.

1 Relent? no: 'Tis cowardly and womanish.

Cl. Not to relent, is beastly, sauage, diuellish:

My Friend, I spy some pittie in thy lookes:

O, if thine eye be not a Flatterer,

Come thou on my side, and intreate for mee,

A begging Prince, what begger pitties not.

2 Looke behind you, my Lord.'

Pope adopted the reading of the Quartos, rejecting the last line 'a begging. . . not?' He was followed by Hammer and Capell. Theobald followed the Folios, reading for life? Ah! you . . . distress. Johnson, who gives in his text the arrangement which Warburton had borrowed from Theobald, says, in a note: 'I cannot but suspect that the lines, which Mr Pope observed not to be in the old edition, are now misplaced, and should be inserted here, somewhat after this manner.

"Cl. A begging . . . pitie not?

Vil. A begging prince!

Cl. Which of you if you were a prince's son, &c."

Upon this provocation the villain naturally strikes him.'

The arrangement which we have adopted was first suggested by Tyrwhitt and introduced into the text by Steevens, 1793. It involves a rather violent transposition, but we see no better remedy. As the lines omitted in the Quarto have all the appearance of being Shakespeare's own, we cannot leave them out of the text. We think, however, that they are out of their right place in the Folio, and that the transposition suggested by Johnson does not yield a satisfactory sense.

Mr Grant White says: 'Mr Knight, Mr Collier, Mr Verplanck, and Mr Hudson follow the Folio; the last only attaining a tolerable sense, by supposing Clarence's question, as it appears in the folio, to end at "would not intreat for life," and the Murderer to interrupt him in the beginning of a new sentence, thus:—

'Which of you, &c. . . . .

Would not entreat for life? As you would beg,

Were you in my distress,—

1 Murd. Relent!' &c.—

presuming, I suppose, the Duke to be about to say, 'As you would beg, &c., so I beg,' &c. I am unable to look so far into Clarence's intentions as to decide upon the merits of this reading.'

The punctuation proposed by Mr Hudson had suggested itself independently to Mr Spedding. The chief objection however to the reading of the Folio still remains, viz. the awkwardness of the murderer's taking up Clarence's word 'Relent' after so long an interval. If, as we suppose, Shakespeare wrote those additional lines in the margin of his original MS., nothing is more likely than that a copyist should have misplaced them. In IV. 3, 52, 53, two lines undoubtedly added by Shakespeare are thus misplaced in the Folio:

‘That reigns in gauled eyes of weeping soules:
That excellent grand Tyrant of the earth.’

Similarly in Act II. Scene 1, the line

‘Of you Lord Wooduill, and Lord Scales of you,’

which the corrector intended to follow 66, is placed in the Folio after 67. We have not introduced this line into the text, because Shakespeare would not have introduced it after line 66 as it stands in the Quarto, nor have altered that line as it is altered in the Folio.

See also IV. 4, 100—104, where, in correcting one mistake of transposition, another has been made.

See also Note (XIX).

Mr Collier in his second edition, following in other respects the Folio, inserts three words suggested by his old MS. corrector, thus:

‘Would not entreat for life? As you would beg
Were you in my distress, so pity me.’

Mr Knight’s arrangement (ed. 1839), in which he says he has followed ‘the Folio, instead of adopting the arbitrary regulations of the modern editors,’ is this:

‘Clar. Not . . . . . devilish.
My friend . . . . .
. . . . . pities not?
Which of you . . . . .
. . . . . distress?’

Here perhaps the printer has mistaken Mr Knight’s marginal directions. If such an error can escape the notice of so careful an editor, how likely is it to occur in the Folio which could hardly be said to have an editor at all!

NOTE VIII.

II. 3. 12. Johnson supposed that a line had been lost between lines 12 and 13 after ‘government.’ Malone conjectured that one had been lost after ‘council under him,’ line 13.

NOTE IX.

II. 4. 1, 2. The Quarto here reads:

‘Last night I heare they lay at Northhampton,
At Stonistratford will they be to night.’

The Folio:

‘ Last night I heard they lay at Stony Stratford,
And at Northampton they do rest to night.’

Pope:

‘ I heard they lay the last night at Northampton,
At Stony-Stratford they do rest to-night.’

Capell:

‘ Last night, I hear, they rested at Northampton;
At Stony-stratford they do lye to-night.’

The correction found in the Folio was probably made, as Malone says, simply for the sake of the metre. The Folio reading accidentally coincides with the statement of Hall’s Chronicle, but (what is of more consequence) it is inconsistent with the next line of the Archbishop’s speech.

NOTE X.

II. 4. 37. We have followed the Folios in reading ‘Enter a Messenger’ and in assigning the speeches that follow to him rather than to the Marquess Dorset as is the case in the Quartos. The change must have been deliberate, and as the Queen does not greet the person who brings the intelligence, and expresses no anxiety for his safety when she herself is going to sanctuary, it seems more proper that the messenger should be one of inferior rank than one so nearly connected with the Queen. His ignorance of the cause of the arrest of the nobles and the terms in which he speaks of them are in keeping with the character of a messenger. In Act IV. Scene I, the Queen, apparently, meets Dorset for the first time since Richard’s designs were disclosed, and passionately urges his escape.

NOTE XI.

III. 1. 169, &c. The reading of the first Quarto is:

‘ Well then no more but this:
Go gentle Catesby, and as it were a farre off,
Sound thou Lo: Hastings, how he stands affected
Vnto our purpose, if he be willing,
Encourage him &c.’

NOTE XII.

III. 2. 91—93. In the first Quarto the passage reads thus:

‘ But come my Lo: shall we to the tower?
Hast. I go: but stay, heare you not the newes,
This day those men you talkt of, are beheaded.’

The reading of the Folios, which we have retained, is not satisfactory, and looks like an attempt of the editors to amend the defective metre of the Quartos. The scene opens at four in the morning, and yet Stanley is made to say, 'the day is spent.'

NOTE XIII.

III. 4. 5. We retain here the reading in which both the earliest Quartos and the Folios agree. It doubtless came from the pen of the author, and is after all a pardonable inaccuracy, such as may easily escape from the pen of a rapid writer or the tongue of a ready talker.

NOTE XIV.

III. 4. 10—13. We keep the reading of the Quartos but have made a change in the arrangement of the lines. This is the text of the Quartos:

'Buc. Who I my Lo? we know each others faces:
But for our harts, he knowes no more of mine,
Then I of yours: nor I no more of his, then you of mine.'

The Folio reads:

'Buck. We know each others Faces: for our Hearts,
He knowes no more of mine, then I of yours,
Or I of his, my Lord, then you of mine.'

Pope follows the Folios, but reads 'Nor' for 'Or' in the last line.

NOTE XV.

III. 4. 78—80. The first Folio reads:

'Off with his Head; now by Saint Paul I sweare,
I will not dine, untill I see the same.
Lovell and Ratcliffe, looke that it be done.'

The first Quarto has:

'Off with his head. Now by Saint Paule,
I will not dine to day I sweare,
Vntill I see the same, some see it done.'

Theobald altered Ratcliffe to Catesby, observing in his note, 'The scene is here in the Tower: and Lord Hastings was cut off on that very day, when Rivers, Gray and Vaughan suffered at Pomfret. How then could Ratcliff at the same instant be both in Yorkshire and the Tower? In the very scene preceding this we find him conducting those gentlemen to the block. The players in their edition first made the blunder, as to Ratcliff attending Lord Hastings to death: for, in the old Quarto, we find it rightly;—Exeunt: Manet Catesby with Hastings.’ But in the next scene Theobald, while he makes Lovell and Catesby bring in the head of Hastings, allows Gloucester, just before their entrance, to say, ‘Catesby, o’erlook the walls.’ Hammer corrected this inconsistency by reading, ‘Some one o’erlook the walls.’ We have followed the Folios, for the difficulties could not be removed entirely without applying more violence to the text than an editor is justified in using.

NOTE XVI.

III. 5. 10—21. In the first Quarto this passage stands as follows:

And both are ready in their offices

To grace my stratagems. Enter Maior.

Glo. Here comes the Maior.

Buc. Let me alone to entertaine him. Lo: Maior,

Glo. Looke to the drawbridge there.

Buc. The reason we have sent for you.

Glo. Catesby ouerlooke the wals.

Buck. Harke, I heare a drumme.

Glo. Looke backe, defend thee, here are enemies.

Buc. God and our innocence defend vs. Enter Catesby

Glo. O, O, be quiet, it is Catesby. with Hast. head.

In the last line Q<sub>3</sub> has G, O, be quiet, &c. Instead of lines 12—14, But what.....Lord mayor, Theobald read with the Quartos.

NOTE XVII.

IV. I. 92—94. In the second Folio there is a curious mistake here. In the margin of the first Folio, from which the second was printed, some one had inserted the stage directions, ‘to Dorset,’ ‘to Anne,’ ‘to the Queene,’ which the printer mistook and gave as part of the text thus:

‘Duc. Yorke. Go to Richmond, to Dorset, to Anne, to the Queene, and good fortune guide thee, &c.’

The error is repeated in the third Folio and, strange to say, corrected in the fourth, where the stage directions are inserted in their proper places. It also inserts the word ‘thou,’ which had been omitted in the second and third Folios.

NOTE XVIII.

IV. 2. 47 sqq. In this passage we have followed substantially the reading of the Quartos in preference to that of the Folios.

The first Quarto reads:

'Darby. My Lord, I heare the Marques Dorset
Is fled to Richmond, in those partes beyond the seas where he abides.

King. Catesby. Cat. My Lord.

King. Rumor it abroad

That Anne my wife is sicke and like to die, &c.'

In the seventh and eighth Quartos the second line of Darby's speech is divided '...seas where he abides.'

The first Folio has:

'Stanley. Know my louing Lord, the Marquesse Dorset
As I heare, is fled to Richmond,
In the parts where he abides.

Rich. Come hither Catesby, rumor it abroad,
That Anne my Wife is very grieuous sicke &c.'

Pope follows the Folios and Rowe, except that for 'Know, my loving Lord,' he substitutes 'my lord,' ending the next line at fled. Steevens retains the reading of the Folios, but in other respects adopts Pope's arrangement, assigning it, more suo, to Sir Thomas Hanmer.

Mr Staunton follows Steevens as regards Stanley's speech, and then reads with the Quartos. In the preceding line he reads with the Quartos: 'How now what news with you?'

Mr Collier suspects that 'What's the news?' in line 46, is an interpolation and that the true reading is,

'How now, Lord Stanley?

Stan. Know, my loving lord,
The Marquess Dorset, as I hear, is fled &c.'

NOTE XIX.

IV. 4, 365, 366. The first Quarto alone preserves the proper order of the lines here. Its words are:

'King. Harpe not one that string Madam that is past.

Qu. Harpe on it still shall I till hartstrings breake.'

The second Quarto omits the first line and gives the second to the King, thus:

King. Harpe on it still shal I, till hartstrings breake.
King. Now by my George &c.'

The third follows the second in omitting the first line, but it continues the second to the Queen. All the remaining Quartos read with the third.

The Folios give both lines, but in reverse order, thus:

..... 'graves,
 Harpe on it still shall I, till heart-strings breake.
Rich. Harpe not on that string Madam, that is past.
 Now by my George &c.'

NOTE XX.

IV. 4. 444. We have here followed the reading of the Quartos, in preference to that of the Folios, in which the passage stands as follows:

Rich. Catesby, flye to the Duke.
Cat. I will, my Lord, with all convenient haste.
Rich. Catesby come hither, poste to Salisbury:'

This seems to show that the text of the Quartos has been amended in the Folios by no very skilful hand. Rowe endeavoured to amend the passage by reading in the last line 'Ratcliff, come hither,' and in this has been followed by most succeeding editors.

NOTE XXI.

IV. 4. 512—517. The Quartos here read:

Mes. Your grace mistakes, the newes I bring is good
 My newes is that by sudden fload, and fall of water,
 The Duke of Buckingham's armie is disperst and scattered,
 And he himselfe fled, no man knowes whether.
King. O I crie you mercie, I did mistake,
 Ratcliffe reward him, for the blow I gaue him.'

By substituting 'Tis' for 'My newes is' in the second line, and 'Buckingham's' for 'The Duke of Buckingham's' in the third, the reading of the Quartos might be retained.

NOTE XXII.

IV. 5. 6—20. We have followed the Quartos in the arrangement of the lines of this scene. The Folios insert after line 5 :

‘So get thee gone: commend me to thy Lord.
Withall say, that the Queene hath heartily consented
He should espouse Elizabeth hir daughter.’

And in Derby's last speech they read :

‘Well hye thee to thy Lord : I kisse his hand,
My Letter will resolute him of my minde.
Farewell.’

Pope follows the Folios, except that for ‘Withall say, that’ he reads ‘Say too.’ Capell adopts the arrangement of the Quartos, but reads, ‘Well, hie thee to thy lord’ instead of ‘Return unto thy lord.’

NOTE XXIII.

V. 3. 23—26. In the Quartos these lines are omitted in the present speech of Richmond, but inserted a few lines lower down, as will be seen from the following quotation from the first Quarto :

‘Blunt. Vpon my life my Lord, Ile vndertake it.
Rich. Farewell good Blunt.

Give me some inke, and paper, in my tent,
Ile draw the forme, and modle of our battel,
Limit each leader to his seuerall charge,
And part in iust proportion our small strength,
Come, let vs consult vpon to morrowes busines,
In to our tent, the aire is rawe and cold.’

As the Quartos omit entirely lines 27, 28 and 43, we have followed the arrangement of the Folios.

NOTE XXIV.

V. 3. 145. In the first and second Quartos the Ghosts of the two young Princes enter and speak before the Ghost of Hastings. The Folios and the other Quartos make the Ghost of Hastings enter first. As a chronological order is observed in the appearance of the other Ghosts we have thought it best in this case to follow the latter authorities.

This discrepancy between the two earliest editions and the rest seems to have escaped the notice of Capell and of all other editors.

NOTE XXV.

v. 3. 179. Warburton says: The players, among their other innumerable absurdities, in the representation of this tragedy, make Richard say instead of 'O coward conscience,' 'O tyrant conscience!'

He refers to Colley Cibber's adaptation of Shakespeare's play: 'The Tragical History of King Richard III. Altered from Shakespeare. By Colley Cibber Esq.'

NOTE XXVI.

v. 3. 204—206. Johnson says: 'These lines stand with so little propriety at the end of this speech that I cannot but suspect them to be misplaced. Where then shall they be inserted? Perhaps after these words, Fool do not flatter (i.e. line 192).'

Rann, following Mason's suggestion, inserted them after 'I fear, I fear' (line 214), and then, says Mason, Ratcliffe's reply bidding the King not be afraid of shadows, would be natural. Mr Grant White would insert them either after line 178, 'Soft I did but dream,' or after 212, 'I have dream'd a fearful dream.' As the Folios omit lines 212, 213, Ratcliffe's allusion to the shadows, of which he has heard nothing, is rendered absurd. Yet the absurdity escaped the notice of all editors before Capell.

NOTE XXVII.

v. 5. We have retained the stage direction of the Quartos and Folios, 'they fight, Richard is slain,' in preference to 'they fight, and exeunt fighting' of Mr Dyce, because it is probable from Derby's speech, 'From the dead temples of this bloody wretch,' that Richard's body is lying where he fell, in view of the audience.
